TRINITY COLLEGE

Alumni News December, 1947
THE TRUSTEES AT THE OCTOBER 25TH MEETING
MOVED TO ADOPT THE FOLLOWING MINUTE CONCERNING

The Late Judge Joseph Buffington

The Honorable Joseph Buffington, of the Class of 1875, served Trinity College with unparalleled devotion and with great distinction. He was elected an Alumnus Trustee in 1900 and reelected until 1918, when he was made a permanent member of the Board. His loyalty to Trinity was such that it is safe to say that he regarded none of his many honors or achievements more highly than he did his forty-seven years of service as a member of this Board.

During the seventy-six years of his association with Trinity College, he played an important part in the great progress made by his Alma Mater. Having attended the College when it was located on Capitol Hill, he witnessed with deep satisfaction the move to the present campus and the construction of fifteen buildings thereon. He saw the growth of the student body from eighty-one to eight hundred and eighty-four students, and aided in increasing the endowed resources of the College from somewhat less than $400,000 to over $4,000,000.

Judge Buffington has ever been a symbol representing the high achievement possible for a man trained in the liberal arts. The integrity, courage, sound judgment, devotion to high moral principle, loyalty, and persuasiveness which brought him at an early age to national prominence exemplified in one man the qualities which Trinity College attempts to induce in its students. The Judge will be sorely missed not only by his colleagues on this Board, but also by the hundreds of Trinity men who have been inspired by his example.

To the members of his family, the Trustees of Trinity College feel moved to send this evidence of sympathy in our common loss.

JUDGE JOSEPH BUFFINGTON, '75
President's Message

Since the 125th Anniversary Development Program—which aims to provide Trinity with $1,500,000 for a new Field House, a new dormitory, added library facilities, and more endowment—is now well into its eleventh month, I think it is appropriate to provide you with a progress report.

As of November 14, $1,070,000 has already been pledged by 3,680 persons. Our alumni, faculty, and trustees have contributed $409,000, citizens of Hartford—$196,000, students and their parents—$35,000, and friends outside Hartford—$430,000.

While the total amount pledged to date is very gratifying and represents a fund raising achievement unparalleled in Trinity's long history, we still are far from our goal. Between now and July 1, 1948, when the Campaign ends, an additional $430,000 must be raised. It is obvious that this will be a most difficult assignment because the cream has already been skimmed. In the five months since Commencement time the total has been increased by only $115,000. Many of our most promising non-alumni prospects have already contributed generously. I am spending much of my time in attempting to solicit funds from foundations, corporations, and prospective large donors, but competition for aid from these sources is keen, and it is probable that no sizeable gifts can be expected from these groups. The campaign is going forward energetically with parents and the citizens of Hartford, but we cannot hope for miracles—especially since the Hartford Hospital is attempting to raise $3,000,000 in the city. The conclusion is inescapable that Trinity must depend upon that group which has always been the main support of the College—our alumni—to give the Campaign the final push which will attain our goal.

I was shocked recently to learn that only 1542 alumni, or 41\% of the total, have as yet contributed to the Development Program. My feeling of profound discouragement was mitigated somewhat when further investigation indicated that many of our alumni had not as yet been asked to subscribe, although the campaign was eleven months old. If those who have not yet contributed will respond as generously as those who already have, our campaign is certain to be successful.

Our goal of $1,500,000 represents the minimum which is necessary at this time to keep Trinity in sound financial condition and to make possible certain necessary additions to our physical plant. This goal was established almost two years ago and does not take into consideration the rise in building costs which has occurred since that time. At today's prices it is obvious that $1,500,000 truly represents the minimum amount needed. Elsewhere in this issue there are pictures of the groundbreaking of the Field House, construction of which is underway and will be completed by September, 1948. Including architect's fees, grading and insurance, this building will cost about $430,000. Since it will be an expensive building to operate, an endowment of $150,000 must be set aside to maintain it. The total cost of the Field House, therefore, will be $580,000 without equipment.

The pressure of an enrollment 68\% above pre-war normal has made imperative the construction of a dormitory for 100 men before next September, at a total cost of $300,000. In view of our present circumstances, a new dormitory is needed even more urgently than the Field House. Unless accommodations are provided for 100 men by fall, the college will be required to restrict the admission of resident students to the point where it will have a permanently deleterious effect on the composition of our student body.

Almost $400,000 of the $1,070,000 pledged to date cannot be used for field house or dormitory construction, since the donors have specified other uses—especially the Hamlin library addition. As a consequence no pledges have been received to date which can be applied to the construction of a dormitory or to the equipment of the Field House (removable basketball floor, netting, etc., estimated to cost $34,500.)

At this stage of our campaign we are asking for funds to build a dormitory and to equip the Field House. Having obtained these necessities, pledges will be applied to the library addition and to added endowment for general operating purposes. It is evident, therefore, that the remaining $430,000 needed to reach our campaign goal is all important if the greatest needs of the College are to be satisfied. The renewed support of all alumni is necessary if the 125th Anniversary Development Program is to break through its present crucial phase.

There will be no Alumni Fund Drive this year, but all alumni who have already contributed, especially those who have contributed and paid in full, are urged to increase their contributions if at all possible. The many alumni who have not yet given to the campaign will be personally solicited wherever possible by Committees under the leadership of Bob Morris, '16, head of the Alumni Campaign, and by their Class Agents. However, you need not wait for a solicitation before making your contribution. Donations made before the end of the year can be deducted when making up 1947 income tax returns. Checks can be sent either to Robert S. Morris, 100 Pearl Street, Hartford 3, Connecticut, or to Trinity College, Hartford 6, Connecticut. The size of a share is $150. Many alumni will want to give one or more, but the College will be most grateful for smaller contributions from those who feel that they cannot afford a share. Won't you send in your pledge, today! Your Alma Mater is “on the march” but it needs some extra help if the step is to be kept lively.

Admissions

The present Freshman Class of 225 was picked from over 1500 applicants. The total number of applicants represented a new high for Trinity, but there was an even more significant figure: over 900 of these applicants were recommended by Trinity alumni. Three-quarters of the class admitted came from this group. These figures illustrate the importance of the alumni as admission agents. Part of this activity was organized. Wales Dixon, ’27, and Ron Kinney, ’15, set up a committee in Philadelphia to pick out good candidates for the class of 1951. Twenty-six men were finally admitted from the Philadelphia area, all of them recommended by the committee. Late in March, Wales, and Isabel Dixon gave a buffet supper at their home for all the boys in the Philadelphia area who were applying for admission to Trinity. This gave Dean Clarke and Bert Holland a chance to talk with all the applicants and to compare every boy with all the other boys. But organized help from alumni was not limited to the Philadelphia area. Dr. Edwin Nugent, ’28, head of the Rochester Alumni Association, interviewed a number of applicants. Nort Ives, ’16, head of the Detroit Association, was very active. Harvey Dann, ’31, and Fred Tansill, ’22, continued their fine work in New York, and Ken Case, ’13, worked very hard in Springfield. Al Birch, ’25, sent in the names of many qualified young men, including the name of the boy who was later awarded the Boston Alumni Scholarship. Laurie Scaife, ’31, interviewed a number of the Pittsburgh applicants. Ray Montgomery, ’25 brought more than fifteen boys up from New Haven and was a tireless worker for the College. Finally, Nelson Shepard, ’21, and Don Viering, ’42, continued their outstanding work in the Greater Hartford area.

Trinity can maintain its present high place among the colleges of the country only if each Freshman Class can be selected from a large group of well-qualified applicants. The help of the alumni will become more and more important as competition for good men increases. The first signs of this increased competition were visible last year. In 1948, while applications will still exceed by a large number the places available, it will be much easier for good men to enter the college of their first choice. It is in persuading the top men to make Trinity their first choice that the alumni can help most.

What qualities go to make up a good Trinity man? First of all, he should have a good mind. His record and work in high school or preparatory school should indicate that he can maintain the high scholastic requirements of Trinity College. Secondly, a good Trinity man should show evidences of leadership. Alumni can measure this capacity in two ways: participation in school activities and good influence on others. Participation in school activities includes not only athletics, but also, glee club, debating, newspaper work, dramatics, church work, scouting and many other things. Above all, it is not the number of activities but the quality of the work in those activities that is important. The ability to bring out the good qualities in other people is a certain proof of leadership.

The boy should have a sense of responsibility. Does he have the determination to make something of his life? Has he a definite purpose in coming to college? He should have high personal standards. Trinity is looking for boys of integrity who have the moral courage to stand up for what they believe to be right. Does he try to help others? Is he a loyal friend? Is he a boy of warm sympathies?

Alumni, then, should look for three qualities in boys they wish to interest in coming to Trinity: a good mind, leadership, and character.

Here are the answers to a few questions frequently asked both by alumni and applicants:

1. How does a boy apply for admission? He writes to the Secretary of Admissions, Trinity College, Hartford 6, Conn., and asks for an application blank. He will be sent at the same time a catalogue and a transcript form. The application blank should be filled out and sent in as soon as possible. The transcript form should be filled out by the boy's principal or headmaster and sent to the Secretary of Admissions after the first semester marks are available for the boy's senior year in school.

2. How many scholarships are available for Freshmen? There are about forty scholarships available for Freshmen. They range in amount from $100 to $1,000. Application blanks may be secured from the Secretary of Admissions. Scholarships are usually awarded in May, so that boys will know well in advance what help they can count on. Scholarships are of course awarded not only on the basis of merit but also on the basis of need.

3. In writing a letter of recommendation what points should an alumnus stress? The best letter of recommendation will take up the three qualities of mind, leadership and character and give specific examples to support the alumnus' judgment of the boy. Letters from teachers and family friends are also helpful.

This year plans have been made to keep alumni completely informed of the decisions on applicants recommended by them. We started this practice last year and will be able to expand it even further in 1948.

Next year Trinity plans to admit a Freshman Class of 200. Alumni are urged to send in their recommendations as soon as possible, so that each boy can be given careful consideration. With the active help of all alumni Trinity will be assured of another fine Freshman Class.

Recent Gifts and Bequests

The College has recently received the following gifts and bequests:

A gift of $3,000 from Charles T. Easterby, '16, of Philadelphia in appreciation of scholarship aid received by him when a student at Trinity. The scholarship is given in memory of Mr. Easterby's father, Alfred J. Easterby, and will be known as the Easterby Scholarship Fund.

A gift of $5,000 from the Estate of Thomas Fisher, a graduate of Lafayette College. The bequest is to be known as the Thomas Fisher Scholarship Fund, and the income is to be used for a scholarship, giving particular consideration to an applicant from the Diocese of Harrisburg or Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

A legacy of books and a sum of money, $1,840, from the estate of Otis S. Hill of Washington, D.C. He was not a Trinity alumnus, but a close friend of the late Professor Babbitt. The Otis S. Hill Library Fund has been established and the income is to be used for the purchase of Greek and Latin books for the Library.

Ground Breaking

When President Funston took office he immediately set out to fulfill the hopes of Dr. Luther and Dr. Ogilby who had long talked of Trinity's need for better athletic facilities. On October 25 ground was broken for the new Memorial Field House! The Alumni have enthusiastically contributed and will be glad to know it will be completed and ready for use by next September.

We all know what this new building will mean to Trinity because Alumni Hall has long ago outlived its usefulness. No longer will we have to go down town for our "home" basketball games, and now Ray Oosting and Dan Jessee will have ample space for varsity practice in bad weather.

The Field House and attached Sports Annex will join Trowbridge Memorial on the east. The cost of the structure will be about $465,000 including interior equipment of a portable basketball floor and baseball netting of fireproof cotton. The building will contain a tenth of a mile dirt track which will be eight feet wide. Inside the track will be an area large enough for a regulation baseball infield. There will be a removable wooden floor, 85 by 110 feet which will serve as a basketball court or as two practice courts. The seating capacity will be for 2000 persons at sports events, and this can be expanded to 3000 for public meetings. In the annex connecting the Field House and Trowbridge will be offices for the physical education department, a laundry, 400 lockers, shower rooms, a coaches' locker room, rubbing room, and a large sports room for boxing and the showing of movies.

Other trustees who took part in the ceremonies were Judge Philip J. McCook, '95; George C. Capen, '10; Bern Budd, '08; Robert B. O'Connor, '16; Owen Morgan, '06; Lyman B. Brainard, '30; and Charles G. Woodward, '98.

Clarence Sherman, '11

Last August 15th Clarence E. Sherman, '11, completed twenty-five years with the Providence Public Library. Since 1930, he has been the Librarian and has done such a splendid job in establishing branch libraries throughout the city and improving the personnel standards by the organization of a Library Training Class that last fall the voters overwhelmingly approved a $1,300,000 bond issue for a Central Library addition.

Trinity men in College with Mr. Sherman will recall that as an undergraduate, he was a member of the Freshmen-Junior Banquet Committee, the Glee Club, and the Tablet Board. He managed the Baseball Team, and was on the Junior Prom Committee. His classmates elected him President in their Sophomore year, at which time he was active on the Hop and Smoker Committees. And in his Senior year he was President of the Senate, the Senior Honorary Society and was Class Day President. His fraternity is Delta Kappa Epsilon.

At Trinity, he gave up the idea of entering electrical engineering, and explored further his youthful thoughts of becoming a librarian. As a student assistant in the college library, he became deeply interested in the profession, and after graduating, studied at the New York State Library School in Albany.

In 1912 he accepted the position of Assistant Librarian at Amherst College, and in 1917 assumed the public librarianship at Lynn, Massachusetts. There he reorganized the Lynn Public Library and developed its branches, until his call to Providence as Assistant Librarian in 1922.

The July 1947 issue of "A Reader's Guide to Books" was prepared by the library trustees and staff without the knowledge or consent of Mr. Sherman. With his permission we are happy to reprint parts of it:

"Twenty-five years ago — on August 15, 1922 — Clarence E. Sherman, then Librarian of the Lynn Public Library, began his work as Assistant Librarian of the Providence Public Library. Until February 7, 1930 — when he was made Librarian upon the retirement of William E. Foster — Mr. Sherman had the rare privilege of working with and sharing the vision, scholarship and administrative ideals of Mr. Foster who "... created this library... founded its traditions... and gave it world wide influence."

"The achievements of Mr. Sherman's administration include the establishment of a much-needed Business Branch, a Library Training Class, and a modern system of Branch Library Buildings. In the expansion of Reader's Advisory, Vocational Counseling and Veterans' services, wide use of radio and other forms of publicity, including the setting up of a broad Library public relations program, this Library has been a leader.

"So original and sound was Mr. Sherman's Stack Storage plan for storing less-used books, that it has been widely copied throughout the country, as have his Neighborhood Advisory Committee and Friends of the Library ideas. He somehow finds time to contribute to professional journals, and has set a new standard for effective and attractive annual report writing.

"Mr. Sherman's community contacts, based upon his interest in our citizens, are wide and varied. In addition to his many speaking engagements he has worked with Rotary, Boy Scouts, Chamber of Commerce, Labor Schools, is Chairman of the Rhode Island State Apprenticeship Council, a past president and board member of the Y.M.C.A., member of the corporation of the Rhode Island Hospital, director of the Citizens Savings Bank and a Trustee of the Rhode Island School of Design."
"In 1941 Mr. Sherman was awarded an honorary Master of Arts degree by Trinity College in Hartford (his Alma Mater), and in 1947 was elected a Fellow of that College.

"How successfully Mr. Sherman absorbed, carried on, and added to the traditions established by Mr. Foster, is revealed by the relative position of our Library today. It is now the second largest public library in New England, has more than 500,000 books on its shelves with a circulation of just under a million books a year, enjoys a national reputation, and is widely known for such special collections as the Updike Printing and the Nickerson Architectural.

"In November 1946 some 43,000 citizens of Providence voted "Yes" on the $1,300,000 Bond Issue which will make possible the long-planned, desperately-needed Central Library addition. This achievement represents the high-water mark for Mr. Sherman's twenty-five years of devoted service to the people of Providence.

"The word Enlightenment signifies the mission of this Library, and the goal of its Librarian."

Lyman B. Brainerd, '30

Last month Mr. Brainerd was elected President of the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection & Insurance Company. He has been a Trustee of the College since 1937, and was elected Secretary of the Board in June 1946, replacing Mr. Charles G. Woodward, '98.

for this unique venture could surmount the headaches and hurdles encountered in such an enterprise.

Traffic between Hartford and Sharon was heavy this past summer, because people who clustered around the gay arc light, under the bold white title, "Pitchfork Playhouse," super-imposed over the faint ghost of the word "stables," realized the expectation and excitement which they experienced sounded a fresh note in summer entertainment.

James Thurber paid tribute to the small group. After attending their production of his play, "The Male Animal," he climbed the dimly lighted stairs to the actors "dressing room" located in a one-time hay loft. Said Mr. Thurber: "A thing I would not have done for Elliott Nugent."

As the name of the PITCHFORK PLAYHOUSE spread, the reputation of its director, Don Craig, '48 grew. During the ten-week season he produced eight plays and each one received an enthusiastic audience. Not only did he direct and offer technical advice, but he carried major roles at the same time. Both the faculty and JESTERS were quick to realize that they had in their midst a man with great ability.

In announcing Mr. Craig's appointment Professor J. Bard McNulty, faculty advisor, said that only once before in the history of the college has the student dramatic group reached the present high level of organization and dramatic ability.

Sir Alfred Speaks at Virginia

SIR ALFRED ZIMMERN spoke in behalf of Oxford and representatives of Universities throughout the world at the inauguration of Dr. Darden as President of the University of Virginia on October 1. He pointed out the inability of the rest of mankind to understand the American people.

"Life in this favored land has developed habits and attitudes that are strange to the over-seas peoples and at a first contact often surprise and puzzle them. And today the problem of European-American relations is rendered more difficult by the physical fatigue and nervous exhaustion which afflict the European peoples," Sir Alfred said.

The founder of the Geneva School of International Studies forecast that within the next few months, Americans would see "apparent ingratitude" and "symptoms of active irritation" from the peoples of Europe whom the Marshall plan is seeking to help. But he urged American patience until Europe recovers "health, happiness, and faith in life."

Referring to a letter written by the founder of the University of Virginia, Thomas Jefferson, to Charles Sigourney, a founder of Trinity, and urging a "Spirit of cordial fraternity" among the nation's colleges, Sir Alfred called for an extension of Jefferson's idea of friendship and cooperation on an international level.

With civilization now "poised in the balances," he suggested that universities can make a significant contribution in forming and fostering contacts between the peoples of the world which would be "a natural illumination, leaving behind an afterglow of permanent and radiating understanding."

"Peace is, before all things, order in the soul," he said. "The Universities have a major part to play in the creation and maintenance of such an order."

Community Chest

THE COLLEGE again this year played a major part in the Greater Hartford Community Chest Campaign. This type of community participation is of great benefit to the student body as well as the city.

Bill Peelle, '44, Captain of the Trinity team of 120 students, was high captain in his division, and the fourth highest in the whole city. His team raised $4,550, or 120% of quota, from the Trinity students and the surrounding neighborhood.

One of the four general report meetings for the entire campaign featured Trinity Night at which the Band and the Pipes entertained.

Among our alumni John Butler, '33, held the job of Vice-Chairman of the Individual Subscribers Section. Bert Holland, '34, headed up one of the ten divisions and brought his section into second place for the final report, having raised 106% of quota. The top division, incidentally, was headed by Mrs. Louisa Pinney, wife of Sidney Pinney, '18, and Chuck Kingston, '34, commanded another division which went over its quota.

Lectures

THE LECTURE COMMITTEE has arranged for another interesting season of public lectures in the Chemistry Auditorium. Alexander F. Kerensky, President of the Russian provisional government in 1917, visited the campus on October 22 and 23, when he met with classes in Contemporary Civilization and Government and delivered a public lecture on "Russia and the United States."

Sir Alfred Zimmern, visiting professor of International Relations, will present thirteen lectures on world affairs. He delivered the first of the series on November 13 and the other scheduled dates are December 4 and 18, January 8 and 22, February 5 and 19, March 4 and 18, April 1, 15 and 29, and May 13.

It is Sir Alfred's intention to interpret current world affairs in the light of fundamental principles embodied in the United Nations Charter, and Trinity is indeed fortunate to have such a well qualified expert to lead the discussion.

Other lecturers on the fall schedule are Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, and Dr. Homer Thompson of the Advanced Institute of Princeton who was director of the Athenian Agora excavations.
Judge Buffington

Judge Joseph Buffington, one of Trinity's most loyal alumni, died on October 21 at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, in his ninety-third year. A member of the class of 1875 and trustee since 1900 the Judge had for over seventy-five years been unwavering in his devotion to his Alma Mater. Funeral services were held October 23rd at Trinity Cathedral, Pittsburgh, with Dean N. R. High Moor and the Rev. Lauriston L. Scaife, '31, officiating. Surviving are a sister, Hannah Buffington, a son, Joseph, Jr., Trinity 1918, and two grandchildren.

Joseph Buffington was born at Kittanning, Pennsylvania, on September 5, 1855, the son of Ephraim Buffington and Margaret Chambers Orr. Preparing for college at the Lambeth School, Kittanning, he entered Trinity in 1871 with the class of 1875. In college he was editor of the Tablet and played on the baseball team. He won the Silver Medal his Junior year for the English oration. He graduated in 1875 with a Bachelor of Arts degree, and received election to Phi Beta Kappa. At his commencement he delivered the class address. His fraternity affiliation was the Beta Beta Chapter of Psi Upsilon.

He "read" law for several years and was admitted to the bar in 1878. Joining his brother, Orr Buffington, Trinity 1879, Mr. Buffington formed a law office in his boyhood home. President Benjamin Harrison appointed him United States Judge to the Federal Court in Western Pennsylvania in 1892, and President Theodore Roosevelt named him to the Third Circuit Court of Appeals in 1906. At his retirement in 1938 his 46 years of service on the Federal Bench earned him the distinction of having served longer than any judge in the history of United States courts.

As a Federal judge, Mr. Buffington rendered a number of decisions affecting large industries. In 1931 he held that the Radio Corporation of America, the General Electric Company, the Westinghouse Manufacturing Company, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and subsidiaries had attained a monopoly over the sale of radio tubes and were in violation of the anti-trust act.

In 1937 he participated in a decision curbing the power of the National Labor Relations Board to compel employers to deal with collective-bargaining agents designated by it to handle disputes with employees. The court ruled that an employer could make a satisfactory settlement of labor differences with a committee of his employees without the aid of a recognized union. In 1938 Judge Buffington issued an order restraining the N. L. R. B. from enforcing its order to the Republic Steel Corporation to re-employ immediately 5,000 workers who engaged in the Little Steel strike in the summer of 1937.

Mr. Buffington also was well known for his work in aiding aliens to become citizens and as an advocate of prohibition. His advice to sixty men and women who had just become naturalized citizens in 1933 was "to stay away from saloons."

He was the only surviving member of the original Carnegie Hero Fund Commission, appointed by Andrew Carnegie in 1904, and also the last living delegate to the Republican convention of 1880 which nominated James A. Garfield for the Presidency.

Judge Buffington had been awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Trinity in 1890, and also from Lafayette College, University of Pittsburgh, Princeton, Washington and Jefferson College, Grove City College, Pennsylvania Military College, and Dickinson College. Mount St. Mary's College honored him with a Doctor of Civil Laws degree. He was a chevalier in the Order of the Golden Crown (Italy) and a member of the Order of the White Lion (Czechoslovakia).

In February, 1936, Judge Buffington published "The Soul of George Washington." This represented more than ten years of research by the author, and was undertaken in reply to the slanders and vilifications of Washington found in many publications. He also published a paper, Magna Carta: Its Overlooked Spiritual Side.

Judge Buffington was active in the Episcopal Church and a member of the Church of the Ascension in Pittsburgh. He had been a vestryman of Holy Trinity Church, Philadelphia. For years he was an ardent worker for the Salvation Army, and had been president of the Kingsley House Association in Pittsburgh. He was also president of the Henry Clay Frick Commission.

On January 29, 1885, the Judge married Miss Mary Alice Simonton of Emmitsburg, Pennsylvania. They had two sons: William, who died in infancy, and Joseph, Jr., Trinity 1918. Mrs. Buffington died in 1919. Five years later he married Mrs. Margaret Fairfax Clendenin of New Castle, Pennsylvania, who died in 1929. On January 1, 1931, he married Mrs. Mary Fullerton Jones of Philadelphia. She died in 1933.
SONS OF ALUMNI IN THE ENTERING CLASS

Placement

Registration of seniors with the College Placement Bureau reveals that 21 seniors will complete their degree requirements in February and approximately 182 in June. The February group had preliminary interviews with the Placement office early in November, and the June interviews ran from November 17 to December 10.

Representatives from various companies have started coming to the campus, but the majority of these recruiters will visit the College from February on.

At present, about 40 percent of the seniors have indicated intentions of continuing their studies in graduate schools. However, this figure will probably be decreased at the end of the year due to the change of plans and the continued crowded conditions of graduate schools.

Alumni who are in positions to be cognizant of openings in their various fields are urged to contact the Placement Bureau for the possible placement of Trinity men.
Football

Apart from the single loss to Wesleyan at the end of the football season, it cannot be denied that this year’s record including six straight wins is one of the most brilliant in our history. While the outcome of the Wesleyan game was a great disappointment, the overall record is an impressive string of triumphs.

Starting off with a decisive 33-12 vengeance on the Bates team that humbled Trinity 25-0 last year, Dan Jessee’s juggernaut rumbled irresistibly along the high road of fame knocking off opponents so methodically that long before the season ended, the 1947 team had established itself as one of the finest small college contenders in the country.

The key to the Blue and Gold offense was a double-threat “T” formation. The constant danger created by Whitey Kunkiewicz’s deadly passing ability kept opposing elevens back on their heels, and our hard-driving ball-carriers Corcoran, Heintz, Eblen, Boland, and Carroll were able to pile up consistent ground gains. Trinity amassed a total of 189 scoring points for the year as against a meager 46 tallied by opponents.

In the second game, ends Noonan, Osborn, Pope, and Pitkin spelled the reliable backfield yardage winners as they collected Kunkiewicz’s passes for a flurry of advances resulting in a 31-7 win over Middlebury.

With Captain Roger Bestor anchoring the center of the line, the front wall proved effective and aggressive even though it was lighter than last year’s outfit. Tackles Holmgren and Ponsalle, and guards Kolakowski, Baltronis, and McDonnell withstood attacks solidly and in offensive operations opened up plenty of holes. The third game, in which Trinity beat Hobart 25-7, revealed a smooth integration of passing and running attacks which marked the Hilltoppers as a fully mature unit.
In the next three games there was never a serious question about Trinity's superiority. In spite of injuries that slowed down Barrows, Baltrinis, and Eblen, the team stayed at peak efficiency as it conquered Williams 33-0, Worcester 34-7, and Norwich 33-0. The strength supplied by a fine string of reserves will carry over to provide next year's team with a running start. The record set by this year's team, however, will be a tough mark for future Trinity footballers to shoot at.

The last game of the season, in which Wesleyan thwarted our hopes for an undefeated season before 9000 fans by coming out on top 13-0, was unique in that the losing Trinity team outgained the winners tremendously. The home team netted 219 yards and 21 first downs, while Wesleyan advanced 87 yards and made only 10 first downs. Incidentally Trin never punted all afternoon, nor was the team penalized.

The year's statistics bring Dan Jessee's total of wins to 57, as against 27 losses and 3 ties in his 13 years of coaching at Trinity. Without a doubt, this year marked a new level of excellence for the Blue and Gold, and the prospect for continued superiority is bright.

At graduation we will lose John Fink, a fine end who this year never repeated his pre-war brilliant pass-receiving performances because of a bad hand; tackle Bill Powell; Bob Boland, one of the season's outstanding blocking and running backs; and Captain Roger Bestor. "Rog" has been one of the finest centers to wear a Trin uniform, and his sparkling play and leadership will long be remembered.

Sports

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL
The team defeated Springfield Freshman and Cheshire Academy while losing to the Wesleyan yearlings and Hopkins School. Under the direction of Joe Beidler, '42, several players showed good progress by the season's end. Pickett and Ludorf in the backfield should help Dan in a year or two.

SOCCER
The team showed steady improvement as the season progressed and won over Worcester Tech and Mass. State while losing hard fought matches to M.I.T., Yale, Amherst, and Wesleyan. Captain Morrel, Geiger, and Nelson played a steady game throughout the season. Goodyear and Dunn battled on even terms for the goal guard position.

The Freshman lost their four games but all of them were extremely close. Nelson and Clifford showed much promise for future teams.

CROSS COUNTRY
The team did not score any victories, but Captain Edie Lemieux, college two mile record holder, scored three firsts and finished seventh in the New England Intercollegiates. The freshman should strengthen the varsity next year for they lost to Amherst by only one point, tied Wesleyan, and defeated East Hartford and Choate.

Kiley Playground
The Kiley Playground was established by Henry L. Shattuck and given to the City of Boston for the benefit of the people of the neighborhood. It is located on Albion, Compton and Village Streets in the large tenement house area lying between Tremont Street and Shawmut Avenue.

Roger C. Kiley was a member of the class of 1944. Enlisting in the United States Army on August 8, 1942, he was assigned to active duty in the Air Forces on February 10, 1943. He went through basic training in Mississippi and Virginia, and died at the Walter Reed Hospital on October 23, 1943.

The Playground was formally presented to the City of Boston on October 30 by Mr. Shattuck. Mayor John B. Hynes accepted it in behalf of the city and Governor Robert F. Bradford spoke for the State.

Tuttle Memorial
On September 28 the townspeople of Windsor, Connecticut dedicated a bronze tablet in the Public Library in memory of Ruel Crompton Tuttle. Mr. Tuttle, a member of the Class of 1889, was well known for his paintings. The description on the plaque reads:

Artist and Architect, was born in Windsor in 1866 and resided for many years in the house which is now the rectory of Grace Episcopal Church. He studied in this country and abroad and achieved renown for his watercolors and murals. Through his foresight and generosity this building was remodeled and enlarged following his death in 1940. His benefaction to the Public Library of his native town is gratefully acknowledged.
