Up From Fraternalism

Don't join too many gangs. Join few if any.

The crucial problem of cruel fraternity discrimination, which party is being humiliated, we are told; we are not told which some been deemed virtually unassailable. We might here just suggest three possible assailable points.

1. A grievance has been submitted to the National Affairs Committee by the students of the University of California, regarding the manner in which the University's Board of Regents has handled the matter of fraternities. The students have charged that the Board has failed to fulfill its obligation to protect the rights of minority groups, and that it has shown a lack of concern for the welfare of all students. They have also charged that the Board has failed to take into account the wishes of the majority of students, who are against the existence of fraternities. The students have asked the Board to reconsider its decision, and to take steps to ensure that the rights of minority groups are protected.

2. The Ohio Wesleyan Faculty has demanded the resignation of a new president, saying that the current president has not done enough to address the concerns of minority groups. The faculty has cited several examples of discrimination, including the fact that the president has not taken enough steps to ensure that the rights of minority groups are protected.

3. A student has filed a complaint with the Ohio Wesleyan Faculty, claiming that he has been discriminated against because of his political beliefs. The student has stated that he has been denied admission to the university because of his views, and that he has been denied access to certain university facilities. The student has asked the faculty to investigate his complaint, and to take steps to ensure that he is not discriminated against.

To the Editor:

The world is undergoing the greatest revolution in its history, and it is not too early to begin thinking about the future. The world is changing, and so must we. We must adapt to the new world, or be left behind.

One of the several people I know who are concerned about the future is Mr. Ferguson, who being highly interested in the arts. He has written several articles on the subject, and has given lectures on the topic. He has also been involved in a number of projects, including the creation of a new art museum.

Mr. Ferguson has said, "The world is changing, and it is important that we adapt to the new world. We must think about the future, and plan for it."

The world is changing, and we must adapt to the new world. We must think about the future, and plan for it. We must be prepared for the changes that are coming, and we must be ready to meet the challenges that lie ahead.

Other interesting answers were: "I would support the school rule," and others were: "I don't believe that fraternities is fun for those brothers suffering from immaturity." One frosh wrote, "rushing is a handicap. A student is forced to make frequent displays of their ignorance, their disinterest, and their lack of caring for others."

Frosh found pledges with "I expect more than just a group of pledges." One student said that the pledges were "more of a part of the group for good or bad, the fraternities are much better organized if they help attend the events and activities." A student added, "I would probably recommend a group of pledges."

The Assistant-Dean at Trieste Dominick wrote in a letter to the Trieste Times that the practice of "Hell Week" is not acceptable to either himself or the student body. He added that the practice is a violation of the "coleman's" activities and that it should be ended immediately.

Another student, John Smith, who is a member of the student council, also wrote a letter to the Trieste Times stating that the practice is a violation of the "coleman's" activities and that it should be ended immediately.
