Compromise Reached
On Withdrawal Issue

Students who withdraw voluntarily from the college will be readmitted automatically, unless the Registrar can present evidence to the Committee on Academic Affairs that his return would be "harmful" to the community.

This decision was reached last Thursday by the Academic Affairs panel in a two hour session.

The committee would judge on the "limits of the due process," and if found to be sound, the student would not be readmitted. He could then appear for an open hearing before the committee, and/or to the President.

The decision followed an open meeting earlier in the week at which students voiced support for automatic readmission. Those led by student committee members David W. Green, '71 and Peter Crawford, '72, of the College Affairs Committee, and Richard W. Robinson, dean of educational services and committee member, supported the original September 14 guidelines.

The committee had reached a tentative agreement in its support of a "minimal exception," and would result from some change of character while the student was not enrolled.

"We are simply protecting the college on the rare case that it feels it has jeopardized its loyalty and commitment," Duffey said during the news conference at the State Capitol Monday.

"I am not a Marxist of any kind...I am a loyal and committed American," Duffey said in his statement.

"The politics of fear and intimidation, as practiced by the second highest offices in the United States must end. And I intend to see that they do not continue," the governor continued.

Duffey Responds To Agnew 'Marxist' Rap

Democratic nominee Joseph Duffey called Vice President Spiro Agnew a "Marxist" Friday afternoon in Fort Smith, Arkansas that Duffey was a "Marxist" Friday afternoon in Fort Smith, Arkansas.

Duffey's statement came during a news conference in his office after Agnew's charge was based on a quote in a book entitled "The American Educational System," Duffey said during the news conference at the State Capitol Monday.

"I am not a Marxist of any kind...I am a loyal and committed American," Duffey said in his statement.

"The politics of fear and intimidation, as practiced by the second highest offices in the United States must end. And I intend to see that they do not continue," the governor continued.

Duffey was quoted as saying "I guess you could call me a Marxist," Friday afternoon in Fort Smith, Arkansas that Duffey was a "Marxist," Friday afternoon in Fort Smith, Arkansas.

Duffey's opponents in the Democratic primary this summer. Supporters of Senator Thomas Dodd, the independent candidates for the Senate have also used the quote.

In the advance test of his visit to Fort Smith, speech, Agnew said "when the Democratic nominee for the Senate calls himself a Marxist...then it's time that good sense of the American people than either Mr. Weicker or Mr. Agnew," Duffey said in his statement.

"I am not a Marxist of any kind...I am a loyal and committed American," Duffey said in his statement.

"The politics of fear and intimidation, as practiced by the second highest offices in the United States must end. And I intend to see that they do not continue," the governor continued.

"We are simply protecting the college on the rare case that it feels it has jeopardized its loyalty and commitment," Duffey said during the news conference at the State Capitol Monday.

"I am not a Marxist of any kind...I am a loyal and committed American," Duffey said in his statement.

"The politics of fear and intimidation, as practiced by the second highest offices in the United States must end. And I intend to see that they do not continue," the governor continued.

Duffey was quoted as saying "I guess you could call me a Marxist," Friday afternoon in Fort Smith, Arkansas that Duffey was a "Marxist," Friday afternoon in Fort Smith, Arkansas.

Duffey's statement came during a news conference in his office after Agnew's charge was based on a quote in a book entitled "The American Educational System," Duffey said during the news conference at the State Capitol Monday.

"I am not a Marxist of any kind...I am a loyal and committed American," Duffey said in his statement.

"The politics of fear and intimidation, as practiced by the second highest offices in the United States must end. And I intend to see that they do not continue," the governor continued.

Duffey was quoted as saying "I guess you could call me a Marxist," Friday afternoon in Fort Smith, Arkansas that Duffey was a "Marxist," Friday afternoon in Fort Smith, Arkansas.

Duffey's opponents in the Democratic primary this summer. Supporters of Senator Thomas Dodd, the independent candidates for the Senate have also used the quote.

In the advance test of his visit to Fort Smith, speech, Agnew said "when the Democratic nominee for the Senate calls himself a Marxist...then it's time that good sense of the American people than either Mr. Weicker or Mr. Agnew," Duffey said in his statement.

"I am not a Marxist of any kind...I am a loyal and committed American," Duffey said in his statement.

"The politics of fear and intimidation, as practiced by the second highest offices in the United States must end. And I intend to see that they do not continue," the governor continued.

Duffey was quoted as saying "I guess you could call me a Marxist," Friday afternoon in Fort Smith, Arkansas that Duffey was a "Marxist," Friday afternoon in Fort Smith, Arkansas.

Duffey's statement came during a news conference in his office after Agnew's charge was based on a quote in a book entitled "The American Educational System," Duffey said during the news conference at the State Capitol Monday.

"I am not a Marxist of any kind...I am a loyal and committed American," Duffey said in his statement.

"The politics of fear and intimidation, as practiced by the second highest offices in the United States must end. And I intend to see that they do not continue," the governor continued.
Faster than a speeding bullet, more powerful than a week of Spiro Agnew speeches, able to leap over world's problems in a single bound - look, down in the dark ages of Trinity drama, there was THE PORTABLE CIRCUS.

The play will be produced today at 4:30 in the Goodwin Theater, with the cast including Heidi Jerome, Jay Allison, and David Orms. The production is sponsored by the Department on the topic: Some Physical Aspects of Memory. This will be held in Duck, run 2:30 at Thursday. It will be followed by an informal discussion.

The college community is invited to a talk by Professor Charles Miller of the Physics Department on the topic: The Physical Aspects of Memory.

The college community is invited to a talk by Professor Miller of the Physics Department on the topic: The Physical Aspects of Memory.

The college community is invited to a talk by Professor Miller of the Physics Department on the topic: The Physical Aspects of Memory.

The college community is invited to a talk by Professor Miller of the Physics Department on the topic: The Physical Aspects of Memory.

The college community is invited to a talk by Professor Miller of the Physics Department on the topic: The Physical Aspects of Memory.

The college community is invited to a talk by Professor Miller of the Physics Department on the topic: The Physical Aspects of Memory.

The college community is invited to a talk by Professor Miller of the Physics Department on the topic: The Physical Aspects of Memory.
Delaney and Bonnie Head Campus Concert

by David Bergman

Well, Delaney, Bonnie and Friends were here. Along with FAT, the group performed in Ferris Gymnasium last Saturday. A lot of people really liked them, there is one of the few truly unique styles to come out of America. The last few numbers constituted as fine a live performance as I've seen. But there was also a substantial number of people who couldn't get into it at all, like the kid who walked around after the concert, proclaiming to anyone who would listen that D, B, and friends "are back up hand in search of a lead."

The first half of their set was uniguing. FAT had done a credible job of warming the crowd up, with a solid professional style. Their main problem is the similar format of each of their songs. At a sit-down concert, it can get very boring. They should definitely incorporate that kid who kept running on stage. D and B's unique Gospel-inspired style disappointed some, but incited the crowd like a Southern Fundamentalist preacher on Sunday night radio, and the gym had suddenly become some kind of crushed-out revival meeting, with people shouting and swaying, participating rather than responding. This is a group that can communicate its music like few others. If they're off, it's harmless; but when they get on, people like them as much as they did during the Little Richard mediacy, their encore, are second to absolutely no one.

Seemingly sparked by a driving yet unpretentious drum solo during "Coming Home", the band came together, with Delaney and Bonnie responding in kind. Delaney started screaming her gut-wrenching scream. Delaney was talk-singing to the crowd like a Southern Fundamentalist preacher on Sunday night radio, and the gym had suddenly become some kind of crushed-out revival meeting, with people shouting and swaying, participating rather than responding. This is a group that can communicate its music like few others. If they're off, it's harmless; but when they get on, people like them as much as they did during the Little Richard mediacy, their encore, are second to absolutely no one.

Saturday night Delaney and Bonnie (above) gave a concert in Ferris gymnasium with FAT as the warm-up group. D and B's unique Gospel-inspired style disappointed some, but incited the rest to fronted dancing and shouting.

THIS WEEK

Monday, October 12
- 7:30 p.m: Film: "Julius Caesar" McKee Auditorium.
- 7:30 p.m: Film: "Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice" Cinestudio.
- 9:30 p.m: Film: "Liberation of L.B. Jones" Cinestudio.

Tuesday, October 13
- 7:30 p.m: Bookstores open 11:30 a.m. - 7:00 p.m.
- 4:00 p.m: Preliminary Meeting for Draft Counsellors, Alumni Lounge.
- 8:00 p.m: Young Republicans, Alumni Lounge.

Wednesday, October 14
- 7:00 p.m: S I S M - Lecture II Transcendental Meditation. Life Sciences Center.
- 7:15 p.m: "The Firemen's Ball" 8:15 p.m: "Purple Noon" Cinestudio.
- 9:30 p.m: Tom Swift - Ferris Gymnasium.

Thursday, October 15
- 6:45 p.m: S I S M Alumni Lounge.
- 7:45 p.m: Lecture by Dr. Richard S. Neiman, Prof. of Biological Science, Univ. of Conn. - "Computer in Neuropsychology - A Call For Help" Faculty Club.
- 7:00 p.m: M I B G Senate Rm.
- 7:00 p.m: Chess Club. Washington Rm.
- 7:30 p.m and 9:30 p.m: Films (as Wednesday).

Friday, October 16
- 7:15 p.m: Trinity College Concert Series. Music for Flute and Harpsichord performed by Carl Bergner and Robert Grunstadt. Goodwin Theater.
- 10:30 p.m: The Eucharist. Chapel.
- 11:30 a.m. - 7:00 p.m: Bookstore open.
- 7:30 and 9:10 Films in Cinestudio (as Sunday).

Saturday, October 17
- 9:15 a.m. - 8:00 p.m. Chess Club Tournament.
- 11:15 a.m. - 7:00 p.m. Bookstore open.

Sunday, October 18
- 7:30 and 9:10 Films in Cinestudio. (as Sunday).

October 13, 1970

TRINITY TRIPOD

Career Counseling

October 13: U. of Penn Law School - 8:45, Mrs. Scott Peace Corps, Mr. Taylor, 9 a.m., Oberlin MAT, 10:15 to 1:30, Mr. Rathbone.
October 14: U. of Michigan Law School, 10:30, Mr. McCurdy Peace Corps, 9 a.m., Mr. Metcalf Catholic U Law School, Dean Barrato, 9:12, U. of Penn Dental School.
October 16: Albert Einstein College of Medicine, 9 a.m., Mr. Leake George Washington U. Law School 9 a.m., Mr. Sharp.

WAVZ and A NEW DAWN PROMOTIONS presents rare earth

8 p.m. Halloween Night - New Haven Arena

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 31

Tickets: $3.50 general admission;
$4.50 & $5.50 reserved

100% Pure Sound by SYNCRON

ABC PIZZA HOUSE

Across from Trinity College
237 New Britain Ave., Hartford,
"Call before you leave the Campus"
Phone 247-0234
Mon. - Thurs. 11 a.m. - 10 p.m.
Fri. and Sat. 11 a.m. - 1 a.m.
Sun. - 12 a.m. - 11 a.m.

Excellent Condition; must sell.

FOR SALE
1965 TI 4 Convertible Phone 239-7774.

EXHIBITS

College Library
Special OPPORTUNITIES
PROCEDURES AND DEADLINES
FOR Special Academic Opportunities in Trinity
1. STUDENT-TAUGHT COURSES (see p. 48 of THIS AGENCY) for submission of 15 copies of proposal: 21
October 1970. Due to: Professor Robert Lindsay, McCook Building. See Dean
Williamson if you have questions.
2. OPEN SEMINAR (see p. 90 OF HANDBOOK)
Living 07: Campus: preliminary discussion with John Williamson by 25
December 1970. Final proposal by 13
January 1971.
Note: Final approval of all open Seminar proposals will require removal of all Incomplete grades for students whenever the Center is open, and consequently the Center might follow the example of the College in electing representatives themselves. Ho is suggested that students who man listening rooms, one recreational and four classroom, a projection-lecture room organizing meetings to discuss ways of sharing the Center's budget has forced the Center to reduce the hours by ten with such a drastic
cut in the Austin Arts program offering complete educational opportunities in all contexts of the different milestones in the history of the Protestant ministries. The TRIPOD must put the
on the table in the American society, and it has been said that credit to
in diachronic.
Candidates must also be nominated by a as the student's understanding of the program. The TRIPOD must put the
in diachronic.
Candidates must also be nominated by a
As we have seen, the Center's budget has forced the Center to reduce the hours by ten with such a drastic
cut in the Austin Arts
program offering complete educational opportunities in all contexts of the different milestones in the history of the Protestant ministries. The TRIPOD must put the
on the table in the American society, and it has been
said that credit to
in diachronic.
Candidates must also be nominated by a
As we have seen, the Center's budget has forced the Center to reduce the hours by ten with such a drastic
cut in the Austin Arts
program offering complete educational opportunities in all contexts of the different milestones in the history of the Protestant ministries. The TRIPOD must put the
on the table in the American society, and it has been
said that credit to
in diachronic.
Candidates must also be nominated by a
As we have seen, the Center's budget has forced the Center to reduce the hours by ten with such a drastic
We deeply regret the passing of John Butler who for 23 years enriched his alma mater with the grace and compassion that were the conspicuous constituents of his character.

An Increase in the Size of the Faculty, to name a few. As educational experiences of a kind, they are without a parallel.

The last two installments have explained why, as December approaches, some students who were in class II-S last year are in a more difficult position. The Selective Service System to alter its present policy. Should we be so classified should consider writing to his board.

Students who were in class II-S last year are in a more difficult position. The Selective Service System

The letter might explain that he does not want the II-S deferment each year, regardless of his prior classification. If he has already been approved, he should not be in class II-S.

The Selective Service System has been following the practice of requiring only one request from a student. The single request covers all four or five years the student attends college. As a result, many students may be placed in class II-S this year without having requested the deferment. Unless they succeed in having the deferment lifted prior to December, they will be unable to attend the draft for at least one more year. This result is in direct conflict with the avowed purpose of the Lottery, i.e., to allow young men to expose themselves to the draft for one year EARLY IN THEIR LIVES.

The Selective Service System's interpretation of the law is wrong. We are left by the Supreme Court that the Lottery is constitutional. The Selective Service System's interpretation of the law is wrong. We are left by the Supreme Court that the Lottery is constitutional.

In addition, we believe the Selective Service System's interpretation of the law is wrong. We are left by the Supreme Court that the Lottery is constitutional.

The letter might explain that he does not want the II-S deferment each year, regardless of his prior classification. If he has already been approved, he should not be in class II-S.

The Selective Service System has been following the practice of requiring only one request from a student. The single request covers all four or five years the student attends college. As a result, many students may be placed in class II-S this year without having requested the deferment. Unless they succeed in having the deferment lifted prior to December, they will be unable to attend the draft for at least one more year. This result is in direct conflict with the avowed purpose of the Lottery, i.e., to allow young men to expose themselves to the draft for one year EARLY IN THEIR LIVES.

The letter might explain that he does not want the II-S deferment each year, regardless of his prior classification. If he has already been approved, he should not be in class II-S.
Gridders Edge RPI 14-10; Kiarsis Sparks Third Win

by Dick Yyer

Kiarsis atoned for his fumble seconds later as quarterback Erich Wolters caught the ball in mid-air and gave to Dave on a dive. Kiarsis exploded up the middle and forged into the Trojan secondary for a 73-yard touchdown.

The eventual winning touchdown was scored early in the second period on another Kiarsis jaunt culminating as 89-yard drive. The senior halfback took an inside handoff, picked up seven yards, and sprinted down the right sideline 21 yards for the score which made it 11 in a row on the conversion.

Early in the second half Wolters passed into the triple threat who was tackled by Bantam defenders. In the process of attempting to pass and had a third attempt deflected into the air. The ball went high into the air and settled in the arms of the Engineers who carried it 15 yards by the Bantam 15. Chris Vaskill brought the Engineers the rest of the way, scoring himself on a 4-yard plunge.

A Kiarsis fumble on the next game saw RPI the ball on the Bant 24, but the defense stiffened and the Engineers settled for a 3-yard field goal.

Durland First, Harriers Beaten

The Trinity cross country team fell to its third in New England Saturday by bowing to Union, 20-42. Despite a first place finish in last week's meet, the Bantams were also defeated by a score of 2-1. The Bantams were outscored 1-2 in the final two games.

George B. Cooper will deliver his second TOWN-GOW Lecture at 1:30 today in the Austin Art Center. The Topic will be THE NEW NINETEENTH CENTURY STATES, GERMANY AND ITALY.