Coffin Forms Freshmen Committee

Dr. William DeVries spoke on February 12, 1986 before a capacity crowd at the Alumni Office to announce the formation of the Coffin Committee, a student committee to address the controversial heart transplant program. The Committee was organized against the controversial heart implant program.

The core of the Committee was chosen when Coffin contacted five students interested in political issues in the school. Twenty students were contacted and 14 showed interest. In less than a week, 12 students were able to attend an early organizational meeting last week.

Another aspect DeVries felt was crucial was that the patient was willing to "donate his body" to the experimental operation. Different patients had different reasons for choosing to undergo the operation, but all of them agreed that the operation was the only way to help the patient. DeVries felt that it would be unfair to undergo any possible operation to extend his life. Therefore, in response, DeVries felt required separatist approaches in relating to the patient and in the patient's outlook on the surgery.

The issue of expense, which must bear the immense costs, is not an issue in the artificial heart program, but as DeVries related, it presents another often controversial problem. The expenses of the experimental operations are borne by Humana Institute in Louisville, Ky., which is funded by investors and grants for research. DeVries supported the concept of a "corporation" type venture, saying that it falls in line with our nation's capitalistic economy. He classified UMass as a middling school saying that they were being paid to provide a service, and not an opportunity for the alternative option for the future. Due to the shortage of human hearts available for transplant, the artificial heart can become a viable solution.

Coffin Forms Freshmen Committee

by Judy Stanford
Senior Staff Writer

Coffin Forms Freshmen Committee

A Freshmen Class Committee has been formed by the Assistant Director of Alumni Relations Lee Coffin. The idea for the Committee was prompted by President James F. English, and the Board of Trustees of Trinity College. Although the Alumni Office deals mainly with those who have graduated, Coffin commented, there has been a desire to establish class identity while still at Trinity.

The core of the Committee was chosen when Coffin contacted five students interested in political issues in the school. Twenty students were contacted and 14 showed interest. In less than a week, 12 students were able to attend an early organizational meeting last week.

Crowe to Lecture on Nuclear Weapons and Human Rights

Crowe, a grass-roots community organizer for the American Friends Service Committee on the issues of human rights, global justice and disarmament. She became interested in political issues in the late 1960s when she organized women first locally, then nationally, on the issue of banning atmospheric testing. She also organized against the Vietnam war, setting up a draft information center in the basement of her home, and was a pioneer in group draft counseling. She is a member of Women of Faith, a group that opposes the building of Trident submarines. She is the founder of the Springfield Committee to End Aposthvisit.

Crowe participated in Witness for Peace in Nicaragua in March 1981, and was a member of the Massachusetts delegation that held a vigil on the Honduran border. She is a co-founder of the Freee campaign.

Crowe received the Methodist Conference Peace and Justice Award in 1983 and the New England Catholic Peace Fellowship Peace and Justice Award, also in 1983.

the community activist Fran Crowe will speak on "The Deadly Connection: The Role of Nuclear Weapons and Human Rights Around the World," tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Alumni Office, 79 Vernon Street. Those interested can talk to those already on the Committee which includes: Barbara Koufier, Becky Holt, Pat. Trickett, Jim Derman, Sophe Wadsworth, Marcello Apollo, Janice Pierre, Amy Kastenbaum, George Osborne, Lisa Alphabet, Kim Jansen, Ford Pech and Armando Diaz.

A decision was made at the first meeting to elect a chairperson in stead of the traditional president, vice president, and secretary which will be reserved for the senior class. The chairperson will be elected tonight among those in attendance and not by the class as a whole.

The purpose of the Committee will be to meet once a month in order to organize class events and send reports of the committee events. Coffin hopes that the events will be original and entertaining enough to attract students who are interested in the topic. Some of the events planned for the spring, some perhaps in the summer, and many more sophomore year.

The issue of expense, which must bear the immense costs, is not an issue in the artificial heart program, but as DeVries related, it presents another often controversial problem. The expenses of the experimental operations are borne by Humana Institute in Louisville, Ky., which is funded by investors and grants for research. DeVries supported the concept of a "corporation" type venture, saying that it falls in line with our nation's capitalistic economy. He classified UMass as a middling school, saying that they were being paid to provide a service, and not an opportunity for the alternative option for the future. Due to the shortage of human hearts available for transplant, the artificial heart can become a viable solution.
ANNOUNCEMENTS

Today:

DISCUSSION: WHY GO TO CHURCH?

There will be a Newman Club meeting in the Chapel basement from 7:00-9:00 p.m. All religious denominations are welcome.

Wednesday: Monday:

Francois Crowe, a political activist and educator, will speak on "The Deadly Connection: The Role of Nuclear Weapons and Human Rights Around the World." That lecture, which is part of the Women's Center "Women on Politics and Culture Series," will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Alumni Lounge.

Prof. Ellison Pindly, Dept. of Religious Studies, will discuss "Is America Modern?" Applications are now being accepted for participation in the Trinity College/Rome Campus program for the fall semester, 1986. In addition to course offerings in Art History, History and Italian, 24 courses in Political Science have been added. Information and application materials are available from the secretary in the IDP office at 7667 Vermont Street. Please apply as early as possible; the deadline is March 21, 1986. The Environmental group will meet at 8:00 on Wednesday in McGowan Hall.

Wednesday: Tuesday:

Prof. Glen Weaver, The Davis Research Professor 1984-1986, will be giving a lecture entitled, "Virginia's Early Bundle: Failures or Successes?" in the Alumni Lounge at 4:30 p.m. A reception will follow in the Alumni Lounge.

For Your Info

Applications are now being accepted for the Trinity College/Rome Campus program for the fall semester, 1986. In addition to course offerings in Art History, History and Italian, 24 courses in Political Science have been added. Information and application materials are available from the secretary in the IDP office at 7667 Vermont Street. Please apply as early as possible; the deadline is March 21, 1986. The Environmental group will meet at 8:00 on Wednesday in McGowan Hall.

Friday:

The Hispanic woman's musical group, "Alatex," will present a concert of Latin-American music at 8:00 p.m. in the Rittenberg Lounge. Admission is free. Refreshments will be served following the program.

Prof. Glennine Killin, The Davis Research Professor 1984-1986, will be giving a lecture entitled, "Virginia's Early Bundle: Failures or Successes?" in the Alumni Lounge at 4:30 p.m. A reception will follow in the Alumni Lounge.

For Your Info

Applications are now being accepted for participation in the Trinity College/Rome Campus program for the fall semester, 1986. In addition to course offerings in Art History, History and Italian, 24 courses in Political Science have been added. Information and application materials are available from the secretary in the IDP office at 7667 Vermont Street. Please apply as early as possible; the deadline is March 21, 1986. The Environmental group will meet at 8:00 on Wednesday in McGowan Hall.

Help Wanted

Student assistants in the Slide and Record Collection (AAC-110) are needed to assist with foreign language background and accurate typing and/or other office skills. Experience is helpful. Freshman and sophomore financial aid students preferred. Interested students may contact Trudy Jacoby or Suzanne Risley at ext. 348 for an appointment.

Calendar

SPEND THE SUMMER AROUND THE WORLD — 1986-87

Announcement

50% off

on any Milkshake or Malt

Best Milkshakes in Town!

699 MAPLE AVENUE

HARTFORD, CT 06114

724-3985

Valuable Coupon through March 3

ST. GEORGE'S UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

WORLD OF WITTY DEBATE

"We can talk you into anything!"

Informational Meeting

Wednesday Feb. 26

7:00 McCook 225

Refreshments provided

FEBRUARY 24th

is the final deadline for contributions of plays, poetry, essays, and fiction to the Trinity Review.

BOX 4000

We welcome submissions from undergraduate, graduate, DP's and faculty.

Thank you — Guss Guss Sled Donk
Oxford Professor to Speak at Eucharist

Oxford University Professor John Macquarrie will visit Trinity College this weekend. He will speak at the Sunday Eucharist in the Chapel at 10:30 a.m.

Macquarrie is well known as an interpreter of Christian Faith in the language and concepts of contemporary Existentialism. His many books have dealt with the nature of God-talk, as theological language is called, the nature of prayer, the problem of Christian knowledge and many other topics. Macquarrie is the Lady Margaret Professor of Divinity at Oxford University. He has been Professor of Systematic Theology at Union Theological Seminary in New York City.

An informal dinner for members of the College with John Macquarrie will be at 5:00 p.m. in the Philosophy Building, 70 Vernon Street, on Sunday afternoon, March 2. Those wishing more information about this event should call the Chapel office, ext 484485.

Munoz Discusses Argentinian Rights

Film maker Susana Blaustein, producer of the acclaimed film, "Las Madres: the Mothers of Plaza De Mayo," will speak at Trinity College on Tuesday, March 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the Bizzell Lecture of Mather Campus Center. Munoz's talk, "Human Rights in Argentina," will be given in conjunction with the showing of the film, "Las Madres.

Fenno to Speak on Reagan and Senate

Noted political scientist Richard F. Fenno, Jr. will lecture on "Ronald Reagan and the Republican Senate" on Tuesday, March 8 at 8 p.m. in the Goolden Theater of the Austin Arts Center at Trinity College.

This spring Fenno is providing internships for 23 students. These internships are sponsored by campus faculty and research opportunities. The legislative session of the Connecticut General Assembly opened Feb. 4 and internships have been busy attending committee and public hearing sessions as well as doing research on issues themselves.

Fenno has divided his legislative efforts this semester between hazardous waste and a less significant effort, the Voter Registration. There are four environmental interns working at the Capitol lobbying to increase funds and staffing for the Household Hazardous Waste Cleanup Days, staffing for the Department of Environmental Protection and to get significant environmental bills raised that are not being addressed.

Not actually lobbying at the Capitol are five interns working to gather key environmental information regarding acid rain and air pollution. Three interns are compiling a nursing home guide of Connecticut. This guide will be the third of its kind in the country.

The other main thrust of the internship program concerns legislative and staffing for the Household Hazardous Waste Cleanup Days, staffing for the Department of Environmental Protection and to get significant environmental bills raised that are not being addressed.

The on-campus internship program concerns legislative and staffing for the Department of Environmental Protection and to get significant environmental bills passed. This bill would require dealers to disclose any known material defects at the time of purchase and also a 60-day warranty.

The final issue involving interns is a statewide campaign for computerised centralised voter registration which would provide a more efficient system of voter registration to reduce discrepancies and fraudulence. In addition, a coalition has been formed to work on "mail-in" and "day of" registration.

This legislative internship work is done in conjunction with Cone Pieg campus support and student committees. The environmental committee is doing outside investigative research of local toxic waste dumps. The Used-car committee is doing a grass-roots campaign which includes letter writing, phoning, and a state-wide survey of used car purchases.

These internships and two committees are examples of some of Trinity Conn Pirg's activities this semester. Each semester $35 from every students Activity Fee goes to support Cone Pieg. Next week Cone Pieg will be offering refunds to those students who do not choose to support Conn Pirg. If you have any questions or would like to get involved, please call 247-3730.

Sign Up Today
For the Career of Tomorrow

Pratt & Whitney will conduct on-campus interviews Feb. 27.

Sign up at the Placement Office today.

The high technology world awaits! Bring your resume and explore the wide range of opportunities with Pratt & Whitney—the recognized leader in aerospace technology.

- Aeronautical Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering
- Computer Science
- Electrical Engineering
- Metallurgical Engineering

If you have the desire to excel in a high technology environment, don't miss this opportunity to meet with Pratt & Whitney representatives. Sign up today!

Students Rate

You're number one with National! You can rent a car if you're 18 or older, have a valid driver's license, current student I.D. and a cash deposit. Stop by and fill out a short cash qualification at least 24 hours in advance.

You pay for gas used and return car to leasing location. Most major credit cards accepted.

$27.50 PER DAY WEEKENDS
$19.50 per mile/day thereafter
Additional mileage 12¢ per mile.

National Car Rental

Trinity celebrates National attention.

598 Asylum Ave. (Hartford) 549-5850
Save Our Schools

Connecticut politics so often slips away from us. A recent Hartford Courant poll shows that only 37 percent of Connecticut voters believe that Governor O'Neill has a good plan in his reelection year so they are not interested in the Education referendum. To the Governor's credit, Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and the disparity doesn't bother them, it is poorly thought through. Their plan bypasses the problem and is simple, it is fair, and it directly addresses the problem.

Aside from the disparity problem, the average statewide salary for teachers is $15,448 which is considerably lower than comparable workers in other fields. Governor O'Neill has his own answer to these flaws. His proposal for Merit Pay is simple. It is fair, and it works. Their plan is simple, it is fair, and it directly addresses the problem. Disparity can only be eliminated this way.

The Republican leaders intend to admit that the Governor has a good plan in his reelection year so they are coming up with a counterproposal. Their plan bypasses the problem and is simple, it is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it directly addresses the problem. Disparity can only be eliminated this way.

The Republican leaders intend to admit that the Governor has a good plan in his reelection year so they are coming up with a counterproposal. Their plan bypasses the problem and is simple, it is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.

Oh, but there's one more thing. Just for this year they have come up with the idea of breaking their promise to teachers to raise salaries. They are now saying that the best teachers don't make the best teachers. This plan is simple. It is fair, and it works. But here it is: Merit pay. That's it. Find the best teachers, give them cash bonuses, and to hell with the rest of them.

In other words, never mind the fact that almost all of Connecticut's teachers are underpaid - good, bad, and mediocre. Meanwhile, the Republicans are still working on a plan to reduce teacher salaries.
Don't Cut Budget for Education

by Stephen Balian
World Outlook Staff

The Gramm-Rudman-Hollings bill will reduce many domestic programs and is called the "Low TRIO Programs," which are Special Programs for Students from Disadvantaged Backgrounds. According to Dennis Mink, Director of Upward Bound at Mather College, the cuts in the budget would be "just short of a complete dismantling of what we do."

Nothing as mass may sound, it is not the end of the world for domestic programs. After being permanently reduced, the budget for Upward Bound, I have seen its power and energy re- and in reporter for the "DrugBusters." These are the special forces that comb the streets in search of illegal drugs in our beloved country. Mr. Reagan's War on Drugs will lose some of its impact, and this is supposed to be an atrocity. But I am not the Reagan Administration. Drugs are more important than the War on Poverty. Drugs are sensationalized propaganda. One large bust will almost make the program seem worthwhile. It would certainly be a tangible political tool. But what of the young woman from Hartford to college? What political propaganda can one use to sell immediately and young high school students be- lieve that the Reagan Administration is working hard to achieve the goal of a united and better world for all.

The World In Review

HILLARY DAVIDSON

To ensure that the banks and the world see some sort of semblance of stability in this ravaged country, restrictions on the press were severely imposed. Some reporters were seized by the police for trying to cover the turmoil. Some have been killed after four days of rioting that erupted Saturday, February 17, 1986.

"The deaths of our people must be avenged! Down with Botha!"

The South African Government imposed. Some reporters were seized by the police for trying to cover the turmoil. Some have been killed after four days of rioting that erupted Saturday, February 17, 1986.

"The deaths of our people must be avenged! Down with Botha!"

Botha's Promises

In what amounted to a two-page advertisement in a South African newspaper, President PW Botha wrote on February 17 that "The wheel of reform is turning in his country. "Progress is in motion," he wrote. But my government by Botha and I am dedicated to it." In this context where the oppressive, official system of apartheid has murdered and persecuted hundreds of thousands of blacks, Botha said that the South African Government is "committed to equal opportunity for all. Equal treatment. And equality for all."

Among the "reforms" that are supposedly transforming South African society, Botha noted that "blacks loaders can now have a voice in central decision making." It is a lack of press coverage that has set about trying to convince the world of the "progress" that his government can handle. It was proper for the government to set up a "reform committee" to look into the problem. But I am not the Reagan Administration. Drugs are more important than the War on Poverty. Drugs are sensationalized propaganda. One large bust will almost make the program seem worthwhile. It would certainly be a tangible political tool. But what of the young woman from Hartford to college? What political propaganda can one use to sell immediately and young high school students believe that the Reagan Administration is working hard to achieve the goal of a united and better world for all.

U.S. Out of the Middle East Conflict

by Chris Davie
World Outlook Staff

Even since the artificial creation of a state called Israel in 1948, Arab-Israeli relations have been plagued with intractable problems. In the last five years, there have already been four official Arab-Israeli summits. The last one was held in 1973. In addition to these war, terrorism sponsored by the P.L.O. and the U.S. has been a major aspect of the Arab-Israeli conflict. The United States has lost military bases in the Middle East, including the one in Lebanon. The Reagan Administration is facing a major challenge in the Middle East. The United States should stay out of the Arab-Israeli conflict. The United States should continue to support the policies of the Carter Administration. The United States has lost military bases in the Middle East, including the one in Lebanon. The Reagan Administration is facing a major challenge in the Middle East. The United States should stay out of the Arab-Israeli conflict. The United States should continue to support the policies of the Carter Administration. The United States should continue to support the policies of the Carter Administration.

TRIUMPH — Conn PIRG is funded each semester with $3.00 per student from the student activity fee.

If you do not wish to support the Connecticut Public Interest Research Group, you may receive a $3.00 refund on Wednesday, Thursday, February 26th and 27th during lunch and dinner (11:30 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. and 5:15 p.m. to 7 p.m.) in the main lobby of Mather Campus Center.
Mono: Modern Day Leprosy

by Stephen Balon
Senior Staff Writer

Lost semester I was flying along with my college career. I needed a break, a diversion, something. I hoped that something would get me excited about the drudgery of academic life more than the drudgery of my life.

Despite all of the hoopla about the dreaded disease, there are very unfair rumors connected with it. Among them is the notion that mono is a sure way to Hell. “Taxing a poor man is a sure way to Hell.” Well, I don’t have an extension. I never feel so ill that I would stop going to class. I have no appetite, and your throat looks gaseous nourishment if it were in-

The day after the diagnosis, I got the first indication — a fever of 101 degrees. I wasn’t feeling too bad when I left my college; I just felt a little tired. I thought that I couldn’t go to class those last few days, I was beginning to wonder why my common cold kept me in bed for three days. I even went to Miss wysokości, I saw them after the Monopoly game. I wanted to find a cloud to hide behind, she begins reciting Emily Dickinson’s poem “My Life has stood — a Loaded Gun.” Without being sure why, this terrified me.

When she finishes reciting, she again points the gun at me. From here the dream gets misty as I find myself planing to walk on the ground. I wake up just before going “Kersplash” on the ground. I only need a rudimentary understanding of Freud and his theory. The dream is only a dream. I got up without going “Kersplash” on the ground. I only need a rudimentary understanding of Freud and his theory.
ORE SPORTS
The Chicks And Ducks Conclude Their Season

by Tom Chapman
Senior Staff Writer

The Trinity College women’s basketball team had a frustrating past two weeks, losing to Williams College Track 45 in overtime, Tufts, and Amherst, and defeating Wesleyan, 71-66 in overtime.

Just before Open Period, Trinity faced a tough Williams team in a 76-72 loss. The Bantams started the game off hot, leading 22-12 after the first half. However, the Tribe cooled off in the second half, allowing Williams to rally back and take the lead.

On Saturday, the Lady Bantams hosted Amherst, and defeating Wes, 119-116, after a nail-biter of a game that went right down to the wire. Both teams were season best efforts in a 25-yard pool.

The men rallied from their 46-65 loss to Amherst, to best Clark 69-65 last Tuesday. The meet began well for Trinity when Oestreicher, Jamilkowksi, Drintkau, and Clifford blew away Clark in the 400 medley relay. The men’s swim team concludes its regular season with an impressive 8-2 record, their best since 1982. The New England’s meet will be held on January 31st at Springfield College and the Nationals in Canton, Ohio from the 2nd to the 23rd.

The women’s swim team ran into Army for the first time this season, carrying the burden on defeat back to New England. The Bantams lost to Wesleyan, 8-6 with 13:38 remaining. Pat Wehrli (7 pts) to lead Trin back and forth in a nip and tuck contest to win an individual swimming championship in Ohio in March. The Bantams were too much for the Chicks this day however, sweeping both breaststroke events, both butterfly events, and the individual medley to effectively check off any Trinity rallies. The Chicks defeated Amherst by the score of 84-76. In the optimal diving, freshmen Paulson qualified for the nationals with her point total of 323.5. With the exception of the 100 butterfly, Trinity dominated a weak Amherst team.

This was the last meet of the season, and now the Bantams look to the New England Championships this weekend.

The Chicks And Ducks Conclude Their Season

by Tom Chapman
Senior Staff Writer

Drawing its season to a close, the Trinity men’s squad tees up two additional victories as it defeated Army and Tufts this past week, finishing with a respectable 8-4 record.

On Tuesday, the men triumphed against Army by a score of 7-2. Captain J.D. Cooper and second ranking player Bill Villari each won their individual matches by a score of 5-4 as did Paul Stauf.

Men’s Squash Ends With 8-6 Mark

by Tom Chapman
Senior Staff Writer

The Trin started the second half in a buzzsaw last Wednesday afternoon in order to paste a trio of matches 3-0. Jerome Kapelus and freshman Cory Hillig and freshman Cory Smith, the 20th and sixth ranked players, also won their matches 5-4. Junior Tim Burkett was defeated in a very close match as was sophomore Nick Ritchie. Eric Reimer, the number nine ranked player, won his set of matches by a score of 3-1.

This past Saturday, Tufts came down for a home game and left carrying the burden on defeat back with them as Trinity stomped all over them as the Jumbos, 9-2. Captain Cre- gen was the only player to lose his set of matches, 6-5. Villar and Stauf both had 3-1 victories, while Repper Smith, Burkett, and Hauptfuhrer each won 3-0. Ritchie and Bieber had three matches ending with successful scores of 3-1 and 3-4, respectively.

Though some matches were extremely close and could have gone either way, the men finished their season with an 8-6 record. They face the upcoming Inter-Collegiate Tournament at UPENN this weekend.

Women’s Basketball Averages Loss To Cardinals

by Chris Dickenson
Senior Staff Writer

The Trinity College women’s basketball team had a frustrating past two weeks, losing to Williams College Track 45 in overtime, Tufts, and Amherst, and defeating Wesleyan, 71-66 in overtime.

Just before Open Period, Trinity faced a tough Williams team in a 76-72 loss. The Bantams started the game off hot, leading 22-12 after the first half. However, the Tribe cooled off in the second half, allowing Williams to rally back and take the lead.

On Saturday, the Lady Bantams hosted Amherst, and defeating Wes, 119-116, after a nail-biter of a game that went right down to the wire. Both teams were season best efforts in a 25-yard pool.

The men rallied from their 46-65 loss to Amherst, to best Clark 69-65 last Tuesday. The meet began well for Trinity when Oestreicher, Jamilkowksi, Drintkau, and Clifford blew away Clark in the 400 medley relay. The men’s swim team concludes its regular season with an impressive 8-2 record, their best since 1982. The New England’s meet will be held on January 31st at Springfield College and the Nationals in Canton, Ohio from the 2nd to the 23rd.

The women’s swim team ran into Army for the first time this season, carrying the burden on defeat back to New England. The Bantams lost to Wesleyan, 8-6 with 13:38 remaining. Pat Wehrli (7 pts) to lead Trin back and forth in a nip and tuck contest to win an individual swimming championship in Ohio in March. The Bantams were too much for the Chicks this day however, sweeping both breaststroke events, both butterfly events, and the individual medley to effectively check off any Trinity rallies. The Chicks defeated Amherst by the score of 84-76. In the optimal diving, freshmen Paulson qualified for the nationals with her point total of 323.5. With the exception of the 100 butterfly, Trinity dominated a weak Amherst team.

This was the last meet of the season, and now the Bantams look to the New England Championships this weekend.
PORTS

by Stephen Balon
Senior Staff Writer

Trinity College had the privilege of hosting Wesleyan University this past week, as Wesleyan looked to cap off the 150 class and 2nd in the 141 conference. Trinity scored goals for the second straight match and won 6-2. Tim Rodacki's third goal of the year from the right point gave the Bantams an early lead, as Bantams dominated the score sheet for the first 150 minutes of the game. Wesleyan's goalie Craig Morgan had 41 saves, but Trinity went to the running game and hit Morgan with a 2-0 lead in the 1st period. Trinity's goalie, Marc Esterman, looked sharp in net and made 43 saves in the game. After the first period, the Bantams had a 2-0 lead, and the game was over. Trinity scored 4 goals in the 2nd period, and the game was over. Trinity scored 6 goals in the game, and Wesleyan scored 2. Trinity won the game 6-2 and continues to dominate the conference. Trinity's next game is against Amherst on March 1st. Trinity's win over Wesleyan was their 10th win of the season. The Bantams have been winning all year and look to continue their winning streak.

Hockey Beats Rivals Wesleyan And Conn College

by Marc Esterman
Senior Staff Writer

Trinity College's hockey team continued its recent winning streak this past week, as Wesleyan University lost 4-2 to the Bantams. Wesleyan's goalie Blake Morgan had 31 saves, but Trinity's goalie Marc Esterman had 29 saves, as well. Trinity won the game 4-2 and continued its winning streak. Trinity will now face off against Trinity on Saturday night. Trinity's win over Wesleyan was their 10th win of the season.

College

by Stephen Balon
Senior Staff Writer

The Trinity Bantams just keep on rolling this week, as they defeated their Conn College rival 5-4 earlier in the McCabe Tournament. The Bantams continued their hot shooting, going 16-19 on the power play. The Bantams are now 11-1 overall and 12-11 in the League. Jeffs. Back on December 4th, the Bantams travelled to Quincy, Massachusetts, and beat the Penmen 6-1. The Trinity Bantams continue to dominate the conference and look to continue their winning streak.

M-Hoop Keeps Winning

by Gabe Harris
Senior Staff Writer

The Trinity Bantams just keep on rolling this week, as they defeated their Conn College rival 5-4 earlier in the McCabe Tournament. The Bantams continued their hot shooting, going 16-19 on the power play. The Bantams are now 11-1 overall and 12-11 in the League. Jeffs. Back on December 4th, the Bantams travelled to Quincy, Massachusetts, and beat the Penmen 6-1. The Trinity Bantams continue to dominate the conference and look to continue their winning streak.