IV. Drawing from his experience as a Communist and as your work for HUAC, do you believe in the Communist party? Mr. Lautner did not answer the question. Mr. Lautner did not answer the question. Mr. Lautner did not answer the question.

Mr. Lautner stated that the Communist party is the "most practical" platform and opinion of the John Birch Society. He stated that he had been involved in political activities, and named as an example participating in the Civil Defense Program as a member of the HUAC. Patriotic ‘Pablum’

True to the Tripped tradition of 16-volumes reporting, we feel constrained to bring the following information to the attention of those who enjoyed the HUAC film.

There were 100 (that’s the rumor) and it migrated south to Beef & Kistler for a three-day ‘Freedom Forum’ but at the King’s College meeting you think this is kind of expensive for patriotic purposes. ‘Pablum’ is the companion of the dinner conversation that will be performing.

At 4 p.m., there will be a command to walk, run, duck or break the law. Neither, however, can we offer any meetings in public places. Some will be arrested, lecture in the presence of the ‘little three’. We want to participate in such exercises in self-delusion or deceitful apologia for these strange games. Those who have the jump on the ‘little three’ this time!

No ‘Deceitful Apologia’

(The following editorial appeared in the April 27, 1958, issue of The Trinity. It was specifically written with the massive civil defense games in mind the next day. It is particularly pertinent in connection with the story in this Tripped which was assigned before the Frost on the 22nd of April, 1958.

The Office of Civil Defense began its eighth nationwide game last Tuesday and Wednesday; however, the game is called on account of enemy missiles, nobody will be invited to join the fun and games.

Did we invite them? When the storms go off at 4 p.m. they will be turned away at the door. Let them know what they are missing and that is the purpose of this meeting of the citizens. It does mean that the HUAC had dealt with the内置HUBS.

As on previous occasions, groups of students and adults will be tents at the Committee on Public Safety, to make-believe fires, raising pretend-victims and in appropriate uniforms.

Anti-HUAC Article

Regarding your latest issue and the HUAC articles that were published in it, and that prejudicial attacks against the HUAC Committee and the Committee’s methods are dangerous to the just and right cause of the Committee. For the purpose of investigation, the arguments for and against the HUAC Committee are already present in the article, only that your letter brings them into the open.

The Committee film was thought of as “inadvisable” by many, but the Committee had been working on the script. They felt that if it were not released, the truth about the Committee’s activities would be brought up in the public meetings. They wanted to be able to present their side of the story, but they were unsure if it would be well-received.

The under-achiever program ended after the last 28 years, he said. The program was established to provide opportunities for students who were not performing up to their potential. It was a way to help them reach their full potential and improve their academic performance.

Foreign Perspective

BY HIN~SEAK LENG

The HUAC was a committee that was formed to investigate the activities of individuals and organizations suspected of being Communists. It was seen as a way to combat communism and prevent it from spreading in the United States. The committee had the power to investigate and question anyone suspected of being a Communist, and it had a significant impact on the lives of those who were investigated.

In an article entitled “The American Communist,” the New York Times pointed out that the Committee on Un-American Activities has been “a source of alarm” to the American public.

The Committee’s activities have been criticized by many as infringing upon civil liberties and as being motivated by political interests rather than by issues of national security.

The Committee’s actions have often been characterized as unconstitutional and as violating the rights of individuals.

The Committee’s power and influence have been questioned, and its methods have been criticized as being overly aggressive and as being used to suppress political opposition.

The Committee’s impact on American society has been profound, and its legacy continues to be debated and discussed to this day.

Bantams Lose To Yale, 6-4, Despite An Early Lead; Miscues Prove Fatal

BY ANDY MILLER

The Trinity Express

The Bantams failed to hold a 2-1 lead yesterday afternoon as Yale came back to win, 6-4, on the field of the Old Campus.

The game was characterized by poor fundamentals by both teams. The Bantams committed five errors, including the one that scored Yale's winning run.

With two runs in and Anderson on third, a Yale pinch runner was on second. An error by Jeff Chandor loaded the bases and an infield out brought in the tying run.

Pre-launch data

The Bantams had some chances to score but were unable to take advantage of the opportunities presented.

In the second inning, the Bantams loaded the bases with no outs. However, two quick outs put an end to the threat.

In the fifth inning, the Bantams had the bases loaded again with two outs. But a ground out ended the inning without a run scoring.

The Bantams stranded a runner on third in the third and fourth innings, and a runner on second base in the fifth.

The Bantams' offense was led by shortstop Mike Mininni, who had two hits and a run scored.

The Yale defense was solid, committing only two errors, both in the third inning.

The Bantams are now 1-2 on the season and will look to bounce back in their next game.
