Trinity Honors Bishop Desmond Tutu

Thanks for Support

by Patrick J. Trostle
News Editor

Desmond Tutu denounced apartheid in his speech at the Friday convocation honoring the Anglican Bishop of Johannesburg. Citing moral justification for the disturbing of state-run racism, Tutu appealed for stronger U.S. sanctions against the Botha government in South Africa.

Tutu credited the current U.S. sanctions to pressure created by demonstrations on college campuses last spring.

"The hand of the president of this country was forced to apply sanctions against South Africa very much against his will... by helping us you are saying there are things more important than degree," he said.

Bishop Tutu attacked racial segregation and compared the Botha government to Nazism.

"(Apartheid) is the most vicious system as evil as Nazism ever was." Racial segregation is wrong because it is based on biological repressions, the color of one's skin. It goes on to compare apartheid to "one yellow Christ through black hands," he said.

In South Africa, he said, "You may be a bishop... but in the land of your birth you cannot vote because you lack that extraordinary thing: a white skin."

Tutu spoke of the suffering and moralization caused by apartheid.

"Apartheid is evil because it is immoral, and will cause unknown suffering and discrimination. I will tell the story until apartheid ends. God's children suffered and will continue to suffer.

Tutu quoted the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and said he saw a thing- a white skin."

Tutu noted the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and said he saw a day "when all of us- black and white- in South Africa... will be able to cry, "Free at last, free at last, thank God almighty we are free at last."

After a luncheon with corporation, civic, and religious leaders in Hartford later on Friday, Tutu spoke of how violence is unavoidable in South Africa unless international pressure on the Botha government increases.

According to Saturday's Hartford Courant, Tutu said that if international pressure fails, "the only other way to get rid of apartheid is to overthrow by force."

"We wouldn't like to do that, but of course we are responding to a primary violence- apartheid," he said.

Tutu also spoke of a personal deadline for the South African government to take action. Unless improvements are made by late March, the Bishop will publicly ask the international community "to impose punitive economic sanctions against South Africa," he said.

According to the Hartford Courant, Tutu said he did not push harder for Trinity to divest in South African holdings because "there are many ways of killing cats, as the saying goes. I know the way to be direct and almost schizophrenic. I also know, at least I think I do, when the apparently gentle approach can turn out to be more effective."

Hartford is among the 19 cities nationwide visited by Tutu in a speaking tour that benefits the poor in South Africa.

Mentor Program Set to Begin in Fall

by Judy Rusford
Staff Writer

In the fall of 1986 another step of Trinity's "plan for the Eighties" will go into action. The mentor system, proposed in the last year, will attempt to integrate faculty and graduate students into the dormitories.

Tina Dow, Director of Residential Services, said that the idea should "improve the atmosphere and level of civility by eliminating uncivilized behavior." The role of the mentor is proposed to be one of "guide and advisor, not tutor and administrator." Their function would be to "improve opportunities for discussion, to stimulate exchanges between students and faculty, to point out tasks worth doing, and to help students understand and take pleasure in learning and working together outside of Trinity's traditional academic settings."

The responsibilities of mentors, to be discussed and revised in phase two of meetings, will have specific objectives and purposes. Proposed responsibilities include promoting activities for interaction and to discover talents and interests, and to provide opportunities to pursue common interests.

The mentors would arrange programs which enable faculty members to meet with members of this and neighboring faculties as well as those who have significant accomplishments in their individual fields of study. The mentor would be asked to meet regularly with program assistants and program coordinators to plan activities for the union. It would also be necessary to meet with the Union Committee to discuss their work and report on activities within unions. Mentors would also organize two social dinner at which speakers will be invited.

There are many implications the system will make on the campus structurally, financially, and organizationally. The campus has been subdivided into five major residential sections: Crescent/New Brit, Vernon/Allen, South Campus, Eliot/Jones and the Quad. Plans are being considered to renovate the residential area of the Jones basement and the first floor of Strode as possible sites to renovate one apartment for a live-in graduate student and offices and meeting rooms for the faculty mentors for the fall of 1986. The renovation will be costly and will add to the present overcrowding. Depending on costs and the final proposals, plans range from minimal changes to total renovations. Another way that the program may affect existing functions of the school is that some RA's fear that their roles may be compromised. Dow said the program should "work for all the students' advantage by making accessibility to mentors easy but not presenting any difficulty to the RA's or students."

The proposed budget for the program, compiled in July 1984, comes to $115,800.00. Dean of Faculty Painter hopes that the mentor system will answer those students who have been disappointed in not being able to share their interests with others as the social life was so different from the academic life. Painter suggests that "faculty and students look carefully at it, give their own suggestions, and keep an open mind."

INSIDE:

- Khaddafy Featured in World Outlook
- Conn. Student Poets Announced
- Basketball Loses Liberty Classic
- Hockey Trounces Amherst

Students bridge back to Trinity after break.
Thursday:

Professor Frank M. Child will give a biology seminar entitled "Animals of East Africa: A Travelogue" at 4:00 p.m. in room 134 of the Life Sciences Center. Refreshments will be served beforehand at 3:30 in the Life Sciences Library.

The South Campus RCA's will sponsor a comedy/drama film fest featuring Richard Pryor Live and The Sting in McCook auditorium at 7 p.m.

Robert Frost's "Fire and Ice" will be performed in Goodwin Theatre, Austin Arts Center, Trinity College, at 8 p.m. Also on Saturday, 1/25. Call 527-8062 for information.

Upcoming:

Dr. Mahlon Hoagland, president of Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology, will be the next speaker in Trinity College's "Technology and Medicine" Lecture Series. Hoagland will speak on Wednesday, January 29 at 8 p.m. in the Boyer Auditorium of the Life Sciences Center at Trinity. His topic will be "Biotechnology Research and Development: The Case for Public Support." Admission to the event is free, and the public is invited to attend.

Personals:

D.P.T.

9 more wednesdays, 9 more thursdays, 9 more fridays, and 8 more saturdays, 60 days...

Cinestudio:

Tonight:

The Nest & Cries and Whispers

Wednesday-Saturday:

The Flamingo Kid & Plenty

For Your Information:

Packets for the position of Coordinator/Assistant for the 1986-87 academic year are available in the office of Residential Services. THE APPLICATION DEADLINE IS FEBRUARY 14th.

Financial aid application materials for 1986-87 are now available at the Financial Aid Office. Students currently receiving financial aid should have received materials in their campus mailboxes. Deadline: April 16.

ENTRY FORM

Name ___________________________ Phone (Home) ___________________________
Address ___________________________ Phone (Work) ___________________________
City ___________________________ State ______ Zip ___________________________
Occupation: Employer/School ___________________________
Signature ___________________________

COMING SOON!

CARNIVAL SEASON

Get your costumes ready for an unique happening at TRINITY!

FEB. 7

To be continued....

SUBSCRIBE TO THE TRIPOD

Have a full semester of the Tripod sent to family, friends, relatives for only $8

Just clip out this coupon, enclose a check. Payable to the Tripod for $8 and mail to:

THE TRIPOD

BOX 1310

TRINITY COLLEGE

HARTFORD, CT 06106

Send subscription to:

Address ___________________________

JOIN THE TRIPOD!
Foundation Gives Grant to Bronzino for Research

Joseph D. Bronzino, professor of engineering and Vernon Roosa Professor of Applied Sciences at Trinity College, has been awarded $123,000 from the National Science Foundation for his research on development within the brain. The Grant, which will be used over a two-year period, will allow Bronzino to conduct studies on rats to determine the normal developmental pattern of cellular activity within the hippocampal formation of the brain and to develop quantitative measures of neuronal development.

When these studies are concluded, Bronzino intends to study how diet manipulation affects learning and memory processes. "We have strong indications that the hippocampus of a rat is retarded in learning and memory by the timely arrival of Bishop Desmond Tutu, giving Trinity's visitors a unique opportunity to see the Nobel Prize winner speak. The Minority Weekend was designed to give the participants a look at all aspects of Trinity college. The visitors stayed in dorms with Trinity students and activities included a dance at Uncuja House, a bus tour of Hartford, a chance to meet with faculty members, and a movie at the Cine-Studio. Admissions Director Don Carter noted that the incident contract that the participants have with Trinity students was informal but important part of Minority Weekend.

Bronzino has been a member of the Trinity faculty since 1968 and is the author of two books and numerous articles on the subjects of sleep, pain and computer applications in medicine. His third book, "Biomedical Engineering: Basic Concepts and Instrumentation" will be published in February by P.W.S. Publishers.

He has been director of the joint Trinity College-Hartford Graduate Center Program in Biomedical Engineering for the past 17 years. In 1974, he developed the Clinical Engineering Internship Program in the greater Hartford region. He is president of the IEEE Engineering in Medicine and Biology Society, a member of the New York Academy of Science and of the Association for the Advancement of Medical Instrumentation.

BLOOM COUNTY

I MISS CUTTER JOHN. IT'S ABOUT TIME THE OPOD SHOOPED OUT OR HIS ARMADA AND TOLD US WHAT HAPPENED ON THEIR ALL-PREP MALL TRIP.

by Berke Breathed

WORK FOR TRINITY TRIPPOD ADVERTISING AND YOU'LL BE SITTING PRETTY!

ALAN AND SHARON JACOBSON invite you to join us in a GOURMET ICE CREAM SPECIAL at Hartford's favorite ice cream parlor

Pamphlet Outlines Federal Aid Programs

"The Student Guide: Five Federal Aid Programs in 1986" is the title of a pamphlet available from Senator Dodd's office. It outlines five federal aid programs, including Pell Grants, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, College Work-Study, National Direct Student Loans, and GSL/PLUS loans. Students, teachers, or college counselors interested in obtaining copies of the pamphlet should mail a request to: The Honorable Christopher J. Dodd United States Senate Washington, D.C. 20510

Minority Weekend: First Step for Admissions

Last weekend was the 4th annual Trinity College Minority Weekend. The Minority weekend was four days long and was arranged by the admissions department and the Trinity College Blacks' and Women's Organization. The Weekend was highlighted by the timely arrival of Bishop Desmond Tutu, giving Trinity's visitors a unique opportunity to see the Nobel Prize winner speak. The Minority Weekend was designed to give the participants a look at all aspects of Trinity college. The visitors stayed in dorms with Trinity students and activities included a dance at Uncuja House, a bus tour of Hartford, a chance to meet with faculty members, and a movie at the Cine-Studio. Admissions Director Don Carter noted that the incident contract that the participants have with Trinity students was informal but important part of Minority Weekend.

Hyland to Lead Teaching Seminar

An institute for secondary school teachers, supported by a generous grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities, will be held at Trinity College next summer.

Dr. Drew Hyland, Dara professor of philosophy at Trinity College, was awarded the NEH grant to conduct a six-week seminar on "The Nature of the Individual and Nietzsche." Secondary school teachers from a variety of fields are expected to apply for the program, in which Hyland will use the works of the 19th-century philosopher Friedrich Nietzsche to explore conceptions of the individual and their ramifications for politics, religion, literature and the arts, as well as philosophy.

The fifteen teachers selected for the program will live on campus and will be paid a stipend by NEH for their participation. The Trinity program is one of about fifty seminars that will be held nation-wide next summer.

Hyland, who observes that "high school teachers don't get the opportunities they deserve for professional development," has worked with the Hartford schools for the past several years. He has conducted a series of workshops for middle and high school faculty, and has taught seventh and eighth graders at Hartford's Classical Magnet School.

For Further Details

The First Annual

BANTAM BALL

Trinity College

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 7th

8:00 pm-1:00 am

Mather Campus Center, 2nd floor

Food Provided
Cash Bar

Proper attire required
$6 per person

A social gathering within the Trinity College Community

Tickets available in lobby of Mather Campus Center

Sponsored by TCAC, RA/C's, SGA, and the IFC
In the wake of the Rome and Vienna massacres, terrorism has assumed the public spotlight as a serious problem. About anyone believes that the terror could not possibly become worse, he is grievously mistaken, in a world where military technology advancing at a dizzying pace, the opportunities for terrorist strikes seem virtually unlimited. A firing gun once drawn by horses can now be carried conveniently in your hip pocket.

A few weeks ago on "This Week With David Brinkley," noted political scientists, such as Trinity's own George Will, discussed terror. Although利亚 has every right as a sovereign state to oppose enemies such as the United States and Egypt, the manner in which Khaddafy expressed his dis- content is unpardonable. Some ex- emples of Khaddafy's inhumanity are truly alarming. After the assassination of Anwar Sadat, Khaddafy sent the terrorists responsible for the murder a gift of $10 million for a job well done. What a ghou.

An eleven-year-old girl was gunned down at Rome — an innocent victim to whom the names Abu Nidal and Muammar Khad- dafy probably meant nothing. Some have suggested striking at Abu Nidal in Libya. It is retaliation, but this is relatively insignif itant since there is very little known about Abu Nidal himself and his terrorist recruits. The colonel is a much more visible target.

The CIA has formulated half- dozen assassination plots against Khaddafy's life with little result. Instead of subtle maneuvers sought to subvert the United States should declare open season on Khaddafy. A man led who supports the death of a young girl has no reason to live. In order to avoid global terrorism, the United States should declare open season on Khaddafy. A man led who supports the death of a young girl has no reason to live. In order to avoid global terrorism, the United States should declare open season on Khaddafy.

The point Mr. Price brought up regarding the places of prayer in the political realm is crucial, yet it is rarely examined. It is certainly ob- served that for many, the church is a devout Christian, for he told us, "You and I are called in the name of God." Nothing less than God is able to satisfy the deep yearning of who we are at our very core. Without advent to others as an example of the religious faith would we see this as a re- sional statement. Other "religious" allusions made by Bishop Tutu, however, were aimed at ethics and morals, which are, indeed, the bases for the argument against apartheid. Bishop Tutu said, "We are made for fellowships... superhuman... communion... and friendship." Although it is the Bishop Tutu's belief that God created us, it is undeniable that humans are communal beings, and that peace and equality are goals to strive for. Morality plays an in- tial role in modern religion, and apartheid is more of a moral issue than a political one. Apartheid is wrong because it's say's (blacks) are made for segre- gation, and religion is less manipulative.

Similarly, if apartheid should not be a moral issue, we will go on to ask, why then, do its advocates site scripture to defend their idea? If the answer is, "In the name of God," let us ask, "What would the Bishops Tutu do?" They have used passages such as, "They have used passages such as, "He is at the right hand of God... who was lured by the Reagan administration. Black voters must question the wisdom of their decisions.

The January 20th national holi- day commemorating the life of Martin Luther King, Jr. was the perfect opportunity for Reagan and his party to assess the momentum ofPl its electoral victory was a victory for both Reagan and the Republican Party, especially if they are interpreted to signal the beginning of the re- alignment of American political republi- can's hope for and talked about often.

Not only did the Bishops Tutu's use of the Bible and religion is less manipulative. But to state simply, "Apartheid is evil," is not the same as to as- serting that the church accepts suffering to God's children." Even with his vision of "God," the statement is powerful and accurate. The final argument against Raymond Price's unsub- stantiated stance against clergy and politics is his lack of first-hand experience. Bishop Tutu has met, lived, and suffered the oppression of South Africa, just as Dr. King watched his black brothers and sisters tortured and even murdered by policemen. Any black man suf- fering under the weight of oppres- sion in South Africa, whether he be a farmer, a mine worker, or a blue collar worker, has a right to cry out for equality. And when issues of such great moral importance arise, the church may not be silent. If the church is silent, the majority of the American public will not be. In the name of politics Reagan and his party should do the same thing they did in 1964, and their campaign to gain equal rights for Black Americans. On Monday, January 16th, Presi- dent Reagan met with 20 black business executives and educators. On Tuesday he addressed a group of 300 black students of Martin Luther King, Jr. elementary school in Washington, D.C. He gave a posthumous congressional gold medal to the family of civil rights leader Rev. Dr. King. Friday, he wrapped up his political public- ity show by welcoming the widow of Dr. King, Coretta Scott King, to the White House.

The irony and as Jesse Jackson said, the "hypocrisy" of Reagan's actions, and his invict praise of Dr. King and the civil rights move- ment was reflected in Reagan's ini- tial rejection of a national holiday honoring the slain civil rights leader. Indeed, the irony of Rea- gan's remark that, "Our country is different because Martin Luther King Jr. made it better..." is dif- ficult to believe considering Rea- gan said in 1966, "I would have voted against the Civil Rights Act of 1964." The same man who last week commended the "great rev- olution" that Dr. King led to bring about the "great revolution."""" The reason for this is that there is no cut and dry remedy. However, striking at Abu Nidal in Libya is retaliation, but this is relatively insignificant since there is very little known about Abu Nidal himself and his terrorist recruits. The colonel is a much more visible target.

The CIA has formulated half- dozen assassination plots against Khaddafy's life with little result. Instead of subtle maneuvers sought to subvert the United States should declare open season on Khaddafy. A man led who supports the death of a young girl has no reason to live. In order to avoid global terrorism, the United States should declare open season on Khaddafy.
Editorial

TRINITY TRIPOD

Hypocritical Tension

“There are things in life that are more important than good degrees.” And as he received his own honorary degree, the Right Reverend Desmond Mpilo Tutu could not have been more gracious. At the same time, his audience could not have felt more hypocritical.

It was not hard for Bishop Tutu to convince us that the execution of apartheid is long overdue. Most of us knew that. Still, the Bishop’s words were heartfelt, his emotions explosive, and his tact was more than effective. Biological accidents like skin color do not give human beings value, he told us. Ignorance of this kind only causes hostile separation. But “we are made for togetherness, for fellowships, for communion” - it is not good for men to be alone.” Bishop Tutu’s eloquence turned an old, but often forgotten, lesson into a moving revelation.

All inspiration aside, the tension born of the event’s irony was thick. Bishop Tutu’s approach to Trinity’s honorary was brilliant. He did not refuse the degree as some thought he might; he did not even publicly chastise Trinity College. In fact, he never mentioned the divestment issue; he only commended the few feeble attempts Trinity has made in dealing with the apartheid question. He thanked us for our contribution to his refugee fund and for our own scholarship fund set up for two South African blacks to come to Trinity. And then he thanked us two more times, and two more, and then he thanked us again in case we didn’t hear him earlier.

Bishop Tutu’s reverse psychology worked. Instead of making a mockery of Trinity, which would not have done much for his cause, he overthanked us for the embarrassment we have done with this abhorrent issue and begged us to continue our “fight”, if it can be called that. “Scuttle” is more accurate in this case.

When this is the bad, focus on the good. When people are oppressed, as the South African blacks are, remind them that they are beautiful. “Say to the victims of this injustice - you are a God-carrier, and this will be subservive of any system of injustice.” The best way for Bishop Tutu to address our inaction on the issue was to focus on our few pathetic attempts at action. And then to thank us for them enough so that his message is clear without his even having to say it: Trinity College has a long way to go with this one. The hypocritical nature of Friday morning’s ceremony was no secret to most. But now that Tutu is off to pass on a bit we have done with this abhorrent issue is clear without his even having to say it: Trinity College.

The hypocrisy of Trinity’s actions was more than the question - it was a God-carrier, and this will be subservive of any system of injustice.” The best way for Bishop Tutu to address our inaction on the issue was to focus on our few pathetic attempts at action. And then to thank us for them enough so that his message is clear without his even having to say it: Trinity College has a long way to go with this one. The hypocritical nature of Friday morning’s ceremony was no secret to most. But now that Tutu is off to pass on a bit we have done with this abhorrent issue is clear without his even having to say it: Trinity College.

The Bishop’s words were heartfelt, his emotions explosive, and his tact was more than effective. Biological accidents like skin color do not give human beings value, he told us. Ignorance of this kind only causes hostile separation. But “we are made for togetherness, for fellowships, for communion” - it is not good for men to be alone.” Bishop Tutu’s eloquence turned an old, but often forgotten, lesson into a moving revelation.

All inspiration aside, the tension born of the event’s irony was thick. Bishop Tutu’s approach to Trinity’s honorary was brilliant. He did not refuse the degree as some thought he might; he did not even publicly chastise Trinity College. In fact, he never mentioned the divestment issue; he only commended the few feeble attempts Trinity has made in dealing with the apartheid question. He thanked us for our contribution to his refugee fund and for our own scholarship fund set up for two South African blacks to come to Trinity. And then he thanked us two more times, and two more, and then he thanked us again in case we didn’t hear him earlier.

Bishop Tutu’s reverse psychology worked. Instead of making a mockery of Trinity, which would not have done much for his cause, he overthanked us for the embarrassment we have done with this abhorrent issue and begged us to continue our “fight”, if it can be called that. “Scuttle” is more accurate in this case.

When this is the bad, focus on the good. When people are oppressed, as the South African blacks are, remind them that they are beautiful. “Say to the victims of this injustice - you are a God-carrier, and this will be subservive of any system of injustice.” The best way for Bishop Tutu to address our inaction on the issue was to focus on our few pathetic attempts at action. And then to thank us for them enough so that his message is clear without his even having to say it: Trinity College has a long way to go with this one. The hypocritical nature of Friday morning’s ceremony was no secret to most. But now that Tutu is off to pass on a bit we have done with this abhorrent issue is clear without his even having to say it: Trinity College.

The hypocrisy of Trinity’s actions was more than the question - it was a God-carrier, and this will be subservive of any system of injustice.” The best way for Bishop Tutu to address our inaction on the issue was to focus on our few pathetic attempts at action. And then to thank us for them enough so that his message is clear without his even having to say it: Trinity College has a long way to go with this one. The hypocritical nature of Friday morning’s ceremony was no secret to most. But now that Tutu is off to pass on a bit we have done with this abhorrent issue is clear without his even having to say it: Trinity College.
Hello! We're Back!

by David Rubinger
Managing Editor

They are the forgotten ones. They have returned from such far away places as Paris, Vienna, Rome, and other exotic points. Some of them come with tears, others with memorable stories of romantic interludes. They are the juniors who have once again returned to Trinity after studying abroad for a semester. With all of the fond memories still fresh in their minds, Trinity College is leaving them with a sense of uneasiness.

So, as a response to their return to this new environment, these down and out upperclassmen are trying to make Trinity a little more "Euro-styled." Rooms are decorated with remnants of travel from far away. One down and out junior says he plans to make a replica of the Eiffel Tower on the quad so that he won't feel "homesick." I told him the idea was crazy. He then proceeded to cry and yell obscenities at me in French that can't be printed in this paper.

Another romantic returnee from England told me that she is saving her money to bring over her love who is currently residing in London. I told her writing at SAGA once a week isn't going to bring her new found love here very quickly, she giggled in an airy tone, "don't worry, he'll be waiting!"

Everyone's experience abroad is different, but all have come back with vivid memories (and imaginations) of making their current life all the more commonplace. As the semester begins, this select group is sure to feel like outsiders once again. I suppose it is difficult to find too much sympathy for them. There are all over everyone else sitting at the bar. They are consumed by the need for school and have to return to their tiny rooms in Kansas in total shambles, the local heroes who couldn't cut it in the Big City. They lead empty, wasted lives working at grain elevators, knowing that, if only they hadn't gone sking that winter, they would all be millionaires. For 500 corporations today. They all have stories about their mailboxes: there is either no mail at all that they couldn't ever possibly get it all, or they go for months and months without ever hearing from anyone. In my case, the latter is no nightmare, it's a daily reality. I've developed the "Communist Mail Theory"; everyone should get to use the same mailbox. The Post Office employees will be required from now on to ensure everyone gets their fair share.

Anyway, the other day I was given a piece of paper which I'm sure will crop up in my own postgraduate nightmares. It represented the very essence of the most audacious professors imaginable. There is only one word for it: EXAM FROM HELL. It comprehensively covers every major field of knowledge and lasts 48 hours. As an American Studies major who is writing a senior thesis because I'm too much of a wimp to handle the comps, and who is crazy enough to try to cut it in the Big City, I was thrilled at the thought of making this my stomach turn. Here are some highlights:

MEDICINE: You have been provided with a razor blade, a piece of gauze, and a bottle of scotch. Keep your seven-year-old mind focused. Do not fail until you have worked on your assignment. You have fifteen minutes.

PUBLIC SPEAKING: 2,500 rest-credited arguments are power-stressing the main theme with vividness and passion. You are allowed to make five arguments, which must be 25 pages each. For each argument, you must construct an experiment to test your assumptions. You must use ancient Greek or Latin. You will find a picture of a high-powered rifle on the second floor of the library. It has been placed in a box on your floor. Take it and return it at 5 p.m. on Friday. Every argument must use any ancient ancient language except Latin or Greek.

MUSIC: Write a piano concerto. Orchestrate and perform it with flute and harp. You will find a piano under your seat.

SOCIOLOGY: Estimate the sociological problems which might complicate life in the Big City. Construct an experiment to test your assumptions.

ENGINEERING: The disassembled parts of a high-powered rifle have been placed in a box on your floor. You will also find an instruction manual printed in swahili. In ten days make a iguana theater for your own seminar. The other seminar will be admitted to the room. Take whatever action you feel appropriate. Be prepared to justify your decision.

POLITICAL SCIENCE: There is no standard. The professor will decide you sit beside you. Start World War III. Report on it at length on its socio-political effects.

EPIDEMIOLOGY: Take a position for or against the validity of the position you have just presented. Be objective and specific.

EXTRA CREDIT: Define the universe; give three examples.

The Injustice Of Prejudgment

by Chip Rhodes
Features Editor

It took me a good minute to recognize her. She entered the bar with a guy who was about six inches shorter than she. She was wearing a full-length jean jacket that was pulled tightly over her new enormouse frame. Her companion was also wearing only jeans and a long-sleeved shirt. He was wearing a growing from the administration in their mail boxes when they were returned. But worst of all for these people is returning to campus knowing that many of their friends who were their support for the first two years are away this semester themselves.

So in the bar they sit with glisty eyes of the wonderful times passed, dreaming of the day they return to a land they were calling home. As a member of this group of special returnees this semester, I ask for the sympathy of seniors with housing for a decent room on campus. There wasn't even a growing from the administration in their mail boxes when they were returned. But worst of all for these people is returning to campus knowing that many of their friends who were their support for the first two years are away this semester themselves.

In the bar they sit, with glisty eyes of the wonderful times passed, dreaming of the day they return to a land they were calling home. As a member of this group of special returnees this semester, I ask for the sympathy of seniors with housing for a decent room on campus. There wasn't even a growing from the administration in their mail boxes when they were returned. But worst of all for these people is returning to campus knowing that many of their friends who were their support for the first two years are away this semester themselves.

When I had finally realized that it was indeed her I started fum- ming with the dilemma of ignoring her or awkwardly and somewhat routine

LETTERS POLICY

The Tripod welcomes letters from our readers. Letters for publication should be typed, double spaced, and must include the writer's name, although names can be withheld from publication upon request.

Letters for publication should be mailed to the Tripod via Box 1810 or delivered to Jackson Building so that they are received by 5 p.m. on Friday.

Letters are subject to editing for style, length, and tone.
The Theater and Dance Department will be hosting a symposium on renowned Canadian playwright, Michel Tremblay on Monday, January 27 at 4:00 p.m. It will be held in Salon 917 and will feature Professor Len Berkman, Chairman of the Theater Department at Smith College, and stage designer. Following the event, moderating the symposium will be Bill Stein, the director of Hartford's Lincoln Theater.

The symposium is integrally linked to the Lincoln Theater production of Tremblay's piece 'The Depresentment of Outremont', a 'play in which the four illustrious Beau-

The concerts will be family en*

Hartford's Consortium Schools Plan Events.

Hartford Consortium For Higher Education is sponsoring the fol-

Bishop to Give Reading

Meg E. Bishop, a recent gradu-

Meg E. Bishop, an English major, has

Bloom County

"We deplof for days... weeks, months...I lost my

We had no food, no water... but thank God, we didnt have one thing..."

"We had each other."
JOIN THE TRINITY TRIPOD STAFF

WE'RE LOOKING FOR WRITERS, COPY EDITORS, ADVERTISING AND BUSINESS STAFF, PRODUCTION STAFF, AND PHOTOGRAPHERS. NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY

MEETING, JACKSON BASEMENT

TUESDAY, 7:30 P.M.

OR LEAVE A MESSAGE ON THE OFFICIAL TRIPOD ANSWERING MACHINE AT EXTENSION 252.
Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.

Super Bowl XX is most intriguing because it features two teams that appear to have destiny on their sides. The Bears are a good team that got hot for the playoffs, capitalized on turnovers, and took advantage of their sound running game to beat the porous Dolphins defense to earn a trip to New York. They may have been able to squint the fish, but the Bears are a different animal indeed.
ORE SPORTS

Basketball Upsets Yale Eliis

continued from page 12

into overtime. This year, they did themselves one better, hanging on to a second half lead for a 58-53 victory.

Trinity was paced by Abere, who had 16 points, but another large contribution came from Blaney. The sophomore made the most of his first collegiate starting assignment, using his ball-handling skills to help the Bants in their slow-dawn offense.

Trinity used a big spat in the late first and early second halves
to take the lead, which at one point bulged to 11. Poor foul shooting
late first and early second halves
caused the Bants to stagger. But Abere (12 points and an all-tournament selection) once again came to the rescue, scoring the next five points to bring Trinity to stay with the high powered Bantams on top 21-20.

The pace picked up in the second half, with Wesleyan again coming out of the locker room on fire. This time it was Chris Strepock, who hit two bombs to start the half.
The Cards then moved out to a 29-32 lead with 11:25 to play, but the Bants came back again. They scomred two of the next 12 points to take a 41-41 lead with 8:00 to play.

on the strength of some fine play
by Abere and Fitzgerald.

With 56 seconds to play, the score was tied at 51 when Wesleyan forward Robert James (12 points, 10 rebounds, tournament MVP) launched a short turnaround jumper. Trinity had plenty of chances to tie it up and force overtime, but an Abere miss, two missed free throws, and a Devo-van charge led to their downfall.

Wesleyan hit five of six free throws over the last minute to preserve the 58-53 win.

"They came out hitting in the second half," said Trinity coach Stan Oprodovich. "Strepock really game them a lift. You could play the end of this game ten times and they'd win five and we'd win five.
Tonight they just came out on top."

Trinity will have a chance to avenge the loss tonight when it travers to Middletown for a return engagement with the Cards. The game will be broadcast on WRTC at 8pm.

LeBrun Stars, But W-Hoop Loses

by Chris Dickinson
Senior Staff Writer

The Trinity College women's basketball team played its first home game of the 2nd semester Saturday, losing to the women of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy 68-57.

The score, however, does not reflect the tight game played by two teams. After a tentative start, the Bantams downed the Trinity 8-7 just 1:30 into the game. The coast guard women, who were hitting practically every-
time they threw up from the outside, were up 8-7. And, with many times showed a lack of patiience, leading to many steals by the Coast Guard guards. Women with Van Clere (4 pts) and Leanne Lebrun (20 points) showed great patience in shot selection and passing, helping Trinity to stay with the high powered Coast Guard women. Both Sis Van Clere (4 pts) and Leanne Lebrun were hitting practically every-
time they threw up from the outside.

Center Jon Moorhouse wins tap against Amiierst. photo by Mark Bridges

The fouls put Trin and at halftime they had converted on the many one-on-one opportunities they had. Coast Guard, on the other hand, shot 79% from the line, increasing their lead to 46-40 with 12:11 remainning. With 10:12 left Sis Van Clere fouled out and the offense fell apart. Trin had great trouble inbounding the ball against the aggressive
Coast Guard press and lost 68-57.

Trin dropped to 2-4 on the season, its win coming against Standeis (60-58) and Simmons (57-45).
Their losses were to Mt. Holyoke, Yale, Smith, and Coast Guard. The women play next on Jan. 22 at Clark.

"The College View Cafe Sports Scoreboard" PORTS

Hockey Skates By Amherst Again, 6-3

*by Marc Esterman
Sports Editor*

The Trinity Bantams hockey team has gotten back to basics. After playing an uncharacteristic wide-open style of hockey throughout much of the first semester, the Bants have gotten back to the close-checking style that vaulted them into the Division III finals last year. Although the Bants had been scoring goals at a high pace, averaging around seven a game, they had slacked in their own zone, much to the dismay of head coach John Dunham, who hopes that his team will be able to play steady defensive hockey the rest of the season, while maintaining some of its potent offense as well.

"Our high scoring got us in trouble," conceded Dunham. "It got us away from our defensive game-plan. We normally can't over-power a team, we've got to work for everything we get. We're starting to play well in our own zone again. Our forwards are coming back, which they didn't really do in the first semester."

The Bants have gone 5-3 over their last eight games and iced their overall record to 9-4 and their league mark to 7-1, good enough for second place behind Conn College, the only Division III team to beat Trinity this season, much to the delight of its defense pairings and the backchecking of its forward lines. Solomita and McLefy are being paired together and have played very well. Solomita is a tough centerman who has a booming shot while McLefy is a very steady, fundamental player who's good with the puck too. Freshman Rob McCord and junior Billy Blake have added a great deal of offense, both with their win in the 400 medley relay. Ian Feinhandler and Adam Kimmick followed with a one-two win in the 100 freestyle, giving Trinity a comfortable lead of 20 to 16.

Trinity stifled the Iona attack, limiting the Gaels to just 11 shots on goal as goalie Art Fitzgerald earned the win. Mike Solomon, Jay Whitehead, Frank Newark, Bethany Mezey and Tracey Bowers scored one goal each, while captain Scotty Lane added two for the Bants to pace the Bants. Iona scored its lone goal in the first period and was never a factor.

Fitzgerald turned away 19 shots against the Gaels as he has led Trinity to 140 to post his first shutout of the year. Rich DuBose got the game-winning goal at 11:52 of the final period and was very good throughout the season, and was joined in the scoring column by Solomita, Sheehy, and Meyer.

Most recently, the Bants traveled up to Amherst and completed a two-game season sweep of the Lord Jeffs, winning 6-3. Trinity outdoor Amherst 9-5, as the defense nullified Amherst's good shooting attack.

Newcomer Bryant McBride, a sophomore transfer from West Point, made his presence felt right away by scoring a powerplay goal at 16:15 in the first period. Amherst answered back early in the second to ignite a high scoring period. Peter Worthing scored his seventh at 6:41 and Blank extended the lead to 5-1 at 10:58 with a three-on-three goal. McLefy, a defender, ripped in a powerplay blast from the point to make it 4-1 before Meyer notched his team-leading 15th goal at 16:16. Beed Whitmore, who's been shifted from center to left wing on the first line to protect his injured shoulder, scored his eighth of the year at 16:35 on the powerplay to complete Trinity's scoring.

Amherst pumped two past Fitzgerald in the third period but Trinity was able to hang on for the 6-3 win. Trinity's fine play can be attributed to the solid work of its defense pairings and the backchecking of its forward lines. Solomita and McLefy are being paired together and have played very well. Solomita is a tough centerman who has a booming shot while McLefy is a very steady, fundamental player who's good with the puck too. Freshman Rob McCord and junior Billy Blake have added a great deal of offense, both with their win in the 400 medley relay. Ian Feinhandler and Adam Kimmick followed with a one-two win in the 100 freestyle, giving Trinity a comfortable lead of 20 to 16.

Turfhill quickly increased the lead with his first place finish in the 100 butterfly in 58.52 seconds.

Chick's Chees 76-64

Last Thursday evening the women's swim team journeled up to Mt. Holyoke with high hopes for an upset. Unfortunately, it wasn't to be. The Chicks swam extremely well and dominated the freestyle events but Holyoke's sweep of the two breaststroke races provided a 76-64 winning margin. Actually, Trinity could have still won if they had not been touched out in the opening medley relay - they came that close.

Top performers on the night included Barbie Brennan, who won the 100 and 400 meter freestyle, Ginny Flinn, who remains undefeated in intercollegiate back-stroke, winning both the 100 and 200 meter events, and Karen Hubbard, who won a blistering 50 meter freestyle. Susan Deer was a surprise winner in the 800 meter freestyle and went one-two with Brennan in the 400.

The 100 meter freestyle relay of Brennan, Hubbard, Deer, and Onelly Robed closed out the meet with a convincing win, but it was too little, too late.

Fredphen dimer Amy Faulcon turned in a remarkable performance in one meter optional diving, giving up 202.96 points to break the team record and qualify for the New England Championships in that event.

The Chicks face another tough challenge tomorrow night at Trowbridge Pool when they take on a varied improved Cardinal team from Wesleyan. Meet time is 6:30pm.

Basketball Loses

1st Liberty Classic

*by Gabe Harris
Senior Staff Writer*

It's time for our first annual Trinity Hoops Year's Quiz. Since our last check, the Bants have been in overtime to a team which hadn't beaten them in seven years; losing on for a stunning win against a highly touted division 1 foe; dropped another disappointing two-point loss, 79-77, to TCNJ; lost to a team which hadn't beaten them in five years, Richard and藉 of the above. If you answered f, you didn't miss one on this quiz.

Trinity started its roller coaster ride back on December 10th, when it took its lead and held on to beat Long Island, 70-69, to take on Coast Guard. Since the last Cadet victory over Trinity during the 1976-77 season, there was apparently little cause for concern that Trinity's winning streak would be broken.

However, John Gallagher, the 6'7" senior, terrifed the Bants inside, powering his way to a school-record 39 points in leading his team to an 81-79 overtime upset.

Trinity struggled with foul trouble throughout the game, and by the third three Bantams had fouled out. This, combined with Gallagher's inside supremacy, proved too much for Trinity, despite fine efforts by Ken Aberse (20 points), Jon Morsch (14), Bill Field (10), and Tom Fitzgarrard (14).

The overtime started with the teams tied at 70 and with 12 seconds remaining Trinity had the ball, down two, and in bounds. Very Dinney, in for fouled-out Mike Dosey, tried to get the ball to Aberse, but he was double teamed.

He took to Tim Curtis, whose diving shot rolled off the iron as time expired.

Trinity kicked off its 1986 campaign by travelling to New Haven to take on the Yale Bulldogs. A year ago, the Bants shocked their Ivy League opponent by taking them continued on page 11