To Trinity College Alumni:

Again it is my pleasure to transmit to you in the following pages the Annual Report of your Alumni Association for the College Year ended June 1962. As in the recent past, the report embraces the separate reports of your several Vice Presidents covering the various areas of their responsibilities, together with minutes of the Annual Meeting held at the College commencement weekend.

It has been a good year. The increasing activities of our Alumni are being reflected in most gratifying results. Our Alumni Fund has exceeded its goal of $125,000, the highest in history; our Campus Activities – Homecoming, Campus Conference, Seminars, Reunions, Commencement and the like – have been outstanding. Our local Alumni Association functions have been well attended and a number of new associations have been established. Alumni Interviewing has been most effective and of real value to the Admissions Department. Our Alumni Magazine is now a most attractive publication and is being received with more and more interest.

It has been our purpose, through the recent reorganization of your Alumni Association, to anticipate the impact of our larger graduating classes. To President Jacobs and his staff and to my colleagues in the Alumni Association I again express my deep appreciation for their helpful co-operation in this direction. Your new President and his associates have my heartiest good wishes.

To all of our members may I express my renewed conviction that, with your continued support, we will accelerate our momentum and broaden our activities in all areas to the end that our Alumni Association will be an ever-increasing and meaningful resource for the ultimate benefit of Trinity College.

Faithfully yours,

Glover Johnson '22

MINUTES OF THE ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of Trinity College was called to order by President Glover Johnson '22 at 1:20 P.M., June 9, 1962, in the Field House immediately following the Alumni and Senior Luncheon.

President Johnson welcomed the Alumni and their friends and then introduced Senior Vice President, Herbert R. Bland '40, Vice President of the Alumni Fund, John L. Bonee '43; Vice President of Campus Activities, Stewart M. Ogilvy '36; Vice President of Public Relations, L. Barton Wilson III '37; Secretary, Robert W. Barrows '50; and Alumni Secretary, John A. Mason '34.

The President reported that the Minutes of the previous Alumni Association Meeting held in June 1961 had been sent to the members of the Alumni Association in the Commencement Issue of the Alumni Magazine, and there being no additions or corrections the Minutes stand approved as submitted.

President Johnson called on Hugh S. Campbell '32, Chairman of the 1962 Reunion Committee, who presented the following Alumni Prizes:

Alumnus of a Reunion Class traveling longest distance: William A. Bird IV '12 of Tangier, Morocco.

The Jerome Kohn '22 Award to the Reunion Class with the largest percentage of returning alumni: The Class of 1902 with eleven out of twelve present, accepted by Anson T. McCook, Class Secretary.

Matthew T. Birmingham Jr. '42, presented the Board of Fellows Bowl to the Class of 1937 for the Reunion Class exhibiting best combination of Alumni performance, spirit and percentage of members returning for reunion. Milton L. Kobrosky accepted for the Class of 1937.

Wilson Haight, on behalf of the Class of 1937, presented President Jacobs with a check for $2,000 from the Class for the College Library to be used for microfilming.

Reunion Chairman Campbell announced the Class of 1927 has presented the College with a gift of $1,200 for unrestricted use by the College Library.

John L. Bonee, Vice President of the Alumni Fund, reported that the 1961-1962 Fund had reached its goal of $125,000 with over 3,000 alumni having contributed $125,500 as of June 8.

Mr. Clarence U. Carruth Jr. of Scarsdale, N. Y., National Chairman of the Parents Fund, reported that the Fund had exceeded its goal of $40,000 with $40,739 on hand to date from 589 parents.

Stewart M. Ogilvy '36, Chairman of the Board of Fellows, presented the Eigenbrodt Trophy to Frederic T. Tansill '22, of New York City, Executive Vice President of Chock Full o' Nuts Corporation.

Alumni Medals for Excellence were presented by President Albert C. Jacobs to Harris K. Prior '32, Robert H. Smellie Jr. '42, and Melvin W. Title '18. An Alumni Medal was also presented to Richard L. Maxon '16, in absentia. Citations for the awards were read by Lyman B. Bainerd '30, Life Trustee and Secretary for the Board of Trustees of the College.

Dr. Jacobs then delivered his report on the state of the College.

Judge John P. Cotter '33, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, presented the slate of candidates listed on page 2.

Upon motion duly made and seconded, it was voted that the Secretary cast one ballot for the slate presented by the Nominating Committee and those named were so elected.

Retiring President Johnson then introduced Herbert R. Bland '40, newly elected President, at whose request a standing vote of appreciation was given to President Johnson upon his retirement.

There being no further business, President Bland called on Andrew B. Beattie '48 to lead in the singing of 'Neath the Elms. The meeting was adjourned at 2:25 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,

Robert W. Barrows '50

REPORTS

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

Alumni activities on Trinity's campus have been frequent and fruitful during the year past, chiefly because of the energy and imagination of our Alumni Secretary, John A. Mason '34. He has had able help from the men named below as chairman of Campus Activities subcommittees and from a number of other men, also able, who gave of their time and talent as committee members, speakers, and seminar participants. They are not named only because of space limitations, but on behalf of the Alumni Association I want here to record thanks to all who contributed to Trinity's successful campus activities of 1961-1962.

A list of the Campus Activities subcommittees, their year's performance and future plans, follows:

THE CAMPUS CONFERENCE COMMITTEE (Chairman, John T. Wilcox '39) arranged the fifth annual fall conference, held October 13 and 14, 1961. This meeting, to plan the year's work of the Alumni Council, Alumni Interviewers, Area Officers, Class Agents, and Class Secretaries, also saw the award of the Capeen Trophy to Philadelphia, the outstanding area association, and various awards to the most diligent and successful agents. The meeting heard from President Jacobs, Vice President Holland, Professors Cooper and Nye, Assistant Admissions Director Edwards, and Assistant Development Director Frost, as well as Alumni Association President Johnson and other distinguished alumni. Some 150 men attended. Participants were guests of the College for meals on both Friday and Saturday, and at the Triangles football game.

John T. Fink '44 has accepted chairmanship of the 1962 Conference, to be held September 28 and 29, 1962.

THE HOMECOMING COMMITTEE (Chairman, Frederic T. Tansill '22) astutely planned the annual fall return to the campus to coincide with Trinity's signal victory over Wesleyan on November 18, 1961. About 500 alumni and members of their families enjoyed a buffet lunch in the Field House before the game. Many attended an alumni reception in Wean Lounge, and the Alumni Council and Faculty were guests of Chairman Tansill and Alumni President and Mrs. Johnson at a second reception in Hamlin Hall.

David Tyler '43 has agreed to serve as Homecoming chairman in 1962. The date will be that of the Amherst game, November 10.

THE REUNION COMMITTEE (Chairman, Hugh Campbell '32) arranged an excellent program for the weekend of the 136th Commencement, June 8, 9, and 10, 1962. Approximately 700 alumni and members of their families participated. Activities commenced at 2 p.m. Friday with Alumni Reading Program seminars (see below). Other alumni seminars followed and, at 6, clams, beer, and a buffet were served in the Field House. The evening saw a faculty reception, a dance, and fraternity meetings. Saturday's program began with a memorial service in the Chapel. A seminar followed. At noon, the traditional Reunion games. Saturday's program began with a memorial service in the Chapel. A seminar followed. At noon, the traditional Reunion games.

THE SEMINARS COMMITTEE (Chairman, Viggo Andersen '27) arranged to hold two highly successful seminars for alumni returning to Reunion. One, chaired by John Reitemeyer '21, dealt with the Alliance for Progress and U.S.-Latin American relations. The other, chaired by Keith Funston '32, discussed the Common Market.

THE ALUMNI READING PROGRAM (Chairman, Scott Billyou '50) climaxed its first year with three seminars at Reunion time. The program, devised and ably directed by Douglas Frost '59 of the college administration, offered three subjects for semester-long study. Participants were encouraged to read at home, in their chosen field and to join in seminar discussions on return to the campus. Although enrollment was limited, the program was off to a promising start. I recommend it to all alumni.

THE ALUMNI LOUNGE COMMITTEE (Chairman, William R. Peele '44) arranged for appropriate plaques in the new Alumni Lounge in Mather Hall. These, installed late in 1961, now record the names of all past presidents of the Alumni Association, all Alumni Trustees, and all winners of the Eigenbrodt Trophy and of the George C. Capeen '10 Area Association Award.

A PUBLICITY COMMITTEE (Chairman, Winfield A. Carlough '54) has assisted other Campus Activities subcommittees in their work, notably the Alumni Reading Program Committee in publicizing its courses.

ALUMNI INTERVIEWING AND RECRUITING

The past academic year has been a most active and fruitful one for the Alumni Interviewing Program. The Class of 1966, which will enter the College in September, embraces many unusual and exciting men from all over the world. The fine quality of the 287 incoming freshmen is clear evidence of a job well done by nearly 400 interviewers.

Of particular significance during 1961-1962 was the enthusiastic effort made by several interviewing groups to establish and coordinate a Recruiting Program designed to seek out and attract outstanding young men for the College. Dick Royston '55 and Sandy Campbell '54 in Pittsburgh and Jerry Hansen '51 in Philadelphia deserve special credit for their efforts in the recruiting area. The Admissions Office is working with the various chairmen in order to increase the effectiveness of this program.

During the fall of 1961, the College, with close cooperation of the alumni, sponsored dinners in three cities—Buffalo, Pittsburgh, and Washington, D. C.—for leading secondary school officials. The meetings were extremely well attended and served to bring these important educators up to date on recent developments at Trinity. Also, the alumni were able to meet the school people with whom they will work in the future. The College is planning to hold three similar meetings this fall.

Another important development in 1961-1962 was the production of a film strip program about the College. This audio-visual program has been sent to the Interviewing Chairmen and should be especially helpful in relating the "Trinity story." In addition, similar film strip sets were offered to many of the outstanding secondary schools all over the country. These programs were sent in late May and as of this writing the reaction to them has been most encouraging.

The College had 1470 final candidates for admission during the year and requested the alumni to contact and interview almost half of these men. Again this year the quality of the interviewing reports was most helpful to the Committee on Admissions. The alumni interviewed 104 members of the Class of 1966.

One area of the Interviewing Program does need some improvement—that of following up on men who have been admitted to Trinity but who are undecided about their college choice. In a day when Trinity is competing for outstanding candidates with the Ivy League colleges and the Little Three, an extra effort by the alumni is increasingly necessary.

Participating in the whole, the efforts of the many alumni who have generously given so much time to the Interviewing Program have brought the College much closer to its goal of excellence.

AREA ASSOCIATIONS

Most of our twenty-three area associations had an active year. We are indeed indebted to President Jacobs who took the time from his busy schedule to visit nine of our groups, and to our Alumni Secretary, John Mason '34, who assisted in the forming of new Associations in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Cincinnati. John also met with alumni in San Diego and Denver and hopes to form active alumni groups there.

It is interesting to note that nearly all our area presidents and their officers are alumni who have been graduated since World War II. We appreciate their time and effort to spread the name of Trinity, and feel sure that their respective groups will grow in numbers and in usefulness to our College.

Active participation in alumni interviewing of prospective freshmen candidates is a prime interest of all our area groups. We believe that the interviewing chairmen worked closely with the association officers.

We are pleased to note the increase of the practice of Book Prize awards to outstanding juniors of local preparatory and high schools. The Trinity Club of Hartford donated some twenty-six prizes, and our thanks go to James R. Glassco Jr. '30, committee chairman, for his organization and execution of this work. The New York Association gave ten Book Prizes; New Britain, four; and Fairfield, two. It is our hope that other Associations will wish to participate in this most worthwhile activity.

In a few instances it was necessary to prod the officers of some associations to advise us of their meetings and to encourage them in attempting some additional activities.

It is our hope that the stimulus of the George C. Capen Area Association annual award will awaken and arouse our alumni officers to note what is being accomplished throughout the country. And thus make a better Trinity.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT H. DAUT
Vice President
Area Associations

READING PROGRAM SEMINARS

They were very close to being seminars in the "real" sense of that term. Alumni, graduate students, and graduating seniors were present and they had read and become familiar with the topics. The atmosphere was that of a classroom and not of a lecture or a panel discussion. It was serious.

Professor Johnson (he is so young, the students cannot help but think of him as "Bill") explained the nature of Existentialism: what the reason for this movement is, who the people are, and why. He asked questions of the listeners, and sometimes the questions were tricky. Alumni occasionally fell into a trap but the graduating seniors who attended were more agile. Even though the seminar ended after two hours, a few stayed and talked for another half hour.

Fifteen people met with Attorney Joseph Skelley in the next classroom. The topic: "Pornography, Literature, Censorship and The Law." Mr. Skelley has defended a man who sold Tropic of Cancer (the book is "illegal" in Hartford County) and has his own opinions as to the right of individuals to read what they please.

While panel discussions and lectures can be very informative, the Alumni Reading Seminars have a different kind of significance. The reading lists are provided several months in advance. The interested alumnus or wife may obtain an introductory essay from the College, and the seminar in June (on Friday of Commencement Weekend) is planned and based on the reading. The program can be thoroughly stimulating. It "sticks to the ribs."

This was the first year for the Alumni Reading Program. For many alumni, Trinity is once again the source of intellectual life; perhaps next year even more alumni will be able to make the time to take part.

D.L.F.

REUNION 1962

Saturday noon the alumni formed for class pictures and the traditional parade to the Field House. The reuniting graduates lined up behind the class of 1902 with eleven of twelve members back on the campus earning, deservedly, the Jerome Kohn best-attendance award.

In the line of march which stretched from the Field House door to the Bishop's Statue came the class of '07; '12 - with Foreign Legion hats - perhaps in deference to their classmate who came the furthest distance, William A. Bird IV of Tangier, Morocco; then the class of '17, followed by '22 with matching caps and jackets of gold with blue; '27 had arm bands and caps and most of '32 wore popular sports caps; then came the Toga Class of '37, winners of the Board of Fellows Bowl, complete with laurel wreaths and signs spelling out "Class of '37, the last of the 'intellectuals', the classes of '42 and '49 had yellow caps and blue letters; '52 wore pith helmets and carried one member on the safari to the Field House; '57 with monogrammed shirts and almost 57 signs completed the parade.

In the afternoon many attended the ground breaking ceremonies for the Arts Center. Also in the afternoon many witnessed a tennis exhibition, others heard Mr. Bird talk on "Authors and Printers in Paris in the 1920's," and then most attended the President's reception in Wean Lounge where a portrait of Dr. Jacobs was unveiled. It was painted by the renowned Belgian-born artist Alfred Jonniaux who was present.

NEWLY ELECTED ALUMNI TRUSTEES

Charles T. Kingston Jr. '34
Harris K. Prior '32

Harris K. Prior '32, director of the Memorial Art Gallery at the University of Rochester, was elected Alumni Trustee for a term of six years. Mr. Prior is a member of the Arts Center Steering Committee and was graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Trinity. Charles T. Kingston Jr. '34 of Charles T. Kingston and Associates of Hartford, was elected Alumni Trustee for a term of one year. Mr. Kingston will fill the unexpired term of Barclay Shaw '35, who was elected a Life Trustee of the College in January 1962.
THE ALUMNI SEMINARS

Alumni seminars on Latin America and another on the Common Market attracted many graduates during the reunion weekend.

A panel discussing Latin America and the Alliance for Progress concluded that the alliance is a good thing but so far has been disappointing. All three panelists agreed that before the program can reach true success it is paramount that the underdeveloped countries receive education and technical assistance.

Participating in the discussion were Col. John R. Reitemeyer '21, Trinity Trustee, publisher of the Hartford Courant and vice president of the Inter-American Press Association; Dr. Walter Howe, former ambassador to Chile; and Guillermo Gutierrez of Bolivia, managing director of the Inter-American Press Association.

Mr. Reitemeyer, who moderated the discussion, emphasized the differences in history of the Latin-American countries and underlined the need for "friendship and understanding" as more important than giving away large quantities of money. Dr. Howe traced the history of the alliance from President Franklin Roosevelt's "Good Neighbor" policy and the need for coordination in implementing the present program. Mr. Gutierrez said that each country must be treated separately under the aid program to meet vastly different needs each has and that first and foremost the underdeveloped countries need technical training and education before the aid can be used effectively.

The impact of the Common Market was agreed to be a powerful third block in world politics by a panel discussion in the Chemistry Auditorium which attracted some 250 alumni. The panel was moderated by G. Keith Funston '32, Trinity Trustee and president of the New York Stock Exchange. Dr. Lawrence W. Towe, G. Fox Professor of Economics at Trinity, opened the discussion tracing the development of the market from the Marshall Plan aid to Western Europe following World War II. "Politically, our greatest advantage lies in influencing and holding closely to our idea of the emergent European group."

Michael G. Duerr, European economic specialist for the Chase Manhattan Bank, said "Our larger and well-developed economy would swamp the boat if we were to join the common market today," but, he added, "President Kennedy's program to further reductions in tariffs and to subsidize those industries hurt would go a long way to providing a position for competition for the United States." Another panelist, Dr. Orson H. Hart Jr., second vice president of the New York Life Insurance Co., said textiles, low grade steel and glassware are among the industries most likely to be hurt by the change in trade relationship.

The panel agreed the United States should attempt to lower the tariff but felt this would not cut down on American-European investment.
The College’s 136th Commencement was blessed with sunshine and, on occasion, a light breeze moved the tassels dangling from the mortar boards of 227 men who received bachelor degrees and 51 men and women who received masters degrees. More than 2500 parents, alumni and friends gathered for the occasion ‘Neath the Elms in front of Northam Towers and watched the seniors take their last undergraduate journey down the Long Walk.

Eight men were awarded honorary degrees including two alumni, Trustee G. Keith Funston ’32 and Dr. Jacob C. Hurewitz ’36, Columbia University Professor. Another honorary degree went to a Trinity parent, Joseph Verner Reed, executive producer of the American Shakespeare Festival Theatre and Academy, father of Nathaniel P. Reed ’57 and Samuel P. Reed ’58.

David S. Gates of Needham Heights, Mass., was graduated valedictorian of the class of 1962 and David E. Wilson of Milwaukee was class salutatorian. Twenty-two other students were graduated with honors.

Of those receiving bachelor degrees, 52 received a bachelor of science degree including four who received B.S. degrees in Engineering; two in Mechanical Engineering and two in Electrical Engineering.

Masters degrees awarded included 34 masters of arts and 17 masters of science. Thirty-one of the total receiving masters degrees were from the Greater Hartford area, and only ten of the 51 received their undergraduate education at Trinity.

Honorary degree recipients with Dr. Jacobs: Front row, l. to r., Dr. Jacobs; Dr. Jacob C. Hurewitz ’36, professor of government, Columbia University, doctor of letters; Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, executive director of Hartford Hospital, doctor of science. Back row, l. to r., Donald F. Hyde, partner, McKenzie, Hyde, Willson, French and Poor of New York, doctor of letters; G. Keith Funston ’32, president and governor of the New York Stock Exchange, doctor of laws; the Rev. J. Warren Hutchens, suffragan bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Connecticut, doctor of divinity; J. Doyle De Witt, president of the Travelers Insurance Company, doctor of laws; Joseph V. Reed, executive producer of the American Shakespeare Festival Theater and Academy at Stratford, doctor of humane letters; and the Rev. John Crocker, headmaster of the Groton School, doctor of divinity.

“How do you achieve that delicate balance between private initiative and government control? Where private initiative has lagged—where the people have been unable or unwilling to assert their fundamental control of the governmental process—freedom has diminished.

“The answer lies in stimulating, with every resource we can muster, a concept of enlightened self-regulation—on a national scale.

“If, for selfish reasons, or through simple neglect, you choose to restrain your participation in the vital matters affecting the nation, then you must expect that government will assume more of the burdens and gradually, even unintentionally, encroach upon your freedom.

“If you take the trouble to keep informed about major issues, to think them through and make your views known, then and only then will you practice the kind of personal self-regulation that can help maintain an effective balance between the freedom that is priceless and the restraint that is necessary.

“Many of you will return to Trinity—perhaps with the same nostalgic feelings I have experienced today.

“And you, too, will discover many changes. You will find that you have helped to direct many of those changes. Those changes—in your personal lives and in your world, as well as your college—will give new and personal meaning to the line from George Moore: ‘A man travels the world over in search of what he needs, and returns home to find it.’ And to each of you, may I wish a happy and successful journey—and a safe return.”

The Rt. Rev. J. Warren Hutchens

THE progress of the Parents Fund and Alumni Fund in recent years has been remarkable. This year was no exception.

The two alumni who offered challenge gifts provided an unusual incentive to alumni; the dedicated volunteer workers in both the Alumni Fund and Parents Fund carried out their responsibilities admirably, but it was the generous support of 3126 alumni and 589 parents that made the final achievement possible.

Many thanks go to all who have done so much for the College.

ALBERT C. JACOBS
President

ALUMNI FUND

We have made our goals... and gone over the top! 3196 Alumni (56% of the Alumni body) contributed $125,635.

My thanks to all loyal Trinity Alumni who contributed, to the members of our steering committee, class agents and assistants, and alumni in cities all over the country who took part in the personal solicitation.

Last, but most important of all, thanks to the anonymous alumni who, by providing challenge gifts of $7500 and $5000 respectively, provided the incentive and the spark to make our 1962 Alumni Fund Drive the huge success that it was!

JOHN L. BONEE '43

PARENTS FUND

One wonders about Trinity parents. Their loyalty and generosity exceed the most optimistic expectations.

This year 589 parents contributed $40,739.00. Both are records, and can only be acknowledged by thanking all the parents who did contribute, and all the parents who volunteered to work on the campaign.

I think the response indicates the deep appreciation we, as parents, feel for the College—for the contribution Trinity is making in the mental, moral, spiritual and physical development of our sons.
