FREDERICK GRANDY BULDING, HON., 1935

The Right Honorable Frederick Grandy Bulding, retired Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Connecticut, died at his home in Hartford on September 25. At the seventh Bishop of Connecticut, he served under ten of his predecessors, and his death was mourned by his clergy and laity, as well as by many of his friends in the press and public. In 1931 he was appointed to succeed Bishop Duffie as Bishop of Connecticut, and held that office until his retirement in 1954. During his tenure as Bishop, he was a leader in the movement for the merger of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Reformed Church in America, and the Catholic Church. He was a strong advocate of the ordination of women to the priesthood and was a committed supporter of the Civil Rights Movement. He was also a leader in the effort to establish a comprehensive health care system for all Americans. Bishop Bulding was a native of Manchester, New Hampshire, and was educated at Dartmouth College and Union Theological Seminary. He was a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. He was a devout Christian and a committed advocate of social justice. He was survived by his wife, the former Miss Minnie Lee of Hempstead, Long Island; his son, John; and his daughter, Mrs. Mary Benson Wamsley. He was predeceased by his wife, the former Miss Minnie Lee, who predeceased him by one year.

MRS. LOUIS M. HAUSSLER, 1920

Louis M. Haussler, prominent trial lawyer, died suddenly in Hartford on August 22. He was known throughout Connecticut for his friendly manner and his jovial manner. He was widely respected for his integrity and fairness, and was a key factor in securing the renomination of the late Arthur Chaddow for the U.S. Senate. After preparing at Hartford Public School and attending Yale University, he returned in 1912 to the U.S. Senate, where he graduated in law degrees. He was a member of the Class of 1926, and in 1934 he was admitted to the Connecticut Bar. He served for two years as a member of the Connecticut Bar. In 1919 he was made rector of the Church of St. Mark's Church, Manchester, New Hampshire, and in 1923 resigned to return to the University of Connecticut. He was appointed as professor of the New Testament at the Westminster School and the late Arthur Chaddow. He was a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. In 1935 he was named rector of the Church of St. Mark's Church, Manchester, New Hampshire, and in 1946 he was appointed as professor of the New Testament at the Westminster School. He was a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.
