Dedication Made to Jessee; Alumni Honor O'Malley '35

Robert O'Malley '35, the "sports plug" back on the 1929 and 1937 College football teams and now practicing surgeon and author of professional articles became the third recipient of the "Varsity T in Life Award" at the homecoming luncheon in the Field House, Saturday, preceding the 50th renewal of the Trinity-Amherst football rivalry.

The presentation was made by Andrew Cunderdok '34, president of the national alumni association. During his four years at the College, Dr. O'Malley distinguished himself by winning three varsity letters in football, basketball, and baseball. Following his career here, he attended the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia University.

During World War II, Dr. O'Malley served as a lieutenant in the U.S. Navy and was discharged from the Marine Division as a first lieutenant and two bars.

For wounds received on Tinian he was awarded the Purple Heart. For "heroic achievement" under fire, he received the Bronze Star and two Presidential Unit Citation.

Since 1960, Dr. O'Malley has been practicing general surgery in his home town of Holyoke, Massachusetts.

In 1963, Dr. O'Malley was one of only three alumni named to the country named to receive the EDRHF Fellowship in the country for extramural All America Award.

Other recipients of the annual Alumni Athletic Award for Distinguished Service to Life, have been Lucius J. Kellam '25 and the Rev. George D. Hartman '29.

Executive Panel Reports

Today's Careers Not Dull

"Business is traditionally considered dull, but people become interested in it after they have become involved in it," asserted Robert L. Russell '22 assistant vice-president of Bankers Trust Company, at the first of six career conferences.

Mr. Russell reflected the opinions of three other panel members: Robert M. Palmack, manager of community relations for the Polaroid Corporation; Howard T. Smith, assistant employment supervisor for Travelers Insurance Company, and John Timlin, personnel manager for Time Inc. Each panelist spoke about his specific area and the qualities needed to meet the challenges involved.

Mr. Palmack spoke about the involvement and excitement generated by people in the publishing industry. He divided the varied industry into many categories and spoke briefly on each one. Mr. Palmack stressed that each individual knew what group was important to him before he made a career. He added that he might know more about the need for you to go because he was another. He also advised that applicants go preparatory research on the company with which they seek employment.

The second speaker, Mr. Russell, described what type of work today's banks are involved in. In his opinion, a bank's work is a combination of twenty years ago he said, today's banks and "department store banks" which become involved anywhere they can. Mr. Russell spoke of six Trinity alumni who are now employed at Bankers Trust Company in New York and in other departments and jobs. Commenting on the advisability of attending graduate school, Mr. Russell stated, "Our feeling is that it is a matter of personal choice. Students usually are seen by the bank to night school or in some educational program for further study after college graduation. The need for technical students, mainly those with backgrounds in Chemistry and Engineering, was stressed by Mr. Robert M. Palmack. He stated that one third of Polaroid's employees were involved in research into which the (Continued on Page 10)

Rock 'n' Roll Mass Applies New Beat to Religious Tone

Five hundred people jammed the Chapel on Sunday morning to attend the first presentation of the new service, "Jessee's Music for Two Keyboards". For the first time in the history of the Chapel the instrumental background for the mass comes from electric guitars stationed in the center of the room rather than from the more conventional organ.

The leading congregation in song was the college glee club and a rock 'n' roll band consisting of two guitars, bass, drums, and saxophone. None of the music was presented by groups alone, as the congregation soon joined into the singing as instrumental.

Chaplain Alan C. Toll gave his sermon in defense of the use of rock 'n' roll music rather than the usual "plain song and Hymn". He reminded the congregation that Jessee had made the ideal of song his theme of his talk at the Student Union. He concluded the talk with a brief outline of the points that were discussed.

The music that will be heard in the chapel in the near future will be the "Conversations in Jazz" on Tuesday night and the "Bones for Two Keyboards" at next Sunday's vespers.

Preceding the final football game on his home field after 35 years of service to the College as head coach, Daniel E. Jessee, professor of physical education, was honored with a plaque and a dedication of the Chapel and the alumni association, Saturday.

In presenting Jessee with a plaque, Andrew Cunderdok, president of the national alumni association, cited the coach's record as being the longest and one of the most distinguished of any active football coach in the country. He added the deep gratitude that the entire College and alumni association felt for this service, and noted the sadness with which the College accepted Jessee's resignation. A plaque was also presented by the end of the current academic year.

Following Cunderdok's presentation, Mr. Russell reflected the opinions of the panel, further lauded Jessee's record and added that hereafter, the football field at the College would be known as Jessee Field. During the President's remarks, a large sign on the electric score board at the south end of the field, was unveiled, preserving, in large, black letters, the new name of the stadium.

President Jacobs stated that "for more than a third of a century he (Jessee) has made a significant contribution to the life of the College. His work has complemented the work of the classics and helped to instill in hundreds of young men traits of self-reliance, courage, leadership, and devotion to the common cause."

Stories first arriving here in the fall from Jessee's music has come as an enviable record of 149 vines, 76 losses and seven ties, including Saturday's losing effort against the Harvard Yardmen. Throughout his career here, he has coached four undefeated teams, in 1949, 1949, 1954, and 1946, and has built up a total of 22 winning seasons, including the present in which the team has a record of five wins against only two losses.

Among his fellow coaches, Dan has been called the "most imaginative" builder of an offense in American Intercollegiate football, and last year he was named New England College Football Coaches Association by these same men.

Although he was often offered other coaching positions in larger schools, including one as head coach or an Ivy League university, "Jessee said as much as adding, "I like it at Trinity be- cause the boys who play the game."

(Continued on Page 10)

Olson to Give Sociology Talk

Urban and community sociology will be the topic under discussion by Donald R. Olson, associate professor of sociology at Clark University in Worcester, Massachusetts, in McCook Auditorium, at 8:15 tonight.

Mr. Olson, chairman of his department at Clark, holds a B.A. from the University of Arkansas, and a Masters and Ph.D. from Purdue University. He will bring his talk with a brief outline of exactly what sociology is, its relevance to life in general, and specifically how it fits into and supplements the conventional college curriculum.

The lecture to be sponsored by the Sociology Club, whose chairman, Michael M. Hitchens '63, is also a member of the panel, is under the chairmanship of Dr. Olson. His talk will attempt to stimulate students to a greater understanding of the subject, its possible value as an addition to the college curriculum.

IFC Forms Committee to Confront Violent Pledge Practices

Delta Kappa Epsilon was "formally accused" by the Interfraternity Council for "poor taste in the construction of pledges," according to the IFC minutes which were directed to take "immediate and appropriate measures, as well as to the judges."

In other business the IFC clarified its position on violations of pledging practices. The Council reaffirmed the position that violations of pledge practices (as described in the IFC Constitution) by any fraternity WILL NOT BE TOLERATED. Violations of pledging practices are defined as any form of physical hazing and kidnaping in any form.

The minutes also listed that cooperation of all fraternity men is to be "demanded." There was no indication given in the minutes of how cooperation will be gained, or any penalties outlined.

In further business the IFC announced the first inter-departmental football game which will be held Tuesday, Nov. 29 at 4 p.m. at the stadium. Because the stadium was given permission to Pi Kappa Alpha football team, the Interfraternity Council includes three freshmen entertainers at that house on Soph Hop weekend.
Mike Karp, Brahmins Highlight Pipes' Show

By Timothy G. Brosnahan

By Karp showed numerous sparks of humor as the audience watched him play off the Brahmin stereotype.

The Boston Brahmins, made up of three alumni, Steve Morgan ’65, Wadsworth, and Ebert ’69 literally took off on the stage with their humorous and energetic presentation. The audience was charmed by the witty and fast-paced performance.

In the beginning was the Beat, and the Beat was with God, and somehow the two got mixed up and it was difficult to tell whether the Beat was God or God was Beat. Anyway, the Rev. Herbert G. Dressel ’61, Rector of the House of Prayer, New York, New Jersey and Composer of the folk Mass, said, "The young music of the 1960's is part of the most important developments in music to date." And it was difficult to tell whether the Beat was God or God was Beat.

The管道 continued taking pointed but eternally corny shots at various aspects of society, and it was difficult to tell whether the Beat was God or God was Beat. At that point I realized what was wrong. That cliched split between the generations suddenly opened up a mile or more. Rock 'n' Roll! In 1966, the history, as any Beatlester, Beatlester, or Mammy and Poppa fan can tell you.

Professor John M. Monson asks:

"Gee, how come in a mass society like ours a premium beer gets to be the most popular? How come?"

PART TIME

$50 - $75 weekly plus bonuses. 3 mature students w/ cars. Deliver gifts to new mothers and learn sales. We train you. Leads provided. Write Parents’ Institute, 211 Congress St., Boston, Mass. for appointment.

Aw, Prof... the answer’s on the tip of your tongue.

THE REVEREND Herbert G. Dressel ’61 concentrates on keeping the rock ‘n’ roll beat that generations of past.

The background are pictured two of the combos that played for Droness.

500 “Swingers” Jam Chapel to Hear Drassel “Mass with Rock ‘n’ Roll Beat”

By Christopher Lees

Exhibit Shows At Wadsworth

The Wadsworth Athenaeum has announced an exhibit of sculpture by Tony Smith, which will open in the center of this exhibition space and will continue through December 31.

Thirteen large, flat-surfaces, geometric sculptures comprise this exhibition. Smith’s first one show the sculptures the structure of the exhibition space, Avery Court. The larges one, approximately 15 ft. high, 12 ft. long, and 15 ft. wide, "fixtures" will be installed at the base of the Maine House with cars. Deliver 12 ft. high, 10 ft. wide, and 20 ft. long, will be given to the public for an exhibition.

The largest piece of sculpture in the entire exhibition, GENERATION, measuring 35 feet high and 30 feet wide, is currently being installed outside in front of the museum and across the street is the Travellers Insurance Company’s "Tower Square." The largest piece of sculpture in the entire exhibition, GENERATION, measuring 35 feet high and 30 feet wide, is currently being installed in front of the museum and across the street is the Travellers Insurance Company’s "Tower Square."

Four large pieces, ranging in height from 11.5 to 12 feet, have been installed outdoors in front of the museum and across the street is the Travellers Insurance Company’s "Tower Square." The largest piece of sculpture in the entire exhibition, GENERATION, measuring 35 feet high and 30 feet wide is currently being installed outside in front of the museum and across the street is the Travellers Insurance Company’s "Tower Square."" The largest piece of sculpture in the entire exhibition, GENERATION, measuring 35 feet high and 30 feet wide is currently being installed outside in front of the museum and across the street is the Travellers Insurance Company’s "Tower Square."

The "Vie Rock" Play To Open in N.Y.

"Vie Rock", a new play by Meggan Tavares, will be produced at the Marlowe Theatre in New York. Miss Tavares is the first female to receive a degree in directing from the New York University School of Drama. The play opens on Monday, November 18, and will run for two weeks at the Yale School of Drama in New Haven.

Sandy Cooperstein, Jordan Charish, and onion Balbino are presenting "Vie Rock", which will have its world premiere at the Marlowe Theatre. "Vie Rock", starring Sandy Cooperstein, Jordan Charish, and onion Balbino, is a play about a group of young people in a small town. The play follows seven American teenagers as they experience the "Vie Rock" phenomenon. Sandy Cooperstein plays the role of Miss Tavares, a young woman who becomes involved in the "Vie Rock" movement. Jordan Charish plays the role of onion Balbino, a young man who is also involved in the "Vie Rock" movement. Sandy Cooperstein, Jordan Charish, and onion Balbino are presenting "Vie Rock", which will have its world premiere at the Marlowe Theatre. "Vie Rock", starring Sandy Cooperstein, Jordan Charish, and onion Balbino, is a play about a group of young people in a small town. The play follows seven American teenagers as they experience the "Vie Rock" phenomenon. Sandy Cooperstein plays the role of Miss Tavares, a young woman who becomes involved in the "Vie Rock" movement. Jordan Charish plays the role of onion Balbino, a young man who is also involved in the "Vie Rock" movement. Sandy Cooperstein, Jordan Charish, and onion Balbino are presenting "Vie Rock", which will have its world premiere at the Marlowe Theatre. "Vie Rock", starring Sandy Cooperstein, Jordan Charish, and onion Balbino, is a play about a group of young people in a small town. The play follows seven American teenagers as they experience the "Vie Rock" phenomenon. Sandy Cooperstein plays the role of Miss Tavares, a young woman who becomes involved in the "Vie Rock" movement. Jordan Charish plays the role of onion Balbino, a young man who is also involved in the "Vie Rock" movement. Sandy Cooperstein, Jordan Charish, and onion Balbino are presenting "Vie Rock", which will have its world premiere at the Marlowe Theatre. "Vie Rock", starring Sandy Cooperstein, Jordan Charish, and onion Balbino, is a play about a group of young people in a small town. The play follows seven American teenagers as they experience the "Vie Rock" phenomenon. Sandy Cooperstein plays the role of Miss Tavares, a young woman who becomes involved in the "Vie Rock" movement. Jordan Charish plays the role of onion Balbino, a young man who is also involved in the "Vie Rock" movement.

The Chapel to Host Jazz Postlude

"Conversations in Jazz" is the title of this evening’s Postlude program at 10 in the Chapel. A saxophone and flute will converge in free flowing jazz improvisation in the accompaniment of long drums. Three students will be included in the musical sextet. Neil Olson ’68, flute; and David Lippi ’69, trumpet. Similar improvisations were presented in honor of this year’s poet-in-residence, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, and the poet’s "Ode to Alaska," which was also performed at the event, and the art piece. "Conversations in Jazz" is the title of this evening’s Postlude program at 10 in the Chapel. A saxophone and flute will converge in free flowing jazz improvisation in the accompaniment of long drums. Three students will be included in the musical sextet. Neil Olson ’68, flute; and David Lippi ’69, trumpet. Similar improvisations were presented in honor of this year’s poet-in-residence, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, and the poet’s "Ode to Alaska," which was also performed at the event, and the art piece. "Conversations in Jazz" is the title of this evening’s Postlude program at 10 in the Chapel. A saxophone and flute will converge in free flowing jazz improvisation in the accompaniment of long drums. Three students will be included in the musical sextet. Neil Olson ’68, flute; and David Lippi ’69, trumpet. Similar improvisations were presented in honor of this year’s poet-in-residence, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, and the poet’s "Ode to Alaska," which was also performed at the event, and the art piece. "Conversations in Jazz" is the title of this evening’s Postlude program at 10 in the Chapel. A saxophone and flute will converge in free flowing jazz improvisation in the accompaniment of long drums. Three students will be included in the musical sextet. Neil Olson ’68, flute; and David Lippi ’69, trumpet. Similar improvisations were presented in honor of this year’s poet-in-residence, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, and the poet’s "Ode to Alaska," which was also performed at the event, and the art piece. "Conversations in Jazz" is the title of this evening’s Postlude program at 10 in the Chapel. A saxophone and flute will converge in free flowing jazz improvisation in the accompaniment of long drums. Three students will be included in the musical sextet. Neil Olson ’68, flute; and David Lippi ’69, trumpet. Similar improvisations were presented in honor of this year’s poet-in-residence, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, and the poet’s "Ode to Alaska," which was also performed at the event, and the art piece. "Conversations in Jazz" is the title of this evening’s Postlude program at 10 in the Chapel. A saxophone and flute will converge in free flowing jazz improvisation in the accompaniment of long drums. Three students will be included in the musical sextet. Neil Olson ’68, flute; and David Lippi ’69, trumpet. Similar improvisations were presented in honor of this year’s poet-in-residence, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, and the poet’s "Ode to Alaska," which was also performed at the event, and the art piece.

licht Postlude

"Conversations in Jazz" is the title of this evening’s Postlude program at 10 in the Chapel. A saxophone and flute will converge in free flowing jazz improvisation in the accompaniment of long drums. Three students will be included in the musical sextet. Neil Olson ’68, flute; and David Lippi ’69, trumpet. Similar improvisations were presented in honor of this year’s poet-in-residence, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, and the poet’s "Ode to Alaska," which was also performed at the event, and the art piece. "Conversations in Jazz" is the title of this evening’s Postlude program at 10 in the Chapel. A saxophone and flute will converge in free flowing jazz improvisation in the accompaniment of long drums. Three students will be included in the musical sextet. Neil Olson ’68, flute; and David Lippi ’69, trumpet. Similar improvisations were presented in honor of this year’s poet-in-residence, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, and the poet’s "Ode to Alaska," which was also performed at the event, and the art piece.
Students at the College will have the opportunity to partake of the "joys" of owning original prints when the London Grafica Arts, a Detroit-based art firm, holds an exhibition and sale in the Austin Art Center this Friday from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Dr. Jerrold Ziff, chairman of the department of the arts, who has arranged for the sale, emphasized that the works which London Grafica Arts will bring are originals, by such artists as Picasso and Renoir, not commercial reproductions. He further noted that the prices of the prints will range from "quite inexpensive," around $10, to the somewhat more expensive.

Although this marks the first visit by the firm to the College, it has become known for sales held at various colleges throughout the country. Dr. Ziff said that he could definitely vouch for the integrity of the firm, and the worth of their sales in general. "I speak as a print collector myself when I say that the joys of owning such works are many," he added. "I hope that this joy can be experienced by some of Trinity's students.

In Town

MAURICE CHEVALIER, Bushnell Memorial, Friday, November 11.

PETER, PAUL, and MARY, Bushnell Memorial, Sunday, November 13.

CHICAGO SYMPHONY, Bushnell Memorial, November 14.

DOCTOR ZHIVAGO, Strand, downtown Hartford.

DIABOLIQUE, Webster, Silas Deane Highway, Wethersfield.

SOUND OF MUSIC, Elm, New Britain Avenue.

MY FAIR LADY, Central, West Hartford.

Math Department To Host Meserve

The Mathematics Department will bring Professor Bruce E. Meserve of the University of Vermont to the College, Thursday. Professor Meserve is expected to give a lecture on a phase of geometry at 8 p.m. in McCook Auditorium. Meserve has published two books, FUNDAMENTAL CONCEPTS OF ALGEBRA and FUNDAMENTAL CONCEPTS OF GEOMETRY, both of which have been recognized by mathematicians across the country. He is a past president of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Following the lecture, Professor Meserve will be guest of honor at a coffee hour for majors and prospective majors in the Mathematics Department from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. in Alumni Lounge, Fisher Hall. Members of the Mathematics Department will also be present to meet with students and Professor Meserve.

Chapel Ritual Honors PMD Recognition

Phi Mu Delta was officially recognized as a national fraternity by the Interfraternity Council, Sunday, October 30. The recognition was marked by the presentation (left) of the Phi Mu Delta flag to Charles J. Sanders, '67, president of the IFC, and Chaplain Tall, by Alan S. Weinstein, '67, president of the chapter. The flag will hang in the Chapel of Perfect Friendship, with the flags of the other national fraternities on campus. After the ceremony, Chaplain Tall draped his vestments across the chairing the Chapel fraternity. He said that both were losing importance in the public eye and were being degraded through criticisms. Tall felt that both had to reform in order to regain their stature.

Escape!

Get out from under this weekend. Fly someplace—for half fare on Eastern. Visit a friend in another town. See an "away" game. Change the scene. Leave late, come back late, enjoy a long weekend—without cutting classes.

Use your Eastern Youth ID Card, or another airline's version. If you don't have one—and you're under 22—you really ought to.

To get your Youth Fare Card, send a $3 check or money order, proof of age (copy of driver's license, birth certificate or passport to Eastern Airlines, Department 350, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, N.Y., N.Y. 10020.

With your Youth ID Card, you can get an Eastern ticket for half fare. No advance reservations are permitted. But if there's a seat free at departure time, after passengers holding reservations and military personnel have been seated, you can fly to any Eastern city in the United States. And look down on all the drivers.

NUMBER ONE TO THE FUN
1966 Blood Drive Aims For Fuller Participation

The College's annual blood-drive will be held December 1 and 2. The driver's greatest problem will be to get people to donate blood for the first time, according to co-chairman Donald B. Engley. Rich Weingarten, co-chairman of this year's drive, expressed high hopes for student donations on December 2.

"We expect to get over half the students," Weingarten stated. "The feeling on campus is that blood. Students are becoming more aware of both the critical need for blood and the direct benefits they receive by donating a pint of blood in Convention Center," Weingarten added. "We plan to have IFC representatives handle the pledge cards in their fraternities. I.A.'s will speak to their advisories, and independents will be contacted through the mail, by phone, and through speeches at luncheon halls. To make this drive a success we need everyone's support."

Haji Discusses Kenyan Affairs At Coffee Hour

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday. A group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries will participate.

The Watkinson Library yesterday

Objections to co-chairman Ferber, "Once a person donates a pint of blood, he has the right to refuse any more," said Haji. This brought a round of applause. "We're not going to force anyone to donate," Ferber added. "We're just trying to encourage people to do so."

Progress on ETV's move from Boardman Hall to Boardman Plaza education and inevitably to the impact and pur-

African-Asian Panel To Discuss U.S. World Relations

"The first step has to be the deem-students and the general pub-

To "Fraternities Must Go" Fluctuates

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday by a group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries.

Colloquium

The first session, held downstairs from the main floors to the second floor, and a lowered ceiling of the main room featuring the installation of shelves and special programs for the group of 32 administrators was held.

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday. A group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries will participate.

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday by a group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries.

Colloquium

The first session, held downstairs from the main floors to the second floor, and a lowered ceiling of the main room featuring the installation of shelves and special programs for the group of 32 administrators was held.

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday. A group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries will participate.

Colloquium

The first session, held downstairs from the main floors to the second floor, and a lowered ceiling of the main room featuring the installation of shelves and special programs for the group of 32 administrators was held.

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday. A group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries will participate.

Colloquium

The first session, held downstairs from the main floors to the second floor, and a lowered ceiling of the main room featuring the installation of shelves and special programs for the group of 32 administrators was held.

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday. A group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries will participate.

Colloquium

The first session, held downstairs from the main floors to the second floor, and a lowered ceiling of the main room featuring the installation of shelves and special programs for the group of 32 administrators was held.

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday. A group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries will participate.

Colloquium

The first session, held downstairs from the main floors to the second floor, and a lowered ceiling of the main room featuring the installation of shelves and special programs for the group of 32 administrators was held.

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday. A group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries will participate.

Colloquium

The first session, held downstairs from the main floors to the second floor, and a lowered ceiling of the main room featuring the installation of shelves and special programs for the group of 32 administrators was held.

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday. A group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries will participate.

Colloquium

The first session, held downstairs from the main floors to the second floor, and a lowered ceiling of the main room featuring the installation of shelves and special programs for the group of 32 administrators was held.

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday. A group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries will participate.

Colloquium

The first session, held downstairs from the main floors to the second floor, and a lowered ceiling of the main room featuring the installation of shelves and special programs for the group of 32 administrators was held.

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday. A group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries will participate.

Colloquium

The first session, held downstairs from the main floors to the second floor, and a lowered ceiling of the main room featuring the installation of shelves and special programs for the group of 32 administrators was held.

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday. A group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries will participate.

Colloquium

The first session, held downstairs from the main floors to the second floor, and a lowered ceiling of the main room featuring the installation of shelves and special programs for the group of 32 administrators was held.

The Watkinson Library yesterday honored Abdllahi Mohamed Haji '70, at the second in its series of Coffee Hours in Alumni Lounge.

"The relationship of the United States to the Developing Countries" will be explored in a panel discussion at 3 p.m. Thursday. A group of practicing public administrators from seven African and Asian countries will participate.

Colloquium

The first session, held downstairs from the main floors to the second floor, and a lowered ceiling of the main room featuring the installation of shelves and special programs for the group of 32 administrators was held.
Non-Western Studies at Trinity: Some Proposals

by Peter Crosette '69

"...quite recently higher education has been almost completely under the sway of a single, shared, neareyebrow of European delesion... Is this not a form of illuion that the history of the world is exclusively of its own cultural offshoots? That Western experience is the measure of all human experience? That Western interpretations are always suficient, if not exclusive, and that the resulting value system is everywhere, in everything, in every-thing, in everything? In the present century, and especially since the Second World War, that illusion has been shattered..."

One of Trinity... welcome to a "liberal arts college" which adequately prepares a student for an understanding of the world... the half we recognize. Welcome to a situation in which we are quite understanding of the peoples of other lands, but not to a relationship with them...!

But I am unfair. We DO have an English course (243) which covers the non-Western world in six weeks. We DO have a religion course (251) which treats Oriental thought for a semester. At one time we even had courses in the history and government of that non-Western half of the world (after all, any part of the world which cannot completely annihilate us for two years must be important.) Finally, our Library is blessed with a separate "Oriental" collection, one of the best on the non-Western world in the North-East.

If we are so far in the right in our orientation toward non-Western topics, why do we lack major programs? Why do we lack the "international" majors? The question must be answered: Why?

Stage I: Some Proposals

There are presently two areas of the program, if it were taken, which would consist of four or five new courses. They would, as they are assigned only one course in the new program, teach courses in the traditional curriculum. Further, while there may be only a few non-Western minor, there are many who would profit from one or more of these new courses. Thus, while a history major may not wish to take all the non-Western courses, he would profit greatly by having at least something about the history of Asia, a relatively unimportant place in the East. Thus, the total enrollment of 800 males (the first year is not complete) will not be a non-Western minor. New looks, always needed for new courses, will not be required for this program. As I have already stated, the excellent Moore Collection, now almost unused, would suffice for an entire department in non-Western studies. Only a few new acquisitions in Africana thought would be needed - books which are already on order.

Stage II: The Expansion Phase of the program, if it were taken, would enroll at least something about the history of such a relatively unim-to take all the non-Western courses. The typical B.A. candidate would therefore only be devoting his elective courses to a serious emphasis on non-Western topics. This is precisely what his all-powerful diploma would read: "A Bachelor of Arts, with an emhance on non-Western studies."

The cost? We would have to hire three new professors - one in history, one in government, one in philosophy. They would be expensive specialists - only men who have a proficiency in these fields. They would, as they are assigned only one course in the new program, teach courses in the traditional curriculum. Further, while there may be only a few non-Western minor, there are many who would profit from one or more of these new courses. Thus, while a history major may not wish to take all the non-Western courses, he would profit greatly by having at least something about the history of Asia, a relatively unimportant place in the East. Thus, the total enrollment of 800 males (the first year is not complete) will not be a non-Western minor. New looks, always needed for new courses, will not be required for this program. As I have already stated, the excellent Moore Collection, now almost unused, would suffice for an entire department in non-Western studies. Only a few new acquisitions in Africana thought would be needed - books which are already on order.

Stage II: The Expansion Phase of the program, if it were taken, would consist of four or five new courses.
A. A specific history course dealing with the politics of neutrality in Asia and Africa.
B. The expansion of the literature course into two semesters -- the first dealing with India, China, and Japan; the second concerned with Africa and the Middle East.
C. A similar division of the religion course into two semesters.
D. A like division of the philosophy course.
E. A new course in government, open only to those completing the basic course, dealing with the application of Western thought to India, China, and Japan, and, dare I say it, Maotist thought in particular.

Finally, the third stage, and again this only in the distant future -- the establishment of all these courses, with the addition of two of Chinese and perhaps a year of Japanese in a department of Non-Western Studies offering majors. This, of course, would be a major step, one which Trinity may never take. But if it ever comes, if the already huge demand for non-Western scholars increases to the point that Trinity feels it is important to participate, at least the groundwork will have been laid.

The obvious objection to such a program will be raised. Some will say the program is too incomprehensive, and I agree completely. Before any commitment is made the faculty should examine the problem and Trinity's position carefully. But no matter how small a committment in finally made, it should be made soon. Trinity is simply NOT giving its students a liberal education. If it makes no concrete provisions for the enlightenment of its men of over half the world. At a time when Asia is by far the most discussed area of the world, how can we claim to be liberaleduca-

(Continued on Page 11)
No Substitute

There is no substitute for human blood. By giving a pint of our own you may save someone else’s life. It’s not very painful. It takes an hour of your time at most.

We must frankly admit that it is doubtless more physically capable of giving a pint during the drive which begins today.

First we must frankly admit that it is doubtless more physically capable of giving a pint during the drive which begins today.

Now it is our turn. The anonymous “Mr. Fraternities Must Go!” has finished his series of articles. We must continue in the same way. If the IFC slapped Deke caught violating the rules. Public displays of immortality and the entire fraternal hand, we are in very big trouble. Of course, very recently has found that bopsting the student body up the top of my entry way. It is wonderful up here — EXCEPT in the recent three articles “Fraternity” series. Frankly, even though the accusations are new, the present generation of students is, of course, the continual debate on fraternities is a legitimate one.

Specifically, the author charges that fraternities are “De-humanizing” agencies which institutionalize the release and expression of immature hostilities. Obvious of the above, the series has appeared in the sense of values and of a relationship to man. Furthermore, they are “primarily dining places,” and the sad reality is the entire effort of being in the house is to run and get food. Each of these opinions (and they must be considered opinion rather than allegations as they reside not in the realm of fact but of sentiment) would appear to most fraternities, and probably to most independents and to some impartial observers as well, as grotesque and unjustified. Unqualified conclusions are expressions of a vitriolic prejudice.

With the exception of the details in the first two installments involving some events concerning hazing, the conclusions are drawn from the general charges that are posed. For example, the only evidence given to support the remark concerning the importance of rushing is the explanation by a single independent, saying that fraternities are “primarily dining places,” and the full effects of its pursuit can be measured by students of Trinity College. Published at West Hartford, Conn., the printing of any letter is at the discretion of the Editor.

Letter to the Editor:

Ding-Dong

To the Editor:

I walked three years for a room on the Quad and for no light classes. Here it is my senior year and I have a room both on the floor of Northam overlooking the Quad. There are only two other rooms at

The top of my entry way. It is wonderfully quiet up here — EXCEPT for the sound of the clock. I can think of no better substitute for the fraternities experience. Fraternity, in my opinion, can do their part in making the school atmosphere better for everyone.

Lloyd M. Stizman, ’66

Our Turn

In his race for the Congressional seat of Sorensen, Grabowski in Connecticut’s sixth district, Stephen Minors, professor of English at the College, has shown a kind of courage rarely seen anywhere. Not only is he courageous in standing up and speaking for a minority opinion on a highly controversial issue, but he has shown the courage to come out of the academic world and take a stand that is too easy to hide. He has stood up and made his opinions clear to the public, descending from the easy world of ideals to the harsh stage of reality.

How many students and faculty at the College sit bravely in their rooms, in the cave, fraternity, or faculty club and “solve” the problems of the world? When one man does have the naked strength of character to virtually live his life behind and enter into a strange and hostile environment for the sake of the ideals of his era and even of all mankind, he is at least praiseworthy. It is only to praise those who sit happily on the sidelines watching him run interference for their ideas.
IFC Response to ‘Fraternities Must Go!’

The following statement was submitted to the TRIPOD by Charles J. Sanders '67, president of the IFC, in response to the recently published article titled "Fraternities Must Go!". Unfortunately, these articles did not portray the fraternity system accurately. The following is an attempt to show the reasons why the fraternity system is of such importance.

The Interfraternity Council's role provides the organization and impetus for action. Rarely does a group of individuals ever participate in events or the organization of events. Fraternities sponsor an annual trip for deaf children. They are also responsible for the sponsorship of dorms and an array of activities. Fraternities are frequently criticized for the amount of noise they generate. They are seriously examined. Even superficial investigation of some of the charges have indicated to them to be gross exaggerations. Several of the accusations are false, however, are valid. The student on the soccer field and the student lying at 3:30 a.m. are entirely true. Some of the other accusations reported took place many years, some before that. These practices have halted. Even a perfunctory glance at practices would indicate that the fraternities are changing. The overwhelming majority of hazing is neither extreme nor ferocious to the pledges. Random incidents as the result of certain irresponsible brothers' behavior, though the houses are responsible, must mean a valid rationale for condoning an entire house, no less the fraternity system. One of the major benefits obtained from the fraternity system is the development of individual responsibility—no to a college official, nor to a house, but to one's own conscience. During this developing process an occasional mishap may occur, and this is no criteria for condemning the system.

The Interfraternity Council's role has been greatly misrepresented. Each house has received notification that the IFC will vigorously pursue any violation of the Constitutional provisions about hazing. Up to this point, no formal charges have been brought before the IFC. This is not unusual. The IFC is conducting an informal investigation concerning the pledge practices of each house. Furthermore, at any time the IFC is willing to receive charges against any formal pledge, and if necessary will institute action on the part of the house. Fraternities will act responsibly.

The most frequent voiced criticism of the fraternities is that their common interests are shallow, non-productive, and generally oblivious to any form of responsibility. Primarily, one must realize that most of a fraternity's energy is directed within the house and the brotherhood. Let us consider off-campus fraternity activities. If one attends a Christmas party sponsored by a fraternity, they should be seriously examined. Even superficial investigation of some of the charges have indicated to them to be gross exaggerations. Several of the accusations are false, however, are valid. The student on the soccer field and the student lying at 3:30 a.m. are entirely true. Some of the other accusations reported took place many years, some before that. These practices have halted. Even a perfunctory glance at practices would indicate that the fraternities are changing. The overwhelming majority of hazing is neither extreme nor ferocious to the pledges. Random incidents as the result of certain irresponsible brothers' behavior, though the houses are responsible, must mean a valid rationale for condoning an entire house, no less the fraternity system. One of the major benefits obtained from the fraternity system is the development of individual responsibility—no to a college official, nor to a house, but to one's own conscience. During this developing process an occasional mishap may occur, and this is no criteria for condemning the system.

The Interfraternity Council's role has been greatly misrepresented. Each house has received notification that the IFC will vigorously pursue any violation of the Constitutional provisions about hazing. Up to this point, no formal charges have been brought before the IFC. This is not unusual. The IFC is conducting an informal investigation concerning the pledge practices of each house. Furthermore, at any time the IFC is willing to receive charges against any formal pledge, and if necessary will institute action on the part of the house. Fraternities will act responsibly.

The most frequent voiced criticism of the fraternities is that their common interests are shallow, non-productive, and generally oblivious to any form of responsibility. Primarily, one must realize that most of a fraternity's energy is directed within the house and the brotherhood. Let us consider off-campus fraternity activities. If one attends a Christmas party sponsored by a fraternity, they should be seriously examined. Even superficial investigation of some of the charges have indicated to them to be gross exaggerations. Several of the accusations are false, however, are valid. The student on the soccer field and the student lying at 3:30 a.m. are entirely true. Some of the other accusations reported took place many years, some before that. These practices have halted. Even a perfunctory glance at practices would indicate that the fraternities are changing. The overwhelming majority of hazing is neither extreme nor ferocious to the pledges. Random incidents as the result of certain irresponsible brothers' behavior, though the houses are responsible, must mean a valid rationale for condoning an entire house, no less the fraternity system. One of the major benefits obtained from the fraternity system is the development of individual responsibility—no to a college official, nor to a house, but to one's own conscience. During this developing process an occasional mishap may occur, and this is no criteria for condemning the system.

The Interfraternity Council's role has been greatly misrepresented. Each house has received notification that the IFC will vigorously pursue any violation of the Constitutional provisions about hazing. Up to this point, no formal charges have been brought before the IFC. This is not unusual. The IFC is conducting an informal investigation concerning the pledge practices of each house. Furthermore, at any time the IFC is willing to receive charges against any formal pledge, and if necessary will institute action on the part of the house. Fraternities will act responsibly.

The most frequent voiced criticism of the fraternities is that their common interests are shallow, non-productive, and generally oblivious to any form of responsibility. Primarily, one must realize that most of a fraternity's energy is directed within the house and the brotherhood. Let us consider off-campus fraternity activities. If one attends a Christmas party sponsored by a fraternity, they should be seriously examined. Even superficial investigation of some of the charges have indicated to them to be gross exaggerations. Several of the accusations are false, however, are valid. The student on the soccer field and the student lying at 3:30 a.m. are entirely true. Some of the other accusations reported took place many years, some before that. These practices have halted. Even a perfunctory glance at practices would indicate that the fraternities are changing. The overwhelming majority of hazing is neither extreme nor ferocious to the pledges. Random incidents as the result of certain irresponsible brothers' behavior, though the houses are responsible, must mean a valid rationale for condoning an entire house, no less the fraternity system. One of the major benefits obtained from the fraternity system is the development of individual responsibility—no to a college official, nor to a house, but to one's own conscience. During this developing process an occasional mishap may occur, and this is no criteria for condemning the system.
Errata

Two mistakes of note have appeared in recent Tripods. To set the record straight, Dr. Gustave W. Andrlan is a full professor, not an associate professor as was said in our recent Parent’s Day article. Also, general admission tickets for the Jester’s performance of “Mother Courage” weekend are priced at $5.50, not $2.50 as previously reported. Student admission is $1.00.

HEATH ATTENDS LIBERAL ARTS CONVOCATION

Dean Roy Heath recently attended a study conference at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, which “will certainly provide a basis for re-evaluation of our liberal arts programs.”

The conference, conducted from October 27-29, was attended by deans and professors from two small colleges throughout the country. These administrators were asked to comment on the draft of a book called THE FUTURE OF LIBERAL ARTS COLLEGES IN THE UNITED STATES.

The book is the product of a two-year study sponsored by the Carnegie Corporation in New York. Edited by Professor Morris Keeton of Antioch, it attempts to measure the successes and failures of the educational systems of twelve liberal arts colleges in America. Schools chosen in the study include Amherst, Wheaton (Ill.), Oberlin, and Ball State. The schools represent diverse philosophies in areas of curriculum, schools represent diverse philosophies in areas of curriculum, academic responsibility.

The administration attending the conference discussed each college profile. Special attention was given to the colleges’ unique contributions to liberal education. The suggestions of the participants will be included in Keeton’s book.

Dr. Heath found the Antioch approach to education noteworthy. Antioch’s program of study provides a distinction between patterns of education in high school and college, the Dean noted. The burden of education is placed on the individual.

Antioch freshmen have the choice either to attend or not to attend their courses. No grades are issued to freshmen, who are responsible only to a faculty supervisor. Students and faculty meet once a week for discussion as informal “tea groups.” “At Antioch,” commented the Dean, “education is seen as a process rather than an accumulation.”

East-West Center in Honolulu Offers Program in Experimental Education

In a recent meeting of the Freshman Executive Council held elections for the 66-67 year, Jim McLaugherty was elected president, John Verre vice-president, and John Bemis secretary-treasurer. Lloyd Kramer ’66 was thanked for acting as president until the elections were held.

In March of this year, the Freshmen Forum was formed by the FEC. The dance will be held in the Washington Room from 8:00 until 10:30 p.m., and all freshmen and independents will be admitted free. The FEC also announced the first of the Freshmen Forums which will be held on Wednesday. Dean Heath spoke on topic “how to Choose a Major.”

Fast.

Budweiser Beer

(Broad-mindedness isn’t everything.)

Fast.

Budweiser Beer

First Choice
Of The Engageables

And, for good reasons... like smart styling to enhance the center diamond... guaranteed perfect (or replacement) assured... a brilliant gene of fine color and precise modern cut. The name, Keepsake, in your ring assures lifetime satisfaction. Select your very personal Keepsake at your Keepsake Jeweler’s store. Find him in the yellow pages under “Jewelers.”

Keepsake® DIAMOND RINGS

NOW IN A NEW BUYER’S GUIDE.

Tea times for the wedding, the reception, the first dance... MAKE IT A MEMORY of keepsake beauty. Get your Keepsake DIAMOND RING... now.

PRICES FROM $100 TO $1000. PRICE RANGE TO SHOW APPROXIMATE VALUE.

Please send 20-page booklet, “How To Plan Your Engagement and Wedding” and new 12-page full color folder, both for only 25c, withoffer of helpful 44-page Bride’s Book.

NOVEMBER 1, 1966

The Trinity Tripod

November 8, 1966

Page 8

Placement

Tuesday, November 8

The Experiment in International Living, Red Bar Lounge - Muller Hall

Wednesday, November 9

Vanderbilt Law School

Thursday, November 10

University of Virginia Business School - Maxwell

Friday, November 11

University of Chicago M.A.T. Program

November 12

Montana State University - Bozeman

Preparatory Academy

November 13, Tuesday

Wharton Graduate School of Business

Reminder: Tuesday evening, November 15, 8:15 in Wean

Fast.

Budweiser Beer

NEW YORK
Tomat Reports Phones to Be Installed
In Woodward, Jones, Elton Quarters

Last week Leonard R. Tomat, assistant dean of students, reported on the possibility of phone installation in various dormitories, commented on the progress of the campus parking situation and expressed his concern on the theft of college property.

Tomat mentioned on phones dealt with the controversy over whether Jones Hall, Elton Hall, and Woodward residence halls will have phones installed.

"The phone company has investigated the problems in each situation and has proposed plans for installation in all areas of difficulty," Tomat noted.

It will be of more than average cost to the company, he added, and therefore they will perform installation at their own convenience.

In addition, the phone company has threatened to remove several pay phones across campus, especially in areas where room phone percentages are high, unless income in the pay phone increases.

Discussing the parking situation, Tomat said that after nearly a month and a half under the new parking regulations, traffic on the Summit-Broad annex has decreased slightly.

All the lighting facilities in the Broad Street and the New Britain Ave. lots are now completed, the lots, Tomat added, have not yet been used in capacity.

With respect to parking violations, Tomat admitted that although the campus officers have issued many tickets already, they have been very fair in patrolling the restricted areas. They have waited up to half an hour for violators to remove their cars before they make out a ticket. "The regulations put the burden on the student to support the privileges he wants," Tomat noted.

Tomat concluded the interview with a statement on College furniture thefts. Recently, there have been instances where students have borrowed furniture from the South Campus lounge. Tomat said, and he added that if the acts persist, "we will interpret the borrowing as a theft of College property and the guilty students will suffer the penalties accordingly."
Wes. Professor Questions Values Of Modern Liberal Arts Education

The dichotomy between science and humanities which C.P. Snow saw as natural to the educational system is, in fact, a bright, day-old question according to Dr. Allan Russell, associate professor of physics at Wesleyan University writing in a recent alumni magazine of that school.

One division which Dr. Russell did see born into education at Wesleyan was that between the secondary and the academic. He was referring to the learning involved in the tuition fees of an individual, to preparing for the future or did that mean to a better leadership of individual being, "not a sequence of thinking, he finds, does not alone justify the need for an education."

Dr. Russell found nothing specifically wrong with this kind of thinking. He was overly naive, overly concerned with the future, being a concept rather than an end in itself. "This constant view to the future he finds, does not alone justify the need for an education.

Edward cannot singly be a means to a better leadership of society, but as a better job for an individual, to preparing man for the use of leisure time at some point in the distant future. Education, Dr. Russell instates, must be in the words of St. John, seeking Christ, to give life to man to his fullness. Discussing his university specifically, he writer warns that the student must be treated as an individual being, "not a sequence of aptitude scores like 689 verbal and 756 math." Going one step further, "This constant view to the future he finds that it is a record good enough to get them into the best professions, go to graduate school, so that they can get into the best high school where they can achieve a record good enough to get them into a college. But why, he continues, do they find it necessary to go to colleges and earn? So that they might have an entrance into the professions, go to graduation school, earn a good salary, marry well and improve the chances of living what is sometimes called the good life.

Although Dr. Russell finds nothing specifically wrong with this kind of thinking, he feels that the concept of education must be current. "The question as the writer sees it, is, does anyone today except the writer or his nearest relative really believe that the difference between the humanities and science exists?"

\[Continued from Page 1\]

Discussing his university specifically, he writer warns that the student must be treated as an individual being, "not a sequence of aptitude scores like 689 verbal and 756 math." Going one step further, "This constant view to the future he finds that it is a record good enough to get them into the best professions, go to graduate school, so that they can get into the best high school where they can achieve a record good enough to get them into a college. But why, he continues, do they find it necessary to go to colleges and earn? So that they might have an entrance into the professions, go to graduation school, earn a good salary, marry well and improve the chances of living what is sometimes called the good life.

Although Dr. Russell finds nothing specifically wrong with this kind of thinking, he feels that the concept of education must be current. "The question as the writer sees it, is, does anyone today except the writer or his nearest relative really believe that the difference between the humanities and science exists?"

\[Continued from Page 1\]

Discussing his university specifically, he writer warns that the student must be treated as an individual being, "not a sequence of aptitude scores like 689 verbal and 756 math." Going one step further, "This constant view to the future he finds that it is a record good enough to get them into the best professions, go to graduate school, so that they can get into the best high school where they can achieve a record good enough to get them into a college. But why, he continues, do they find it necessary to go to colleges and earn? So that they might have an entrance into the professions, go to graduation school, earn a good salary, marry well and improve the chances of living what is sometimes called the good life.

Although Dr. Russell finds nothing specifically wrong with this kind of thinking, he feels that the concept of education must be current. "The question as the writer sees it, is, does anyone today except the writer or his nearest relative really believe that the difference between the humanities and science exists?"

Jules Feiffer

Will speak on "The Social Critic in American Society"

Wednesday, November 16

Goodwin Theatre

8:30 P.M.

Tickets for the Feiffer Lecture have been on sale for one week. Tomorrow they will be made available to the public, and it is expected that all tickets will be sold within a day or two. Therefore, all those who wish to attend the lecture should buy their tickets now because of the limited seating capacity of Goodwin Theatre. Today is the last day tickets will be on sale. Tomorrow they will be available at the box office of the Arts Center.
The Tracy Tripod

November 8, 1966

FRIDAY NIGHT

RALLY MEN! Cheerleader Fred Strock with a psychical look on his face leads the cheering throng in a "revenge chant" at the torch-lit affair Friday night. The crowds marched from Vernon Street to the Austin Arts Center where the rally was held.

Hilltop Ba nter

by Ric Hanee

Things had never looked better for an afternoon of all-day prunings on Jessie Field. The new Trinity water vault had the field looking soft and loam-like; the "revenge" soccer match had the spectator-clad slopes in scoreless adjournment at the half-time buzzer; and the stands were crammed with patriotic throng. Each was Jessae's head coach at Trinity for all of thirty-five years, was searching for his 100th lifetime victory in the traditional rivalry with the Lord Jeffs. It was Jessae's last home football game. It was also Homecoming.

All of this I was asked to relate - as it most probably be filled at Bantam history - in a column beginning at the end of the after-studies...

(Continued from Page 5)

gram is wanted, but in actuality, the attendance of programs to enforce non-Western studies is so great, that in all probability, Trinity would soon receive funds to pay for all that the additional course, but for the four courses with the college already has. If these funds will only be available once a firm commitment has been made.

If one could demonstrate will-ness to involve oneself in a task, a magnet for outside aid. The Ambrose program of Western studies at Portland State College is strong because the Indians have been without external assistance, and the consequently showed around Homeland to be given federal support under the National Defense Education Act. Similarly the modernization of non-Western study at Earlham College started with Amish and later joined. It is inspiring to think of the other two colleges of the Great Lakes College Association, whose International Education Program was, early in 1964, financed by a grant of $500,000 from the Ford Foundation. But such support is likely to be affected only by tangible proof of commitment.

4. institutional commitment

A comparison with the Trinity-

Bantam game... the Williams-

Amherst... Sorry! A point per point predication! Regards.

Instead, after much deliberation, we have decided to leave our decisions up to Stokely Carmichael, who will soon be on the campus, and seems to have the answers.

Of course the game will long be over by the time Mr. Carmichael reaches Hartford. But that's irrelevant... isn't it?

Frosh Gridmen Bow to Amherst

By Ric Hendee

Outplayed in the first half by a larger Amherst team, the Trinity freshman football team fought back gamely in the second half but dropped a 20-6 decision to the Herdmen. Amherst scored one each of the first two quarters on pass plays. Trinity could not muster a drive as their running game was stopped cold.

In the second half the Bantams went to the air and began to move the ball. They marched down to the Trinity 12, dropped a 20-6 decision on the Jeffs.

The frosh gained possession of the ball later in the quarter and began again. But quarterback Jay Bernardon was hit behind as he attempted to pass, the ball squirmed loose and the referee ruled it a fumble. Amherst recovered and drove for their last touchdown to make the score 20-6 and quell any Trinity hopes for an unwelcome season.

The freshman soccer team ended its season last Saturday with no disappointing loss to Amherst 4-2. The return of "Rabbit" Hall to the lineup was the only change from the previous games, joining him on the line were Pete rvith, Alan Gilby, Marty Williams, and Bob Eliot.

John Robbins, Norm Ranney, and Jim Johnson started at half-backs; Ryder Kaufman and Tom Hackett at Full-Back. This line completed a 2-3-1 season.

The game began with Trinity looking like easy victors. Pete Witek scored at the five minute mark after working his way through the Jeff defense, sending a low drive to the left hand corner of the goal. However, this was the only scoring they could muster until the closing minutes of the game; the score at half-time remained 1-0. Besides the starting line-up, Bert McCord, goalie Tom Lorn, and Chuck Wright all saw action.

Amherst opened the second half with a score by rightwinger Dew-day after a cross from the back-left side, headed into the right corner. This was followed by tallys in the 18 and 15 minute marks by Amherst, to make the score 3-1. At 16:32 Marty Williams scored, chipping the ball over the head of the diving Jeff goalie; this was Marty's first goal of the season. At this point, it looked as though the Trinity fresh might come from behind to win. Both teams played hard ball; Trinity came close on shots by Gilby, Williams, and Eliot, while Amherst一步步 the post on an indirect kick. But with less than eight minutes to go to the 4th period, the Jeff inside right De-Laizg scored to save the game up 4-2.

Lord Jeff Defense Trips
Eleven 22-9; Stops Streak

A strong Amherst defensive line and a high-scoring second quarter spelled victory for the Lord Jeffs Saturday, Nov. 21.

The Bantams' usually strong ground attack gained only 29 yards to Ather's 189 in the first half and only 43 yards all afternoon to the Jeffs' 78. Amherst accumulated 116 of their first half's totals in the second quarter when they scored twice.

First defensive play characterized the game's first quarter as neither team's high-scoring offense could get a drive. Finally, late in the period 19yard run by Amherst's Madison Newman and a 15yard penalty against Trinity moved the ball to the Trin 36 yard line. That personal foul penalty proved especially costly since it returned possession against Amherst after they had pushed on fourth down. On the next play, sophomore Bill Parks burst through left tackle for 11 yards and then Amherst failed but let 60.

The Bantams immediately took to the air and drove successfully from their 36 yard line to the Jeffs' 30. Their effort included two passes for 25 and seven yards to Ron Martin. The Bantams were forced into a fumble situation, however, when a strong Amherst defense held their ground. Castlef's 37yard attempt was short. As the Jeff's received the ball on the Jeff's 36 yard line, the second quarter began. The game's character changed, and Amherst initiated a defensive offensive which concentrated on Trinity's right side. Box of 15, 15, and 10 yards by Parks, Ryan, and Hope helped to move the ball to the Trinity 11yard line. Hope found a hole in the line and broke through to score. Their kicked extra-point extended the visitors' lead to 13-0.

Trinity found success through the air as they moved in three plays from their 19yard line in the Am- herst 16. Of those 53 yards 20 were gained on a quick lateral pass play to Martin from Kim Miles, who was almost trapped by a strong Jeff rush. The Amherst defense, however, which allowed Trinity only 29 yards in the first half held. Castlef attempted another field goal from the 32 yard line and this time his effort was good, and the score stood 13-0.

But again the Jeff's offensive line opened ample holes for their backs, and, in addition, quarterback Don- nor connected on three passes to move the ball to the Trinity three yard line. But running back Trin- tsey's left side were stymied and in the half's waning minutes the Jeff's were forced to try a 20yard field goal. The boot was good and increased their lead to 16-0 as the period ended.

The third quarter was defensively strong as both teams interception and an interception by the Bantams' Dan Battles helped to spoil offensive progress. Late in the period a penalty brought in a Jeff score as Amherst's Foye, a sophomore who gained 70yards in the first half, returned a pass 64 yards for a touchdown. The play was nullified by a clipping charge. Another Amherst interception at the 4yard line and a free play later on the 44 yard line. Seven running yards advanced the ball to the Trinity 30yard line where a familiar goal of a Donner pass by Amherst's left end Ratlchek put the ball on the one yard line. Don- ner scored on the next play. The Bantams blocked the extra-point and with 12 minutes remaining to play Amherst led 22-3.

Trinity took the ball after the succeeding kickoff on their 83 yard line and against their passing attack penetrated far into Amther- stony territory. Artifacts to Martin, Rob- erts, and sophomore Tom Plant gathered 10 yards a reception. The

Amherst Edges Trin Soccer 2-1; NCCA Bid Possibility Decreased

By Fred Strook

For the first time in four years the Trinity soccer team lost a reg- ular season game on its home ground where Amherst defeated it 22-9, Saturday, Nov. 21.

The team played the first three quarters without its captain and its high scorer, was Injured in the first half and could not stop Amherst from increasing its lead to 16-3 with the half's warning minutes the Jeff's were forced to try a 20yard field goal. The boot was good and increased their lead to 16-0 as the period ended.

In the third quarter the Trinity booters had nothing to be ashamed of though. Coach Roy Dath called the contest "the closest field game our team has played all year."

The Bantams' high scorer, was Injured in the first half, returned a pass 64 yards for a touchdown. The play was nullified by a clipping charge. Another Amherst interception at the 4yard line and a free play later on the 44 yard line. Seven running yards advanced the ball to the Trinity 30yard line where a familiar goal of a Donner pass by Amherst's left end Ratlchek put the ball on the one yard line. Don- ner scored on the next play. The Bantams blocked the extra-point and with 12 minutes remaining to play Amherst led 22-3.

Trinity took the ball after the succeeding kickoff on their 83 yard line and against their passing attack penetrated far into Amther- stony territory. Artifacts to Martin, Rob- erts, and sophomore Tom Plant gathered 10 yards a reception. The

Amherst Edges Trin Soccer 2-1; NCCA Bid Possibility Decreased

By Fred Strook

For the first time in four years the Trinity soccer team lost a reg- ular season game on its home ground where Amherst defeated it 22-9, Saturday, Nov. 21.

The team played the first three quarters without its captain and its high scorer, was Injured in the first half, returned a pass 64 yards for a touchdown. The play was nullified by a clipping charge. Another Amherst interception at the 4yard line and a free play later on the 44 yard line. Seven running yards advanced the ball to the Trinity 30yard line where a familiar goal of a Donner pass by Amherst's left end Ratlchek put the ball on the one yard line. Don- ner scored on the next play. The Bantams blocked the extra-point and with 12 minutes remaining to play Amherst led 22-3.

Trinity took the ball after the succeeding kickoff on their 83 yard line and against their passing attack penetrated far into Amther- stony territory. Artifacts to Martin, Rob- erts, and sophomore Tom Plant gathered 10 yards a reception. The

Amherst Edges Trin Soccer 2-1; NCCA Bid Possibility Decreased

By Fred Strook

For the first time in four years the Trinity soccer team lost a reg- ular season game on its home ground where Amherst defeated it 22-9, Saturday, Nov. 21.

The team played the first three quarters without its captain and its high scorer, was Injured in the first half, returned a pass 64 yards for a touchdown. The play was nullified by a clipping charge. Another Amherst interception at the 4yard line and a free play later on the 44 yard line. Seven running yards advanced the ball to the Trinity 30yard line where a familiar goal of a Donner pass by Amherst's left end Ratlchek put the ball on the one yard line. Don- ner scored on the next play. The Bantams blocked the extra-point and with 12 minutes remaining to play Amherst led 22-3.

Trinity took the ball after the succeeding kickoff on their 83 yard line and against their passing attack penetrated far into Amther- stony territory. Artifacts to Martin, Rob- erts, and sophomore Tom Plant gathered 10 yards a reception. The