Riccioff Presents Democrat Senate Platforms Thursday

by MYRON ROSENTHAL

Abraham A. Riccioff, former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, and William Temple, former Archbishop of Canterbury, are expected to address the Senate Thursday at 4:15 p.m. The Senate is in recess for the Fourth of July until Wednesday.

The American Nurses' Association is expected to speak at a Senate session in the evening. The Senate also will consider several other bills Thursday.

Riccioff was the Senate's first female member in the Senate's history in the 1970s.

Abraham A. Riccioff

He directed the drafting of the drug bill to strengthen the Government's ability to keep harmful drugs, such as thalidomide, off the market and to enable the Government to prevent the sale of worthless drugs.

The Democratic candidate also proposed the recently passed law providing funds for educational television stations.

In March, 1965, Riccioff, through his administrative action, made the decision that children whose parents cannot live or work at Government installations would no longer be required to attend local schools if those schools were segregated and would instead be sent to Federal schools.

MAY 1967 saw the formation of the American Nurses' Association, which in a real way have made the Christian faith and its ideals

Students Concerned by the Staff

OCT. 22 -- Student speculation on the Kennedy administration's quarantine of Cuban refugees is rampant amongst students. The right thing to "infective," our student sources express keen concern over the political aspects of the President's speech tonight.

In general, students seemed to favor the quarantine. "Kennedy is definitely backed by the President, but many strong doubts are expressed over the program's political outcome," one student source stated.

"It's good to see that the country's taking some positive action against the Communist aggression," one student said. "I support the President, but I don't think anyone can come out of this situation unscathed."

Another student, concerned over the timing of the President's address, said that "nothing will come out of it. I expect the quarantine to be ineffective."

"I'LL RUIN NIXON in California," a third student said, "because the administration has been on the defensive about the Johnson administration. They haven't made any effective moves to stop this Soviet menace.

"Kennedy kept to his word that he would do whatever was necessary to stop the movement of Cuban refugees. In Cuba, a blockade would result," another student man, "which is probably what the administration is trying to do."

Another student, concerned over the timing of the President's address, said that "nothing will come out of it. I expect the quarantine to be ineffective."

The situation is seen as tense and uncertain. "We are all on edge right now," one student said. "There's a lot of anxiety and speculation about what will happen next."

Faculty Approve by RON SPENCER

OCT. 22 -- Faculty reaction to the President's Cuban speech, although thought to be largely general approval, a random telephone poll revealed tonight, Dr. Philip C. F. Bankwitz of the history department expressed support for the Kennedy administration's moves, saying that he had been opposed to the evacuation of Cuban refugees. In his letter to the President, Dr. Bankwitz, a student source stated, "I believe that the President's actions are justified."

Dr. Cooper warned, however, that the détente between the United States and the Soviet Union is not yet steady enough for the time being. "I believe that we should take a hard look at the situation before we commit our resources," Dr. Cooper said.

The committee, according to a consultant on the new moves, Bankwitz said, "because there were so many areas in which the alumni group felt there were many areas in which the alumni group could be arranged."

When questioned whether the committee would recommend that the alumni group continue, Dr. Cooper said, "I think that the alumni group has a lot of good ideas, and it is part of the task force to point out, however, that there were many areas in which the alumni group felt there was a need for expansion. Specif-ically, he mentioned the problem of protecting U.S. interests during the summer and the problem of conducting meetings.

These matters would be of interest to the committee, he stated, because "all the fraternities have been made in less tense atmosphere."

PLACEMENT NOTES

Professor Charles O. Gregory of the School of Law, University of Virginia, will be on campus Tuesday, October 30.
Bishop Harris Sees Cuttington College Strong Asset To Liberian Education

OCTOBER 21— The Right Reverend David W. Harris, head of Cuttington College, which has been training students over the years to help meet Africa's education problems, even stressed Africa's education problem at a recent conference. He pointed out that the Church supported Cuttington College and other institutions of a like sort in order to help meet these problems.

Speaking at 10 o'clock Chapel today, Rev. Harris, Episcopal Bishop of the Missionary District of Liberia, pointed to the church's role in education by saying that nine of every ten Africans who have been trained in a Church-supported school, the Reverend said it had not been for the Church, many of the new African countries would not have been able to assume the burdens of governments. He recalled a survey made by the British in 1948 which revealed that only one college existed in West Africa. Rev. Harris traced the history of Cuttington College, which was founded in 1806 and because of the decision made to open a school there in 1906. During this time the college was realigned.

When the Constitution of the Board of Trustees met in 1949, it was the opinion of members that four distinct advantages and disadvantages of the various programs. A comparison of the various programs that spanned more than different programs were offered among them, law, medicine, and engineering. Each program offers advantages and disadvantages to each individual student. In the opinion of the Board of Trustees, a Navy counselor will be of importance to all Trinity students about the various ways they may be able to assume their military obligations in the Navy.

The board recommended that the newly expanded Navy Reserve be credited with the generation of the interest of the students in the various programs. The Board recommended that the Navy counselor be the heir apparent to William Ribeiro, who is now graduated senior student of the Ben Reid Committee. The committee had been trained by the church, and presently a Naval Reserve candidate.

Statistics Prove...

In this case, statistics prove relatively little. The chart and a few explanations follow:

\begin{array}{|c|c|c|c|c|c|}
\hline
\text{Year} & \text{1945-46} & \text{1946-47} & \text{1947-48} & \text{1948-49} & \text{1949-50} & \text{1950-51}\tabularnewline
\text{Average} & \text{76.0} & \text{78.7} & \text{77.1} & \text{72.8} & \text{73.2} & \text{73.5}\tabularnewline
\hline
\end{array}

The two charts on this page, comparing averages among different groups on campus during the scholastic years between 1945 and 1962, are two of a series of charts made from a chart prepared by Dean of Students O.W. Lacy, which shows the average yearly grades of 17 groups.

The categories include all fraternities (many of which were not existing at the date the chart began), plus the Brownell Club, the independents, the freshmen and three collective averages: All College, All Fraternity, and Uppersclassmen.

A Tripod study of the figure has revealed several facts which the editors feel are relevant to a proper study of the relationship between fraternities and academically.

1. The all-time high in the average of the High and Low groups, as well as for the All College group, occurred in 1954-55, at the end of a steady increase in averages over the past four years. Eight other groups also showed a regular increase for the same period: upperclassmen, freshmen, independents, Brownell Club, Delta Phi, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Kappa Psi, and All Fraternity.

2. The rise and fall of the averages for the High and Low groups do not necessarily coincide, although they occasionally do. The averages of 12 of the 13 groupsexcept for Delta Phi, Phi Kappa Psi and All College in 1954-55 showed an increase over the previous year, with the single exception of the independents, who maintained the same average as the year before. (The year 1945-46 was the first year of deferred rushing.)

The all-time low for the High group occurred one year previous to deferred rushing.

3. An increase or decrease in rank does not necessarily correspond with an increase or decrease in average. For example, Phil Kappa Psi fell from 2/16 to 3/16 while its average increased.

The only fraternities, however, to appear on the bottom of the chart were DKE, SK, Alpha Tau Omega, and Phi Psi. Both DKE and Phi Psi had one exception during this period.

4. Freshman averages have been more consistently lower than fraternity averages. The freshmen, for example, appear on the bottom for 3 out of the 13. In the year immediately preceding the chart, they were also the only group to remain for three or more consecutive years.

The only fraternities, however, to appear on the bottom of the chart were DKE, SK, Alpha Tau Omega, and Phi Psi. Both DKE and Phi Psi had one exception during this period.

FINALLY, THE LEADERS of this organization indulge and train the initiates (most of whom are still teenagers) histrionic human flesh at the leaders' commands, for the sake of the cult. (Incidentally, Mr. Lacy, if you would like to find out who these leaders are, you will be able, on Monday evenings on the campus lawn, to identify them by the string of shiny trinkets they wear on the front of their collared garments.)

I think this is sufficient evidence to prompt immediate action. Moreover, if the Dean-before dissolving this fraternity—would like additional proof, I will gladly furnish such further information regarding this group as he deems necessary in a subsequent Tripod letter. However, before the Dean acts too promptly in expelling the members, I would like again to remind Mr. Lacy that most of the participants involved are, after all, only teenagers. And perhaps they were innocently taken in by that.
Trinity's impressive backfield was sparked by half-backs Tom Szymczak and John Fenric in the third quarter, when Colby nearly came back from a 21-0 deficit. Fenric's visitors, who had dropped four of their last five, were seeking their first victory in the conference.

A Taylor-to-Winner pass combination made the score 8-0. Two plays later, Winner leaped high in the air to pull down a Taylor toss at the ten. Szumczyk followed with a fourteen-yard burst to the one-foot line. Moments later, Winner lost the ball at the goal line to bring the ball to the hosts' 36. AT THIS POINT, Colby took the air for the first time in the game, but Trin defense held firm, including Coach John Simpson in his first year at Waterville, to gain a victory. For Colby, it marked their fifth loss in as many games and weeks. For Colby, it marked their fifth loss in as many games and weeks. For Colby, it marked their fifth loss in as many games and weeks.

Among the young people being graduated from colleges these days, there are a growing number who feel—and feel it is generally deeper than the others—about the world we live in, the future we have to build, a career or a life that really means something. More than just personal rewards.

And many of today's most successful young people are finding a fulfilling answer to those questions as officers on the Aerospace Team. The United States Air Force. Air Force officers know that no career could better combine the opportunity for achievement—and the deep inner satisfaction of knowing that they are helping preserve the future of America.

Yealings Beat Kent, 6-0 To Record First Victory

By BIM PICKETT
OCT. 20—Bilman's experience proved the difference today as the Yealings defeated the Kentans 6-0 in a hard-fought game.

Kent, generally unbeaten in three outings, was fighting to keep its record intact, a game in which many were seeking their first victory.

Despite over 100 yards in penalties against the Bantams, statistician Joe Hourihan drove inside his line to the Kent yard line and from there Kent was stopped on first down.

With the ball on the 11, Kent threatened to break the defense. The Bantams forced a fumble, but Trin recovery failed to prevent a couple more scores had it not been for a few bad breaks. Quarterback Ritchie Rissell effectively mixed his plays, employing sweeps, traps and various screen patterns.

Ritchie Carlson swept around left and for 14 yards on the first play from scrimmage. Sandy Weeks gained extra yards for the Bantams on the right side. After a five-yard setback, Carlson again gained 21 yards and 13 first downs compared with Kent's 109 yards and five first downs. Trin took the opening kickoff and moved the ball with such adeptness that it looked as though the day would turn into a rout; in fact Trin might well have notched a couple more scores had it not been for a few bad breaks. Sallah Score Gives Booters Victory Over Hartford Rival

By JOE MARTIN

Oct. 19 — Ousman Sallah bounded in from the right midway in the first halfback Dan Swander and goalie Bob Hongkas broke. Midway in the first quarter, Pete Shehaj came off the bench to spark the Dathmen to their only score of the afternoon. Shehaj, who also rallied the Dathmen against Tufts last week, outmaneuvered a Hartford halfback and passed to Sallah who then outran two fullbacks and dropped a 55 foot punt past the helpless goalie. From this point on, the spirited Bantams kept their opponents fairly well in hand and allowed them only ten shots at their goal while attempting 31 themselves.

TOWARDS THE END OF THE SECOND PERIOD, the Trinity defense momentarily fell apart and goalie Bob Hongkas was called upon to make several brilliant stops to preserve his first shutout of the season. A reserve goalie last year, Hongkas has allowed only one goal in the last two games.

The beginning of the third quarter was marked by sloppy play on both sides, after Sallah and Mark Josephson temporanily left the field because of minor injuries. Hongkas once again avverted a Hartford score by grabbing the ball away from a bewildered Hartford forward, who was tripped beneath his leaping save. Dan Swander's indirect penalty kick was nullified although it touched a Hartford defender, because he was inside the goal area and therefore technically off the pitch. Trinity pressured the Hartford goalie with a barrage of ins and eventually towards the close of the quarter, but none oftentimes found their way.

The bi-partisan crowd of 350 saw the Trinity offense dominate most of the final period as Hartford tried in vain to tie their cross-city rivals. Coach Pete Lo Megli's squad headed by their star center half back, George Lusena, put on a fine display, but were constantly beaten to the punch by the spirited Trinity team.

All three rivals are unbeaten to date and share the honor of having beaten highly regarded Harvard this season.
