PRESIDENT FUNSTON DELIVERING HIS CHARGE TO THE SENIORS
President's Charge to the Seniors

The current issue of a national magazine attributes the following remark to a Commencement speaker. He says, "A survey showed that the families of Princeton graduates average 1.8 children, whereas for Smith graduates the figure was 1.4. A faulty conclusion could be drawn from these figures—namely, that men have more children than women."

With this warning on the pitfalls of placing implicit reliance on statistics, I hasten to state that statistically your graduating class is most outstanding. It includes three men who have achieved an A average for their entire college career. Twelve are graduating with honors. Sixteen have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa. The average mark of the class as a whole is above the norm.

But your class has excelled also in areas which cannot be measured statistically. Outstanding athletes among you have helped to produce Trinity's "golden age" of intercollegiate athletics. Under your leadership other extracurricular activities have flourished, and student government has reached a new high point in responsibility and in helpfulness. Most of all, during the course of this academic year when your heads were in the clouds of selective service uncertainty, you have kept your feet on the ground and refused to be panicked. Despite strong temptation you did not let down in your studies, in your social conduct, or in your determination to complete your college education. Your good sense and determination in these respects set the pace for the entire college so that in spite of many alarms and crises, Trinity has just enjoyed one of its most successful years. Statistically and otherwise, the Class of 1951 is one of the finest ever to graduate from Trinity. Because of this the College is proud of you and congratulates you.

There are other reasons why the Class of 1951 will always hold a special place in my affections. I shall ever be grateful for the reception you gave me at our Senior Dinner last month. I am mindful too that this is my last Commencement as President, so that we are in a sense graduating from Trinity together. Your class is the only one that I have seen through four years of normal college life. We have shared disappointments and triumphs. We have seen Trinity go forward, and friends grow in maturity and knowledge. In brief, my ties with the Class of 1951 are many and tight. Your successes and failures, therefore will always have special meaning for me. When you succeed, I will be very happy. If you fail, I will wonder if my college failed to do something for you that she might have done.

It is clear that the true and ultimate worth of Trinity College as an institution can be measured only through the composite accomplishments and worthwhileness of its graduates. In similar fashion the success of all higher education is measured by the beacon of intellectual and moral light shed by college trained men and women in a troubled and confused world.

That beam of light is not as steady or as bright as we could wish for. Ponder these words spoken on the floor of the United States Senate by one of the nation's responsible leaders, himself a former University president. Senator Fulbright says: "Let us consider what has developed in our colleges, where the characters of our young men and women are being molded. Our colleges under extreme pressure from the alumni have become so intent upon winning football and basketball games that they use any means to gain their ends. They hire players who are not bona fide students and thus make a mockery of the whole concept of amateur sport. They corrupt not only the hired players but also the entire student body, who learn from their elders the cynical, immoral doctrine that we must win at all costs."

This generalization taken out of context, of course, does not do justice to the great majority of the colleges and universities of the nation, nor does it apply to the great majority of the alumni of those institutions. That the change undoubtedly does apply to a few, however, is an overflowing disgrace to higher education which drips shame upon all its components. A responsible Senator has charged that colleges are reaching the cynical immoral doctrine that it is desirable to win at all costs, and that the ends justify any means. Undoubtedly many people will believe this allegation, to the detriment of all our colleges and universities.

To disprove the charge the Colleges must do more than to say "t`ain't so." For me to read Trinity's own Sportsman Code which hangs in our gymnasium will not of itself be convincing proof to an outsider even though it does run—

"Sport is winning, if win you can
And keep to the Sportsman's Code.
Sport is beating the other man,
But giving him half the road;
Being content with an even break;
Scorning the trickster's art.
Sport is the game, for the game's own sake,
And the love of a fighting heart."

President G. Keith Funston, participating in his final Commencement before he leaves to assume the presidency of the New York Stock Exchange next fall, granted 218 bachelor's degrees, 37 master's degrees and 9 honorary degrees as a crowd of more than 2,500 watched the colorful 125th Commencement exercises.

The shade of the elms and Northam Towers was most welcome from the June sun as the long line led by Marshal Robert P. Waterman, '31, and Assistant Marshal George E. Nichols marched down the main walk. The First Company, Governor's Foot Guard Band under the direction of Captain Dayton Palmer provided music.

Chaplain O'Grady delivered the invocation and Professor Towle, Secretary of the Faculty, presented President Funston with the "Book" touched by every graduate of the preceding one hundred twenty-four classes. It is believed that Bishop Brownell started this custom in 1827 when he used this notebook, in which he had written the order of the first Commencement exercises, instead of his Bible which he had mislaid. President Funston then conferred the degrees in course and delivered his charge to the Seniors.

Governor Lodge in his Commencement address said in part, "I venture to suggest that the real purpose of education is to fit one to recognize the true challenge of life and prepare one to meet that challenge. Education should enable you to accommodate your methods, to adapt your lives to the conditions of a dynamically changing world. Education implies the capacity for consecutive thought. In a world in which precedents are being continuously shattered we must have the imagination to create new precedents. We must have the vision and the courage to produce fresh traditions as some of our traditions become obsolete.

"The firmness of aim and the capacity to reach and hold convictions is then, particularly today, essential not only to a happy and productive life, but also to our survival as a free nation. We must recognize that freedoms and responsibilities are inseparable; that freedom is responsibility, and that if we fail to impose disciplines upon ourselves under our free system then we may well have disciplines imposed upon us by the tyrants of a slave system.

"You young men of the Class of 1951 are entering upon a turbulent world. Heavy are the responsibilities of citizenship which lie ahead of you. Because of your background of university training, leadership will devolve upon you wherever you go.

"What is the main job? It is, I think, to make America and her friends so strong that the forces of freedom will prevail. Peace is a product of strength—not merely military or industrial might—but above all the moral motive power without which all else will fail.

"If we are to rescue the anguished present and safeguard the uncertain future, we must recruit from the deep faith of our fathers the clarity of vision and the resoluteness of spirit which are essential to the achievement of a peace based on freedom, virtue and reason."

Thomas J. Woods of Wethersfield was named Valedictorian of the Class. He received honors in General Scholarship, Physics and Mathematics. A Holland Scholar, he was awarded the Mary A. Terry Fellowship for graduate study and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and to Sigma Pi Sigma, national physics honor society.

The Salutatorian, Irving A. Hamilton of Hamden, Conn., is an Army veteran of two years service. He graduated with honors in History and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and to Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society. Incidentally, twelve of the Class graduated with honors while sixteen were elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

After President Funston conferred the honorary degrees, the Right Reverend Walter H. Gray, Hon. '41, Bishop of Connecticut, delivered the benediction.

in the lives of college men everywhere, and especially in the lives of the current crop of college graduates. Everything this college stands for, past, present, and future, decries the Communistic philosophy of winning at all costs, or that the end justifies the means. A liberal education, instead, points the road to success by way of service to others, through cooperative endeavor, and through the application of hard work and unswerving faith.

My confidence and pride in you men of the Class of 1951 is such that I am content to place Trinity's answer to Senator Fulbright in your hands for reply by your conduct as you seek your several careers.

Therefore, I charge you, Gentlemen of the Class of 1951—"Have faith in the future and resolve to play your full part in the shaping of it; assume your responsibilities with confidence that results inevitably are a mirror of the means employed; strive to epitomize the ideal, liberally educated 'Trinity man as the self-reliant head of a happy family, an intelligent and enlightened citizen of democracy, and an obedient servant of Almighty God.

And now from the bottom of my heart, I wish you Godspeed and say 'Valete Alumni.'"
"What makes the picture so dark today," said the Rt. Rev. Robert M. Hatch, Suffragan Bishop of Connecticut in his Baccalaureate Sermon to the Senior Class on Commencement morning, "is the fact that we are face to face with a new religion that is out to create a different kind of world.

"Make no mistake about it. Communism is a religion. It is not mere economics. It is not mere sociology. It is not mere Russian nationalism on the warpath, like the insane nationalism of Hitler and Mussolini. It is a religion, zealous, fanatic, missionary. It knows no bounds of race or class or nationality. It is out to win the world.

"More than that the followers of this new religion are not smug, easy going and half-hearted. It is more important to them than life itself, and they tell their potential converts:—"We are in this with you. We mean business. It is not mere words, they tell their potential converts:—"We are in this with you. We mean business. It is not mere words, Bishop Hatch pointed out that the dropping of atomic bombs is not the way to fight back. "The only way to fight fire is with fire. The only way to fight a false religion is with true religion. But it cannot be the soft easy-going, complacent thing which we have called Christianity for so long a time. It means a new Christianity, more real and more intense than anything that most of us have ever known.

"Where do we start? Everywhere.

Fund Makes Goal

Harmon T. Barber, '19, Chairman of the 1950-1951 Alumni Fund gave a preliminary report at the Annual Alumni Meeting showing that the fund was over its goal of $35,000 with 1560 contributors giving $36,673.74 as compared to $30,057.15 from 1136 contributors a year ago. "Ham" thanked the Class Agents for their cooperation and for their persistent work during the campaign, and in particular singled out John F. Butler, '33, Executive Secretary, for his uniring leadership and able organization.

In our own personal lives. Deepening our prayer life. Supporting our church by attending it every week. Learning about our Christian faith.

"But we cannot stop there. We have got to do something about our country. We have got to show the oppressed people of the world that here in America there is such a thing as social justice, and such a thing as brotherhood between classes and races, and such a thing as security for the old and jobs for the young, and opportunity for the man at the bottom of the ladder. It means fighting against every form of meanness and bigotry and class and racial hate, and against all the corruption and wire-pulling and cynicism that corrode our national life.

"It is no longer a matter of words now. It is a matter of deeds. And until we are prepared to make the sacrifice and put the Christian Gospel into action, the new religion is going to go right on winning the world, even though we cover this country with stockpiles of atomic bombs."

Chaplain O'Grady was the officiating clergyman and he was assisted by the Rev. Charles F. Whiston, '26, who read the psalm; the Rev. Arthur Adams, retiring English professor and librarian, who read the lesson; and the Right Rev. Frederick G. Budlong, Hon. '35, retired Bishop of Connecticut, who gave the benediction.

Largest Alumni Reunion Great Success

$2,641,000 contributions announced; Beers, '18, elected Alumni Trustee

Again led by Lawson Purdy, '84, who for the third consecutive year won the prize for the oldest alumnus present, and R. McClelland Brady, '90, who once more received the award for coming from the farthest distance (Bolinas, California), over 500 alumni returned 'Neath the Elms for the 125th Commencement weekend, June 15, 16, and 17.

The weekend opened with the charter meeting of a new group called the Trinity College Library Associates. It is their aim as "friends" of the library to bring together people interested in books and libraries and to foster the development of the combined Trinity and Watkinson libraries in their new home. Dr. Jerome P. Webster, '10, was elected chairman; Wilmarth S. Lewis of Farmington, a Watkinson Library trustee and noted collector and English scholar, vice-chairman, and Donald B. Engley, Trinity's associate librarian, secretary-treasurer.

Three hundred nineteen alumni and friends attended the clambake on the northern end of the football field and fortunately the rain held off until the streamers and lobster were served. The Class of 1926 clad in red berets and green smocks were by far the most colorful delegation on the field.

After the bake many alumni strolled the campus, and the fraternities held their annual business meetings and open house on Vernon Street.

The Senior Class Day exercises were held in front of Northam Towers with Dick Garrison, recipient of the 1935 Football Player Award for his outstanding play at end on last fall's eleven, the master of ceremonies. Bill VanLanen, Class President, gave the speech of welcome and Bill MacDonald read the Class History. The Class Prophecy, a joint effort by Ben Jenkins and Tom Ferguson, predicted that by 2001 most of the class would be working at the New York Stock Exchange thanks to a mysterious Sydney Pinney Honored

Trinity connection. John Coote delivered the Class Poem and Fred Kirschner gave out varsity certificates to his classmates who had won various team letters.

Colonel Anson T. McCook, '02, presented the George Sheldon McCook trophy for distinction in athletics to Eddie Ludorf, Captain and third baseman of the baseball team and outstanding quarterback of last fall's once-defeated football team.

Major John B. Folan, who received his Master's degree in Government at Commencement, presented commissions as second lieutenant, United States Air Force Reserve, to nine graduates of the Air Force ROTC program. Class Day exercises concluded with an address by Matthew E. Dann, '26, headmaster of Trinity-Pawling School, who urged the graduating class to become leaders and workers.

"Here is where the small liberal arts college plays such an important role," he declared. "You graduates have the training and tools which are essential for inspired leadership. There never was a time in our country's history when there was a greater need for leaders who have high intellect and sound moral standards. We dare not prove unequal to the task of preserving freedom. I am an optimist for the future. The opportunities are great and challenging for those who are willing to work and who have faith in this land of opportunity."

Mr. Dann urged the seniors to consider carefully the possibility of entering the field of education. "Our leaders of tomorrow must be exposed to inspired teachers who love their work and realize the importance of their calling," he concluded.

Many alumni attended the dedication by Chaplain O'Grady of the Delta Phi pew end in the Chapel honoring Dr. Arthur Adams who is retiring after forty-five years service. The fraternity's badge is on the finial while on the main panel Dr. Adams' bookplate and family crest is depicted. The arm rest shows St. Jerome, patron of librarians, and below the panel is the motto of Delta Phi and a book listing Dr. Adams' titles and accomplishments.

Hugh S. Campbell, '32, presided over the annual Alumni Meeting and briefly described the National Alumni Association's activities for the past year. He stressed the importance of the Alumni Fund, alumni participation in suggesting qualified candidates to the Admissions Office, and the value of local association meetings.

Ronald E. Kinney, '15, announced that Henry S. Beers, '18, had been elected Alumni Trustee for a three year term, and that Clarence E. Sherman, '31, and Clarence I. Penn, '12, had been elected Senior Fellows for three year terms.

President Funston in his report on the State of the College announced that $2,641,000 in contributions has been received during the past year. $168,000 has recently been donated by the Old Dominion Foundation for the new library, making a total of $818,000 for this purpose, and $500,000 is an anonymous gift to the fund known as Scholarships for Illinois Residents, Inc. This fund was started three years ago with an initial gift of $300,000 and the additional gift will now make it possible for the President Lays New Library Cornerstone

College to increase the maximum scholarship for Illinois residents to $1500 a year and to make awards of eight to ten scholarships each year. Next fall there will be eighteen Illinois Scholars. The President added that the College may ultimately expect to receive one million dollars from the estate of the late William G. Mather, '77.

The President stated that 305 freshmen have been admitted next September. Pointing out that the recent freshman classes have averaged 225 men, he said the additional number was accepted for this fall as it was anticipated the total enrollment would be sharply cut by the draft. Over 640 men have applied to live on the campus as compared with 570 this past year which will make a serious housing problem.

Assuring the alumni that despite the increased enrollment, each class averages only sixteen students in size and that eighty-five per cent of the classes have less than twenty-five students, President Funston concluded his remarks by praising the alumni for their active participation in the development of the College; the students for maintaining an even keel and keeping their marks up despite the Korean war; the faculty for their unirnig efforts in furthering high academic standards; and the administrative staff for its excellent teamwork and cooperation.

After Judge Creedon, '09, presented Sydney D. Pinney, '18, with the Eigenbrodt Trophy, President Campbell awarded the Rev. Dr. Arthur Adams a testimonial from the Alumni in honor of his long and faithful service over eleven generations of Trinity men.

The National Alumni officers, Hugh Campbell, '32, President; Harmon T. Barber, '19, Vice-President; William T. Middlebrook, '42, Secretary; and Benjamin Silverberg, '19, Treasurer; were reelected for a term of one year. Melvin W. Title, '18; L. Barton Wilson, '37; and Frederick T. Tansill, '22, were elected to the Executive Committee for two years. Barclay Shaw, '35, and Seymour Smith, '34, were elected Junior Fellows. Edgar H. Craig, '34, was appointed to the Athletic Advisory Committee for a three year term, and the new nominating committee chosen consists of David Hadlow, '25, Chairman, and Matthew Dann, '26, Alfred Schroeder, '45, Charles Johnson, '42, and Robert Toland, III, '44.

Over 600 alumni and friends crowded around the cornerstone of the new library and watched President Funston place a box of present day college documents into the foundation and lay the stone which will be near the main entrance of the new building. The Rev. Joseph Groves, '10, whose son Joseph was in the graduating class, presented the College with a page from the Gutenberg Bible, and the Rev. Arthur Adams, who for years has been dreaming about the building, gave the benediction.

Everyone then moved to the Field House where the college dining hall staff, led by Bill Horwath and Don Prendergast, had an excellent buffet luncheon in readiness. Three of the culinary displays on the main table would have captured blue ribbons in a food show! The Class of 1916 won the Jerome Kohn Award for having the highest percentage (66%) of its members present. Incidentally their Mexican hats and red sashes were very dashing.

Jack Reitemeyer, '21, marshal of the alumni parade, led the reunion classes to Trinity Field for the baseball game with Yale. The keen Bulldogs paid no attention to the large partisan crowd and pounded out an easy victory as the Blue and Gold could do nothing right.

President and Mrs. Funston's reception and the various class dinners at Heub's, the University Club and the Hartford Club wound up the day's activities.

Fifty-six Freshmen Attend Summer School

Three hundred ninety-five students from seventy different colleges and universities registered for the first term of the twelve week summer School. About 100 of them are graduate students, 80 are Trinity upperclassmen and 56 are the College's first summer class of freshmen.
Professor Archie Bangs Dies Suddenly

Archie Roy Bangs, professor of German since 1931, died suddenly at his home in West Hartford on April 30. He had taught his classes as usual that morning and was stricken shortly after leaving the campus.

Professor Bangs was born on January 21, 1886, the son of the late Judson and Clara Elizabeth Jones Bangs of Sabattus, Maine. After attending local schools, he went to Bates College and was graduated in 1908. Before coming to Trinity in 1926 he taught German at Colgate University where he received a Master's degree. He also received the same degree from Harvard and taught modern languages at Williams College; the Franklin School in Cincinnati, Ohio; and the Gardner High School, Gardner, Massachusetts.

In 1928 Professor Bangs received his doctorate from Yale, and was also promoted from Instructor to Assistant Professor. He had done considerable research in the Germanic languages and wrote "Edward Vaughan Kenealy and his Goethe, a New Pantomime." Dr. Bangs was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the Modern Language Association and the American Association of University Professors.

Dr. Brinton Thompson Named Northam Professor of History

Dr. D. G. Brinton Thompson, associate professor of History, has been appointed Northam Professor of History and Chairman of the Department. Professor Thompson came to Trinity six years ago and has been acting head of the Department since Professor Humphrey's retirement three years ago. A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Dr. Thompson was a business and advertising executive for 17 years before deciding to enter teaching. He received his doctorate from Columbia in 1945 and taught a year at Lafayette College before coming to Trinity. Professor Thompson is well known as an authority on the Middle Atlantic States and is the author of "Ruggles of New York" and many articles on American history.

Dean of Students Joseph C. Clarke has been promoted to Associate Professor.

Dr. Robert H. Smellie, Jr., '42, and Dwight F. Mowery, Jr., have been promoted to Assistant Professors of Chemistry. Mr. Smellie received his Doctorate from Columbia University in June.

Frederick H. Booth, Jr. and Harold E. Holmdahl have been reappointed Instructors in Physical Education and in Romance Languages respectively.

Chaplain O'Grady Dedicates Kneeers and Pew End

Three Chapel kneeler ends and a pew end were dedicated during Commencement weekend by Chaplain O'Grady. They were all executed by Mr. J. Gregory Wiggins, Hon. '40, of Pomfret, Conn., who has done nearly all the wood carving in the Chapel.

The kneeler ends were given in memory of the late Harold R. Shetter, coach of soccer and tennis; the late Mrs. Maria Briggs Keith, grandmother of President Funston; and the Class of 1901. The pew end is the gift of the Delta Phi fraternity and it honors their member and faculty adviser, the Rev. Dr. Arthur Adams, who retires after forty-five years on the faculty.

Presented by Bert Holland on behalf of students and friends, the Shetter kneeler has an anchor on the finial as a symbol of Christian hope and his naval service. St. Sebastian, patron of athletes, is on the panel, holding a shield on which is inscribed a "T" for the recognition of soccer as a major sport under Harold's coaching. The seal of West Chester Teacher's College, his alma mater, is also worked into the design.

President Funston presented the Keith kneeler, which depicts his grandmother reading stories to her three grandchildren on the finial, while on the panel is the Good Shepherd.

James Wales, in behalf of his Class, presented the 1901 kneeler. It is topped by a carving adapted from the frontispiece of the Class' Ivy. On the panel is St. Ferdinand, patron of engineers, recalling the railroad career of Martin Clement, '01.

The Delta Phi pew end which was presented by Fred Hinkel, '06, shows their badge on the finial and Dr. Adams' bookplate on the main panel. St. Jerome, patron of librarians, appears on the arm rest, and a book with Dr. Adams' titles is seen on the lower panel.
Bishop Walter Gray Elected Trustee

The Rt. Rev. Walter H. Gray, Bishop of Connecticut, has been elected a life Trustee of the College by the corporation at its June meeting. The eighth Episcopal Bishop of Connecticut, he succeeded the Rt. Rev. Frederick G. Budlong who retired last January 15. His predecessor has said, "There could be no Bishop better prepared to take over the reins of any diocese." Not only has Bishop Gray served the Diocese of Connecticut for ten years as Suffragan and Coadjutor but he has also had a dozen years of parish ministry as well as experience in the law and in the army.

Bishop Gray was born in Richmond, Virginia, on August 20, 1898, and after graduating from high school there enlisted in the Richmond Blues and participated in the Haute-Alsace and Meuse Argonne offensives as a second lieutenant in the 29th Division. After attending William and Mary College and the University of Richmond Law School, he was admitted to the Virginia Bar and became a special representative of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad.

With his characteristic courage and independence of mind, he shortly left this position to enroll in the Virginia Theological Seminary from which he was graduated in 1928. After his ordination by Bishop Tucker, he accepted a call to be assistant rector of St. John's Church, West Hartford. Early in 1932 he left to become Dean and Rector of the Nativity Pro-Cathedral at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

His success in revitalizing this parish played an important part in recalling Dean Gray to become Dean of Christ Church Cathedral, Hartford, in 1937. Here again the effectiveness of his preaching and organizational ability was evident in a quick and remarkable growth of program and resources.

In 1940 the Diocesan convention elected him Suffragan Bishop. Trinity, Virginia Theological Seminary and Berkeley Divinity awarded him honorary degrees. The new Bishop quickly became an invaluable assistant to Bishop Budlong, and on December 6, 1945, he assumed office as Bishop Coadjutor.

Bishop Gray was the first chairman of the Connecticut Interracial Commission, first President of the Lehigh Valley Child Guidance Clinic, President of the Hartford Council of Social Agencies, President of the Travelers Aid and a director of the Hartford Community Chest. He is Secretary of the Prayer Book Committee of the House of Bishops and is past President of the Church Congress, a nationwide organization devoted to adult study among churchmen.

Bishop Gray married Miss Virginia Stuart Hutchinson on February 4, 1933, in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, and they have two children, Agatha and Parke. Since 1944. He has given many carillon recitals in Springfield, Albany, Niagara Falls and Toronto and for the past three years has been a full member of the North American Guild of Carillonneurs.

Melvin C. Corbett of St. James' Church, Danbury, will be a guest carillonneur and will play two recitals. It is hoped that there will be two or three other guest concerts.

Listening is best at least 500 feet away from the Chapel Tower, and the Chapel will be open for visitors.

Dr. Barber and Horan Granted Fellowships

Professor Laurence L. Barber and William F. Horan, '51, have been awarded Fulbright Fellowships to study in Europe. Dr. Barber, head of the Government Department, will be doing research work in Luxemborg while Horan, who graduated last month with honors in Economics, will attend the London School of Economics in London.

The Fulbright Act furthers international goodwill and understanding between the United States and other countries through the exchange of students, teachers and research scholars. Appointments are made by a ten man board appointed by the President, and the Fellowships are available to exchange professors, research professors or research students.

Emery Rothauser Dies

Many alumni will be sorry to learn of the passing on May 4 of Emery Rothauser, who for twenty-eight years had served the College as superintendent of Alumni Hall and Trowbridge Memorial. Since 1929 Emery was a familiar figure at every swimming meet and squash match.

Besides his wife he leaves two sons, Emery, Jr., and Henry, Class of 1942, who received his Master's degree this June, and a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Singer.

Summer Carillon Series Being Given Weekly

Roland Pomerat, carillonneur of Trinity Methodist Church, Springfield, Mass., will give a weekly series of carillon recitals from the College Chapel on Wednesday evenings at 7:15 p.m. July 11 through September 12. Mr. Pomerat is a well known organist in Western Massachusetts having been at Christ Church Cathedral in Springfield and the pilcher recitals in Springfield, Al
Earl Bailey Marks Half Century

Last June 7, Mr. Earl E. Bailey, versatile and tireless technician of Boardman Hall, marked fifty years of service at the College. Only the late Rev. Thomas Ruggles Pynchon, tutor, professor of Chemistry, Librarian, Chaplain, President and Brownell Professor of Philosophy, and the late James Williams (Professor Jim), faithful College janitor from 1823 to 1878, have served longer.

In 1900 the late Charles Lincoln Edwards was appointed the J. Pierpont Morgan Professor of Natural History. Boardman Hall had just been dedicated and Dr. Edwards quickly saw the need of additional help and the following year he arranged to have the late Professor Karl Wilhelm Genthe and Mr. Bailey join his department.

Working under these professors Mr. Bailey was quickly trained in the innumerable skills needed in a natural history department such as microscopes cared for and adjusted, cultures of microscopic life both animal and vegetable, plants processed, vertebrate animals made ready for class study, lantern slides made and run for lectures. Mr. Bailey also worked closely with Professor Genthe whose main field was Geology.

In 1905 the late Charles E. Rogers was appointed Professor of Engineering and this department was also housed in Boardman which added to Mr. Bailey's duties taking care of all the engineering equipment. In this same year Dr. Horace C. Swan, now Professor Emeritus of Physiology and Hygiene, and Medical Director, joined the faculty and his courses became a part of Boardman's growing family. It should also be added that Mr. Honey's mechanical drawing classes, Professor Flynn's Mathematics Department and Professor Urban's Philosophy and Psychology courses were taught in this building.

Thus through his early years on campus Mr. Bailey came in contact with these scientific fields and was able to imbibe much learning, but more important he was able to aid and succor the distracted and harassed teachers with his knowledge and ability to make things work when they should.

Professor Max Morse replaced Professor Edwards in 1911. Being particularly interested in biochemistry and enzyme study, he found Mr. Bailey an invaluable ready-made mechanician and maintenance expert. Professor Carpenter followed Dr. Morse, and Professor Walter Barrows became chairman of the Geology Department. Again Mr. Bailey was on hand to be of great help to these new faculty appointees.

When in 1913 it became necessary to have a bacteriological laboratory established on the third floor of Boardman, once more Mr. Bailey saved the College much expense by installing the necessary equipment.

Dr. Carpenter died in 1925, and his successor Professor Bissonnette was able to start his teaching here with the knowledge that there was on hand one who could carry on the mechanical factors of the department. Mr. Bailey also played an important part in Dr. Bissonnette's researches.

Many alumni from 1924 to 1939 will recall the mass physical examination given to all the entering students by a corps of doctors and dentists. It was Mr. Bailey's guiding hand behind the scenes that made it possible to have the entire examination carried out in less than three hours—no small undertaking.

It is good to know that Mr. Bailey will continue his work in Boardman Hall.

Record Class Admitted in Fall

Faced with the possibility of a serious decline in upperclass enrollment, the college decided in January to admit a record size freshman class of 300 next fall. This is by far the largest class in the history of the college, the only one which came close to it in size being the mostly veteran class of 256 men which entered in the fall of 1946.

The fact that the students who are now of college age were born in the era when the birthrate was at its low point in this country, means that the colleges had less students from which to choose the class of 1955. Realizing this fact, Trinity's admissions office started early this year, and the representatives visited 208 secondary schools. About half were independent, and the other half public schools. As a result of this program and of the work of alumni in attracting students, there were 717 completed applications, only twenty-two less than last year.

Of the total of three hundred students, fifty-six will enter in the summer, and take one half of the full freshman course between June 25 and September 15. The remainder will enter in September. Resident students number 225 and the other 75 live in the greater Hartford area. This large resident class, added to the resident students in the upper classes, will give Trinity by far the largest number of resident students in the history of the college.

The distribution of the class is interesting and shows that the extended visiting program of the admissions office is broadening the geographical distribution of the classes. This year there are students from eighteen states, the District of Columbia, and three foreign countries. Thirty-five of the resident students come from the midwest, and only about 15 percent are residents of the state of Connecticut. Of particular interest this year is the number of sons of alumni, 14, which is by far the largest in any entering class at the college.

As the alumni scholarships which were made possible last year through the Alumni Fund were used to carry the men already in college on to the upper classes, there was no new alumni money for freshmen scholarships this year. This resulted in a decrease in the number of scholarships which could be given. There were thirty-five scholarships awarded. Of these, five are to residents of Illinois under that special scholarship fund.

The Alumni Association of Trinity, under the leadership of President Hugh Campbell, '32, sent out a letter to all alumni urging them to recommend good boys for Trinity. As a result of this letter, an additional 120 students had Trinity brought to their attention, and about ten of these have been admitted in the class of 1955. The local alumni associations in various cities throughout the country continued to do a fine job in attracting students to Trinity, and in interviewing prospective candidates.

The College feels that without alumni support the class of 1955 could not possibly be as strong as it is and that continued alumni support can give Trinity the same outstanding classes in the future that she has had in the six postwar classes.

In the class of 1954, the seven students on Illinois Scholarships averaged over 83% for the year, an outstanding achievement, which reflects the high caliber of students who attend Trinity on these scholarships. While the class of 1954 as a whole did not match the outstanding record of the class of 1953, it was still a good class by comparison with other post war classes. Only ten men had to leave for academic failure in June and athletically the class won 59% of its intercollegiate contests.

Major Frank L. Wilcox,
Class of 1880, Now Oldest Alumnus

Major Frank L. Wilcox, prominent industrialist and banker, is now our oldest alumnus. A Trustee from 1905 to 1952 and a member of the Advisory Council since then, he has always maintained his interest in college activities. For years he has been a generous supporter of College projects being particularly interested in the hospital care for needy students at the Hartford Hospital. Until recently Major Wilcox enjoyed attending football and baseball games at Trinity Field.

Born in Berlin, Connecticut, on January 6, 1859, Major Wilcox has been in good health and with his wife, the former Miss Harriet Churchill Webster, observed his fifty-third wedding anniversary last January 19 at their Florida home in Winter Park. They have two children, Margaret and Samuel, '25.

When Mr. Wilcox graduated from St. Paul's School, Concord, New Hampshire, in 1876 he was very well known for his ability as a great cricket player. His score of 94 runs in one match was the highest ever made by a boy there. On entering Trinity his interest turned to football for one of his St. Paul's classmates, Edward D. Appleton, brought with him to Trinity a copy of the Rugby Union Code. Inasmuch as Rugby was played at St. Paul's, Mr. Wilcox and Mr. Appleton were instrumental in organizing the new sport on campus. Mr. Wilcox also was a star baseball player, being a member of the team for four years. In his Junior year he was elected Class President. His fraternity is the Epsilon Chapter of Delta Psi.

After his graduation in 1880, Mr. Wilcox entered the employ of The Peck, Stow & Wilcox Co. as a clerk and six years later was named superintendent of the Kensington, Conn., factory. When the company moved to New York in 1889 Mr. Wilcox did not wish to go there and became treasurer of the Berlin Iron Bridge Company for ten years. In 1900 he was named President of the Fidelity Trust Company, Hartford, and in 1920 became President of the Berlin Savings Bank. He retired in 1940 and since then has remained Chairman of the Board.

Mr. Wilcox is a director of the American Hosiery Company, the Berlin Savings Bank, the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company and the Peck, Stow and Wilcox Company. He has always maintained an active interest in the Berlin Second Congregational Church and in the Berlin town affairs.

His title of Major stems from his activities with the Governor's Foot Guard and he commanded the First Company from 1908 to 1916. Upon his resignation, he was named to the honorary staff and has been referred to since then as "The Major."

Major Wilcox served Berlin in both houses of the General Assembly, being representative in 1893 and senator in 1903.

We wish Major Wilcox many more active years of health and happiness.
Vogel's No Hitter First in Trin's History — Team Defeats Wes Twice

Fred Vogel's brilliant no hit, no run pitching as the Hilltoppers edged Tufts 1-0 in ten innings, two victories over Wesleyan, and a thrilling ninth inning rally that upset Holy Cross 5-4, highlighted the season as the team wound up with a 10-7 record. Vogel's masterpiece was the first no hitter ever delivered by a Blue and Gold pitcher. He struck out twelve of the Jumbos, walked five, and permitted only one ball to reach the outfield which was easily caught.

The first of the Wesleyan games was a typical battle royal between the old rivals. The Cardinals pushed over five runs in the eighth inning to take a 7-4 lead. Six walks and a force out gave the Hilltoppers four runs in their half of the eighth, and Charlie Wrinn snuffed out Wesleyan's ninth inning threat by striking the final batter with runners on second and third. In the second game every Blue and Gold batter made at least one hit as we won 14-8 with Hum DelMastro's homer and Bob DrewBear's triple being the big blows.

Against Holy Cross, Fred Vogel and Dick Bogdan hooked up in a brilliant pitching duel for seven innings. Then two Trinity errors, followed by a tremendous triple by Mossman of the Crusaders, gave the visitors a 4-1 lead as the Blue and Gold came up for the last time. Four singles and a Holy Cross error tied up the game and left Charlie Wrinn on third. Holy Cross changed pitchers at this point and on the second pitch to Fred Parsons, Wrinn broke for the plate on an expected squeeze. Parsons missed the ball, but the Crusaders' catcher dropped the ball as he tagged Charlie and the game was over.

After this thrilling win, the team lost to Massachusetts University, Columbia and Springfield before turning back Coast Guard 4-1. The Williams game was rained out and Amherst defeated the Blue and Gold 13-6 despite a triple play by Hum DelMastro and Bill Goralski. Nine Amherst singles in the sixth inning broke up a 4-4 tie. Wrinn turned back Worcester Tech giving up only two hits, but in the final game at Commencement against Yale neither he or Vogel were any puzzle to the Bulldogs as they pounded out seventeen hits and an easy decision before 1500 fans.

Captain Eddie Ludorf, who won the Dan Webster award as the best all-round player, is the only regular to graduate so that Dan should have another successful team next season. Bob DrewBear received the John Sweet trophy as the team's leading batter with an average of .304. Bill Goralski and Hum DelMastro had .284 and .279 averages with Bill leading in the most assists with 46, the most put outs, 44; and the most stolen bases, 7.

Gay Reunion crowd gathers before Yale game. Right, Murray H. Coggeshall, Captain of the 1896 team, throws out first ball.

Ransom Sets New Low Hurdle Record

Paced by Captain "Lucky" Ransom who set a new College low hurdle record of 24.5 and who tied Ray Halsted's 1947 high hurdle record of 15.4, the team defeated Massachusetts University, Worcester Tech and Middlebury, tied Coast Guard, and lost to Wesleyan by the narrow margin of 60-1/3 to 65-2/3. Bob Jachens, 1950 Intercollegiate and New England high jump champion, soared to six feet six inches against Wesleyan and just missed at 6-6 1/2 in an effort to beat his record of 6-6 3/8 made last spring. Bob won his specialty at the New England Intercollegiates, tied for first at the Easterns, but failed to qualify at the Intercollegiates.

"Newt" Leo turned in some fast times in the 220 yard dash and was a consistent point winner in the quarter. Captain-elect Bob Hunter had a good season in the javelin winning first in all the meets. He should set a new College record next year as he came within 10 inches of the 179 feet 4 inch mark set by the late Mark Rainsford in 1939. Jack Bird and Ed Kulas did well in the half mile and the discus.

Stu Parks, the genial coach, deserves many congratulations for turning out such a well balanced squad that narrowly missed an undefeated season.
Net Men Win Five

The varsity netmen defeated Massachusetts University; Clark; Rhode Island; American International and Worcester Tech and lost to Springfield; Amherst; Middlebury and Wesleyan. Dick Stewart, '53, retained the Horace G. Cleveland Tennis Trophy by again defeating Phil Mallon, '53, in the finals. Phil was elected Captain for next season.

The freshmen defeated Cheshire; Wesleyan; St. Thomas; and Nichols and were defeated by Choate and Loomis. Alan Rosenbaum and Mike MacKedon showed steady form and should make the varsity next year.

1951 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Sept. 29 Dickinson, Home; Oct. 6 Coast Guard, Away; 13 Hobart, Away; 20 Colby, Home; 27 Middlebury, Home; Nov. 10 Amherst, Away; 17 Wesleyan, Home; 22 Tufts, Away.

1951 SOCCER SCHEDULE

Oct. 6 Worcester Tech, Away; 13 M.I.T., Home; 20 Tufts, Away; 27 Mass. University, Home; 31 Clark, Home; Nov. 7 Yale, Home; 10 Amherst, Away; 17 Wesleyan, Away.

Freshman Baseball

Two fine wins over Wesleyan, 9-8 and 11-7, were the high points of the yearling's season. The Boothmen had an 8-5 record, splitting with high-powered St. Thomas and defeating Nichols, Yale Junior Varsity; Cheshire; Massachusetts University; and Monson. They lost to the Yale freshmen; Amherst; Suffield; and Loomis.

Dick Bentfield, classy shortstop, was easily the squad's leading player and batted nearly .300. Dick Rancati took enough time from his track duties to win the left field position and led the team with a .346 batting average. Al Smith, Charlie Mazurek and Johnny Bloodgood all pitched good ball. Bob Kalinowski, former Hall High captain, hurt his knee and had to give up his second base position to Dick Hines of Bristol.

Freshman Track

Art Christ's yearlings won all their meets turning back Choate; Massachusetts University; Wesleyan; Cheshire and Nichols in decisive fashion. Co-captains Bill Godfrey and Bill Sayalia set five new freshman records between them. Godfrey turned in a 22.9 in the 220 yard dash and leaped 22 feet 4 inches in the broad jump. Sayalia threw the javelin 167 feet 2 inches; the shot 53 feet 9; and the discus 124 feet 7 inches. The relay team of Art Von Thaden; Pete Norman; Dick Rancati and Godfrey set a new mark of 1:34.8 in the 880 yard relay.

Reserved Ticket Plan Announced

For all home football games there will be reserved as well as general admission tickets. To do this the Trinity side of the field will be moved to the East side. This was necessary because of the greater number of seats available on the East side. However, the best seats on both sides of the field will be reserved at the following prices: Sat. Sept. 29—Dickinson—gen. adm. $1.50—reserved $2.00; Sat. Oct. 20—Colby—gen. adm. $1.50—reserved $2.00; Sat. Oct. 27—Middlebury—gen. adm. $1.50—reserved $2.00; Sat. Nov. 17—Wesleyan—gen. adm. $2.00—reserved $3.00.

Note: The Wesleyan game will start at 1:30 p.m.; all others at 2 p.m.

Students and alumni will be given preference on seat locations on a first-come first-served basis. To be sure of good seats order early. Make checks payable to the Trustees of Trinity College and send your order to Ray Oosting, Director of Athletics. At an early date we can provide you with as many tickets as you will need for your party.

If orders arrive early enough, it may be possible to secure the same seats for all four home games.

Season Tickets Available

Season A. A. tickets for all sports may be purchased at $15.00 each. This ticket will provide a reserved seat for all home football games, plus admission to all other home athletic contests through the college year. The government tax will be included for the four home football games but not for other contests throughout the year.

Lacrosse

Under the direction of Baltimorians Frank Fiske, '51, and Ted Thomas, '52, the stick men did not have a successful season losing their six matches. Lack of coaching hurt the squad, although in the last two contests against Amherst and the Boston Lacrosse Club the Blue and Gold played a most creditable game.

Missing Team Pictures Wanted

The Athletic Department is anxious to complete its collection of team pictures which are in the entrance of the Sports Annex of the Field House. If any alumna would care to donate a team picture it will be most helpful to have identifications of the players. Pictures should be sent to Ray Oosting at the College. Should an alumnus care to loan one of the freshman records between them. Godfrey turned in a 22.9 in the 220 yard dash and leaped 22 feet 4 inches in the broad jump. Sayalia threw the javelin 167 feet 2 inches; the shot 53 feet 9; and the discus 124 feet 7 inches. Necrology

News of the death of Mrs. Ethel H. Babbitt, widow of the late Professor Frank C. Babbitt, on June 18 at Cornwall, New York, has reached the College. She was born on August 16, 1870, in Montreal, Canada, the daughter of Lewis A. and Emma F. Hall of Cambridge, Massachusetts. She leaves a son, Lewis H., '30; and two daughters, Frances and Katherine.

JAMES CULLEN, 1893

James Cullen, retired president of the Cincinnati City Ice and Fuel Company, died May 20 at his home on Hidden Valley Lane, Wyoming, after a long illness.

He was born at Newport, Kentucky, on October 30, 1870, the son of James and Sarah Eliza Gallup Cullen and prepared for college at the Rugby School, Covington, Kentucky.

Mr. Cullen entered Trinity in the fall of 1889 and graduated with his class in 1893. As an undergraduate, he was manager of the baseball team; an editor on the draft board during World War II; and treasurer and senior warden of Medusa. He was class vice president his senior year. His fraternity was Alpha Delta Phi.

Mr. Cullen started as a clerk with the Cincinnati Ice Company in 1893 and rose to be its president in 1912. It was then the largest ice company in the United States. He retired in 1938, but two years later was prevailed upon to go to Columbus, Ohio, to take over the management of the City Ice and Fuel Company's General Food Locker Department, consisting of eighteen locker plants throughout the country. He retired in 1944 and moved to Wyoming. Mr. Cullen was an active contributor of articles concerning the ice business.

Demopoulos Thanks Undergraduates

Steve Demopoulos, who while playing football for Wesleyan as a freshman in 1947 was critically injured on the first play at Trinity Field, continues to make steady progress.

In a recent letter to John Butler, Steve writes, "Chuck Kingston says you are faculty advisor for the College Campus Chest and through you I would like to thank the students for their generous check. Trinity has been more than kind to me since my injury and I shall never forget her.

"I certainly hope that if any Trinity men ever get down to Orlando they will stop in. My very best regards to the Class of 1951. I wish them all the luck in the world."
