Ambassador Discusses US - Chinese Ties

by Patrick J. Trustle
Assistant, News Editor

Ambassador Liang Yufan described the "one country, two systems" solution to the Taiwan/Mainland China issue in his lecture discussing Chinese-U.S. relations Friday. Yufan also gave his views concerning foreign capitalism in China, Chinese-Soviet stumbling blocks, and the effectiveness of the United Nations.

Liang Yufan described Taiwan as the main setback in China-U.S. relations since the normalization of relations and the subsequent Nixon visit in 1972. A recent Chinese government statement, he indicated, would treat Taiwan in a manner similar to Hong Kong and allow capitalism to exist alongside traditional Chinese socialism.

"When Hong Kong comes under the jurisdiction of the Chinese government, it becomes a special region of China and will keep its capitalist system. This brings in the concept of one country, two systems. In Taiwan, we wish to introduce this idea. Taiwan will be able to keep its current economic system for thirty or more years and keep their economic and financial relations with other parts of the world, they will be able to keep. When China becomes one part of China with special privileges, I think that the United States will be willing to abide by this policy, we do not want a crisis concerning (Taiwan) to undermine what we have achieved with [the U.S.] in the last thirteen years," he said.

Yufan stressed China's need for U.S. capital and investment to develop the country's resources and to complete the government's economic reform.

"Trade has increased tremendously with the U.S. -- welcoming foreign capitalism is part of our economic reform. The policy has brought good things to China. It benefits the people and it won't be changed... the open door policy attempts to reconcile capitalism with the Chinese way of life. It has proved to be compatible. Reforms should be able to absorb the best managing ways of capitalist countries," the ambassador said.

Ambassador Yufan described current efforts as "threatening." Handling the list of Chinese grievances is the current Soviet stance in Cambodia.

"There are three hindrances to the normalization of Chinese and Soviet relations. First, the issue of Cambodia. The Soviets have supported the occupation of Cambodia for some seven years. This is a great threat to China. Other Soviet occupations also threaten Chinese security. Finally, the concentration of large numbers of Soviet troops on the Chinese/Soviet border, we would like them [Soviet numbers] reduced to the level maintained in the 1950's... we have outlined rounds of talks to solve these differences," he said.

"The United Nations serves that purpose. It is irreplaceable," he said.

Hayes Speaks on Midnight Express

by Susan L. Curley

Billy Hayes spoke to a capacity crowd of Trinity students Wednesday in McCook Auditorium in the second part of the TCAC-sponsored Midnight Express program. Many of the students viewed the movie Midnight Express Tuesday.

The lecture was not confined to the movie; Hayes covered a variety of topics including what he is doing now and what some of his future plans are.

A large part of the two-hour lecture was devoted to questions and answers.

Hayes went to Turkey, planning to smuggle out hashish. He was caught prior to the actual smuggling. Hayes covered a variety of topics including what he is doing now and what some of his future plans are.

"I went to Turkey, planning to smuggle out hashish. He was caught prior to the actual smuggling. Hayes covered a variety of topics including what he is doing now and what some of his future plans are.

The trials he undertook have helped Hayes. He feels that he has learned that he is adaptable and has an inner strength which allowed him to survive and escape. The escape itself has given Hayes self-worth.

"At no point in the lecture did I ask Trinity students to do was accept the responsibility and be aware of the consequences of their actions. He asked that the audience understand the importance of not pursuing illegal activities for the sake of gains. He said that the actions of the young are encouraging actions by the old.

Hayes Speaks on Midnight Express

by Susan L. Curley

Billy Hayes spoke to a capacity crowd of Trinity students Wednesday in McCook Auditorium in the second part of the TCAC-sponsored Midnight Express program. Many of the students viewed the movie Midnight Express Tuesday.

The lecture was not confined to the movie; Hayes covered a variety of topics including what he is doing now and what some of his future plans are.

A large part of the two-hour lecture was devoted to questions and answers.

Hayes went to Turkey, planning to smuggle out hashish. He was caught prior to the actual smuggling. Hayes covered a variety of topics including what he is doing now and what some of his future plans are.

The trials he undertook have helped Hayes. He feels that he has learned that he is adaptable and has an inner strength which allowed him to survive and escape. The escape itself has given Hayes self-worth.

"At no point in the lecture did I ask Trinity students to do was accept the responsibility and be aware of the consequences of their actions. He asked that the audience understand the importance of not pursuing illegal activities for the sake of gains. He said that the actions of the young are encouraging actions by the old.

Hayes Speaks on Midnight Express

by Susan L. Curley

Billy Hayes spoke to a capacity crowd of Trinity students Wednesday in McCook Auditorium in the second part of the TCAC-sponsored Midnight Express program. Many of the students viewed the movie Midnight Express Tuesday.

The lecture was not confined to the movie; Hayes covered a variety of topics including what he is doing now and what some of his future plans are.

A large part of the two-hour lecture was devoted to questions and answers.

Hayes went to Turkey, planning to smuggle out hashish. He was caught prior to the actual smuggling. Hayes covered a variety of topics including what he is doing now and what some of his future plans are.

The trials he undertook have helped Hayes. He feels that he has learned that he is adaptable and has an inner strength which allowed him to survive and escape. The escape itself has given Hayes self-worth.

"At no point in the lecture did I ask Trinity students to do was accept the responsibility and be aware of the consequences of their actions. He asked that the audience understand the importance of not pursuing illegal activities for the sake of gains. He said that the actions of the young are encouraging actions by the old.

Hayes Speaks on Midnight Express

by Susan L. Curley

Billy Hayes spoke to a capacity crowd of Trinity students Wednesday in McCook Auditorium in the second part of the TCAC-sponsored Midnight Express program. Many of the students viewed the movie Midnight Express Tuesday.

The lecture was not confined to the movie; Hayes covered a variety of topics including what he is doing now and what some of his future plans are.

A large part of the two-hour lecture was devoted to questions and answers.

Hayes went to Turkey, planning to smuggle out hashish. He was caught prior to the actual smuggling. Hayes covered a variety of topics including what he is doing now and what some of his future plans are.

The trials he undertook have helped Hayes. He feels that he has learned that he is adaptable and has an inner strength which allowed him to survive and escape. The escape itself has given Hayes self-worth.

"At no point in the lecture did I ask Trinity students to do was accept the responsibility and be aware of the consequences of their actions. He asked that the audience understand the importance of not pursuing illegal activities for the sake of gains. He said that the actions of the young are encouraging actions by the old.
Today:
Mr. Howard Eaton, Visiting lecturer at the Hartford Art School, will discuss "Communication (Mass Media, Television, Journalism, Advertising): How to Get In. How to be a Star!" Come prepared for questions. At 4:30 pm, in the Rittenberg Lounge.

Understanding and coping with the problems alcoholism causes those who are close to it. If you suspect someone close to you of having a drinking problem try Al-Anon. Every Monday night at 8:00 in the chapel. Use the side entrance. All are welcome.

Wednesday:
Reverend Dr. Alex Tall, Chaplain and Assistant Professor of Religion, will lead a discussion entitled: "Thinking About the Draft and Military Service" at 7:00 pm in the Alumni Lounge.

Noted artist Cleve Gray will discuss his work at the Hartford Art School, University of Hartford, on Wednesday, November 13. Gray spent several days last January at the Art School as the first visiting artist. His talk, at 2 p.m. in Seabury 9-17, is open to the public.

Thursday:
The Committee to End Homophobia will meet on Thursday, at 7:00 pm in the Cave. All students are welcome.

The Political Science Department, Intercollegiate Studies Program, and the Lecture Committee will sponsor a lecture by Mr. Archis Brown who will be speaking on "Soviet Leadership: From Stalin to Gorbachev." The lecture will be held at 4:00 pm in Seabury 9-17.

The Women's Center Lunch Series will feature Dina Anselmi discussing "Men, Women, and Identity: Career and Sex Roles" on November 14. The talk begins at 12:30 pm in the Women's Center.

Saturday:
LIBANA, a thirteen women ensemble will perform at 8:00 pm, in the Washington Room, Mather. They will perform traditional women's folk songs and dance of Celtic, Eastern European, Middle Eastern, and Jewish origin. The concert is free and not to be missed.

Sunday:
There will be a meeting of the Progressive Student Alliance at 7:30 pm in the Cave, all students are invited.

Upcoming:
Professor Arthur Hertzberg, Professor of Religion, Dartmouth College, will give the 1985 Michael P. Getlin lecture titled "The Meaning of bread for itself and for the Diaspora" on November 21, 1985, 8:00 pm, in the Washington Room.

Help Wanted:
Typeper: $500 weekly at home
Write, P.O. box 975, Elizabeth N.J. 07207.

Buildings & Grounds Department is looking for a student worker who is interested in doing basic clerical work. Some computer knowledge required. Please call Jill Bluerode at Extension 270 if you are interested.

Students wanted to work in the Security Office. Job entails camera monitoring and driving escorts. Apply at the Security Office or call 249-0865 or 244-3146.

This spring, the Admissions office will be hiring 6-8 rising seniors to assist in interviewing candidates for admission to Trinity. If you are interested in applying for one of these positions, AND YOU WILL BE STUDYING OFF-CAMPUS NEXT SEMESTER, please pick up an application at the Admissions Office. This only applies to members of the class of 1987 who will not be on campus spring semester. All other interested students should apply in April. When you return your completed application to the Admissions Office, you will be asked to schedule and interview for the morning of Saturday, December 14. The application deadline is Friday, December 6, 1985.

F.Y.I.
December 1st is the deadline for renewing Fall Term only residential Contracts and for withdrawing from Spring Term Contracts without certain penalties. Be certain to contact the Office of Residential Services as soon as possible if you need to renew or withdraw from your Residential Contract.

Personal:
Dear P. Kim
Roses are red, Violets are blue, you were a birthday girl yesterday, happy 20 years to you!
with love from your friends.

Lindette
I miss you. Te quiero.
Manolo

Crow-PSU U Semi-Formal
SATURDAY NOVEMBER 16th
10 p.m.-2 a.m.
IN THE CAVE
$15 per couple — tickets obtained from any brother

Music by the
RIVERSIDE DRIVERS

---

La culture bien sûr, mais la confiture ?
LES COPAINS
sortez du brouillard.

Pour une petite caissette

DATE CLAIR

Jendi
Doonesbury
64
249-42-63

---

autrement
Le nouveau rendez-vous

CLUB DE FRANCE

---

FILM
I TRE FRATELLI
will be shown on November 12 at 7:30 p.m.
in McCook Auditorium

Refreshments will be served in the Committee Lounge at 10:00 p.m.
Nkoane Speaks on South African Issues

continued from page 1

He praised blacks in South Africa for using their buying power to call for reform. Nkoane reported that South African blacks are becoming more unified than ever, "...the people are no longer afraid of the army."

The bulk of Bishop Nkoane's speech dealt with a theological doctrine of reform, called "crisis," that the Anglican Church of South Africa has recently released.

The main purpose of "crisis" is to strike down the religious justifications that the South African government is using to defend apartheid. The Biblical tenet that man must obey the state has been used by the South African government to defend apartheid, "crisis," refutes that interpretation by citing references to men resisting the oppression of the Pharaohs, Romans, Babylonians, and the like. The South African government has also attempted to absolutize law-breaking as a sin, but "crisis" asserts that good Christians do not obey unjust laws, but the laws of God.

Nkoane saw the idea of "reconciliation" between the blacks and whites of South Africa as a false hope because apartheid is a situation where one side (the African National Council) is on the side of God, and the other (the state government of South Africa) is on the side of Satan.

"There can be no reconciliation between good and evil. Evil and injustice must be done away with," Nkoane said.

Nkoane described in detail the imbalance that exists for educational opportunity in South Africa. He saw the dead-end educational system fueling the rage of young blacks. Students have begun to protest the schools and a parent's organization (Süeto Parent's Cri- sis Committee) has called for the cancellation of finals this year because so many of the students are in jail or in hospitals.

When asked in the brief question and answer session how he felt about divestiture by colleges and universities in the United States, the Bishop was understandably understated. (Nkoane could be arrested for treason in South Africa if he spoke in favor of divestiture.)

"I know what I have to do. You must decide what you want to do. I have given you a picture of our situation. The rest is up to you," he said.

Milner and Democrats Triumph

by Barry A. Freedman

No surprises came out of Hartford's election Tuesday night. Mayor Milner was reelected the mayor, and the city council remained under Democratic control.

As expected, Mayor Thirman L. Milner easily defeated his opponent, Republican Eunice Grout. However, the election was closer than expected. Milner won 12,602 votes while Grout received 8,126 votes, unofficially. Grout won 10 of the city's 13 voting districts. It was the strongest Republican challenge for mayor in 15 years.

Milner won his third term while overcoming accusations that campaign aide Leonardo J. Stoute was involved in an influence peddling scheme. Milner denied knowledge of Stoute's actions. He accused "The Hartford Courant" of attempting to make him lose the election. He later stated after the election that, "My real opponent was "The Hartford Courant" and to defeat a syndicate is not easy.

The mayor's campaign manager Rev. Alan N. Johnson Jr. stated that news coverage prior to the election was six to one against the black community. "The print media and the mass media will try everything to divide blacks," he said.

In other races, a three-member coalition, including incumbent Board of Education President Robert G. Vater, took the top three spots. The non-partisan election gave Courtney W. Gardner with 4,586, Maria C. Sanchez with 4,307, Vater with 3,705, Richard Ford's election last Tuesday. The Democratic candidates received between 4,418 to 4,088 votes. The winners included Democratic incumbent Alphonse S. Marotta, Nancy Melendez, and Allan B. Taylor. Newcomers include Norvel Goff, Theresa R. M. Dickerson, and Desmonah A. Melo.

The Republican minority will be composed of incumbents Reinaldo Matos, Antonio R. Santiago, and their vote totals were: William B. Ladd and Ben F. Andrews, and newcomer Carl Ann Martin.

Editor's Note: The vote totals were taken from The Hartford Courant.

Bishop Nkoane addresses the Trinity community Thursday on South African conditions.

L. Milner

continued from page 1

posts nearest the scoreboard," Di- rector of Security Janiece Stewart told the TriPod.

The students first faked for the news goalposts and then sprinted eighty yards to the far, less protected goal posts. When Wesleyan students tried to rip down the metal posts they were met with resistance by Trinity students. Playful shoving soon turned into individual and scattered fighting amongst the more enraged fans.

Although Security claims no one was injured, at least one person was seen leaving bleeding and dazed.

"I did not see any fighting, some shoving but no punching," Stew- art asserted Monday.

"I felt we handled the situation in a proper manner," the Director said.

Although both the Hartford Police and Security confirmed that a Wesleyan student was arrested and charged with breach of the peace, neither would release the name of the student charged.

Wesnev also refused to discuss the specifics of the security ar- rest. When asked whether she had considered placing a fence around the field to deter such post-game altercations, Stewart suggested contacting Building & Grounds. "I did not see any fighting, some shoving but no punching," Stew- art asserted Monday.

"I felt we handled the situation in a proper manner," the Director said.

Although both the Hartford Police and Security confirmed that a Wesleyan student was arrested and charged with breach of the peace, neither would release the name of the student charged.

Wesnev also refused to discuss the specifics of the security ar- rest. When asked whether she had considered placing a fence around the field to deter such post-game altercations, Stewart suggested contacting Building & Grounds. "I did not see any fighting, some shoving but no punching," Stew- art asserted Monday.

Ross speaks on Stocks

by Sean Abbott

We all know that investing in the stock market is risky business. However, do we know what the risks are? How do we measure our risk? Is it possible to minimize risk while maintaining a positive expectancy? These questions of "Risk and Return in the Stock Market" were addressed by Professor Stephen A. Ross of Yale University in the annual George W. Faxon Lecture in Corporation and Investments.

Ross made it clear that there are no sure things or quick solutions in the stock market. No money can be made without risk, and the more money one desires the more risk one must accept. Because virtually nobody owns stock in only one company, risk-taking must be measured and evaluated in terms of portfolios of stocks.

Ross listed four central risks that affect everyone's portfolio: interest rates and changes in in- vestor confidence. The greater the portfolio's exposure to these four economic forces, the greater the risk involved. Finally, the greater the overall risk of the portfolio, the greater the potential losses or re- turns.

Ross also discussed the relationship of dividends and interest rates. Dividends are paid monthly and are based on the value of the company's stock. Interest rates, on the other hand, are based on the amount of money one desires the more risk one must accept. Because virtually nobody owns stock in only one company, risk-taking must be measured and evaluated in terms of portfolios of stocks.

Ross listed four central risks that affect everyone's portfolio: interest rates and changes in investor confidence. The greater the portfolio's exposure to these four economic forces, the greater the risk involved. Finally, the greater the overall risk of the portfolio, the greater the potential losses or returns.

Ross also discussed the relationship of dividends and interest rates. Dividends are paid monthly and are based on the value of the company's stock. Interest rates, on the other hand, are based on the amount of money one desires to invest in the stock market. The greater the portfolio's exposure to these four economic forces, the greater the risk involved. Finally, the greater the overall risk of the portfolio, the greater the potential losses or returns.

Photo by Phillip Q. Lean

The Democrats received between 4,418 to 4,088 votes. The winners included Democratic incumbent Alphonse S. Marotta, Nancy Melendez, and Allan B. Taylor.

Newcomers include Norvel Goff, Theresa R. M. Dickerson, and Desmonah A. Melo.

The Republican minority will be composed of incumbents Reinaldo Matos, Antonio R. Santiago, and their vote totals were: William B. Ladd and Ben F. Andrews, and newcomer Carl Ann Martin.

Editor's Note: The vote totals were taken from The Hartford Courant.

Goal-Post Melee Results In Arrest

continued from page 1

in a proper manner," the Director said.

Although both the Hartford Police and Security confirmed that a Wesleyan student was arrested and charged with breach of the peace, neither would release the name of the student charged.

Wesnev also refused to discuss the specifics of the security ar- rest. When asked whether she had considered placing a fence around the field to deter such post-game altercations, Stewart suggested contacting Building & Grounds. "I did not see any fighting, some shoving but no punching," Stew- art asserted Monday.

"I felt we handled the situation in a proper manner," the Director said.

Although both the Hartford Police and Security confirmed that a Wesleyan student was arrested and charged with breach of the peace, neither would release the name of the student charged.

Wesnev also refused to discuss the specifics of the security ar- rest. When asked whether she had considered placing a fence around the field to deter such post-game altercations, Stewart suggested contacting Building & Grounds. "I did not see any fighting, some shoving but no punching," Stew- art asserted Monday.

"I felt we handled the situation in a proper manner," the Director said.

Although both the Hartford Police and Security confirmed that a Wesleyan student was arrested and charged with breach of the peace, neither would release the name of the student charged.

Wesnev also refused to discuss the specifics of the security ar- rest. When asked whether she had considered placing a fence around the field to deter such post-game altercations, Stewart suggested contacting Building & Grounds. "I did not see any fighting, some shoving but no punching," Stew- art asserted Monday.
Features

Hey Kids: A Guide To Art Paranoia

Virginia Weidt once wrote that she didn't want to have to say anything ever. She probably never said anything ever. But I can tell you why. She was the first curator of the first exhibition of feminist art, and she had the right idea: that feminist art is about breaking through the wall of silence and preconceptions that separate us from the truth. And that's why I wrote this guide: to help you see the world through a different lens, to challenge your assumptions and expectations, to help you find your own voice and express it.

The fall marathon has just ended at WRTC, and it was seven days of pure listening and immersion in the art of radio. Last year we were able to return to the study of contemporary art, and this year we were able to revisit the whole main studio. Finally he started volition which excludes family out-rentivate the whole main studio. Returns last year we were able to very out dated; with the marathon old board was confusing to use and thon helped purchase a new con-

In the production studio, carts, Virgin Islands. • /...changing focus (Art) • Summer 1986 (Field Camp Studies)

V.DORON

The new equipment makes it a joy to do a show at WRTC; it is easy to use, enjoyable - so I'm not going to date it in the near future, and then that level of radio has greatly increased. But there are other problems at the station. The funds for this year's marathon will go to the ren-

In the fall production studio, carts, which are used to store recorded announcements, are produced, new DA's are trained, remote feeds from outside the studio, like live, done and we are out, and other editing activity take place. Like in the studio before the renovation, the equip-

Spring Studies in St. Croix

Spend your spring semester earning college credits with a highly motivated group of students and faculty at Fairleigh Dickinson University's West Indies Laboratory in St. Croix, the U.S. Virgin Islands.

FDU's West Indies Laboratory is the only year-round Caribbean field station for undergraduate and graduate studies sponsored by an American university. The Lab is a recognized center for tropical and environmental research.

Courses offered at the West Indies Lab are accepted for credit by over 200 U.S. colleges and universities. And for your convenience, we'll provide you with specially designed information. This coupon or call (201) 460-5173.

Environmental Science is the focus of the spring 1986 curriculum, which begins February 3 and ends May 19. You can earn from 18 to 16 credits by enrolling in the following courses:

- Introduction to the Caribbean: Physical and Social Geography
- Geologic and Ecological Processes: Principles and Field Techniques
- Environmental Problems and Resource Management
- Environmental Impact Analysis
- Advanced Diving and Underwater Photography (Optional)

Fairleigh Dickinson University—New Jersey's largest private university—also offers regular summer and fall semester programs at the West Indies Laboratory. For more information, complete this coupon or call (201) 460-5173.

CLIP AND MAIL TO: Office of Overseas Programs, Fairleigh Dickinson University, 155 Montrose Avenue, Rutherford, N. J. 07070

Please send me more information about FDU's accredited programs at its West Indies Laboratory in St. Croix, the U.S. Virgin Islands. Sign me up for FDU.
Trinity's Dance Club Performance

by Ginny Thompson

Lubiana Women's Chorus

by Michelle Turner

Trinity Concert Choir

by Ginny Thompson

Trinity's Dance Club Performance

by Ginny Thompson

Upcoming Cultural Events

Lecture by Composer

Music for Credit

Performance Exhibit

Dreamgirls at the Bushnell

by Ginny Thompson

MUSIC OF THE TWENTIES

1920's

1820's

1810's

1720's

1700's

1620's

1620's

1610's

1510's

1400's

1300's

1200's

1100's

1000's

MEETING **********

The Arts Section of the Tripod is looking for writers, copy editors, layout people, and painters. If interested, come to a meeting Tuesday, November 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the Jackson basement.
Homecoming

PHOTOS BY TARA TRACEY
Bill, R.I.P.

The Tripod’s favorite man on campus has left us. You remember him as the manager of Trinity Follet Bookstore. His warm beard and soothing pipe were always a pleasing sight to those of us who looked up to Bill and his wonderful store. I can remember times when Uncle Bill would personally get involved to help distressed students find just the right T-shirt from the store’s incredible line-up of Trinity paraphernalia. Why it seems like only yesterday when one could walk past the store late at night and see Bill burning that midnight oil finding some way to drop the price of that used art history book from $49.99 to $47.99.

Of course, there was always something about Bill that was just too good for this world. Bill never blamed any of the store’s difficulties on the student body; he was much too classy for that. Goodbye Uncle Bill, the etiquette lessons we’ve learned from you will last us a lifetime.

Ramblings

...We like the attitude of the new bookstore manager. He actually gives a damn what the students want/deserve/expect. Some of his newest ideas seem encouraging. Welcome Vinny....Frat to Frat last weekend raised over $2300 for charity and helped promote some feelings of unity between the fraternal and non-fraternal community. Some of you may recall closing off Vernon Street in warmer weather and sponsoring a day-long Frat to Frat type event. Sounds like a great idea....The Dean of Students Office will soon ask students to publish certain details about disciplinary infractions that occur on campus. Dean Winer feels that publishing the names, infractions, and punishments might deter future incidents. We have serious problems with this idea. And although we have not decided whether to publish or not publish information supplied by Dean Winer we are leaning toward not printing the list. We welcome letters on this topic....Banning alcohol at football games will not stop the kind of incident that took place Saturday during the Homecoming game. We would like to suggest two alternatives to banning alcohol: 1) put a fence up around the field like Wesleyan does and 2) place security and police at both goal posts, not just one. Sure, people had been drinking and emotions were running high, but you can’t blame the whole incident on alcohol.... “Middle of the Road,” “Thriller,” “ABC,” “Rock the Casbah,” “Rock Around the Clock,” “Satisfaction,” “How do you keep the flames down at the homecoming rally to watch the band?”

Thanks Frats For Charity Party

To the Editor,

The members of ComForBIG at Trinity would like to thank all those students who attended the “We Are the World” party on Thursday, October 15, at the Psi Upsilon fraternity house. Your donations raised over three hundred and fifty dollars for U.S.A. for Africa to help feed the hungry here at home and in Africa.

We especially wish to thank the brothers of Psi Upsilon for allowing us to use their house. Also, special thanks to the IFC and PKA, Tri-Delta, Sigma Chi, and KKG for donating beer, alternative beverages and food. We could not have done it without the help of you all together.

Sincerely,

Patricia Stasiopoul Chairman, ComForBIG at Trinity College

Let’s Keep That Trinity Spirit

To the Editor,

On behalf of the senior class committee we would like to express our thanks to Coach Don Miller, Vice President Smith, the football team, the cheerleaders, and to all of you who came out to the homecoming rally to watch the beautiful band and to participate in keeping that Trinity spirit alive and well.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Weiss
Senior Class President
Lee Coffin
Assistant Director Alumni Relations

Do you feel that Trinity has a problem with minority relations? Are you a concerned nonminority? Are you a minority yourself?

The SGA Committee on Minority Enrollment met last Wednesday night to address the question of minority attention on campus, and to discuss possible solutions to the problem. The enthusiastic group of students, mostly first year students, involved in meeting with the admissions office to suggest minority recruitment through extensive recruiting.

Please include writing letters and phone calls to possible candidates, as well as having them on campus for a weekend in the spring. The committee would also like to help the admissions office design a pamphlet describing programs and opportunities available to minorities on and off campus.

How do minorities fare once they are at Trinity? Grace Morris, our new minority advisor, is here to make the transition to college life a little easier. In an attempt to improve the social transition as well, the SGA committees discussed various ideas to improve interaction and understanding among students.

Anti-Apartheid Committee Missled Students

To the Editor,

We feel that the name of the Trinity Anti-Apartheid Committee is singularly misleading and inappropriate. Several members of the Republican Club and the Trinity community joined this organization with the understanding that it is simply an organization devoted to peaceful opposition to Apartheid and not necessarily an organization devoted to divestment. We feel that the committee sponsored several weeks ago was advertised and promoted as an opportunity to “come and show your opposition to Apartheid.” But, in fact, the vigil gathered outside Hamlin and protest specifically in favor of divestment. We believe that disinvestment is an ineffective way of properly combating Apartheid, and we feel that the Trinity Anti-Apartheid Committee would condemn coalitions by changing their name to the “Trinity Pro-Divestment Committee.”

Sincerely,

The Trinity Republican Club

SGA Update

The SGA Committee on Minorities was held last Wednesday night to address the question of minority attention on campus, and to discuss possible solutions to the problem. The committee would like to help the admissions office design a pamphlet describing programs and opportunities available to minorities on and off campus.

Please include writing letters and phone calls to possible candidates, as well as having them on campus for a weekend in the spring. The committee would also like to help the admissions office design a pamphlet describing programs and opportunities available to minorities on and off campus.

How do minorities fare once they are at Trinity? Grace Morris, our new minority advisor, is here to make the transition to college life a little easier. In an attempt to improve the social transition as well, the SGA committees discussed various ideas to improve interaction and understanding among students.

One suggestion was to integrate a two-week program on race and understanding between students and faculty. Also, the committee plans to sponsor several social events, including a wine and cheese party in the near future.

The Minority Enrollment Committee, which met last week, is considering the possibility of making the Minority Enrollment Committee a permanent body.

The committee encoura...
WE’RE CHANGING THE MEANING OF THE WORD.

in•no•va•tor (in’ə-və’tər) n. 1. One who begins or introduces something new; one who is creative.
2. THE TRAVELERS COMPANIES.

AND YOU CAN TOO.

Ideas spark innovation. Imagination fuels it. Achievement realizes it.

At The Travelers, we challenge your potential so you can strive for innovation.

So let your ideas help shape our future.
And yours.

Write to: Rubin Fisher, Assistant Director, College and Professional Recruiting, Department 31, The Travelers Companies, One Tower Square, Hartford, Ct 06183.

The Travelers
The Travelers Companies
Hartford, Connecticut 06183
Reynolds - Meese
Un-Affirmative Action

William Bradford Reynolds and Edwin Meese are at it again. Armed with a twisted sense of fairness they are out to mame, mislead and hopefully kill the country's civil rights laws. Their main target in this battle is affirmative-action. Because it works.

This battle actually quite an historical one for Attorney General Meese and the Justice Department. Reynolds, who just renewed the Voting Rights Act 210 to $4, Mr. Reynolds denounced it. The incident where Mr. Reynolds tried to strip tax exemptions for racist schools through The Supreme Court, without review in Congress or the Courts, is another example of Mr. Reynolds' smug battle.

But now the two men have regrouped, joined forces and are pushing forward to wreck the 20 year old policy which requires companies doing business with the Federal Government not to discriminate by race or sex. The policy forces these companies to promote and hire women and minorities in direct proportion to their labor movement. A policy, which in its 10 years has found overwhelming support in every administration since its founder, President Kennedy, now finds direct, powerful opposition in the Reagan administration.

The tactical weapon Reynolds and Meese are using is this time is deceit. They argue that "statistical balance" only hurts the chances of women and minorities, that these people are not more qualified. The battle against women was not the only way they kill affirmative action. They took it out on deserving minority workers. And then took it out on the companies that hire them. That's why they got the job for the right reasons. That's the way it would happen. That's how Mr. Meese and Mr. Reynolds argue — but without documentation. Simple research proves him wrong.

In The News
BRIDGET MCMORRECK

When Americans sat down to watch the evening news on television, they saw television reports of South African police brutally slapping blacks who were protest- ing the oppressive and immoral when you have the right. They brought to America the horrifying images of the injustice, the violence and the tyrannical permanence that has also become synonymous with South Africa.

Speakers who come from South Africa told Americans of the squalid townships that blacks were forced to live in because the land that they had rightfully owned had been taken away from them by the authorities. They spoke to America about the suffering and the frustration of the blacks.

Americans listened to the speakers and saw the nightly news re- ports. They became aware of what was happening in South Af- rica, and as a result, more con- cerned. Television is a very powerful instrument, as Americans learned in the early '60s, and as the South African is beginning to understand today.

Mr. Meese and Mr. Reyolds are perfect examples of what gives con- stitutional rights are being unjustly denied, it is the obligation of the administration to find out what's new (or what's old) and toss the old. President Reagan joins the forces of Meese and Reynolds.

The opposition to Meese and Beysin is well organized, however. Sen- ator Dole, Robert Michel, the house minority leader, seven members of the Cabinet, and the National Association of Manufacturers are all trying to get Mr. Meese and Mr. Reynolds before Congress before a vote is cast.

Mr. Meese and Mr. Reynolds make a good case. It is given conserva- tives a bad name. And Republicans, for that matter. They represent a tall breed of conservatives — those who have changed a political philos- ophy from one that used to aim at tying society together to one that pulls it apart.

Let us hope then that President Reagan decides to side with the old program. Now is the time to ask President Reagan to join forces with the Americans who have been supporting affirmative action. If his belief has always been...that wherever in this land any individual's Con- stitutional rights are being unjustly denied, it is the obligation of the administration to find out what's new (or what's old) and toss the old. President Reagan joins the forces of Meese and Reynolds.
ORE SPORTS

Men’s Soccer Failed To Live Up To Expectations

by Marc Esterman
Sports Editor

Another soccer season has come and gone with signs of improvement in some areas and disappointments in others. The men’s soccer program is in transition; last year, Trinity went 5-7-1 and, with the addition of talented freshmen Matt Gandhi and Stephen Ryan, hopes were high for improving upon last year’s performance. But last year’s performance was 7-5,” commented assistant coach Jeff Vagell. “We had a sensational year last season, but this year, Trinity went 5-7-1 and, with the addition of talented freshmen Matt Gandhi and Stephen Ryan, hopes were high for improving upon last year’s performance. But last year’s performance was 7-5,” commented. It looks like the program may have hit some valleys in his ten-year reign as coach, but he still has room for improvement.

Defense had been the trademark of the Bantam soccer team for a number of years, but the players slipped in just about every game. As Shults points out, aside from the 2-6 loss to Eastern, the Bants were “in” the Wesleyan game; Chris Hyland, who scored 10 goals, turned out of position more frequently than a soccer ball. Brett Wolman, Ralston, and Murphy VanderVoet all returned. And forwards Darrin Barnhill, Scott Isner, Gandhi, and Hyland will come back as well. Fullbacks Rob St. George, and Down, and midfielder Peter Amramratil will be lost to graduation.

We’re improving, but we don’t compare that favorably to the stronger teams on our schedule this year and we don’t expect an easy game. We have average talent as a whole, but we don’t compare that favorably to the stronger teams on our schedule. If we can improve our speed and defense next year, we may be able to beat some of those new teams.

In their favor, the Bants do have a nucleus of talent returning for next year’s squad. Eastburn, Crow, and Barnhill return and could very well have breakout season and have sparkling seasons. At midfield, Maxhuta, Dave Bass, Brett Wolman, Balston, and Murphy VanderVoet all return. And forwards Darrin Barnhill, Scott Isner, Gandhi, and Hyland will come back as well. Fullbacks Rob St. George, and Down, and midfielder Peter Amramratil will be lost to graduation.

We didn’t win as many games as I thought we would, but we hung in there and earned the respect of the opposition,” said Shults. “Eastern was the only team we lost to this season. When schools play us, they don’t expect an easy win anymore. Judging from the talent that is returning next year, the Bants should certainly do no worse than this past season. But turning around a losing program will not be easy. Shults has seen plenty of valleys in his ten-year reign as coach, but he still has room for improvement.

College View Athlete Of The Week

The College View Athlete of the Week is Mike Doracho, The senior receiver capped off an outstanding four-year career in his final game against Wesleyan. The 5’8” 155-pound Doracho caught passes for 128 yards and scored two touchdowns in Trinity’s season-ending 41-20 loss to Wesleyan.

MEN’S VARSITY BASKETBALL

RESULTS:

Football — 20, Wesleyan — 41
Goal Posts — 1, Wesleyan — 0

TODAY IS
83 PITCHER NIGHT AT THE VIEW

College View Athlete

THIS WEEK:

SATURDAY

MEN’S AND WOMEN’S CROSS COUNTRY — NCAA Division III New England — Away

MEN’S VARSITY HOOPS

November 12, 1985, THE TRINITY TRIPOD, Page 11
Miller, Denied 100th Win, Is Still A Winner

Personal goals don't mean all that much to Don Miller. Winning games for the sake of Trinity and the Bantam players does. And beating Wesleyan, now that's really something to celebrate.

"It's a big game in itself," said Miller in reference to the traditional football season-ending clash with the rival Cardinals. "It's a game that we've looked forward to throughout the season. It's a game we've got to win in order to win the conference that game all winter and we'd like it to be a positive memory."

Ultimately, it was a night for Bantam turnovers. Several Cardinal scores while freshman quarterback Jim Lukowksi shredded the Tri for a win, putting the score at 21-14, 2-0 in the game.

Wesleyan victories.

The loss means that Bantam coach Don Miller must postpone his 100th victory celebration for one more year. And maybe that's the way it was destined to be. After all, Miller was ahead of his pace by one year. His 95th win as a Bant coach came on October 16th, 1971; his 50th came five years later to the date; and his 75th victories came from the year after that, on October 24th, 1981. If things go according to plan, Miller will notch number 100 next year, five years after his 75th win, which seems only proper. Getting his 100th win on Saturday against Wesleyan just wasn't in the cards.

Miller has maintained that winning number 100 doesn't mean as much to him as it does to his players. He knows that it will come eventually, but he had to tell them beforehand so that they and the rest of Trinity's homecoming would be a 100th win celebration.

It's been a quiet season and a come-true victory (the all-time leading Trinity quarterback, 299-9-535 record is still something to celebrate.

In 1985, Miller has only three wins and two losses and to prove his relief, Miller has bounced back with 7-1 record over those five years. As you can tell, losing doesn't sit too well with Don Miller.

Although the Bantams didn't win the championship and Miller didn't get his 100th win, the season has been one of the most humbling, possibly, because of the spirit exhibited by his players.

"It's been a quiet season and a come-true victory" said Miller in reference to the traditional football season-ending clash with the rival Cardinals. "We've had serious injuries to several of our key players (and I'm not just talking to you, Mr. Joe Restic) and other two, more than I've seen in 15 years. But people's been so positive and enthusiastic. This team has a great spirit and we're all wanting it. We're all wanting it to be a win, part of this year. They're a special group of guys."

Bantam turnovers. The only way to avoid the unlikeliness of Miller's 100th win was to determine it for himself. As assistant coach under the legendary Dan Jessee (35 years, 150-76-7) for Wesleyan, a 99-50-3 record is still something to celebrate.

During the last five years, Wesleyan has been tough on the defense. I think their defense might hold. The Bants got the ball back to start the third quarter, but on the first play Tim Fagg fumbled.

"It was an option and we were trying to make the defensive end commit," noted Miller. "The tackle was a lot better and stripped the ball."

The Cardinals scored on the very next play, using some national television of their own. The ball was on the left hashmark, but they lined up three liners and two backs on the right side of the field. The alignment confused the Bants sufficiently to allow Maynard to sneak free for his second touchdown, a 21-yarder. The score came only 21 seconds into the half.

"Those two turnovers killed us," they really did," said Fagg. "We didn't control the ball in the third quarter and we made things too tough on defense. I think Ted Widick's 10 points (a school record) in the third quarter shows you that."

Wesleyan extended its lead to 41-14 on Gentili's four-yard touchdown run and a nine-yard Dave Glasco scoring reception. Trinity finally stopped the 34-yard point scoring barrage with a one-yard Rod Boggs catch with 2:10 left, but it was too late, too late.