World Strain Cancels Talks
By Indian Envoy, U. S. Red

NOV. 1 - Two speakers this week canceled scheduled lectures on campus due to recent international events.

Dr. Robert Mauze, Chairman of the Lecture Series, said today that because of the current situation on the Indo-Chinese frontier, Brig. Kumaer Nehru, India's Ambassador to the United States, had informed him that he could not come to speak.

Nehru was scheduled to be the third speaker of the current Lecture Series. His topic was to have been "Looking Ahead: A New Democracy in an Ancient Land."

In a letter to Political Science Club President Richard Schiro, Part A. of '24, Mauze asked that the date of his lecture sponsored by the Club be postponed.

THOMSON was scheduled to discuss "Commissar's He Philo-sopy, Policy and Tactics in the United States" on November 15. Ambassador Neher told Dr. Mauze in a telephone call that he had been asked by his government to record the lecture by the Committee on Television and Radio, which had received a grant from the Ford Foundation to record the lectures of the Political Science Club on television for a later broadcast.

The Ambassador indicated that he might reschedule his talk for February or somewhat earlier.

The New York Times reports that Senator William E. Borah (R.-Idaho) has been asked to accept the post of ambassador to the United Kingdom.

The Times also states that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has rejected a resolution passed last month by the House, which would have made it easier for Mr. Borah to accept the post. The committee's action was held up by a Democratic amendment, which would have made it necessary for Mr. Borah to resign his seat in the Senate before accepting the post.

The House resolution, which was passed last month, would have allowed Mr. Borah to accept the post without resigning his seat in the Senate. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, however, rejected the resolution, and the amendment was introduced by Senator Hiram W. Johnson (R-N.Y.), who is also a candidate for the post.

Senator John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) today reintroduced a bill that would allow Mr. Borah to accept the post without resigning his seat in the Senate.

The bill, which was introduced by Senator Kennedy in 1952, was reintroduced in the House by Representative Paul B. Johnson (R-Ohio).

Although the bill has never been enacted into law, it has been reintroduced in each Congress since it was first introduced in 1952.

Senator Kennedy today said that he would continue to support the bill, which would allow Mr. Borah to accept the post without resigning his seat in the Senate.

"I am pleased that Senator Johnson has reintroduced the bill," Senator Kennedy said.

"I believe that it is important for Mr. Borah to accept the post without resigning his seat in the Senate, in order to maintain the Senate's independence and to ensure that the Senate has a voice in the selection of ambassadors.

"I am confident that the Senate will support the bill when it is reintroduced in the Senate, and I will continue to work to ensure that the bill is enacted into law.

"The United States has a long history of appointing ambassadors who are not members of the Senate, and I believe that it is important to continue that tradition, in order to ensure that the Senate has a voice in the selection of ambassadors.

"I am confident that the Senate will support the bill when it is reintroduced in the Senate, and I will continue to work to ensure that the bill is enacted into law.

"The United States has a long history of appointing ambassadors who are not members of the Senate, and I believe that it is important to continue that tradition, in order to ensure that the Senate has a voice in the selection of ambassadors.

"I am confident that the Senate will support the bill when it is reintroduced in the Senate, and I will continue to work to ensure that the bill is enacted into law.

"The United States has a long history of appointing ambassadors who are not members of the Senate, and I believe that it is important to continue that tradition, in order to ensure that the Senate has a voice in the selection of ambassadors.

"I am confident that the Senate will support the bill when it is reintroduced in the Senate, and I will continue to work to ensure that the bill is enacted into law.

"The United States has a long history of appointing ambassadors who are not members of the Senate, and I believe that it is important to continue that tradition, in order to ensure that the Senate has a voice in the selection of ambassadors.

"I am confident that the Senate will support the bill when it is reintroduced in the Senate, and I will continue to work to ensure that the bill is enacted into law.

"The United States has a long history of appointing ambassadors who are not members of the Senate, and I believe that it is important to continue that tradition, in order to ensure that the Senate has a voice in the selection of ambassadors.

"I am confident that the Senate will support the bill when it is rein
Three Students Offer Fine Arts Facade Plans

OCT. 31 - Robert Vogel, Dean of Graduate Studies, said today that three students had submitted Suggestions in response to the Tripod editorial concerning design ideas and plans for the proposed Fine Arts Center.

One responder, a freshman who corresponded by letter, suggested a grecian style much like the long walk. Of the two juniors who came to Vogel’s office, one suggested a contemporary approach, because a building dedicated to the creative arts should be creative itself and not imitate other styles of the past.

The other junior favored a compromise, following the style of the library. He also hoped that some use be made of the flat roof such as a patio or outside studio. Vogel said that utility of the roof had been over-looked, but that he would bring it to the attention of the Fine Arts Committee.

Dr. Shapley’s reputation stems in part from his research work in cosmogony — the origin of the universe; spectroscopy — the science which measures the intensity of light; and astronomy which measures the dimensions of the galaxies. His best-known work include “Star Clusters” and “The Inner Metagalaxy”, his best-known popular work, “Stars and Ideas” (1957), has been published in five languages and in a paperback edition.

At the lecture, Shapley will outline the development of such works and how life, as well as the mysteries of the universe, may be studied from his work on the galaxy.
The University of Hartford will sponsor a jazz concert on Nov. 11 at 8 p.m. in the Student Union. The concert will feature the UH Jazz Concert, an ensemble consisting of approximately fifty students, which does not fall .2 below the all-college average for any four semester period. The UH Jazz Concert is divided into two parts: a traditional big band feature, which will include a combination of American and contemporary jazz, and a smaller, more intimate feature, which will include more contemporary and experimental jazz.

Studens are encouraged to attend the concert to support local music and to enjoy a night of entertainment. The concert is free and open to all students, faculty, and staff. For more information, contact the UH Music Department at 860-768-7202.
Sallah's Double Sinks Union

Trinity 2, Union 1

Sallah scored the winning goal at five minutes of the second quarter. Union tied in a corner kick, with captain John Pitcin getting the assist.

TRINITY CONTROLLED the ball 80% of the time on the wet terrain and only 20% was time lost. The ball was enmeshed in its own territory, Ed Lanzzaro and Griselda Van der Schroeft were great middies throughout the game in a game with a minimum of passing because of the inclement conditions.

The team has three games left against Amherst, Coast Guard, and undefeated Wesleyan. Trinity will have a ten day rest before its next game on September 22nd.

According to some observers, the Union goalie and went into the game with a minimum of passing because of the inclement conditions.

Proper Vassar Girls

Let Loose!

Conspicuously missing from the Sunday New York Times Sports Section was the result of the Wash- downtook the other side and Vassar College Post Office — Box 373.

keeps plug up valuable experience from such a game. With all the women's college around, one is sure to prove that female sex is just as important to be played on the field as in the stands.

Washingtom Diner, Inc.

Breakfast

Orange Juice

Ham, Bacon or Sausage

2 Eggs, Coffee, Tea, Hash Brown Potatoes, Apple Sauce and Vegetables

Breakfast

Orange Juice

Ham, Bacon or Sausage

2 Eggs, Coffee, Tea, Hash Brown Potatoes, Apple Sauce and Vegetables

99c

60¢

Dinner

1. Baked Veal or Beef with Mashed Potatoes and Gravy...

2. Ham Roast Spring Chicken, Vegetables and Rolls...

3. Roast Stuffed Native Turkey, Cranberry Sauce...

4. Open Hot Roast Beef, Ham and Sandwich, and Vegetables...

5. Roast Stuffed Native Turkey, Cranberry Sauce...

Drinks

1. Coffee

2. Tea

3. Milk

4. Orange Juice

5. Milkshakes

6. Milkshakes

Let Loose!