New System Results In Missing Grades

by David Rubinger and Chip Rhodes
Special to the Tripod

December 21: $43,000 worth of cash, money orders, and stamps were stolen from the Post Office in Mather Campus Center.

December 20: Six rooms in Cook Dormitory are broken into and the safe from the RA annex is stolen. He said that Robert Fedosevetz, Vice President for Finance and Treasurer, saw four youths leaving his dormitory on December 19, sometime between Christmas and New Year's. The RA annex was broken into on December 20 by a resident of the house.

The house was entered through a window in the rear of the building and all the rooms were broken into. Articles stolen include several stereos, a camera, television, VCR, and power tools. Several windows were broken and the perpetrators apparently spent considerable amounts of time in the building.

Phil Robertson, '87, a resident of Deke: "They obviously didn't need a whole bunch of stuff. They were able to get what they wanted and leave."

The Postal Service inspectors arrived later that day to assess the losses. Although the burglars had removed a large amount of valuables from the office, Grohs contended that these marks were fabricated to make the break-in appear forced.

The Postal Inspectors are treating the two robberies as separate incidents. "One man has already been apprehended for stealing the money orders," said Postal Inspector Hal Norell, "and other suspects are also in custody waiting to come before a grand jury in federal court.""When someone was forced into the office open and the inside of the room smashed. The thieves had opened mail and parked the cash register, and taken the Post Office safe, containing $2,000 worth of stamps and money orders.

The empty safe was later recovered by Hartford Police in Ke
ey Park and was believed to have been opened by a crow bar.

The Postal Inspectors are treating the two robberies as separate incidents. "One man has already been apprehended for stealing the money orders," said Postal Inspector Hal Norell, "and other suspects are also in custody waiting to come before a grand jury in federal court.""When someone was forced into the office open and the inside of the room smashed. The thieves had opened mail and parked the cash register, and taken the Post Office safe, containing $2,000 worth of stamps and money orders.

The empty safe was later recovered by Hartford Police in Ke
ey Park and was believed to have been opened by a crow bar.

The Postal Inspectors are treating the two robberies as separate incidents. "One man has already been apprehended for stealing the money orders," said Postal Inspector Hal Norell, "and other suspects are also in custody waiting to come before a grand jury in federal court."

Evidence in the case has led investigators and Trinity officials to suspect that the perpetrators used the Post Office key to gain access in both incidents, according to Grohs.

Grohs said that the Post Office staff were unaware of any suspicious activity during their shift.

Federal investigations currently have several suspects in the case of two break-ins at the Trinity Post Office in Mather Campus Center during Christmas vacation. The parallel nature of the two separate robberies has left lingering questions concerning the motives of the "casual" means of entrance and the whereabouts of security during the robbery.

Post Office Director Daniel Grans discovered the first break-in on the morning of December 22. Arriving at 9:00 AM, he found the office open and the inside of the room smashed. The thieves had opened mail and parked the cash register, and taken the Post Office safe, containing $2,000 worth of stamps and money orders.

The empty safe was later recovered by Hartford Police in Ke
ey Park and was believed to have been opened by a crow bar.

The Postal Inspectors are treating the two robberies as separate incidents. "One man has already been apprehended for stealing the money orders," said Postal Inspector Hal Norell, "and other suspects are also in custody waiting to come before a grand jury in federal court."

Evidence in the case has led investigators and Trinity officials to suspect that the perpetrators used the Post Office key to gain access in both incidents, according to Grohs.

Grohs said that the Post Office staff were unaware of any suspicious activity during their shift.

Federal investigations currently have several suspects in the case of two break-ins at the Trinity Post Office in Mather Campus Center during Christmas vacation. The parallel nature of the two separate robberies has left lingering questions concerning the motives of the "casual" means of entrance and the whereabouts of security during the robbery.

Post Office Director Daniel Grans discovered the first break-in on the morning of December 22. Arriving at 9:00 AM, he found the office open and the inside of the room smashed. The thieves had opened mail and parked the cash register, and taken the Post Office safe, containing $2,000 worth of stamps and money orders.

The empty safe was later recovered by Hartford Police in Ke
ey Park and was believed to have been opened by a crow bar.

The Postal Inspectors are treating the two robberies as separate incidents. "One man has already been apprehended for stealing the money orders," said Postal Inspector Hal Norell, "and other suspects are also in custody waiting to come before a grand jury in federal court."

Evidence in the case has led investigators and Trinity officials to suspect that the perpetrators used the Post Office key to gain access in both incidents, according to Grohs.

Grohs said that the Post Office staff were unaware of any suspicious activity during their shift.

Federal investigations currently have several suspects in the case of two break-ins at the Trinity Post Office in Mather Campus Center during Christmas vacation. The parallel nature of the two separate robberies has left lingering questions concerning the motives of the "casual" means of entrance and the whereabouts of security during the robbery.

Post Office Director Daniel Grans discovered the first break-in on the morning of December 22. Arriving at 9:00 AM, he found the office open and the inside of the room smashed. The thieves had opened mail and parked the cash register, and taken the Post Office safe, containing $2,000 worth of stamps and money orders.

The empty safe was later recovered by Hartford Police in Ke
ey Park and was believed to have been opened by a crow bar.

The Postal Inspectors are treating the two robberies as separate incidents. "One man has already been apprehended for stealing the money orders," said Postal Inspector Hal Norell, "and other suspects are also in custody waiting to come before a grand jury in federal court."

Evidence in the case has led investigators and Trinity officials to suspect that the perpetrators used the Post Office key to gain access in both incidents, according to Grohs.

Grohs said that the Post Office staff were unaware of any suspicious activity during their shift.

Federal investigations currently have several suspects in the case of two break-ins at the Trinity Post Office in Mather Campus Center during Christmas vacation. The parallel nature of the two separate robberies has left lingering questions concerning the motives of the "casual" means of entrance and the whereabouts of security during the robbery.

Post Office Director Daniel Grans discovered the first break-in on the morning of December 22. Arriving at 9:00 AM, he found the office open and the inside of the room smashed. The thieves had opened mail and parked the cash register, and taken the Post Office safe, containing $2,000 worth of stamps and money orders.

The empty safe was later recovered by Hartford Police in Ke
ey Park and was believed to have been opened by a crow bar.

The Postal Inspectors are treating the two robberies as separate incidents. "One man has already been apprehended for stealing the money orders," said Postal Inspector Hal Norell, "and other suspects are also in custody waiting to come before a grand jury in federal court."

Evidence in the case has led investigators and Trinity officials to suspect that the perpetrators used the Post Office key to gain access in both incidents, according to Grohs.

Grohs said that the Post Office staff were unaware of any suspicious activity during their shift.

Federal investigations currently have several suspects in the case of two break-ins at the Trinity Post Office in Mather Campus Center during Christmas vacation. The parallel nature of the two separate robberies has left lingering questions concerning the motives of the "casual" means of entrance and the whereabouts of security during the robbery.

Post Office Director Daniel Grans discovered the first break-in on the morning of December 22. Arriving at 9:00 AM, he found the office open and the inside of the room smashed. The thieves had opened mail and parked the cash register, and taken the Post Office safe, containing $2,000 worth of stamps and money orders.

The empty safe was later recovered by Hartford Police in Ke
ey Park and was believed to have been opened by a crow bar.

The Postal Inspectors are treating the two robberies as separate incidents. "One man has already been apprehended for stealing the money orders," said Postal Inspector Hal Norell, "and other suspects are also in custody waiting to come before a grand jury in federal court."

Evidence in the case has led investigators and Trinity officials to suspect that the perpetrators used the Post Office key to gain access in both incidents, according to Grohs.

Grohs said that the Post Office staff were unaware of any suspicious activity during their shift.

Federal investigations currently have several suspects in the case of two break-ins at the Trinity Post Office in Mather Campus Center during Christmas vacation. The parallel nature of the two separate robberies has left lingering questions concerning the motives of the "casual" means of entrance and the whereabouts of security during the robbery.

Post Office Director Daniel Grans discovered the first break-in on the morning of December 22. Arriving at 9:00 AM, he found the office open and the inside of the room smashed. The thieves had opened mail and parked the cash register, and taken the Post Office safe, containing $2,000 worth of stamps and money orders.

The empty safe was later recovered by Hartford Police in Ke
ey Park and was believed to have been opened by a crow bar.

The Postal Inspectors are treating the two robberies as separate incidents. "One man has already been apprehended for stealing the money orders," said Postal Inspector Hal Norell, "and other suspects are also in custody waiting to come before a grand jury in federal court."

Evidence in the case has led investigators and Trinity officials to suspect that the perpetrators used the Post Office key to gain access in both incidents, according to Grohs.

Grohs said that the Post Office staff were unaware of any suspicious activity during their shift.
Editorial

Whose Fault Is It Anyway?

"I feel like Janiece Stewart has personally violated me."

"Don't you think that's a little extreme? I mean it's not as if she broke into your room and took your stereo and television herself."

"But that's not the point. Of course she didn't violate you in any literal sense, but she might as well have — the result was the same."

"Has it occurred to you that perhaps you're using her as a scapegoat? It's understandable that you feel violated by the robbery, but it's too simple to blame one person."

"Well, she's not just anybody. She's the Director of Security and it's her responsibility to protect us and our belongings. If there's a rash of thefts then it reflects poorly on her and it's up to her to deal with the smell and the mess."

"I think you're expecting too much from the Security force. If your argument was applied to police forces in general, then all victims of crime would be victims, not of the criminals, but of the police who failed to prevent the crimes from happening."

This brief piece of dialogue serves us well as an illustration of the debate over the difficult question of guilt in the the now infamous vacation break-ins. Well, the students have returned and, to put it mildly, many are livid. In all corners of the campus — the Cave, Saga, library — accusations are being hurled like so many Molotov Cocktails. Many students are calling for drastic measures; a complete overhaul of the Security system or the firing of Janiece Stewart, to name only the more sane suggestions.

Of course, it is understandable that students are angry. Many lost thousands of dollars worth of property and, because of the timing of the robberies, most found out some time after the fact. But we can't let this anger obscure the issue.

First off, crime is an unavoidable fact when you live in the heart of a city. Hartford has an exceptionally high crime rate, like most cities of its kind. And, although Trinity likes to think of itself as a self-contained entity, it is as much a part of Hartford as Broad Street. Yes, the string of thefts over the past month was out of proportion with what we have come to expect; but we must realize that we will be susceptible to crime as long as we live in an urban setting.

Still, we have every right to expect more from both the administration and the Security staff.

The administration has to recognize the fact that a more tangible, financial commitment is necessary if students and their property are going to be properly protected. Security has been understaffed for some time and it is unfair to expect Janiece Stewart to do even an adequate job of protection without a full staff and without more than lip service support from the school.

Security shouldn't be allowed to dodge the bullet either. They have been lethargic in reacting to trends in theft and conspicuously absent when their presence has been most needed. Several of the more costly robberies — in particular the Post Office, Ogilby and Deke break-ins — could have been detected if the Security guards on duty had been more attentive and if Janiece Stewart had the luxury of a complete staff. The Post Office is, after all, only down the hall from the Security Office: Isn't there the administration and the Security staff.

Security has been understaffed for some time and it is unfair to expect Janiece Stewart to do even an adequate job of protection without a full staff and without more than lip service support from the school.

We deserve no less. C.R.
Crescent Street Renovations Scheduled to Begin

by Judy Sandford
News Editor

"All Frohman/Robb residents who requested to remain in campus housing were accommodated," according to Kristina B. Dow, Director, Office of Residential Services. The students were forced to move from the buildings this semester when the college decided to renovate Frohman and Robb as part of a campus-wide renovation project. This plan was made clear during the spring lottery for the current academic year. At least two students decided to pursue off-campus housing. Other students were still in the process of moving into the new residence halls.

The intruders broke in to Ogilby dorm last weekend. The office of residential services has received no complaints so far about the move.

The students who had lived in triples and quads were split up and scattered across the campus. Elton received the most residents with seven, followed by Maclean with six, then Smith, with four. Vans were made available to help students move into their new rooms.

The students were upset but house residents reported significant vandalism this past weekend. The Office of Residential Services has received seven reports of vandalism so far. The students have written down model articles of their vandalized rooms, and the likelihood of recovery of stolen property, according to Smith and Ogilby residents, is pretty good if the students are currently pursuing the crime.

The Associated Students, who had lived in the neighborhood of $15,000, said that the total amount lost is in the $794,570.00. The renovations will include several modifications for sound control, total new floor plans, and new furniture, according to Kristina B. Dow, Director, Office of Residential Services.

The College Consortium for International Studies, Accredited Programs • Affordable Programs

EARN YOUR CREDITS ABROAD.

The College Consortium for International Studies, CCIS, is composed of 170 American Universities and Colleges. The CCIS offers 16 semester and year long study abroad programs.

Accredited Programs • Affordable Programs

Financial Aid Available

- England FALL SEMESTER
  - In Dublin
- Israel
- Ireland St. Patrick's College
- Germany Maynooth
- Spain 12-15 Credits
- Italy Summer Programs
- Denmark At Trinity College, Dublin
- Egypt
- Switzerland
- Mexico
- Canada
- France
- Greece
- Sweden
- Portugal
- Colombia

DONIZETTI'S PIZZA 246-7209
DELIVERED IN 30 MINUTES OR IT'S FREE!
Trustees to Vote on New Dean of Faculty

by Gina Letellier
Assistant News Editor

After narrowing the list of applicants from nearly 200 down to five finalists, the search for Trinity's new Dean of the Faculty is close to over.

The Faculty Committees and the SGA Committee have made their recommendations and The Board of Trustees will make the final decision next weekend.

Although the work was concluded this past week, "there are still hurdles to be overcome," according to Dr. John Geffert, a member of the Faculty Committee. The most important of these hurdles will be the Board of Trustees. The Board will have the final say as to who will become the next Dean of the Faculty. When asked if he had a particular favorite, Geffert replied with a reasoning, "YES," although he declined to comment further.

Also involved in the search was a committee put together by the SGA. Chairsperson of the group was Isabelle Parsons. According to Parsons, all of finalists were "really good" and would make definite contributions to the College.

When asked for a favorite, Parsons mentioned two of the finalists by name, Jan Cohn and Howard Ball, although she said that any of the finalists would be an excellent choice.

Scott Evoy, another member of the SGA Committee, echoed Parsons. Evoy said that collectively the committee had no particular favorite. According to Evoy, the five finalists left after the narrowing down process are, "all great... the group liked them all.

Those being considered for the position are Howard Ball, Norman R. Bowes, Jan R. Cohn, David R. Greene, and William S. Simmons.

Ball received his B.A. from Wellesley College, M.A. from the University of Toledo and Ph. D. from the University of Michigan. At the present, Ball is a Professor of Political Science and is the Dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences at the University of Utah. Ball specializes in the fields of Judicial Process, Constitutional and Administrative Law, and American Government.

Bowie is a graduate of Bates College, where he received his B.A. and the University of Rochester, where he received his Ph.D. Presently, Bowie is the Director of, and Professor at the University of Delaware's Center for the Study of Values. Bowie specializes in the fields of Philosophy and Business Ethics.

Cohn received her B.A. from Wellesley College, M.A. from the University of Toledo and Ph. D. from the University of Michigan. At the present, Cohn is a Professor of English and American Studies at George Mason University in Virginia. Cohn is principally involved in teaching American Literature, American Studies, and American Popular Culture.

Greene received his A.B. from Harvard University and B.D. from Princeton Theological Seminary. He is also a graduate of Yale University, where he received his M.A. and Ph.D. in Religious Studies. Presently, Greene is a Professor at Wellesley College in Indiana, where he is also Chair of the Division of Humanities. Greene specializes in Religion and Mie.

Simmons graduated from Brown University with a B.A. and received his M.A. and Ph.D. in Anthropology from Harvard University. Simmons is presently Chair of the Anthropology Department at the University of California, Berkeley, where he is also a Professor of Anthropology. Simmons' teaching areas include Social-cultural anthropology, History and Theory, Ethnomedicine, and Religion.

Borden W. Painter Jr., Professor of History at Trinity is the current Dean of the Faculty. Painter's term expires July 1st of this year.

Grades-Mailer

Grade-Mailer

Continued from Page 1

from Christmas break.

Now, in order for the marks to be computer printed onto the grade mailers and then mailed the next day, they had to be in by December 21st. Nine professors missed the deadline, several of late grades usually approaches one-hundred students who met the deadline, which is only five days after the last day of exams, saying "they showed a real concern for the students." She added that "responses will improve as the system continues to be used. There will always be some blanks but hopefully we will have a better response from larger classes, that affect so many students."

Even though the number of late grades was relatively small, more students noticed the omissions because the one-day mailing process prevented any late grades from being added to the report cards.

Hussey praised the instructors who met the deadline, which is only five days after the last day of exams, saying "they showed a real concern for the students." She added that "responses will improve as the system continues to be used. There will always be some blanks but hopefully we will have a better response from larger classes, that affect so many students."
Wednesday:
The South Campus RC/A's will sponsor Trinity Squares, a checker's competition between members of the faculty and of the student body. The event will occur at 7:00 PM in the Core and is open free to the public.

The Trinity Newman Club will hold its first meeting of the semester on Wednesday, January 21, at 7:30 PM. Plans for the upcoming semester will be discussed. This meeting will be held in Father John Gajzak's office in the Chapel. All are invited to attend.

Thursday:
Paul Harmon, president of the management consulting firm of Harmon Associates, will speak on How Expert Systems Will Change the Way Corporations Operate at 8:00 PM on January 22 in Royster Auditorium. This lecture is the third in the series titled Applications of Artificial Intelligence being presented by Trinity and the Hartford Graduate Center. Admission is free.

For Your Information:
The Trinity Christian Fellowship will hold a weekly meeting on January 23. Interested students are invited to come and see what we are all about. All meetings are held on Friday evenings from 7:00 PM to 9:00 PM in Sc ranked 19.

Professor George Ranalli of the Yale School of Architecture will give an illustrated lecture titled Making Architecture in America on Monday, February 2, at 8:00 PM in Austin & Basset Auditorium, Room 129. The lecture will be sponsored by the American Studies Program.

The National College Internship Service, Inc. of New York wishes to announce the onset of application acceptance for both graduate and undergraduate positions in individually designed internships during Summer 1987. Placements are available in New York City, Long Island and Westchester. Early application is essential. For more information, write National College Internship Service, 374 New York Avenue, Huntington, New York 11743 or call (516) 478-9440. On campus information is available through the Career and Internship Placement officers.

All interested in information concerning the Trinity College Legislative Internship Program at the Connecticut State Capitol Building during the Spring 1987 should contact the Political Science Department immediately. Political Science majors as well as all other majors are encouraged to inquire.

Roman Catholic Mass is celebrated every Wednesday at 5:00 PM in the Crypt Chapel and on Sunday at 12:00 PM.

The Voluntary Action Center for the Capital Region Inc. is looking for some people interested in befriending an older person or shut-in. Activities with the individuals can range from helping with chores and talking walks to making telephone calls. Donate just one to two hours a week. If interested, please call the Center at 247-2580.

The first quarter examination will next be given on Tuesday, February 10, 1987, 8:30 AM to 11:40 AM. This exam is called Calculus and Linear Algebra: Trinity mathematics courses 121, 122, 221, 222, and 207 are suitable background, although additional study is needed.

Julie Beluga will speak about establishing a Direct Primary for Connecticut on Monday, February 16, in the Life Sciences Auditorium.

A number of $1000 PI Gamma Mu Scholarships are available for seniors who have taken 30 semester hours in one or more of the social sciences, received an average grade of B or better, and are in the upper 35% of the class. Because the deadline for application is January 30, interested students should contact Professor McKee, Political Science Department, immediately.

Wanted Now! Spring Break representatives for Collegiate Tour & Travel. Earn free trips and cash too! Call 1-800-528-9021, ext. 579.

The Special Council on Women at Trinity is an advisory group appointed by the Trinity president and composed of students, faculty, administrators, and graduates of the College. Over the past few years, the council has initiated a rape education program and initiated and completed development of the Trinity Day Care Center. Non-Council members are encouraged to serve on any working sub-committees by simply contacting the Chairperson of the Subcommittee. They include Maternity Benefits, Mimi Barrow, Affirmative Action, Judith Branzburg, Salary Study, Diane Zanoni, Campus Security, Robin Shephard, Violence and Women, Dave Winer, and Classroom Climate, Sabrina Farrell.

The IDP Program wishes to inform the Trinity community that an IDP student who at present is writing a book for disabled children needs an artist for illustrations. If interested, call 835-2554 after 4:00 PM, ask for Kathy Ludlam, and express an interest in Joyce Baker's project.

TRINITY SQUARES
Come see the faculty "celebrities" and student contestants face some of Trinity's most puzzling trivia!
When: Wednesday (1/21) at 7PM
Where: in the Cave
$$ CASH PRIZES $$
— sponsored by the South Campus RC/A's

The Trinity College Student Government Association Cordially invites you to the First Annual Fundraiser "A Festival of Lights"
A Semi-Formal to be held in the Washington Room on Saturday, January 24th 1987

Tickets Available from any SGA Member
All money donated will be used to replace the Contingency Fund of the Student Activities Account.
Help Support Trinity's active Student Groups!

BROOKSIDE RESTAURANT
Announces The Opening Of The NEW SOUTH Room.
Acommodates Up To 75 People, With FREE RENTAL For Trinity Students.
Great For Team Parties, Birthdays, Beer and Pizza Parties, Etc.

For More Information Call Tim At 524-0550
Located at 442 New Britain Avenue, One Block From Trinity Trinity's Artistic Climate to be Hot This Semester

by Bob Markov
Associate Editor

I realize that there are a number of you out there who have the ex- treme taste to read this section of the paper on a regular basis. However, since you never know when you will have to im- press your parents with all the knowledge you have gained, the Arts staff would like to inform you of some of the artistic goings- on in the coming semester.

Jesters has a number of impres- sive events planned this semester. To open their season, they are sponsoring the Princeton Mime Troupe, which is the foremost col- league mime group in the country. On January 30 in Gouldwin The- ater, they will perform Mimes the Word, which consists of "tales of theatre, they will present..."

Auditions!

Sweeney Todt

The Demon Bawd or Flesh Street

Tues., Jan. 20. (7-10:30PM)
Wed., Jan. 30 (6:30-6:30PM)
Sign up for a time slot outside of AAC 101.
Sweeney Todt will be presented March 5-8.
over. The front end, and the game was the strategy worked. He missed the 75% foul shooter, and for. Ogrodnik called two timeouts ing the ball stolen moments be-point victory. The first half was half with a 12-4 run, and they 31 lead.
low 50%, with Trinity taking a 34-tight, as both teams shot well be-tams hit double figures in the 22-out to be a laugher, as five Ban-turned in a strong effort with a dozen points and as many rebounds. The championship game turned to be a laugher, as five Bant-
tams hit double figures in the 22-
point victory. The first half was tight, as both teams shot well be-below 50%, with Trinity taking a 34-31 lead.
The Bantams started the second half with a 12-4 run, and they never looked back. “We had too many turnovers in the first half,” said Donovan. “In the second half we ran a more controlled break, got the short jumpers.”

Kurtz turned the way with 16 each, Fitzgerald had 15, and Donovan 12. Freshmen Wayne Tolson and Grant Washburn also looked impressive in their relief roles. But the star for the Bantams was Stubbs, who really emerged as a force inside in this game. His 18 rebounds set a tournament record, and he also chipped in 14 points.
His efforts earned him a spot on the all-tournament team, along with Fitzgerald.
“I’m elated with these guys,” said an elated Ogrodnik after the game. “You can see the improvement each game, and they’re just learning to play together. These two wins are as satisfying as any I’ve had (back to back) here. This is how they feel they should play every game.”

Hoopsters On A Streak

The senior point guard has returned to Trinity Basketball in top form this week after studying in England last semester. His leadership and steady play were key in the team’s 4-0 week. In the first two games, against UMass/Boston and E. Nazarene, he averaged 11 points and 7 assists. He then exploded for 21 points against Wesleyan, carrying the team to their opening victory in the Liberty Bank Classic Tournament. His 12 points and consistency on Saturday led Trinity to the championship and earned him the Tournament M.V.P. Award.

Get Your Ears On!
Hockey at UConn
On WRTC, 89.3 FM
Saturday, Jan. 24, 7PM

Chet’s Swimmers Back

McPhie feels that Loughlin was swimming a record breaking pace, but slowed down because he had bumped the Union swimmer several times. Loughlin also won the 100 yard breaststroke with a time of 1:05.9, just short of the pool record. Five performances were also turned in by sophomore Peter Ge-trando who took first place in the 100 yard backstroke with an impressive time of 57.48, and junior Ian Feinhandler who placed sec-cod in the 100 yard freestyle with time of 53.78. Junior Christopher Robbins, just returning from a re-semester abroad, won the 200 yard individual medley with a solid time of 2:18.36. The men are now 3-0 for the season, with previous wins over Southeastern Massachusetts and Holy Cross.

The Men’s Swimming team has jumped out to a strong 3-0 start this season.

The College View Cafe Sports Scoreboard

THIS WEEK:
TODAY:
Men’s Basketball vs. Wesleyan, 6
Men’s Hockey at Western New England, 6

WEDNESDAY:
Women’s Swimming at Wesleyan, 4
Fencing vs. Fairfield, 7
Wrestling at M.I.T., 7
Men’s Swimming at Wesleyan, 7
Women’s Basketball vs. Clark, 7
Men’s Squash vs. Yale, 7:30

THURSDAY:
Indoor Track (Men) at Coast Guard, 3:30

FRIDAY:
Men’s Squash vs. Dartmouth, 4

SATURDAY:
Men’s Swimming vs. Brandeis, 12
Fencing at S.M.U., 4
Women’s Squash at Tufts, 2
Women’s Basketball at Wesleyan, 2
Indoor Track (Women) at Tufts
Men’s Basketball vs. Tufts, 6
Men’s Hockey at UConn, 7

RESULTS:

Ice Hockey 11
Ice Hockey 12
Ice Hockey 7
Ice Hockey 8
Men’s Squash lost to UPenn
Men’s Swimming defeated Union
Women’s Swimming 85
Women’s Basketball 55
Men’s Basketball 100
Men’s Basketball 72
Men’s Basketball 59
Men’s Basketball 87
The Liberty Bank Classic Championship
Women’s Squash 9
Upenn 0
Wrestling lost to Amherst and UMass/Boston

Ice Hockey vs. UConn, 73

The College View Athlete of the Week is Mike Donovan.

TONIGHT IS $3 PITCHER NIGHT AT THE VIEW Hockey Keeps Winning

by Susan Dougherty

Trinity hockey has been flying high over the ECAC rivals. They are currently enjoying an 11-game winning streak starting from game one. In their last five games the Bantams haven’t lost any games, either close or blow out. Sophomore Trip Manley scored his first goal and of the season against the Gaels, which should give them some sense of satisfaction, even though they lost the game 7-4. Last Saturday’s 5-1 victory over the Ambler North’s Jeff’s marked the Bantams’ first game against Holyoke/Oxford last week and this year was to be no different. Trinity has been very strong, with less than three minutes remaining. There was a moment of concern with Moorhouse’s absence was the Lumberjacks’ last game before Christmas. Trinity beat Fairfield 4-2. The score flattered Fairfield. In their last game before Christmas, Trinity beat Fairfield 11-2. The score flattered Fairfield. The game was played at Wesleyan University and the Kingswood-Oxford Ice Rink had not yet been repaired. “This intra-squad game got better as the night went on,” commented Junior Kevin Robinson adding to Trinity’s lack of an on-campus rival. Kingswood-Oxford Ice Rink had a frozen look from door to water coolers for as long as they could remember. Early January, Trinity celebrated the return of their “Pepperpot” by shutting out SU1 5-0. “They were about as good as Fairfield, but they’re not as good as our penalty box.” said Coach John Moran. Junior Matt Keator scored two goals and added two assists to pace the Bantam attack.

Swimmers Return To Native Waters

by Christine Sandlin

The Trinity swim team once again took to the water last week to begin anew their competitive season. The men and women’s teams have been in the water since early January for double sessions; seven days of intense double practices and a third day of six hundred one hundred and sixty hours — a single 10,000 yard practice. The teams worked hard and their efforts paid off in two recent meets.

The women’s swim team began their second semester season with a close meet against Mt. Holyoke. In the past, the women from Mt. Holyoke have been very strong, and this year was to be no different, having just returned from double sessions of their own in Puerto Rico. Coach Chet McPherson was pleased with the meet, considering his team was coming off double sessions as well as missing three important swimmers. The Chicks were able to win both the medley and the freestyle relays, which in this meet meant scoring seven points for each event and awarding no points. Mt. Holyoke had a strong finish to the Trinity’s diving duo of Liz Stohlmeier and Jen Durie provided momentum for the team with Duster just missing second place in the optical, diving event by five points. Sophomore Lynne Pomerleau also swam well, winning a nail bitter of a 200 yard breaststroke event. Pom-