Admissions Head Notes: Rise in Applications for 1955

Parents, Alumni, Students Help

Two hundred and ninety-two young men expressed an interest in Trinity College during the first three weeks of October 1955. Two hundred and thirteen of these represented the best students from the public schools in Connecticut, and one hundred and seventy-nine had been referred to Trinity College by alumni or present students. Trinity, in the course of its history, has been striving to increase its percentages of applications from the public schools, and this year the number increased by almost one hundred. This is due mainly to the work of the interviewing committees, but it is a matter of much satisfaction to us that each of the committees has increased its number of applications from the public schools.

The interest in Trinity continues to be high among the more advanced high schools. The number of applications is evidence of the fact that the college is getting the attention of students looking for high standards for which the College has been striving.

The Greater Hartford area accounts for 77.7% of the applications received this year. The bulk of Trinity’s applications comes from within a radius of fifty miles of the college, but Trinity is being looked at by students from as far away as the Carolinas, as well as from the states of New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

The number of applications from outside Connecticut increased from 1954 by 18%. This increase is due mainly to the work of the interviewing committees and the active interest of alumni and present students.

The greater interest in Trinity continues to be due to the work of the interviewing committees and the active interest of alumni and present students.

The significant rise in applications is due mainly to the work of the interviewing committees and the active interest of alumni and present students.

It is too soon to say what the final admissions will be, but the trend is definitely upward.

Applications to graduate schools are being considered by a large number of students. The college administration has expressed its approval of this trend.

The applications for the Class of 1959 are now being compiled, and it is expected to be in the mail in January.

On Friday afternoon an array of creative artists will be featured in the college’s fine arts series. The author of the Babar books, Marguerite Yourcenar, whose work has been translated into twenty-five languages, will be featured in a lecture on the theme of the writer and the artist. The lecture will be followed by a reception. The college is also featuring a series of concerts and recitals by alumni and present students, as well as a series of lectures by alumni and present students on topics ranging from music to literature to politics.

Frosh Scholarships Total $37,400

In a freshman class of 1958, this year was the time to award scholarships. Fifty-seven scholarships were offered this year, with a total of $37,400 awarded to them. The average award was $655. More than 500 freshmen were eligible for these awards, so there were no limits on the number of awards.

The type of award given to freshmen for their athletic talents was the first step in a series of awards. The Freshman Athletic Scholarship is awarded to students who are selected by the athletic department. The President of the College, the Dean of Men, and the President of the College-Board of Trustees make up the committee that selects the recipients.

The Freshman Athletic Scholarship is a one-time award, but it can be renewed for a total of four years. The recipient must maintain a 3.0 grade point average each semester to continue receiving the scholarship. Another full season is in full swing and it looks like Joe has given us as much to talk about as usual. I hope you did remember the Senate to bring the "title" of Athletic Homecoming Committee. The committee's work is as important as it ever was, and it's only then that we should turn our attention to next spring.
