Charge to the Class of 1949
By General Omar N. Bradley

To Trinity's Class of 1949, from all young Americans who make up your same generation, and with the benign approval of my own generation, I would like to give this charge.

"That some unfulfilled promises of man's destiny still remain, is challenging rather than disheartening. For so long as there is a need in this world, there shall be a source. And in America, your generation must be the wellspring of inspiration, ideas and leadership for a needful world.

"Your ready decision must be for action; your judgments must be on the side of the individual and against any foreign or domestic autocracy.

"In word and in deed, and in instant strength, and by experiment and by example, the Class of 1949 shall determine a new course for patriotism toward peace.

"Quitting this college, look back with appreciation of things already received, and—with the purposeful stand you have already taken—prove to us that you can assume the leadership necessary to guide the citizens of our proud country to even a greater destiny."
Graduates Hear Bradley, Mitchell

Shaded from the sweltering heat by the elms and Northam Towers, more than 2000 friends and alumni gathered to watch President Funston confer degrees on 187 seniors, 24 graduate students and eight honorarii at the College’s 123rd Commencement exercises.

The long procession was led by Marshal Robert P. Waterman, ’31, Assistant Marshal Robert M. Vogel, and Student Marshal, James R. Brainerd, ’50. The First Company Governor’s Foot Guard Band played as the degree candidates, faculty and trustees slowly filed down the main walk.

The invocation was given by the Rev. John E. Large, ’28, rector of St. Andrew’s Church, Wilmington, Delaware. Professor Allen presented President Funston with the “Book” touched by every graduating student since the College’s founding. The president then conferred the Baccalaureate degrees in course. There was a moment of sadness when Marshal Waterman called the name of Herman Holljes, president of the student body who died last November.

This year the Valedictorian, Irving H. Goldberg, wore a blue ribbon on his arm marking his rank, and the Salutatorian, Romeo R. Gaudreau, Jr., wore a gold ribbon. Goldberg graduated with Honors in General Scholarship and in Chemistry while Gaudreau received Honors in Classics and in Mathematics.

General Omar N. Bradley, Army Chief of Staff, before delivering the charge to the seniors, spoke for the Class in charging President Funston “to carry on the high quality of leadership demonstrated by you and by your faculty; and to continue the friendly spirit and counsel that has marked the association of Trinity’s faculty with its students.” The General then charged the men and women of his own generation “with the responsibility of maintaining opportunity, in the best American tradition, while younger men and women continue to learn, to develop, and to establish the permanent peace.”

Dr. John McK. Mitchell, ’18, Dean of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine and executive secretary of the American Board of Pediatrics, delivered the Commencement address. Declaring that compulsory health insurance is inevitable unless something is done to improve medical service, he suggested a substitute plan to provide hospitalization for the poor “by government aid through a voluntary national Blue Cross system.”

“The proposed compulsory law,” he said, “would attract a lower caliber of men and women to the medical profession and would serve as the opening wedge to government control of every activity and business to do with health.”

“In the present state of medical practice,” he continued, “the transition to the provisions of this law, would result in an administrative morass that would impede rather than help orderly progress toward the goal which we all desire—that medical service of high quality should be made readily available to all people.”

Dr. Mitchell urged private and government support of research; the extension of scholarship funds to students of real ability to enter the medical field; increased assistance to local public health units; extension of hospital and health center construction; and more adequate support for medical, dental and nursing education from both Federal and private sources.

The exercises concluded with the National Anthem and benediction by the Rt. Rev. Charles K. Gilbert, Bishop of New York.

Trustees Name Chapel for Donor

The Trinity College Chapel, one of the nation’s most beautiful English gothic structures, will be named for its donor, William Gwinn Mather of Cleveland, it was announced by President Funston at Commencement.

Mr. Mather, a graduate in 1877 and retired president and board chairman of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Company, gave more than a million dollars for the construction of the Chapel, completed in 1932.

He is now the oldest living alumnus of the College and senior member of the Board of Trustees.

President Funston said that the Trustees of the College were very pleased that it had at last been able to persuade Mr. Mather to allow the Chapel to be given officially the name by which it has been called unofficially ever since its construction.
New Reunion Schedule Is Success

Led by Lawson Purdy, ’84, who won the award as the oldest alumnus present, and Donald S. Corson, ’99, of Oakland, California, who received the prize for coming the farthest distance, several hundred Alumni visited the Hilltop for the 123rd Commencement Weekend, June 17-19.

Judge Alex W. Creedon, ’09, presided at the Alumni-Faculty dinner on Friday evening in Hamlin Dining Hall in place of John Reitemeyer, ’21, who was ill with virus pneumonia. Nearly 200 alumni heard talks by Professor Emeritus Perkins and Professor Dadourian who received testimonial scrolls from the Alumni Association in appreciation for their long and faithful teaching. Professors Barret, Humphrey and Swan had hoped to be present but unfortunately could not attend. Their scrolls were delivered later. Dr. Dadourian reminisced on his thirty years 'Neath the Elms and Professor Perkins spoke on "Reading—a Lost Art."

On Saturday morning Chaplain O'Grady conducted Holy Communion and a Memorial Service for Trinity men who died during the year. At the latter service a kneeler end, given by the undergraduates in memory of Student President Herman Holljes, who died last November, was unveiled by James F. Straley, ’49, and formally received by President Funston.

The Senior Class Day exercises were held in front of Northam Towers. Martin T. Rouse, president of the class and Class Day Chairman, awarded certificates to his classmates who had won their varsity letters. He received the George Sheldon McCook Trophy for distinction in athletics from Judge Philip J. McCook, ’95. “Bud” Overton read the Class History which showed that 49’s average age is over 24 years, that there are 132 veterans and 42 are married. Bob Boyle delivered the Class Prophecy as of 1974, and Tom Lowry read the Class Poem, “The Voice of Light.”

Judge Russell Z. Johnston, ’16, told the Seniors in his Class Day address that high taxes of today mean that few if any young men can hope to amass large fortunes. “It is obvious that the whole modern trend is towards a leveling off,” he said, “and you will have to be satisfied with a material success which is measured in terms other than wealth.”

Judge Creedon presided at the first Alumni Luncheon held in Memorial Field House with 320 alumni and their wives and friends attending. Henry S. Beers, ’18, reported on the Activities of the Alumni Association for the year and Bill Peele, ’44, reported for the Alumni Office. Lisleward B. Phister, ’18, retiring Alumni Trustee, announced that Ronald E. Kinney, ’15, of Philadelphia had been elected Alumni Trustee for a three year term and that Judge Alex W. Creedon, ’09, and Thomas Burgess, Jr., ’32, had been elected Senior Fellows for three year terms.

Sydney D. Pinney, ’18, announced that the 1934 Alumni Fund Trophy which Chuck Kingston gave in behalf of the class, would be presented next fall to the Class Agent chosen for outstanding effort in this year’s Alumni Fund campaign.

President Funston in his report of the State of the College read a resolution that the Trustees had passed upon Dr. Dadourian’s retirement after thirty years. He said that the College’s expected enrollment next fall will be 875 with 525 living on campus and in the fraternities. Expressing regret that the tuition will have to be increased from $500 to $600 effective next September, the President said that expenses for the academic year 1949-50 are expected to be $25,000 higher than this year. “The College might have been in serious difficulty,” he declared, “if it had not been for alumni contributions this year.”

In closing President Funston described at some length the anonymous gift for the library and the proposed merger of the College and the Watkinson Libraries.

The National Alumni officers were all reelected for a term of one year. They are John R. Reitemeyer, ’21, President; John S. McCook, ’35, Vice-President; Henry S. Beers, ’18, Treasurer; and Milton H. Richman, ’22, Secretary. Melville Shulthiess, ’18, Raymond A. Montgomery, ’25, and Paul Adams, ’35, were named to the Executive Committee for a term of two years. Alfred K. Birch, ’25, and David A. Tyler, Jr., ’43, were elected Junior Fellows and Nelson A. Shepard, ’21, was named to the Athletic Advisory Committee for a three year term. A nominating committee for next year was chosen with Harmon T. Barber, ’19, Chairman. Other members are Barclay Shaw, ’35; Robert A. Gilbert, ’38; William G. Oliver, ’10; and Robert P. Withington, ’13.

After the luncheon Nelson A. Shepard, ’21, parade marshal, led the reunion classes to Trinity Field where a combined varsity-freshman team lost a well-played game to the Meriden Insilcos.

Class Day concluded with the president’s reception and the various reunion class dinners at Heub’s and the University Club.

Large Scores 'Neutral Spirits' In Baccalaureate Sermon

The dilution of modern Christianity by "neutral spirits" who neither deny nor affirm God is a threat to "our way of life," the Rev. John E. Large, '28, rector of St. Andrew's Church, Wilmington, Delaware, told 1500 seniors and alumni in his Baccalaureate sermon at the Open Air Service on Commencement morning.

"If man is merely a monkey, deluxe or standard, our way of life is simply unworkable," the Rev. Mr. Large said. "If, on the other hand, man is what the Christian tradition has always insisted that he is: a created creature whose fulfillment lies in seeking and trying to do the will of his Creator, then there is magnificent hope for the future."

"So it all boils down to this business of defining man. Is he a divinely created person with the free will to serve God within the community of worshippers, and thus, as a by-product, best learn how to serve himself and the brethren? Or is he a helpless slave to the material will of that soulless community called the State?"

The Rev. Mr. Large pointed out that many times Christianity is weakened not through ignorance but through wilfulness: not from lack of knowledge, but from lack of devotion; not from failure to discern the right, but from unwillingness to practice it.

In conclusion he suggests that graduates approach life with the humility expressed in the following prayer: "Lord, this life of mine is not too good. But I've worked honestly at it and it is the best I can do at the moment. I know that any good that comes of it will be Your doing, not mine."

Dedicate Chapel Pew Ends
To Bowne and Murlless

Two memorial pew ends have been dedicated recently in Mather Chapel. One is in memory of the late Garrett Denise Bowne, Jr., '06, Pittsburgh electrical engineer, and the other is a memorial to the late Dr. Frederic T. Murlless, Jr., nationally known Hartford dentist. The Murlless memorial stands next to that of Dr. Horace Wells, discoverer of anesthesia, and nearby is a pew end honoring the late Dr. Horace H. Hayden.

The Bowne pew end, which was given by his widow and her two sons, Garrett, III, and Hays, depicts Benjamin Franklin discovering electricity with his kite. Another carving shows a discus thrower, recalling Mr. Bowne's breaking of the college discus record while an undergraduate. The arm of the pew end is a carving of St. George and the Dragon while a Dolphin is carved on the finial. The Dolphin, a small swimmer who sees people across to the other side, stands for righteousness and faith.

The Murlless pew end was given by the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Lambert, '16, their daughter and their three sons, Dave, '48, Jon and Frank, '49. Mrs. Lambert is a daughter of Dr. Murlless. The finial of the memorial depicts Saints Simon and Damion leading a crippled child in recognition of Dr. Murlless' interest in the Newington Home for Crippled Children. The main panel reflects the Doctor's interest in Connecticut history and shows Israel Putnam on horseback with the state flag. An open book near the base of the pew end lists traits of Dr. Murlless' character.

$300,000 Library Gift Waits Court Decision

An anonymous donor has agreed to give the College $300,000 to be added to the $360,000 now available for a building and endowment to house the combined collections of the Trinity and Watkinson Libraries, President Funston announced at the climax of his address to alumni on the State of the College at the Commencement Luncheon.

The gift is contingent upon the College’s receiving custody of the Watkinson Library of 129,000 volumes which has been described as “one of the finest reference libraries in the world.” The Watkinson Library was established under the will of David Watkinson, wealthy Hartford merchant, who was a founder and one of the first trustees of the College. It has been housed in the Wadsworth Atheneum for more than 90 years.

Although the trustees of the Watkinson Library have voted to merge with the College Library, approval of the change must now be obtained from the Superior Court in order that the original bequest of Mr. Watkinson, who died in 1857, be complied with. The Watkinson, a general reference library, is particularly strong in the fields of history and English language and contains many rare volumes and reference works on art and literature. Mr. Edgar F. Waterman, ’98, president of the Watkinson trustees, said that the decision favoring Trinity was made because the collection is a “scholars’ library” whose most appropriate place seemed to be in a college.

President Funston pointed out that if the merger is completed, the Watkinson Library will not lose its identity. “It will,” he said, “occupy a prominent place in our new library and will form a most distinguished reference library for our undergraduates and faculty, the citizens of Hartford, and scholars from many other places. Together the libraries will include 200 volumes printed before 1500 which are particularly useful to scholars.”

High Quality Maintained in New Class

By Albert E. Holland

This year we have again taken a Freshman Class of 225. There were 800 applicants for the class of 1953 as compared with 1000 applicants for last year’s entering class. The decrease of 20% is somewhat less than the average of member colleges of the College Entrance Examination Board.

The 225 members of the class are coming from over 170 different schools and from 20 states. Almost 60% are from outside Connecticut, while about 70% will reside on the campus. Sixty percent graduated in the upper quarter of their class at secondary school.

There are two reasons why we have managed to keep our applications at a high level despite increasing competition: an extended school visiting program and fine support from the alumni. This year the admissions officers visited 177 schools. This compares with 60 in 1946-47 and 101 in 1947-48. Through these school visits Trinity is becoming much better known especially in the Middle West.

Once again alumni recommended many of the incoming Freshmen. The National Alumni Association, is working with the Admissions Office on the plans.

Trinity needs more money for scholarships. Since 1940 tuition has been increased by 50% and other expenses have also risen. The amount available for scholarships is still the same as it was in 1940. This makes it very difficult to compete on any equal basis with many other colleges of Trinity’s standing. Recent gifts such as the funds to set up the Illinois Scholarships have proved to be a great help, and perhaps the new Alumni grants-in-aid program will be equally beneficial.

In every way possible the Admissions Office tries to make it clear that there are two requirements to be met: Trinity’s and the applicant’s. This approach which has meant the writing of over 2,000 personal letters and reports has brought the college a host of friends. Parents are pleased, headmasters and principals are appreciative and the young men who are applying seem to be delighted with the personal attention they receive.

Without the help of the alumni admissions work at Trinity would not be half so successful as it is. The concrete evidence of alumni support can be seen in each of the recent entering classes. In admissions as in so many other phases of college life the alumni are playing, and, we are sure, will continue to play, a most important part.

Butler Asks Alumni Help In Placing Seniors

"For the first time in four years the College senior in 1949 is faced with the proposition of chasing a company and selling himself to a prospective employer," according to John F. Butler, '33, Director of Placement. Mr. Butler reports that 41 firms came to the campus to recruit seniors this year compared with 47 firms last year. Job offers were not as plentiful as in 1948.

The Placement Office would appreciate hearing from any alumnus who knows of possible job openings for this year's graduates.

In the Alumni Notes section, under the class of 1949, there is a list of seniors who have accepted offers of employment and those admitted to graduate schools.

Carillonneurs Give Recital

The Guild of Carillonneurs of North America gave a recital on the Trinity Carillon June 21st. Nine members each played four or five selections while several hundred persons sat under the elms or in their cars on neighboring streets. Most of the numbers were familiar hymns, folksongs or popular tunes of the past.

The American Carillonneurs first came together at the College in 1934 at Dr. Ogilby's invitation. This year they held their annual congress in Springfield, Mass.

Theta Xi Receives National Charter

The colony of Theta Xi fraternity formally received its charter from the national organization at ceremonies in the College Chapel on May 21. It was the first installation on campus by a national fraternity since 1918 when Sigma Nu received its charter.

The new Alpha Chi chapter was founded a year ago on the campus with eleven initiates under the guidance of Professor Williams of the English department who is a member of the Amherst Chapter. With the aid of the Hartford Alumni Association of Theta Xi the new fraternity grew rapidly and now has thirty-three members. They have rented 84 Vernon Street which was once the Alpha Chi Rho house.

Physics Honor Society Installed

Sigma Pi Sigma, a national physics honor society, has been established at the College and formal installation ceremonies were held in Goodwin Lounge recently with Dr. Marsh W. White, the national Executive Secretary of the Society, presiding.

The objects of the Society are: to serve as a means of awarding distinction to students having high scholarship and promise of achievement in physics; to promote student interest in research and the advanced study of the subject; to encourage a professional spirit and friendship among those who have displayed marked ability in physics; and to popularize interest in physics in the general collegiate public.

Awarded Honorary Degrees

Geology — The Science of Earth

By Edward L. Troxell
Professor of Geology

Although in past years Trinity had a variety of courses in Geology enabling men to go to graduate school, the College never offered a formal major. With the coming of Solon W. Stone in 1947 as a second member of the Geology Faculty, many additional subjects were instituted and a major is now available. This year several geology students have been admitted to graduate schools—one has been awarded a large fellowship at a western university and others have been accepted at Yale and Northwestern. Undergraduates are working this summer with the United States Geological Survey and various oil companies in the southwest.

Mr. Stone has pursued his studies at Harvard and expects to present his thesis in fulfillment of the requirement for the doctorate in another year. In addition to his regular class duties he has frequently lectured in Hartford and Boston, to gemologists in particular. He is a member of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, Society of Economic Paleontologists and an associate member of Sigma Xi.

More and more, men are looking to geology for technical and professional training. For this they must spend time in basic studies on the formation of the earth and the causes and results of the forces constantly changing its crust. They learn to apply their geological knowledge to industry and government. Men are trained in the exploitation of petroleum and other fuels, the exploration and development of mineral resources, the determination of underground water supplies and the selection of dam sites, roadways, etc. Studies in basic research are of prime necessity before aid can be given to industry. The military services employed many geologists during the war for the evaluation of foreign lands from aerial photographs. Early arrivals on the beaches, sometimes the first, were the geologists who examined the terrain, aided in the development of camp sites, air fields, and in the search for water supplies, road metal, etc.

The earth sciences continue to be of great cultural and practical interest. Courses in Geology and Geography can be used as foundations for studies in History, Economics, Language, Military Science, and Literature, as well as other Sciences. Trinity geologists emphasize the connection of geology with organic evolution and religion in their teaching. One cannot be exposed to the subject without receiving a fuller understanding and appreciation of the world.

Further studies in seismology are now being pursued. Investigations of new paper-recording instruments for earthquake shocks are now in progress and the purchase of a seismograph for Trinity awaits the outcome of these tests and examinations. The pier on which an instrument is now operating was the gift of the Class of 1943, approximately $1,000. Another $5,000 was presented to the Department by the late Mr. Ned G. Begle toward the purchase of the seismograph itself. Very fine earthquake records have already been received from places as distant as Alaska, Guatemala, Iran and Crete.

The seismograph is being installed both for the instruction of students and for research in the nature of earthquake waves and the composition of the earth. Trinity will co-operate with other stations and the United States Government in the use of seismograph reports.

Since 1940 Trinity has been the headquarters of the State Geological and Natural History Survey of Connecticut. The promotion of field work for the Survey, the direction of research, and the writing, editing, and publishing of bulletins pertaining to the natural sciences of Connecticut has been done at Trinity. In the years 1947-48 the College was honored by having the presidency of the American Association of State Geologists located at Trinity.

With the materials at hand, the Geology Department hopes in the future to make it possible for students at Trinity to receive a fuller understanding of their natural environment and a better background for studies that will lead to professional and technical positions in Geology.
Trinity alumni gave more than $62,000 to their Alma Mater since last December, it was reported at the annual alumni meeting by Sydney D. Pinney, chairman of the 1949 Alumni Fund.

The 1949 Alumni Fund reached $18,253.50 from 852 contributors by Commencement Day. In addition the fund received about one thousand dollars income from bequests. About 500 alumni paid $45,000 on their 125th Anniversary Development Program pledges during the same seventeen month period, Mr. Pinney said.

Following are the names of alumni who have contributed to the Alumni Fund since publication of an earlier list in the May issue of the "Bulletin.”

Noonan, Epps Set New Track Records

TRACK

Led by Captain John Noonan, who broke his own college shot put record with a throw of 44 feet, 6 inches, the team defeated Massachusetts University and Middlebury, tied Worcester Tech, and lost to Union, Coast Guard and Wesleyan. Stu Parks in his first year as coach is to be congratulated for the squad's fine spirit and the renewed interest in track among many undergraduates.

Saward Epps smashed his own pole vault mark by clearing 12 feet, 1 inches, against Coast Guard. Unfortunately he tore some arm muscles on that jump and could not participate in later meets.

Newt Leo won the quarter mile in every meet and also came in first in several of the sprints. Lucky Ransom did very well in the hurdles and scored a double victory against Wesleyan. Captain Noonan won the discus for the second year at the New England Intercollegiates. John Root was a steady point winner in both the shot put and discus.

The freshmen defeated Hopkins, Loomis, Massachusetts University and Nichols Junior College. They lost a close meet to Wesleyan. George Smith set a new freshman high jump record of six feet.

BASEBALL

A victory against Williams and a split with Wesleyan were the highlights of the baseball season as erratic pitching cost the Blue and Gold several games. The team had a record of seven wins and ten losses. Three of the defeats—Virginia, Springfield and the first Coast Guard game—were by the narrow margin of one run scored in the late innings.

In the opening game after a southern trip, Bob Heppenstall pitched well in an exhibition game against the Eastern League Hartford Chiefs. Too many bases on balls gave Amherst and Yale easy victories after both these games started out as tight struggles for the first six innings. Jack Scully turned in a fine performance against Union limiting the Dutchmen to two runs as his teammates hammered out twelve hits for nine runs and came up with five double plays.

A strong Springfield team nosed us out 2-1 in a very well played game. Heppenstall struck out 12 Williams batters as Trinity went on to win 11-2. Scully followed with a well pitched win against Massachusetts University 6-3 aided by Bob Barrows' timely hitting.

Two big innings let Wesleyan score an 11-3 victory in the first game, but Scully kept the Cardinals under control in the second contest.

Shortstop Eddie Ludorf climax a big four run rally in the eighth inning with a two run single and Scully held the lead to win 8-6. Incidentally, since 1935 Trinity has played 27 games against our Middletown rivals, winning 20 and losing 6, with one tie.

In the other games we defeated Tufts 5-4 in ten innings; Coast Guard 3-1 in twelve innings and Worcester Tech 11-5, while Amherst and Brown pinned defeats on us.

Next spring Dan Jesse will miss Captain Jack Mahon, classy fielding first baseman and the team's leading batter with an average of .391; Whitey Kunkiewicz, strong arm catcher and winner of the Most Valuable award; Marty Rouse, second baseman for four years; Bill Leahey and Denny Redden regular outfielders. Captain-elect Barrows, third baseman, Shortstop Ludorf, Pitchers Heppenstall and Scully and Jim Walker, outfielder, will make a strong nucleus for next year's team.

FRESHMAN BASEBALL

Behind some great pitching by Fred Vogel, Ed Killeen, Russ Everett and Bill Morse the freshmen, coached again by Joe Beidler, won nine and lost two. The team scored victories over Cheshire, Morse College, Yale Jayvees, Massachusetts University freshmen; Trinity-Pawling and Wesleyan before Monson Academy snapped the streak. Against Massachusetts Russ Everett allowed only one hit and Fred Vogel gave up three hits and fanned fourteen Wesleyan batters as he shut out our rivals 10-0.

Beresford of the Yale Freshmen allowed Trinity one hit, but the yearlings came back with victories over Springfield, Wesleyan and Kingswood. "Hous" Hale, Bernie Lawlor, Bill Goralski and Larry Hutnick, the team's leading batter, made up one of the finest freshman infielders. All of them may see varsity service next year. And Dan has high hopes some of the pitchers will deliver!

TEENIS

The racqueteers, coached by Harold Shetter, defeated Worcester Tech while losing to Springfield, Massachusetts University, Amherst and Wesleyan. Captain Ben Torrey and Gus Stewart played well with the latter winning the Horace G. Cleveland Memorial Trophy in the College tournament.

The freshmen won two matches and lost four. Dick Aiken and Chet Buffum were the steadiest players and should aid the varsity next year.
New Sports Captains

GOLF

An informal team, with Fine Arts Instructor "Mitch" Pappas as coach, won three, tied one and lost five matches. Bob Cohan was the captain and manager while Charlie Dabrowski and Albie Earling played consistently well. Two of last year's star players, Bob Heppenstall and Denny Redden, were on the baseball team.

LACROSSE

The first College Lacrosse team turned in five wins and two losses. Several Baltimore undergraduates introduced the sport and have built up much campus interest for this rugged game.

This year's squad developed rapidly and defeated Kingswood twice, Brown, Nichols Junior College and Springfield while losing to Worcester Tech and Amherst.

'Crows' Again Win Sing

The defending champions, Alpha Chi Rho, successfully won the annual intramural singing contest after a very close competition with Alpha Delta Phi. The judges, Joseph S. Daltry of Wesleyan; Marshall Seeley of the Hartford School of Music; and Gordon Stearns of Hartford, asked the two fraternities to repeat their selections in order to determine the winner.

St. Anthony, the Dekes and the Commons Club each entered groups that provided hilarious entertainment.

Bob Morris, '16, presented the College with a new cup this spring as the Alpha Chi Rho house gained permanent possession of the former cup by winning three competitions. There is a revived interest in singing at many of the houses and by several campus groups so that future sings are expected to be keenly contested.

Association Notes

NEW YORK SPRING FROLIC

The New York Spring Frolic was held at "Dan" Webster’s estate at Riverdale-on-Hudson on June 4th with 80 alumni from the New York and Philadelphia areas attending. David Schwartz, '00, and James Wales, '01, were the "youngest" present.

At long last the New Yorkers combined strong hitting and smooth fielding to down the Quakers. Pete Rihl, '40, returned the Kinney Cup to the New York team.

Bob O'Connor, '16, won a raffle of a case of refreshments with the proceeds going to the New York scholarship fund. Bob graciously raffled off half of his prize for the same cause.

All Trinity Alumni are most grateful to "Dan" for keeping up this most pleasant annual get together and from the reports heard at College a grand time was had by all.

He graduated from Ursinus College, Collegeville, Penna., in 1947 and has been doing graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania for his doctorate. During the war he served overseas with the 69th Infantry Division from 1944 to 1946.
HENRY OGDEN DU BOIS, 1876

The Rev. Henry Ogden DuBois, oldest alumnus of the College, died May 6 at New York City. He was born in Zanesville, Ohio, on March 27, 1855, and after preparing at the Shattuck School, Faribault, Minnesota, he entered Trinity in 1872 with the class of 1876, Beta Kappa. His fraternity was the Episilon Chapter of years and was the stroke oar at the Intercollegiates on Saratoga Lake in 1874. The next year he was elected captain. He was Class Day Poet and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. His fraternity was the Episilon Chapter of Delta Psi.

After his graduation in 1876 Mr. DuBois studied medicine for a year at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School. He then decided to enter the ministry and transferred to the Philadelphia Theological Seminary from which he graduated in 1880. The year before he received his Master of Arts degree from Trinity.

The Rev. Mr. DuBois was ordained a priest in 1881 at Trinity Church, Philadelphia, and served as an assistant to the rector of the Church of the Transfiguration and the Church of the Ascension in that city until 1888. He then removed to Rye, New York, and served as a priest in the Catholic Apostolic Church, New York City, but still retained his standing as a priest of the Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania.

On May 13, 1890, he was consecrated Angel (bishop) of the Catholic Apostolic Church and later became Co-adjutor to the Inducted Angel of the church. In 1919, he was named Angel in Charge.

The Rev. Mr. DuBois always maintained an active interest in his Alma Mater, and he had several relatives who have attended the College: his brother, George M., 1874; his brother-in-law, the Rev. William R. Mackay, 1867; and his nephew, Gaylord M. DuBois, 1925.

He is survived by his daughter, Miss Mary Constance DuBois.

ALEXANDER JOHN WILLIAMS, 1896

Word has been received at the College of the death of Alexander John Williams on May 17, 1942. He graduated in 1896 with a B. S. degree and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Medusa. In 1895 he was elected Class President and in his senior year he was baseball captain.

Mr. Williams graduated from Rush Medical College in 1900 and practised medicine in Racine, Wisconsin, for many years.

It is hoped that further information may be sent to the Alumni Office about his life.

HAROLD BROWER LINGLE, 1906

Word has been received at the College that Harold Brower Lingle died some years ago in New York City. He was in College for a year and a half and belonged to Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Mr. Lingle was an accountant with Scovell, Wellington Company and the Revere Copper and Brass Company in New York City.

It is hoped that more information about his life will be sent to the Alumni Office.

J. CLINTON LAUDEFELD, 1908

Word has been received at the College that Mr. Laudefeld died several years ago. He entered Trinity in 1904 and remained in College one and a half years.

If further information about Mr. Laudefeld's life is known, please communicate with the Alumni Office.

FREDERICK BOND DART, 1915

Dr. Frederick Bond Dart, son of Dr. Frederick Howard and Maria Elizabeth Bond Dart, died at Niantic, Connecticut, on April 24th. He was born there on February 27, 1892, and prepared for college at the Black Hall School, Black Hall, Connecticut.

Entering Trinity in 1911, he remained in college four years. He was a member of his freshman football team and belonged to Psi Upsilon fraternity.

Mr. Dart attended Columbia Medical School until he enlisted in 1917 with the Presbyterian Base Hospital Unit. He was discharged in 1919 and entered the University of Maryland School of Medicine, graduating with honors in 1923.

Until 1933 he practiced medicine in Baltimore and served on the University of Maryland Medical Faculty. He then moved to Niantic and in 1939 succeeded his father as Medical Examiner at East Lyme, Connecticut.

Dr. Dart leaves his wife, the former Miss Helen Miller of Canton, Ohio.

MYRON ROBINSON JACKSON, 1918

Myron Robinson Jackson, prominent surgeon and famous Trinity football player, died suddenly of a heart attack at his home in Oyster Bay, Long Island, New York, on April 13. More than a thousand persons from all walks of life attended his funeral. A delegation of Trinity alumni of Delta Kappa Epsilon, to which Dr. Jackson belonged, represented the fraternity.

Dr. Jackson had countless friends among the alumni. John E. Bierck, '17, who knew him well for over thirty-five years, writes, "Unassuming and quiet-spoken to the point of shyness, Dr. Jackson nevertheless possessed a tremendous talent for friendship. He also had a keen sense of social responsibility, though few except his most intimate friends ever knew of the countless services, professional and otherwise, which he rendered to the needy with no thought of reward."

Born in Colchester, Connecticut, Mr. Jackson was graduated from Norwich Free Academy in 1914. He entered Trinity that fall and quickly became regular guard on the football team. Followers of Trinity football consider him one of the best guards the College ever had. His teammates elected him captain, but he left college for Army service instead of returning for his senior year.

Mr. Jackson was elected freshman class president and was a member of the Sophomore Dining Club, the Ivy, and the Senate. He played on his class basketball team for three years.

After receiving his B.S. degree in 1919, Mr. Jackson entered the Cornell University Medical College from where he graduated in 1923. He interned at Bellevue Hospital, New York City, and then began his practice in Oyster Bay with Dr. Richard Derby, son-in-law of the late President Theodore Roosevelt. For years he was personal surgeon to Mrs. Roosevelt, the president's widow.

Dr. Jackson was chief of the surgical staff at the North Country Community Hospital, Glen Cove, Long Island, and his wife, Dr. Mildred Wicker Jackson, is chief pediatrician there. He was a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, Director of the Meadowbrook Hospital, and a member of the Nassau County Cancer Society. A former member of the Oyster Bay School Board, Dr. Jackson was also interested in local organizations and had been active in the Quentin Roosevelt American Legion Post and was past master of Matinecock Lodge of Masons.
Besides his wife, Dr. Jackson leaves two sons, Frederick W., '51, and Richard Derby, and one daughter, Harriet.

FREDERICK HUSE WEBSTER, 1925

Word has been received at the College of the death of Frederick Huse Webster at Elkhorn, Wisconsin, on May 12, 1948. The College will appreciate receiving further information about Mr. Webster.

FREDERICK COLLIN WALCOTT, HON. 1928

Frederic Collin Walcott, former United States Senator from Connecticut, died April 27 in Stamford, Connecticut. He was born February 19, 1869, at New York Mills, New York, the son of William Stuart and Emma Alice Welch Walcott. His family had owned cotton mills in upstate New York for four generations.

Mr. Walcott was educated at Phillips Andover Academy and Yale, and then joined his father in the family textile business. In 1905 he became president but sold out two years later and came to New York to be an investment banker.

During World War I he joined Herbert Hoover in Europe and became his aide in the United States Food Administration. For his war work he was made a Chevalier of the French Legion of Honor and decorated with the Officers' Cross by Poland. President Wilson sent him to the Paris Peace Conference as an expert on Polish relief needs.

Mr. Walcott was always interested in conservation of wild life and served as Connecticut Fish and Game Commissioner from 1923 to 1928. His estate in Norfolk, Connecticut, was a wild life sanctuary. He was also chairman of the State Water Commission from 1925 to 1928 and served two terms in the State Senate. In 1928 Trinity awarded him an honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

Mr. Walcott was elected to the United States Senate in the same year. While in Washington he was a member of the Banking Committee, being the principal author of the bill creating the Reconstruction and Finance Corporation.

Defeated for reelection in 1934, Mr. Walcott returned to Connecticut and was State Welfare Commissioner until 1939. He was on the executive committee of the Carnegie Institute of Washington, the advisory committee of the Human Welfare Group of Yale and served as president of the American Wild Life Foundation.

His wife, the former Miss Mary Hussey Guthrie of Pittsburgh, died in 1931. He is survived by a son, William Welch. Another son, Alexander Guthrie, died in 1941.

AUSTIN JEROME FEUCHTWANGER, Jr., 1933

Word has been received at the College of the death of Austin Jerome Feuchtwanger, Jr., in the fall of 1937. He was flying in a private plane from Buffalo, New York, to Greenwich, Connecticut, with his mother and the plane crashed in the Adirondack mountains.

Mr. Feuchtwanger was in college during his freshman year and belonged to Psi Upsilon fraternity. After leaving Trinity he attended Washington and Jefferson College.

CARL BADGER HOWLAND, JR., 1937

Word has been received at the College of the death of Carl Badger Howland, Jr., who lost his life in the South Pacific on August 10, 1942, while serving in the Navy.

Mr. Howland attended Trinity one year. He prepared for college at Moses Brown School, Providence, and he leaves his father, Carl B. Howland.

It is hoped that more information will be sent to the Alumni Office about Mr. Howland, Jr.

BATESON GAILLARD, 1939

Word has been received at the College of the death of Bateson Gaillard some time last year. He entered Trinity in 1935 but only stayed in residence a short time.

It is hoped that more information about his life may be received at the Alumni Office.

Trinity High
In Chemical Research

Trinity's leadership in chemical research has been documented by a survey of the Journal of Higher Education which ranks the College second in the number of pages contributed to the Journal of the American Chemical Society by the teachers in liberal arts colleges between 1927 and 1941.

The general conclusion of the survey was that "research published by teachers in liberal arts colleges occupies a place of negligible importance in the program of such undergraduate teachers."

But they found that Trinity faculty members contributed a total of 97 pages to the chemical journal in the 15-year period. Mount Holyoke led with 214.2 pages and Amherst followed Trinity with 94.7. Also named among the 12 most productive institutions were: 50-90 pages—Barnard, DePauw, Vassar; 25-50 pages—Swarthmore, Wesleyan, Middlebury, Wellesley, Greensboro, Union.

College Buys Apartment House

The College has purchased at auction the apartment house at 90-92 Vernon Street, opposite the Psi Upsilon house, for $37,100. After making minor repairs, the College plans to use the 12 apartments to house faculty members.
