Month-Long Deadlock Ends
As WRTC Picks New Staff

MARCH 12 - On a fourth attempt, the trustees of the station selected a new board of directors consisting of S. Michael Fielder, congratulations director; William Wadlow, business manager; Thomas Wadlow, station manager; Albert H. Crane, executive producer and Harrison Huntion, public relations director, for the station. The constitution must take office by March 15, replaces Clarence Carruth, station manager; Alfred Faxon, business manager; Charles MCGILL, program director; Thomas Wadlow, technical director; E. Michael Field, chief announcer; Robert H. Clarke, executive producer; and Charles Todd, public relations director. Failure to approve the first proposed board imposed an inflection to the board and allowed for the negative and affirmative campaigns to continue, but neither side has yet to prevail. The ratification by a 38-35 margin.

The first slate proposed by the station was defeated by both sides, but the second slate, offered by the station, was ratified by both sides. The second slate was defeated by both sides, but the third slate, offered by the station, was ratified by both sides. Failure to approve the first proposed board imposed an inflection to the board and allowed for the negative and affirmative campaigns to continue, but neither side has yet to prevail. The ratification by a 38-35 margin.

Tom Draper, a philosophy major, elected a new board of directors on February 14. By the station constitution, the board must be elected on all or none basis. Thomas and Berger are both members of Phi Beta Kappa and active in the community.

Fellowships Granted To Berger, Thomas

MARCH 14 - Seniors Harvey W. Thomas Jr. and Donald C. Berger have been named Woodrow Wilson Fellows for 1963-64, announced Sir Hugh Taylor, president of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation.

Each fellowship covers tuition and fees for the first year of graduate school. The fellowship is available to students who have not recently been working for the station. The fellowship will still have their voting privileges, a tradition that has been abandoned by both sides in an attempt to resolve the impasse.

Failure to approve the first proposed board imposed an inflection to the board and allowed for the negative and affirmative campaigns to continue, but neither side has yet to prevail. The ratification by a 38-35 margin.

The third ballot, a repetition of the first slate proposed with one exception: William Wadlow was replaced by Thomas Wadlow. This slate was defeated by both sides, but the first slate proposed by the station was ratified by both sides.

The so-called "modern liberals," remarked Lupton, are engaged in a campaign to "defuse" the concepts of freedom, truth and hard facts. He emphasized the role of the nation's press - "the only real vehicle for a politician's ideas in this country." To the critics who describe "sac- rifices" such as the United Nations as "half-hearted" associations with political parties and ideas, he said, "there is no future for political parties as long as they are in other countries such as Russia."

In announcing the Woodrow Wilson Fellowships, Lupton, the recently appointed head of the philosophy club, and a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, praised the students for their scholarly contributions and their dedication to the highest standards of scholarship.

NEW CURRICULUM STUDY
The Mathematics Department

This is the eighth in a series of Departmental discussions of the New Curriculum.

Chairman of Mathematics and Natural Philosophy

Harold Laird Dorwart contributed to the junior courses next year under the new curriculum.

The department has had, and continues to have, many discussions concerning the implementation of plans for the new curriculum. The basic outline is ready although not all the details have been completed.

There will be four core courses for all mathematics majors under the new curriculum. MATH 105, 106 (both in freshman year unless the student is exempt from this course by virtue of his grade on the Advanced Placement Examination or the corresponding examination now given at Trinity each September), MATH 201, 202 (special section for majors), MATH 303, 304 (advanced calculus).

had worked to destroy 19 out of the last 21 civilizations.

To further illustrate the liberal stand taken by modern conservatives, Lupton stated that the only group which has been able to defend the guaranteed independence and economic freedom of individuals, with the help of non-workers union. There is the result that liberal conservatives, with whose same defense is clearly political.

He cited the question of the Cuba blockade and said that whereas "modern conservatives" first took the liberal stand "as a matter of principle," the "modern liberals" came to it as "a matter of military, perhaps even political necessity."

In the field of education, said Lupton, today's conservative is the one who "defends the liberal arts against the encroachment of materialism," while the liberal modern liberal "pushes scientism to excess."

In their desire to convince the people of the inevitability of the absolute state - an attitude which, Lupton holds, has become manifest in contemporary education - the real liberals of the "modern liberation" must be carefully tested and questioned.

During the discussion period following the lecture, Committee members viewed the twofold program of the recently formed Students' Committee. The Committee was designed, first, to revive the Republican city machine by placing racers in important urban centers, and, second, to become a "philosophical blood bank" for the party, publish newspapers and training recruiters who could work in the cities.

The Kent State Inter-Fraternity Council is looking into the possibility of printing its own newspaper to expand coverage of its activities, according to the Daily Kent Stater. The newspaper would provide a supplement to the TALE DAILY. It would be a "large animal house with an associated area for study of animal behavior from both the biological and psychological angles," according to THE SOPHIAN.

The aims of the organization, according to senior Henry Whitney, are, "providing a forum for the expression of different viewpoints, and an added incentive to the membership of WRTC-FM is un

Winter Team Heads Chosen At Banquet

MCBC A - Captains for the 1963-64 winter teams were chosen and special awards were given for outstanding athletic achievements during the past season tonight at the Winter Sports Banquet.

John Fenrich outlines all others by his achievements. He was chosen basketball captain and received the Arthur Walburn "Outstanding Basketball Player" award. Basketball Coach Jay McGowansannounced that Fenrich finished second in rebounding in the college division during the past season. Then Master of Ceremonies Karl Kurth topped things off by saying that Fenrich, as of this afternoon, is the college intramural heavyweight wrestling champion.

Bill Koretz will captain next year's swimming team, while Player Crosby will lead the squash team. Also, Tom Taylor will captain the lacrosse.

In basketball, Barry Leghorn broke his own single season scoring record and received the coach's foul shooting trophy. During the season he completed 103 out of 133 free throws for a new college record of 76.9 percent accuracy. Brian Brooks received a gold medal for his three varsity basketball letters.

The John E. Slowik Most Valuable Swimmer Award went to Fred Frillasman and the Robert Slightest Award Most Improved Swimmer Award went to this season's Co-captain Bill Koretz.

Despite their poor seasons record, the agamon still set six college records. Frillasman set a new 50-yard freestyle record of 22.6. Fenrich broke the college standard in the 200-yard butterfly with 2:24.5; and Ashworth set a new college record of 2:13.8 in the 200-year butterfly.

The other four records went to this year's co-captain Steve Yeaton and Dick Chang.

In squash, Bob Pope received a gold medal for three letters in the sport and won the Newton C. Brainard trophy awarded to the college squash champion. Also, Sophomore Paul R. Zimmerman won the John A. Mason "Most Improved Squash Player" award. The Informal sports, fencing and hockey, were also honored. Fencing Coach Ken Shilliller was unable to designate a single person to receive the "Outstanding Fencer" trophy, and so awarded it to this year's Co captains Steve Yeaton and Dick Chang.

John Fenrich, Bill Koretz, and Player Crosby
