Federal Loan Clears Way For New Dormitory

North Campus Project Gets $752,000 Start

Construction of First Building to Start Soon

Plans to develop housing on a North Campus at Trinity College moved a step closer to reality when the Community Facilities Administration of the Housing and Home Finance Agency approved a federal loan of $752,000 to the College for construction of a new dormitory.

The North Campus project calls for two dormitories, one with six sections and the other with four, and a third building which will include kitchen facilities and dining rooms. The project is designed to provide quarters for students presently not living in college dormitories and to relieve a need for improved housing.

The federal loan will be used for the construction of the six-section dormitory. Plans call for a two-story building to house 123 male students. The building will occupy the site of the former Harbison Mansion (108 Vernon Street) and will extend from Vernon Street to Allen Place.

The architect is O'Conner and Kilham of New York City. Robert B. O'Conner of that firm is a 1916 alumnus and a Life Trustee.

The dormitory will be divided into three units of two sections each with accommodations for 20 students per section, with two students per room. Each unit will have a study and a lounge to maintain the advantages of small living units.

The total cost of the building when furnished is estimated at $878,000.

Such fraternities as desire assignment of space in the new dormitory will be accommodated. Non-fraternity students will also be housed in the new building. It is hoped that construction on the building can begin before the end of the calendar year and that the dormitory will be ready for occupancy during the 1961-62 academic year.
ASSOCIATION NOTES

FAIRFELD
The Fairfield County Association held its second annual dinner at the Wee Burn Country Club, Darien, October 25.

The Rev. Ollie Carberry, '36, acted as toastmaster, and introduced Albert Holland, '34, vice president, and Professor Frederick Gwynn, new chairman of the English department, who spoke on "The Decade Ahead" and "Operation English," respectively. Following the dinner Jay McWilliams, assistant professor of physical education, showed movies of the St. Lawrence football game. The Trinity Pipes also entertained.

Under the able guidance of John Wynne, '52, the Club's new By-Laws were presented and approved. The Association's new brochure reporting on the first year's operation is extremely well prepared.

The officers are: John H. Pratt, Jr., '17, president; Roger Hartt, '27, and the Rev. Oliver Carberry, '36, vice presidents; John Palshaw, '55, treasurer; and Dwight Mayer, '54, secretary. All alumni who move into Fairfield County are asked to notify Dwight Mayer.

HARTFORD
The Trinity Club of Hartford was entertained by Art McGinley, sports editor of The Hartford Times, at its annual meeting November 11 at the College. As usual, Art had his audience in the aisles with his droll stories, but also brought out forcefully the great value of sports, particularly in connection with the Wethersfield Jail.

Retiring President Don Viering, '42, received the Club's Award for the Outstanding Alumnus of The Year, and Dan Jesse commented on what might happen at Middletown the following afternoon.

Many members of the Club were active in preparing for the 15th Barber Shop Parade of Quartets which packed Bushnell Memorial on November 19. Profits were earmarked for the Club's Scholarship Fund. The Club is carrying on its monthly luncheons—first Tuesday—at the Hotel Bond—to which heads of the various college departments are invited.

SPRINGFIELD
The Springfield Alumni Association's annual dinner was held November 16 at the Springfield Country Club, West Springfield. Dr. Robert D. O'Malley, '38, president and President Albert C. Jacobs and John A. Mason, '34, the new alumni secretary, were the speakers.

Plans are being made to repeat the most successful dutch treat picnic which was held last June at Dr. O'Malley's home in Holyoke.

The new officers are: David M. Blair, '51, president; Dr. William V. Golkowski, '45, vice president; John H. Parker, '51, secretary; and Willard I. Marr, Jr., '47, treasurer.

Alumni who move into the Springfield area are urged to contact John H. Parker, 323 Trafton Road, Springfield 8, Mass.

Advanced Placement
Thomas A. Smith, College Registrar, reports that a number of students from the freshman class were examined under the College Entrance Examination Board Advanced Placement Program.

The result was an increase in the number of students who received qualitative and quantitative credit for one or more half-courses. Under this program a student who qualifies for advanced placement in one or more courses may do extra work, or in some cases, with attendance at summer sessions, he may actually accelerate.

Advanced Placement was received by qualified students in English, American History, Latin, Chemistry and Mathematics.

In addition the English Department reports that the Advanced Placement Program Examination for English Composition or the Trinity College English Department Exemption Examination in Composition resulted in 26 freshmen receiving quantitative credit for English 101.

Similar exemption examinations in Literature were passed by six freshmen who received quantitative credit for this half-course, English 102.

Alpha Chi Rho, Alpha Delta Phi Hold Anniversaries
Alpha Chi Rho, national fraternity, held its 65th anniversary early in the fall at its Phi Psi Chapter house at Trinity, the site of the fraternity's founding in 1895.

R. Stewart Holden, '30, was chairman of the convention committee. The two-day convention, which brought delegates from all over the country, included meetings at the Hotel Bond, luncheon at the Statler and a social at the Avon Country Club. Herbert R. Bland, '40, completed a term as National Councillor at the convention.

Alumni delegates from the Trinity chapter were Emner S. Tiger, '16, Sidney D. Pinney, '18, Dr. Mills A. C. Anderson, '25, and Raymond E. Thomsen, '41.

Trinity's Phi Kappa Chapter of Alpha Delta Phi celebrated the 125th anniversary of the founding of its parent society, the Phi Kappa Society, on Homecoming Weekend, November 5th, on the Campus. At the celebration, plans for the chapter's proposed new lodge at the 122 Vernon Street site were displayed to the 135 brothers present.

Attending were former Trinity President, G. Keith Funston, '32, currently president of the national fraternity; Lyman B. Brainerd, '30, honorary chairman; David Hadlow, '25, chapter alumni president; E. Laird Mortimer III, '57, celebration chairman; and William Tucker, '03, the oldest returning alumnus.

One Fall Afternoon
At Middletown

It is a beautiful fall afternoon in Middletown, but somehow the sun does not seem to shine quite so brightly as Wesleyan in its third touchdown of the afternoon to carry what seems like a commanding, 22-8, lead into the final quarter of its annual clash with the Trinity Bantams.

Does the Trin rooter give up? No such! For this is the Wesleyan game where anything can happen--and usually does. Suddenly the sophomore speedster from Avon, Conn., Tom Calabrese, breaks loose for 22 yards and a touchdown. The try for a 2-point conversion fails. Now it is Wes 22, Trinity 14.

The Cardinals roar back and march to the Trinity 10. It looks like they might score. "But no!" say the Fighting Bantams, and it's Trinity's ball again. Trin pares for the conversion, as it is still 22-20 Wesleyan. It is Sanders again, another pass, and another clutch catch by Winner. The score is tied.

Wesleyan tries desperately to pull out a victory. In three plays the Cardinals are on the Trin 12 with a first down. But the Bantams dig in and on fourth down the Trin line buries a field goal attempt which is wide and the game ends, 22-22.
