The report, dated October 16, ranks Trinity 28th on a list by comparing the academic reputation, student selectivity, retention patterns, faculty quality, and financial resources of the schools. Each of these rankings were determined by two or more subdivisions.

For example, students selectivity was based on rejection rates of the schools’ admissions standards. Financial resources are measured by the per-student endowment. Academic reputation was based on a survey of college deans and Presidents.

Dedication Honors Koeppel Brothers

-By Mark Russell

The Vernon Street Social Center was renamed the Koeppel Student Center on October 14 following a brief ceremony in honor of Bevin Koeppel ’47 and Alfred Koeppel ’54.

"Trinity has been an important part of my family’s life," said Alfred Koeppel in remarks to the gathering of Trustees, administrators, and student leaders. "We are so honored [by this dedication] from the school that has meant so much to us."

Koeppel addressed the luncheon following brief remarks from President Tom Gerety and Chairman of the Trustees Ned Montgomery. Former President Jim Ething also spoke, saying the Student Center was “a wonderful addition and a necessary addition to this [the north] side of campus.”

Following the remarks, an unveiling of the cornerstone of the building took place. The cornerstone bearing the Koeppel name was given to the Koeppel family.

The honorees of the afternoon took the honor as another step in the continuing relationship of his family with Trinity. In his remarks, Alfred Koeppel indicated that nine members of his family have attended Trinity since Bevin first enrolled.

"Though we didn’t have any expectation to increase this year, concerts, conferences, and receptions are all on the agenda in the Center this fall," said Sakina Natar ’92. Natar was what touched and inspired her. “I wish everyone at the rally could take a constructive step that students, housing advocates from California, labor leaders from Florida, peace groups, and the homeless themselves made on the HUD cutbacks and the scandal. "They cut the HUD budget 75 percent and then they stole the other 25 percent."

"The diversity of the crowd was what touched and inspired me," said Feather Niner ’92. Niner and seven other Trinity students were also in DC that weekend for the National Student Leadership Conference at American University. They had the backing of the National Student Campaign Against Hunger and Homelessness (NSCAH).

"The rally helped energize the homeless to take in the next step that students can take to help end hunger and homelessness in their home towns. I wish everyone at the rally could take a constructive step that students, housing advocates from California, labor leaders from Florida, peace groups, and the homeless themselves made on the HUD cutbacks and the scandal. "They cut the HUD budget 75 percent and then they stole the other 25 percent."

"The diversity of the crowd was what touched and inspired me," said Feather Niner ’92. Niner and seven other Trinity students were also in DC that weekend for the National Student Leadership Conference at American University. They had the backing of the National Student Campaign Against Hunger and Homelessness (NSCAH).

"The rally helped energize the homeless to take in the next step that students can take to help end hunger and homelessness in their home towns. I wish everyone at the rally could take a constructive step that students, housing advocates from..."
Administration Must Abandon

To the Editor,

Recently I attended Dean Wieser's discussion on the "Future of Fraternities." As with previous meetings, I left feeling that nothing was accomplished except for everyone having an opportunity to name call and air grievances. The only thing I can honestly say I got out of the meeting was a further loss of respect for the faculty and administration of this school. I was told that faculty on campus as of 1983 are for the abolishment of fraternities by a ratio of 2 to 1 and that many faculty are unwilling to change their minds about the issue. Why? Because the only reason they have of us stems from a single incident by a single fraternity over six years ago. Another reason was that interest in student affairs is low on the list of faculty priorities. I was always under the impression that the faculty are here because they enjoy teaching and interacting with students. They are supposed to be open to new thought and ideas. However, not all new things can be learned from a book. Fraternities are not something from a 1970's movie and they are not characterized by a single incident in 1983.

President Gerety stated that Trinity College will not tolerate any form of prejudice. Well, I would like to remind the administration, faculty, and students that prejudice is not exclusive to blacks, homosexuals, or any other group. You can call yourself a professor, a dean, or anything else you prefer, but if you hold an unbiased bias against fraternities, call you a bigot. Have or at least had a lot of respect for the faculty and administration of this school, but after three years and still getting doors shut in our face that respect is waning. We are making an effort to improve something that obviously means a lot to us, all we want are some open minds.

Sincerely,
John Francini '91
Paul Fitzpatrick '91

Anti-Fraternity Bias

Bush's War on Drugs is a Farce

To the Editor:

President Bush's "War on Drugs" is a farce. We need to cut the demand, not the supply. The more we try and control the flow of drugs, the more we'll realize we cannot. If we stop one type of drug then another will appear. The more enforcement, the higher the price of drugs. The higher the price, the higher the price of drugs, the higher the price for drugs, the higher price for drugs. The higher the price for drugs, the more weapons and equipment drug lords can use to protect the manufacture and distribution of drugs. The only logistical way to stop the use of drugs through supply would be to have Big-Brother type abuses of civil rights, something we are dangerously close to. By the way, who really believes that the DEA confiscated 20 tons of cocaine in LA several weeks ago. If I had $3 billion of drugs sitting around I would have brought 500 tanks to guard it. It was un-guarded! It sounds to me like the DEA "manufactured" a victory to bolster confidence in a failed policy.

We must attack the demand for drugs. The only way to do this is through education, increasing the opportunities available to potential pushers and users. If one has a future, why risk it? When one has no future, no opportunities for advancement, why not make $100,000 a year doing something illegal. It's just ludicrous to attack the drug problem in a military way. It is a social problem that needs to be treated as such.

Sincerely,
Derek Beach '93

Office with a View

The Peace Corps is an exhilarating two year experience that will last a lifetime.

Wed., Nov. 1, 1989

Information Table in the Mather Campus Center

10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.

Information Session and Film Showing
Rittenberg Lounge - Mather Campus Center
7:00 p.m.

On-campus Interviews held Tuesday, November 14
Trinity Names Three Holland Scholars

Hartford, CT.—When senior D. Evan Van Hook graduated from high school in 1977, he opted for a career as a ballet dancer rather than one as a college student.

Ten years later van Hook returned to academics as a student in Trinity’s Individualized Degree Program (IDP), and his comeback has been a great success. Van Hook is now the top-ranking student in the senior class, and, as such, is the first IDP student in Trinity’s History to be named a Holland Scholar.

The Holland Scholarships are full tuition awards made to the top-ranking student in each of the senior, junior, and sophomore classes. In addition to van Hook, the Holland Scholars for 1989-90 are junior Adil M. Sanaulla and sophomore Noah J. Eccles.

The Holland Scholarships, which were established in 1891, are funded from a bequest by Mrs. Francis J. Holland, daughter of a senior class, and, as such, is the first IDP student in Trinity’s History to be named a Holland Scholar.

The Holland Scholarships are full tuition awards made to the top-ranking student in each of the senior, junior, and sophomore classes. In addition to van Hook, the Holland Scholars for 1989-90 are junior Adil M. Sanaulla and sophomore Noah J. Eccles.

The Holland Scholarship, which was established in 1891, is funded from a bequest by Mrs. Francis J. Holland, daughter of Bishop Thomas Brownwell, the founder of Trinity.

Now a resident of West Hartford, van Hook grew up in Pennsylvania and by the age of 16 was dancing professionally. Recognizing that a male ballet dancer’s career was unlikely to be long, he decided to continue pursuing a college degree. He joined the American Ballet Theatre I in New York City for two years and Les Grands Ballets Canadien in Montreal for seven.

Van Hook was studying ballet in New York when he met the artistic director of the Hartford Ballet, who told van Hook that a benefit of dancing with the Hartford company is the opportunity to take courses at the Hartford Conservatory for Higher Education. Van Hook joined the Hartford Ballet and began taking courses at Trinity in fall 1987. Eight months later, he decided to give up dancing and become a student full-time.

In addition to his studies as a political science major, van Hook is now a teaching assistant for three courses. He served on a search committee for a political science faculty last year and was Trinity’s delegate to the Naval Academy Foreign Affairs Conference.

Homeless March

Continued from Page 1

Homeless March

Continued from Page 1

The conference was attended by over 500 students and states including students from UConn, Fairfield University, U of Hartford, and Yale. "Students in Connecticut have the desire, the motivation, and the research capacity to do the tasks of community organizing and a lot of students have worked with the homeless to fight the problems of hunger and homelessness together. Let’s keep the momentum going!" said one participant.

Trinity CorpURG’s Campaign Against Hunger and Homelessness is currently planning a hunger and homelessness week for November 13 to 19 which will focus on educating and motivating community residents to take action against these problems.

Magazine Poll

Continued from Page 1

Magazine Poll

Continued from Page 1

The correct statistics. U.S. News and World Report, so far, has justly printed an edited version of the college’s letter.

Bowdoin’s letter will be a letter from the President and if necessary, a law suit.

Hartford Police determined Nails’ blood alcohol level at 2.0. What seems Frank Valente, Sr., the most that is Nails’, whose car is registered under the “Temple of Prayer and Worship of the Holy God of God,” is uninsured for collision, leaving Valente’s son responsible for the $3,000-3,500 damage to his own late-model Ford Ranger.

Do you know how many cars there are out there without any insurance? There are people who figure it’s too bad to just crash their junk cars and buy another one. So the ones who pay for insurance are also the ones who pay for insurance.

NAACP Forum

Continued from Page 1

NAACP Forum

Continued from Page 1

The conference was attended by over 500 students and states including students from UConn, Fairfield University, U of Hartford, and Yale. "Students in Connecticut have the desire, the motivation, and the research capacity to do the tasks of community organizing and a lot of students have worked with the homeless to fight the problems of hunger and homelessness together. Let’s keep the momentum going!" said one participant.

Trinity CorpURG’s Campaign Against Hunger and Homelessness is currently planning a hunger and homelessness week for November 13 to 19 which will focus on educating and motivating community residents to take action against these problems.

Magazine Poll

Continued from Page 1

Magazine Poll

Continued from Page 1

The correct statistics. U.S. News and World Report, so far, has justly printed an edited version of the college’s letter.

Bowdoin’s letter will be a letter from the President and if necessary, a law suit.

Hartford Police determined Nails’ blood alcohol level at 2.0. What seems Frank Valente, Sr., the most that is Nails’, whose car is registered under the “Temple of Prayer and Worship of the Holy God of God,” is uninsured for collision, leaving Valente’s son responsible for the $3,000-3,500 damage to his own late-model Ford Ranger.

Do you know how many cars there are out there without any insurance? There are people who figure it’s too bad to just crash their junk cars and buy another one. So the ones who pay for insurance are also the ones who pay for insurance.

NAACP Forum

Continued from Page 1

NAACP Forum

Continued from Page 1

The conference was attended by over 500 students and states including students from UConn, Fairfield University, U of Hartford, and Yale. "Students in Connecticut have the desire, the motivation, and the research capacity to do the tasks of community organizing and a lot of students have worked with the homeless to fight the problems of hunger and homelessness together. Let’s keep the momentum going!" said one participant.

Trinity CorpURG’s Campaign Against Hunger and Homelessness is currently planning a hunger and homelessness week for November 13 to 19 which will focus on educating and motivating community residents to take action against these problems.

Magazine Poll

Continued from Page 1

Magazine Poll

Continued from Page 1

The correct statistics. U.S. News and World Report, so far, has justly printed an edited version of the college’s letter.

Bowdoin’s letter will be a letter from the President and if necessary, a law suit.

Hartford Police determined Nails’ blood alcohol level at 2.0. What seems Frank Valente, Sr., the most that is Nails’, whose car is registered under the “Temple of Prayer and Worship of the Holy God of God,” is uninsured for collision, leaving Valente’s son responsible for the $3,000-3,500 damage to his own late-model Ford Ranger.

Do you know how many cars there are out there without any insurance? There are people who figure it’s too bad to just crash their junk cars and buy another one. So the ones who pay for insurance are also the ones who pay for insurance.
Television has become the most powerful medium for the exchange of ideas in the world today. People rely on T.V. for entertainment, and more importantly, information. Because the news media and television is such a large business, the news has become prioritized by how well it will sell. Priorities such as these are dangerous to all of society, particularly when these priorities affect how people make decisions.

There can be no doubt as to the power of television. More people watch television than read newspapers, and most people would rather watch a world television than read a book or a newspaper. Perhaps this is a reflection of the society in which we live, where the passive is preferred over the active. However, this fact has more important implications when it comes to the question of television’s power to shape people’s opinions. Evidence of this is no clearer than in the case of political campaigns. Soundbites and advertisements, rarely longer than thirty seconds, have more influence than a candidate’s history than specifics on a given issue. In last year’s presidential campaign, the Bush campaign used the Willie Horton case to label Dukakis as “soft on crime.” This ability of television to frame people’s ideas is also the case with the news as well. If a person was to watch the news in any given week over the past couple of months, he or she could be led to believe that Panama, Columbia, and the Middle East were the only places of importance in the world. This is obviously an exaggeration, but it is a reflection of the power of the media. Indeed, the fact remains that there is a small number of countries and topics with which the media is concerned.

Although this may be a reflection of these areas’ importance to the government, there is much more going on in the world than is often emphasized by the media. Part of the problem is the limited time allotted for the news on television. The network news, in a half-hour broadcast has twenty-two and a half minutes for actual news items. Twenty two minutes is an extremely short amount of time to highlight any day’s events.

The rest of the time in a news broadcast is advertisements, which creates another problem. The news is a business. Clearly, there is a problem when the readers of the news are chosen by their voice and looks, and viewer ratings play such an important role in the determining of advertising rates.

Different stories become fees or more important, while issues become more simplified. Instead of giving an understanding of events in the world, network news often only gives a brief synopsis of events, enough to hold a viewer’s attention, and keep them from changing the channel, before moving on to another story. Twenty two minutes is not enough time to tell the events of a day, and as long as advertising pays for the news, impartial, in-depth news reports will not be possible.

The print media is not immune to these elements. The goal of newspapers and magazines is to be sold. If a magazine or newspaper doesn’t sell, it will be changed or taken out of circulation. Thus, if the news doesn’t sell, it is substituted by what will. The problem with this cycle, is that by the time the news is sold, either on television, or in print it often becomes intertwined with opinion or sensationalism.

When an account of what actually happened is altered by outside forces such as these, and determining what will sell out- weighs determining what is accurate or in correct perspective, the news is no longer news. When the power of the media is combined with what is often insecure or unfocused sources of news, and people begin to believe in the news as truth, there can be dangerous consequences. People can lose hope, policy can be misunderstood, or perceptions can be put in the place of fact when this occurs.

The news media, and more specifically, television, has taken the responsibility to report the world’s events. It is important that the bottom line not be put in front of the truth. This may sound like a lofty ideal, but without proper presentation of all the facts, people will endanger themselves and those around them by making decisions based on inaccurate information.

ConnPIRG Reports Violations of Clean Water Act by Industry

-By Sean Murphy-

ConnPIRG

The overwhelming majority (84%) of companies regulated under the Clean Water Act were guilty of violations of the law during 1988, according to a study released on October 23 at the state Capitol by Connecticut Public Interest Research Group (ConnPIRG). In 1972, Congress passed the Clean Water Act in order to "restore and maintain the chemical, physical, and biological integrity of the nation’s waters." The goal of the act was to achieve zero pollutant discharges by 1983, with the insinuated goal of assuring that all waters would be fishable and swimmable.

According to ConnPIRG, national toxicologist Marc Osten, "Long Island Sound is a real problem. The lack of compliance demonstrated here is as severe as in any other region of the country. Connecticut must take the lead in enforcement and protect this vital estuary.

While these permits include discharges into Connecticut’s rivers and streams as well as Long Island Sound, many of the toxic contaminants found in the Sound are among those dumped by the state’s industries. When one specifically focuses on metals, then industrial processes become the most significant contributor of pollution.

ConnPIRG advocates can help:

- Discover a challenging opportunity to understand the past, the present, and the future of the world’s oceans,
- MARINE ECOLOGY
- MARINE HISTORY
- LITERATURE OF THE SEA
- MARINE POLICY
- RESEARCH AT SEA
- OCEANOGRAPHY

MARITIME STUDIES PROGRAM
of WILLIAMS COLLEGE at MYSTIC SEAPORT MUSEUM
Mystic Seaport Museum, Mystic, CT 06355 203-529-2335

 SLIDE SHOW **
WEAN LOUNGE - CAMPUS CENTER
THURSDAY, 26 OCTOBER, 7:00 PM
Or see Robbie Winslow - Educational Services
Trixy students receive full academic credit for the program.

- By Ted Elhoro - World & Nation Writer

Television has become the most powerful medium for the exchange of ideas in the world today. People rely on T.V. for entertainment, and more importantly, information. Because the news media and television is such a large business, the news has become prioritized by how well it will sell. Priorities such as these are dangerous to all of society, particularly when these priorities affect how people make decisions.

There can be no doubt as to the power of television. More people watch television than read newspapers, and most people would rather watch a world television than read a book or a newspaper. Perhaps this is a reflection of the society in which we live, where the passive is preferred over the active. However, this fact has more important implications when it comes to the question of television’s power to shape people’s opinions. Evidence of this is no clearer than in the case of political campaigns. Soundbites and advertisements, rarely longer than thirty seconds, have more influence than a candidate’s history than specifics on a given issue. In last year’s presidential campaign, the Bush campaign used the Willie Horton case to label Dukakis as "soft on crime." This ability of television to frame people’s ideas is also the case with the news as well. If a person was to watch the news in any given week over the past couple of months, he or she could be led to believe that Panama, Columbia, and the Middle East were the only places of importance in the world. This is obviously an exaggeration, but it is a reflection of the power of the media. Indeed, the fact remains that there is a small number of countries and topics with which the media is concerned.

Although this may be a reflection of these areas’ importance to the government, there is much more going on in the world than is often emphasized by the media. Part of the problem is the limited time allotted for the news on television. The network news, in a half-hour broadcast has twenty-two and a half minutes for actual news items. Twenty two minutes is an extremely short amount of time to highlight any day’s events.

The rest of the time in a news broadcast is advertisements, which creates another problem. The news is a business. Clearly, there is a problem when the readers of the news are chosen by their voice and looks, and viewer ratings play such an important role in the determining of advertising rates.

Different stories become fees or more important, while issues become more simplified. Instead of giving an understanding of events in the world, network news often only gives a brief synopsis of events, enough to hold a viewer’s attention, and keep them from changing the channel, before moving on to another story. Twenty two minutes is not enough time to tell the events of a day, and as long as advertising pays for the news, impartial, in-depth news reports will not be possible.

The print media is not immune to these elements. The goal of newspapers and magazines is to be sold. If a magazine or newspaper doesn’t sell, it will be changed or taken out of circulation. Thus, if the news doesn’t sell, it is substituted by what will. The problem with this cycle, is that by the time the news is sold, either on television, or in print it often becomes intertwined with opinion or sensationalism.

When an account of what actually happened is altered by outside forces such as these, and determining what will sell out-weighs determining what is accurate or in correct perspective, the news is no longer news. When the power of the media is combined with what is often insecure or unfocused sources of news, and people begin to believe in the news as truth, there can be dangerous consequences. People can lose hope, policy can be misunderstood, or perceptions can be put in the place of fact when this occurs.

The news media, and more specifically, television, has taken the responsibility to report the world’s events. It is important that the bottom line not be put in front of the truth. This may sound like a lofty ideal, but without proper presentation of all the facts, people will endanger themselves and those around them by making decisions based on inaccurate information.
Hong Kong’s Economic Future

Does 1997 Bode Well for Capitalism in the Colony?

By Dede Nickerson
Special to the Tripod

In 1997 the world will wit-ness the union of China and Hong Kong, a bastion of capitalism and one of the largest, most regulated societies in the world — and Hong Kong’s economic future will depend on how well the colony will adapt to its new political status. The colony of Hong Kong is contiguous to the mainland of China, which has made a fairly strong statement that a radical change is not planned when the colony is handed back to China. Since the collapse of public confidence in the Johnson government to constrain its residency rights in the United Kingdom, the colony has changed to one of dissent. For Hong Kong, a bastion of capitalism and the largest, most regulated social structure, the right to emigrate would resist efforts to import democratic political institutions. The only guarantee Hong Kong has in terms of civil rights comes from the senior Chinese leader Deng Xiaoping, who has promised to preserve Hong Kong’s existing liberties and its capitalist economic system for 50 years following 1997. This guarantee on Deng’s part is government is referred to as the “one country, two systems” policy. Since the suppression of the democracy movement in Beijing in June of this year, faith in this guarantee has been seriously undermined. Hong Kong’s tide of support for the student demonstrator has caused Chinese officials to adopt a sterner attitude toward Hong Kong. Despite this, the new Communist Party government, which earlier this year appointed a Hong Kong delegation that visited Beijing in July that China would not attempt to promote socialism in Hong Kong, but would resist efforts to import capitalism, including the “market” words do not do a great deal to quell the anxieties of the residents of Hong Kong.

China has made a fairly strong effort in the investment arena to attempt to reassure the residents that radical change is not planned for Hong Kong in ’97. China has expanded its business holdings in real estate and corporations to 50% of the new Communist Party government’s business.

The collapse of public confidence in the United Kingdom, the colony has changed to one of dissent. For Hong Kong, a bastion of capitalism and one of the largest, most regulated societies, the economic future of Hong Kong will depend on how well the colony will adapt to its new political status.
Announcements

EXHIBITIONS

Through Wednesday, Jan. 31 - "Peaches and Splendid Baskets of New Zealand." Audubon Room, Watkinson Library, "A Floor, Trinity College Library. Monday through Friday 4:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. when the College is in session. Free admission.

Through Wednesday, Jan. 31 - "Maps and Images of New Zealand." Watkinson Library, "A Floor, Trinity College Library. Monday through Friday 4:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. when the College is in session. Free admission.

LECTURES

Thursday, Oct. 24 - "The Classical Myths of Greece," by Trinity College Professor of Classics Anthony D. Mauro. 12 noon. J.L. Goodwin Theatre, Austin Arts Center. First in the annual Town/Gown Forum lecture series titled "Mythology/Lived Narratives." Registration for the series of four lectures is $35 which includes lunch. Individual tickets will be available at the door for $10. For more information, call (203) 297-2092.

SYMPOSIUMS

READINGS

Tuesday, Nov. 7 - Readings by Leslie Marmon Silko, a Native American poet, novelist and writer of short fiction, and Gloria E. Anzaldúa, a Chicana lesbian-feminist poet and fiction writer. The lecture is free and the public is welcome. Details to come.

MUSIC

Friday, Oct. 27 and Saturday, Oct. 28 - The Hartford Symphony Orchestra with Tibet Puja Tenzin Nima, associate conductor, and Trinity College Organist John Rose. Works by Haydn, Schubert and Pinkham. Chapel. 8 p.m. For ticket information, call the Symphony at (203) 687-4814.

GENERAL

Self-defense course offered for Women. The Trinity Women's Center is sponsoring the self-defense course, taught by Anne Marie Montemurro, 27, 2nd degree blackbelt in taekwondo. The first class will be held on Thursday, October 26, at Ferry Athletic Center wrestling room, and every following Thursday until Dec. 7, from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Initial cost of the class is $20, $15 is refunded upon completion of the course. Call Pat Reville for information and with any questions at 297-3408.

Registration for 2nd quarter physical education classes will be held on the last three days of 1st quarter, Oct. 11th, 12th, 13th, in Robin Sheppard's office in Ferry 202. You may also register during Open Phys Ed in Ferry 100 the first week of 2nd quarter, Oct. 23rd - Oct. 27th, you may still add/drop 2nd quarter classes with the permission of that course instructor. Most classes have a class limit...So don't wait until the last moment!!!
Psi-Upsilon Presents:
The Homecoming Can-Can

Bring 2 cans of non-perishable food items to the Trinity - Wesleyan football game on NOVEMBER 11, 1989 and receive ....

$1.00 off general admission

All donations benefit FOODSHARE and go to feed the area's hungry, homeless and working poor.

Food will be collected at every entrance of the game. The game begins at 1:00 p.m. and will be played at Dan Jesse Field on the campus of Trinity College, Hartford.

For those interested in donating, but cannot attend the game, cans will be collected at the Psi-Upsilon house at 81 Vernon Street, Hartford.

Special Thanks to the Trinity College Athletic Department

The Homecoming Can-Can is part of the Governor's Care and Share.
Here's another: Why does New England Telephone or New York Telephone advertise?

It's not like you have a choice as to which local phone company you'll use when you call the neighbors.

There's a vague notion that the long-distance companies battle it out on the airwaves. (People who switched to other services are coming back to AT&T. We knew you would!) Now we're going to charge you plenty to make you pay for leaving in the first place?)

But I'm stumped on this local-phone-ad business. They have our phones and nobody else can service them. As a matter of fact, they are so determined to block off all that show-offy ads on TV, they give us these terrifying 30-second soap operas.

OPEN WITH: Shot of nervous looking woman, 25ish. She is in her home, looking out the window. She looks at the phone, deciding whether or not to make a call. Finally, she picks up the receiver and dials, but does so only after staring at the phone for a few days, like days, giving it the expression one usually reserves for when you hear they've made another "Police Academy" sequel.

CUT TO: DAUGHTER (on the verge of tears) I'm sorry, Mom. I didn't mean to hurt you. Mom, I'm your daughter. Please forgive me.

MOTHER: (Pauses even longer, so they can stretch this into a 60-second ad.) This isn't my daughter, the one who would never understand the two of us. She has no heart. There's no possible way this could be horrible, selfish, greedy daughter, is it?

DAUGHTER: (Pauses for effect.) Mom, it's me.

MOTHER: (Whispers) How dare you! How could you? Don't you know what you've done to me and your father? Shut the phone up, Mom: We've got to talk. It's time we all started talking.

MOTHER: You should have thought about that before you did what you did. This is a sequel to the "One More Time" ad.

DAUGHTER: (On the verge of tears) I'm sorry, Mom. I didn't mean to hurt you. Mom, I'm your daughter. Please forgive me.

MOTHER: (Pauses even longer, so they can stretch this into a 60-second ad.) This isn't my daughter, the one who would never understand the two of us. She has no heart. There's no possible way this could be horrible, selfish, greedy daughter, is it?

DAUGHTER: (Pauses for effect.) Mom, it's me.

MOTHER: (Whispers) How dare you! How could you? Don't you know what you've done to me and your father? Shut the phone up, Mom: We've got to talk. It's time we all started talking.

MOTHER: You should have thought about that before you did what you did. This is a sequel to the "One More Time" ad.

I realize I'm giving technical here, young people, but just to say that it happens to be a technical universe, as was discovered by Albert Einstein, a brilliant genius who had his hair styled at Mister Bob's House of High Voltage. Einstein proved that although the universe appears very dark to the naked eye, it is actually filled with small molecules called "atoms," which can be used for peaceful purposes such as to form mailboxes. Also, if you shoot them from missiles, they can have a "chain reaction" and kill everybody in the world, which is why the greatest challenge you young people face is to use them wisely. Mailboxes are fine.

OK, young people, I have given you an ad technical here, but I want to speak to you work toward achieving our ambitious goal of becoming, as an nation, less stupid. I wish you luck, and I look forward to the day when again America is a scientific power to be reckoned with all over the Earth Right up to the edge.

Proceed with permission of Tribune Media Services, Copyright 1989.

---

Dave Barry

Science & Technology Made E-Z

I, for one, am getting fed up with the way American educators are selling high-tech gadgets to the public in the form of "curricula" from other nations such as Asia in the fields of math and science. I was reminded of this problem just the other morning while listening to the radio, which works by means of long invisible pieces of electricity (called "static") shooting through the air until they strike your speaker and turn into individual units of sound ("notes") small enough to fit into your ear.

The newspaper announced that yet another group of Pathetic educators has released yet another shocking study, this one showing that in standardized science tests, 79 percent—nearly half—of American high-school seniors received lower scores than those obtained by Asian high-school cafeteria food.

I was reminded of this problem just the other morning while listening to the radio, which works by means of long invisible pieces of electricity (called "static") shooting through the air until they strike your speaker and turn into individual units of sound ("notes") small enough to fit into your ear.

The newspaper announced that yet another group of Pathetic educators has released yet another shocking study, this one showing that in standardized science tests, 79 percent—nearly half—of American high-school seniors received lower scores than those obtained by Asian high-school cafeteria food.

This has to stop. America has already become far too reliant on the "know-how" of foreign nations that manufacture virtually all of our electronic devices and are trying to destroy our economy by constantly changing the format of our recorded music. It used to be that the only format you needed was the 45 rpm record. Remember! That was a great format. You could stack your 45s into a pile, you could wash them in household detergent, and you could skim them across a gymnasium floor without harming their quality and sound. And America was strong.

But just about the time when foreign nations started to infiltrate the electronics market, we started to see a new format, 33 1/3 rpm, which not only involved a fraction, but also had a tiny horse that was much harder to fit onto the record-player spindle on those occasions when you had—admit it—been drinking bourbon directly from the bottle. Nevertheless, we trooped out to buy THOTOL and then we bought cassettes, and now, having been forced to buy essential songs such as "Land of 1,000 Dances" by Carni-

Gonzales and the eyesores of four different artists, we are once again forming a large consumer herd to rebuild our entire music collections, this time using the "compact disc," an allegedly wondrous new format which, if you examine it closely, looks exactly like a 45 rpm record. (I've actually been trying to tell you for weeks that the people who are laughing their heads off over in Asia! You know when you buy an appliance such as a VCR, the instructions are printed in six languages, but it just so happens that we live in a highly technical universe, as was discovered by Albert Einstein, a brilliant genius who had his hair styled at Mister Bob's House of High Voltage. Einstein proved that although the universe appears very dark to the naked eye, it is actually filled with small molecules called "atoms," which can be used for peaceful purposes such as to form mailboxes. Also, if you shoot them from missiles, they can have a "chain reaction" and kill everybody in the world, which is why the greatest challenge you young people face is to use them wisely. Mailboxes are fine.

OK, young people, I have given you an ad technical here, but I want to speak to you work toward achieving our ambitious goal of becoming, as an nation, less stupid. I wish you luck, and I look forward to the day when again America is a scientific power to be reckoned with all over the Earth Right up to the edge.

Proceed with permission of Tribune Media Services, Copyright 1989.
Extensive Bar/Deli Menu All Night Everynight

EXTRA!! EXTRA!!
Read all about it!

Mondays
50¢ Miller
All Request DJ. Andy Katz
Pitchers for 2

$3.00 Cover 9-12:30

Wednesday
Well Drinks $1.50
All Domestic Bottled Beer $1

Tuesdays
$2.50 Miller
Pitchers for 2 - All Night

Happy Hour
4-7
50¢ OFF YOUR FAVORITE WELLS, HOUSE WINES, DOMESTIC BEERS
EVERYDAY!

Fridays Party! Party! Party!

& Saturdays $3 Pitchers All Night
Fri & Sat night all request DJ's
Bring your tapes and CD's and we'll play them for you

Only 5 minute walk from North Campus on the corner of Zion & Summit 547-1921

The Summit Hill Cafe

Photo ID Always Required
Sports

PREFACE

"Wouldn't it be great if you were the photographer for the swimsuit issue? If you could choose all of the models, poses, and suits? Wouldn't it be great if the models brought beer to absorb the pond of blood, which necessitated immediate medical treatment? They received none. Pelted with the frontal attack of their co-captain Ann Nicholson '91, to a back injury in late September, J. Hylton Joliffe '93, and a guest appearance by "A" Dennis Cormier '92 provided stalwart defense and the German exchange student from Munich, Hans Gruba '93, the German net minder late in the exchange season, has a promising future. Many of the girls being inspired, "Gee guys, I tell ya', that's a lot of blood. I hope he's all right," noted "Glamor Boy" Stampien '93, and Adam Kerr '93, the Cardinal were no match for the pair of Hewitt and Nevares, who the superior team was this week. Nevares, Geelan and Laraway shut down their opponents and Heather Watkins '91 and Hubbard each barely lost in three sets.

The Men’s JV Soccer Team concluded their season last week in a 1-0 victory over the Cardinals from Wesleyan. Alex Golden '93, Rob Worcerter Poly.'93, Bowdoin. The team's final record of 7-4 mark in three sets.

With the financial support of Umbro and Adidas, the team took it 7-4 mark. With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

Last week the Lady Bants mauled Vassar 8-1, cruised past Wesleyan 6-3 and clinched a trip to the NCAA tournament at Mount Holyoke, shutting out the hosts 9-0. The Bants suffered the loss of their co-captain Ami Nicholas '91, to a back injury in late September. But the team has recovered from this crushing blow to storm into NESCAC's.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

The team takes it 7-4 mark 62-34 individual record to the NESCAC tournament this week.

Women’s Tennis Wins Three, Finishes 7-4

The Men’s JV Soccer Team concluded their season last week in a 1-0 victory over the Cardinals from Wesleyan. Alex Golden '93, the German exchange student from Munich, knocked the round-ball past the Wesleyan net minder late in the first half for the game's only score. The Lady Bants mauled Vassar 8-1, cruised past Wesleyan 6-3 and clinched a trip to the NCAA tournament at Mount Holyoke, shutting out the hosts 9-0. The Bants suffered the loss of their co-captain Ami Nicholas '91, to a back injury in late September.

The Bants suffered the loss of their co-captain Ami Nicholas '91, to a back injury in late September. But the team has recovered from this crushing blow to storm into NESCAC's.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

The team takes it 7-4 mark 62-34 individual record to the NESCAC tournament this week.

J Vand Roundup

The Men’s JV Soccer Team concluded their season last week in a 1-0 victory over the Cardinals from Wesleyan. Alex Golden ’93, the German exchange student from Munich, knocked the round-ball past the Wesleyan net minder late in the first half for the game's only score.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.

With an incredible display of domination, collegiate tennis. Wesleyan’s women won the final three matches of their season to bring their record to 7-4. The young team which had begun the season at 1-4, closed with six consecutive team wins.
The Trinity Tripod • October 24, 1989 • Page 11

The College View Cafe Scoreboard

POLLS

Div. III Football
1. Lowell (6-0)
2. Bridgewater State (6-0)
3. Worcester Tech (5-1)
4. Williams (4-0)
5. Plymouth State (4-2)
6. TRINITY (3-1)
7. Coast Guard (4-2)
8. Amherst (3-1)
9. Tufts (3-1)
10. Nichols (4-2)

Div. III Women's Soccer
1. Plymouth State (10-1)
2. Bowdoin (7-3)
3. Eastern Conn. (10-4-2)
4. Conn. College (6-1-2)
5. Mount Holyoke (12-1)
6. TRINITY (6-2)
7. North Adams State (11-1-1)
8. Salem State (6-5-2)
9. Westfield State (7-3)

Second Quarter Phys-Ed. Classes

Second quarter classes begin on October 23.

During this week, up to and including October 29th, you may register for Physical Education classes with the permission of the course instructor. After this Friday, no more courses may be added. Courses dropped are recorded and marked as "DR" on your transcript. Physical Education classes may be dropped up to the last day of classes in the Registrar's Office.

Football

Trinity 44, Bates 7

Trinity (4-1) 10 21 10 3 - 44
Bates (0-5) 7 0 0 0 - 7

Kevin RisCassi: 22 carries for 132 yards, 2 TD's
Terry McNamara: 6 catches for 87 yards, 1 TD
Todd Levine: 11 of 21 for 146 yards, 2 TD's, 9 rushes for 42 yards
Joe Brockmire: 5 rushes for 57 yards, 1 TD, 2 catches for 11 yards, 1 TD

Men's Soccer

Trinity 3, Conn 2

Trinity (5-1-2) 1 2 - 3
Conn Coll (5-5) 1 1 - 2

Goals: John Ramsey, Mike Murphy, Craig Hyland
Saves: Scott Zolowski, 8

Highlights

Praise is in order for the SMU defense which held Houston quarterback Andre Ware to 517 yards passing and six touchdowns in the first half. The Tripod salutes you!

New England Football Scores

Trinity 44
Amherst 27
Union 24
Yale 23
Maine 30
BU 34
UNH 21
Harvard 6
Brown 28

Bates 7
Wesleyan 7
Coast Guard 0
Columbia 0
Connecticut 8
Rhode Island 31
Richmond 7
Dartmouth 5
Cornell 7

The Tripod Top 14

1. Notre Dame
2. Miami
3. SMU
4. Colorado
5. Michigan
6. Nebraska
7. Alabama
8. Pitt
9. Illinois
10. Houston
11. Florida St.
12. West Virginia
13. Penn State
14. Florida

The View Specials

Come to The View for Dinner!
Pitchers of Busch are only $3 when you order a meal between 6 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Monday Night Football
Free pizza and $3 pitchers of Miller's Best from kickoff to ending

Sunday Night - Pitchers of Milwaukee's Best are onlty $3 between 9 p.m. and closing

$100 First Prize in View Halloween Party!
See Page 6 for more details

Athlete of the Week

This week's athlete of the week is kicker Tim Jensen who kicked three field goals including a 47 yarder in the team's 44-7 victory against Bates.

Tuesday is $3 Pitcher Night at The View
Football Hands Bates Tenth Loss in a Row

By John Cloud- Managing Editor

313 yards rushing. A 47 yard field goal. 26 points. 26 first downs. These were the kind of numbers Trinity put on the board as they welled Pates last Saturday at Jesse Field. Trinity has long been known as an elite team in NESCAC, and Bates has long been known as a doghouse, full of fleas. Last season, they traveled to Connecticut and came away with a 30-7 victory. Saturday afternoon, the Bantams had the last laugh.

Bates had a remarkable 286 yards rushing for the day, skirted Jensen originally hit a 42 yarder, but the kick was called back because of a penalty. Jensen then kicked a 47 yard field goal, the second longest in Trinity's history. Jensen originally hits a 42 yarder, but the kick was called back because of a penalty. Bates has now lost ten in a row, dating back to last season.

Field Hockey Defeated By Conn College, Smith

By Mark Gruba- Sports Writer

The Women's Field Hockey team lost games to Smith College and Connecticut College in recent weeks. Thursday before and the Saturday of open period dropping their record to 7-4-0 on the season.

Smith, ranked #10 in New England, took the play to the Lady Bants just a game where the Lady Bants just could not get on track. The game against Conn. College came two days later with similar results. In a 4-1 loss the Trinity goal. The second half started with Murphy leading by example and the Bantams putting more pressure on the Conn. goal. Trinity's hopes seemed to be squashed when a Conn. midfielder was taken down in the box for a penalty kick. Junior Scott Zoltowski made what was probably the biggest save of his career when he stopped #9 and gave the Bantams a much needed lift. Five minutes later, Murphy received the ball on the left side of the goal and shot the ball in the back of the net while falling in the mud. The Bantams took a 2-1 lead and never looked back. The Bantams later scored a third goal when senior Nick Ferronato took a long indirect kick and placed it in the Camel goal and made him look harmless. Ramyas's first varsity goal came a crucial time when the Bantams needed a definite lift.

Men's Soccer Defeats Conn College

First Victory Over Camels in Four Years Will Improve Ranking

The second half started with Jensen originally hit a 42 yarder, but the kick was called back because of a penalty. Jensen then kicked a 47 yard field goal, the second longest in Trinity's history. Jensen originally hits a 42 yarder, but the kick was called back because of a penalty. Bates has now lost ten in a row, dating back to last season.

Football Beats Hamilton 48-14, Bates 44-7

Men's Soccer Takes Two

Volleyball Defeats Wesleyan

Tennis Finishes Strong