THE TEN-YEAR DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM
1963–1973

Status as of June 30, 1965

THE $24,900,000 TEN-YEAR GOAL FOR BUILDINGS AND ENDOWMENT

TRINITY WILL RECEIVE $11,550,000 OF ITS TEN-YEAR GOAL IN THE FIRST FOUR YEARS.

Not reflected in the Graph are proceeds from the Parents and Alumni Funds of the next Three Years which will count in meeting the Ford challenge.
The Ford Foundation has honored Trinity College by making a $2,200,000 challenge gift. This comes to the College under the Foundation's Special Program in Education, the purpose of which is to "strengthen American higher education by assisting selected private universities and colleges . . . to reach and sustain new levels of academic excellence, administrative effectiveness and financial support." The Foundation's program is based on the belief that "regional peaks of excellence in privately supported education are essential to nationwide intellectual vigor and growth, to over-all academic institutional freedom, and to broad equality of educational opportunities."

To meet the challenge, the College must raise three times the grant, or $6,660,000, between July 1, 1965, and June 30, 1968. All cash, securities and items of a tangible nature, and income from bequests and life-income plans, received in this period may be counted toward the challenge except government funds of any kind, other funds made available by the Ford Foundation, directly or indirectly, and funds received for contract research. To meet the challenge will be no small task, but there is great optimism among the faculty and administration. The progress we have made, both academically and physically, in the past few years has been outstanding. Momentum has been created and this gift will add impetus and urgency to the task of completing our immediate goals.

This gift has meant that the goals of the current capital gifts campaign be revised upwards. The new goal is, of course, $8,800,000 in the three-year period ending June 30, 1968. Unpaid pledges toward the current campaign which will be fulfilled in this period amount to approximately $800,000. If we are to succeed and receive the entire $2,200,000 from the Ford Grant, we must raise the balance of $5,800,000 in new funds.

The money will be allocated as follows: $2,400,000 for the construction of a Life Sciences Center for Biology and Psychology; $3,700,000 for endowment for faculty salaries, scholarships and general educational purposes; $2,200,000 for a gymnasium and athletics center; and $500,000 for endowment for Watkinson Library.

In his announcement to the faculty and staff at a special meeting Monday, June 21, Dr. Jacobs said, "This challenge grant has resulted primarily from the devoted efforts of the Trinity family – faculty, administration and staff. There can be no doubt that the support given Trinity over the years by our alumni and friends alike was also an important factor in the decision of the Ford Foundation to make this magnificent gift to Trinity. I am deeply grateful to you all. I am confident that the goal will be reached, and in advance of the deadline."
Clear skies and comfortable weather helped Trinity Alumni enjoy the two-day Reunion, June 11 and 12. Color, evident throughout the Reunion, was most prominent in the red fireman costumes of the Class of 1925, which won the Board of Fellows Bowl. The decor of their reunion headquarters was a masterpiece of reminiscent photos and memorabilia concerning the achievements of the Class.

Attendance at the Friday afternoon Alumni Seminars, as well as at the buffet dinner, preceded by the usual clams and beer, exceeded expectations and was the largest in several years. John Dando's readings drew many alumni and wives and the usual fraternity meetings were held in the evening.

Saturday morning's activities included the Memorial Alumni Service, the Phi Beta Kappa meeting and an alumni panel on "The Difference Between Two Worlds." Reunion class pictures preceded the parade to the Field House for luncheon and the annual alumni meeting.

Most important was the award of the Eigenbrodt Trophy to John R. Cook '10. Alumni Medals of Excellence were awarded to Allan K. Smith '11, Herbert R. Bland '40 and Dr. Joseph N. Russo '41.

The Class of 1915 won the Jerome Kohn award for the greatest percentage of attendance. Vic Morgan '99 was the oldest alumnus present and Herbert Slate '40 came all the way from Honolulu for his 25th Reunion. The novel presentation of a "money tree" by the Class of 1940 on which was growing in full bloom a check for more than three thousand dollars as their 25th reunion gift to the College to establish a memorial scholarship fund.

The Hartford Area Alumni Association was awarded the Capen Trophy for its achievements during the past year.

Herbert R. Bland '40 had been voted the new Alumni Trustee for a term of six years. To the Board of Fellows were re-elected John P. Cotter '33 and William K. Paynter '37 as Senior Fellows, and John E. Friday Jr. '51 and Joseph A. Astman '38 as Junior Fellows.

In addition to the previous announcements President Jacobs announced that the Trustees had voted to hold Commencement henceforth on the first Sunday in June. Financially, the College will again end the year in the black. Concerning the work of Trinity students, he said, "The years at Trinity grow more interesting, more active, more satisfying. More than in any other year I have noted a significant pride in scholarly work among students of all classes. Never has it been so widespread. . . . Our students would bring outstanding credit to any college."

The meeting closed with election of new officers, which are listed on page 13 of this issue, and the singing of " 'Neath The Elms."
Annual Report to Alumni

It gives me great pleasure to report to you at the end of my first year as President that the Alumni Association has continued to be of service to the College.

Two new Area Alumni Associations have been formed this year—Westchester and Long Island.

Last fall the Association established the annual "Achievement in Life Award." The first recipient was Lucius J. Kellam '35, who received the award during half-time of the Homecoming football game with Amherst.

Publication of an alumni newsletter, Along the Walk, was undertaken. This two-page report was published four times during the year. A complete study of the college publications' schedule is being made in an effort to spread more evenly the flow of information and reports from the College.

The Alumni Interviewing Committee has again rendered invaluable service to the College. During the year, the Admissions Office referred 271 of the 1800 candidates for admission to the area committees. They were able to complete 203, or 75%, of the interviews and report back to the College. Furthermore, 91 outstanding candidates were revisited after they had been notified of acceptance by the College. This personal approach was indeed successful.

The Executive Committee voted that I appoint a committee to study the Reunion program. This will include the possibility of holding Reunion the weekend following Commencement, which will henceforth fall on the first Sunday in June. Another committee is studying the feasibility of adopting a schedule whereby three adjoining classes would hold reunion at the same time.

It was also voted to hold no Campus Conference in the Fall of 1965 since the capital campaign will be about to open in the Hartford area and many alumni will be involved in that effort.

May I take this opportunity to express the gratitude of the Alumni Association to our Alumni Secretary, John A. Mason '34, for his devoted work for the Association.

On my own behalf, may I thank the officers and members of the Executive Committee for their valuable assistance throughout the year.

Respectfully submitted,

SEYMOUR E. SMITH '34, President
Trinity College Alumni Association

The College celebrated its 139th Commencement Saturday and Sunday, June 12 and 13.

Class Day exercises and AFROTC Commissioning ceremonies were held Saturday. Thirteen seniors were commissioned Second Lieutenants in the United States Air Force. Later in the day Robert A. Dunlop, President of the Sun Oil Company and father of senior Richard G. Dunlop, delivered the main address at the outdoor Class Day exercises.

The Class History and Prophecy was a clever production in the format of “The Fantasticks,” in which the authors had taken part when the play was presented as one of the opening events of the Goodwin Theatre this spring. The two important awards made at Class Day were: The McCook Trophy to Edward J. Lazzerini and the 1935 Most Valuable Football Player Award to Rufus W. Blockidge III.

The Baccalaureate Service was also held outdoors in front of Northam Towers Sunday morning. The Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, delivered the sermon to the largest congregation in several years.

In the afternoon, the College awarded honorary degrees to eight leaders from the world of aviation, education, insurance, music, science and religion. Following the Commencement Address by Igor Sikorsky, inventor, designer and builder of the helicopter, two hundred and fifty young men received bachelor degrees, five fifth-year students were granted a second bachelor of science degree in engineering, and seventy-two men and women received masters degrees.

For the first time in many years the Valedictorian of the Class, E. William Chapin Jr., spoke for the class prior to receiving his degree. Chapin was graduated with honors in mathematics and general scholarship. Thirty-seven others received honors in various fields and a total of twenty-five were elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

It was a perfect day for camera fans and it seemed as though each family had at least one camera to record the important commencement event.
“Excerpts”

“Beauty – the message of involvement and responsibility”

“The ‘beauty’ and ‘goodness’ we find in the world, is God’s promise that the World is Good and is full of rich gifts which Man is to take and make profitable!

“The beauty we find in the world is God’s promise that out of the mystery of creation, by His Grace, health, and wholesomeness, and meaning, and fulfillment can emerge!...

“So that ‘beauty’ is the ‘message of involvement’ and ‘responsibility’ for you and for me, and for all men! And, because of this, we can say that ‘beauty’ is the ‘first fruits’ of ‘vocation’ on this Earth! Some men dig into the earth and all kinds of things emerge: metals that frame great buildings, coal that gives us power, gas and oil that furnish energy, and a whole ‘segment of mankind,’ through its crafts and skills, reflects the dedication of the Psalmist: ‘Except the Lord build the house their labor is but lost that build it!’ Some men plow the earth, seed it, cultivate it and so minister to the physical hunger of the human race! Some men are sensitive to the hurts that stem from the complex ways of highly organized society and the healing arts develop! Others, challenged by the injustices which are the product of man’s fiercest rivalries, take up that challenge in the interest of ‘fairness’ and justice is served by masters of the law!...

“What else this text: ‘And behold God saw that it was very good’ may mean, it means that God does not make mistakes! He is the best and most far-sighted of all planners! ‘Use it’ or, ‘abuse it!’ is the command which accompanies His gifts of Beauty and Goodness! And, at this command, the priceless ‘treasure’ implicit in God’s mystery of creation, the gift of ‘freedom’ is born and must be borne by those ‘made in His image’! Tragedies may come as a result of this ‘freedom’ — indeed, they do! But we cannot turn away saying ‘It is too much!’ For this is a ‘denial of God’ and a rejection of life!

“The Beauty we find in this world is God’s promise that this is His world, formed by His Hand, governed by His immutable laws and that the first law of life is to obey God’s will, as revealed in the fabric of Creation!”

From the Baccalaureate Sermon
THE RT. REV. JOHN E. HINES

“Nothing can equal the free work of free men”

When your 25th reunion takes place in 1990, many of you may be flying to New York or Boston or Hartford from other parts of this country or even from other countries of the world. It is possible the airplanes in which you arrive will have flown at speeds of 2,000 miles an hour or more. It is also possible that the connecting helicopter transportation available will take you from the jet airport in comfort to downtown Hartford at speeds exceeding 300 miles an hour.

There is no doubt that these and even greater and more spectacular achievements are definitely in the immediate further developments of the combined air and science and space industry. Speeds we think of today only in terms of our fastest fighter craft or space vehicles; numbers of passengers on each aircraft undreamed of today; an air transportation network carrying people from all corners of the earth, not only to major air terminals but directly to the world’s city centers. This combination of conventional airplanes for long distances and short-haul vertical lift aircraft will, in all probability much sooner than 1990, provide nearly door-to-door convenience — and all the way by air. The system is already here. The vehicles are either in existence or on the drawing board. ...

You young men have the good fortune to begin your life’s work in this great country of freedom and opportunity. Very few other countries of the world offer such privileges. In order to achieve happiness and success and to contribute something worthwhile toward human progress, nothing can equal the free work of free men. This is the foundation upon which the indisputable success of the United States of America has been built.

Let me close with the words of an outstanding man whose foresight over half a century ago made possible the construction of my first four-engined airplane in Russia, which, after a series of events, led to my coming to this country and thus to the honor of addressing you this afternoon. His philosophy, which I would like to leave with you, was this: Money lost — nothing lost; Health lost — little lost; Spirit lost — everything lost.

JOSEPH CLARK GREW, HON. 1942

Joseph C. Grew, United States Ambassador to Japan from 1932 to 1942, died in Manchester, Mass., May 25. Mr. Grew was the first man to rise through the foreign service ranks to ambassador­ship. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Joseph C. Grew, and five children, Mrs. Albert Levitt, Mrs. A. Grew Enelish, and Mrs. Cecil B. Lyon. His wife, the former Miss Alice deVer­man­dois Perry, died in 1959. Her grand­father, Commodore Matthew C. Perry, opened Japan to the world in 1853.

Born May 27, 1880, in Boston, Mass., a son of the late Edward Sturgis Grew and Annie Crawford Clark, he prepared for college at Groton School, Groton, Conn., and was graduated from Harvard University in 1902.

Beginning his diplomatic career in 1904, he held posts in Mexico City, St. Petersburg, Berlin and Vienna before being named chief of the State Department’s division of Western European Affairs.

After serving as a secretary at the World War I Peace Conference, he was named Ambassador to Turkey in 1927. His tour of duty in Japan was marked by constant warnings of the growing Japanese hostility, and on January 27, 1941, Mr. Grew calmed the Japanese minister who had plans for a surprise attack on Pearl Harbor.

In 1942 Trinity awarded Mr. Grew the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. After Pearl Harbor he was appointed special assistant to the Secretary of State, Cordell Hull. Later he became head of the office of Far Eastern Affairs and finally Under-Secretary of State. He retired in 1946.

Mr. Grew will also be remembered for his efforts to remove the diplomatic service from party politics and earned for himself the title “father of the career service.” He was the author of “Report from Toyo” and “Ten Years in Japan.”
Board of Fellows

The Board of Fellows, at its meeting Saturday, June 12, elected Robert Toland Jr. ’44 chairman for a two-year term. This is the first time a chairman has been named for a term longer than a year. Bob Toland was first elected to the Board in 1961 and was re-elected for a second three-year term in 1964. He joined the Office of University Development at Yale University as Associate Director, Corporations, in April 1964. Prior to that he had been sales manager of the National Blank Book Company, Holyoke, Mass., for eight years. He was graduated from Harvard Business School in 1949.

In discussing the role of the Board of Fellows, Bob told the editor that when the Board was originally established in 1845, the members served as the “official examiners” of the College in matters, academic and otherwise. The function of examiner, particularly in matters academic, has, of course, long since past. “In recent years,” he continued, “the Board has acted more as a sounding board for the three main segments of the College: student body, faculty and administration. It has made recommendations to the Board of Trustees and initiated programs that seemed appropriate. Sponsoring the Visiting Committees has been one of its active projects in the past few years.

“Since the Board of Fellows considers itself a service group to the entire Trinity family,” he concluded, “we welcome suggestions and comments. We hope that alumni, in particular, will feel free to direct their comments to me or to any member of the Board.”

The following is a list of the present Board of Fellows with the date of expiration of the term for each member.

The first members of the Founders Society were honored commencement weekend when a plaque was placed in the second floor foyer of Mather Hall. The plaque with names lettered in blue lists the 1963-64 members.

Membership is granted on an annual basis with a gift of one thousand dollars or more for unrestricted purposes. Thus, a contribution of one thousand dollars or more to the Alumni Fund or Parents Fund automatically qualifies the donor for one year’s membership in the Founders Society. (An endowment gift of $75,000 for unrestricted purposes entitles the donor to life membership.)

Members were invited to the Inaugural Dinner of the Founders Society on December 11, 1964. Dr. Murray S. Stedman, chairman of the Department of Government, spoke on the subject of religion and politics in America. A special edition of Dr. Stedman’s address was published and sent to the Founders Society Members; each member also received a scroll.
The Capital Campaign and Annual Funds

A number of you have asked questions about Trinity's fund raising plans for the present and future. What is the ten-year development program's goal? Does this mean there will be one long capital campaign or will there be two short ones? Will the annual funds—the Alumni Fund and Parents Fund—continue throughout this period? Why? And what does the term Decisive Quadrennium mean?

Quadrennium comes from the Old French quartier which meant the fourth part of a pound or of a hundred. Trinity is using the term to describe that twenty-five year period between 1948 and 1973—the quarter century between its 125th anniversary and its 150th. More than fifteen years have passed in the quadrennium: a fifteen-year period that has marked a new stage of growth and strength for Trinity. But what Trinity accomplishes in the next ten years will, in large part, determine Trinity's future. It is a Decisive Quadrennium.

The ten-year development program, announced last Fall, has a goal for endowment and physical facilities that totals $24,900,000. The bulk of this is to be sought in two capital campaigns.

I

Included in the ten year program is a continuing emphasis on annual giving. The annual income from the Parents Fund and Alumni Fund has played an increasingly significant part in the College's annual budget. (The $200,000 from both funds in 1963-64 for faculty salaries and scholarships was equivalent to the yield on an endowment of $5,000,000 at 4%). To meet the increasing needs of the College—to maintain Trinity's strength in the future—the revenue from increased annual gifts is essential in coming years. (The only substitute for annual gifts of $400,000 in 1973 is an additional endowment figure of $10,000,000.)

Annual funds are a "must" each and every year. In fact, the goals of the Parents Fund and Alumni Fund will be necessarily increased in the coming years.

Therefore alumni and parents are being asked to maintain and, hopefully, to increase their annual giving to the college and to make in addition, a substantial one-time pledge to the Capital Campaign. (In capital campaign years, however, it was agreed to conduct spirited but swift drives for annual funds and to avoid dual solicitation in rapid succession.)

Further, the Trustees of Trinity College reserved a certain portion of the Capital Campaign receipts to meet current expenses. Should the annual funds fluctuate in the course of the Capital Campaign, there would be funds available to supplement the annual gifts and thus to meet the current needs. Hopefully, such allocations would be a minimum; (the smaller the allocation, the sooner the capital goals are met): But an allocation of any amount would mean that every alumnus and parent contributor to the Capital Campaign would also be a participant in the Annual Fund.

II.

Because of the launching of the Capital Campaign in several areas in the country in the winter and spring of 1965, solicitation for the annual funds was chiefly limited to two and one-half months in the fall.

It is an index of alumni and parent generosity and eagerness that, in such a brief period, 2335 alumni contributed $115,592 and 573 parents gave $36,766.

To reach the target goals, $49,408 is being allocated from alumni capital gifts and $13,234 from parent contributions to the Capital Campaign.

III.

Trinity is lastingly grateful to all alumni and parent contributors to the College.

To you who have given, to you who have worked on the annual drives and the Capital Campaign—many thanks. You have helped further to strengthen Trinity.

Albert C. Jacobs
President
Annual Fund Reports
The Parents Fund exists to strengthen Trinity by providing current income for faculty purposes. A testament to the Parents Fund and to Trinity may be seen in the results of the 1964-65 Parents Fund drive. In the concise solicitation period of eight weeks, 573 parents contributed $36,766. Many of the contributors were parents whose sons were graduated from Trinity last year up to a dozen years ago. Many other contributors also made generous pledges to the Capital Campaign. I wish to thank all those parents who volunteered to serve on the Fund Committee. And to all of you who supported the drive, many, many thanks.

Trinity's Alumni Fund is a "living endowment" for faculty purposes and scholarships. The Alumni Fund is essential to Trinity each and every year. I wish, at this time, to thank all those alumni who made this year's effort so successful: the steering committee, the class agents and assistant agents, special gifts and leadership gifts workers—and all who generously supported the drive. Trinity Alumni may well be proud of their Alumni Fund.
