A Look Beyond the Traditional

By EDWIN P. NYE
Dean of the Faculty

Non-traditional Study. Alternate Approaches for the Delivery of Higher Education. These phrases, fast growing in importance, are part of the language educators use when they probe new possibilities for higher education.

State-wide and nationally, committees have been formed whose task, figuratively speaking, is to survey the area outside the circle of higher education and to suggest ways the circle can be expanded to include new kinds of students, new kinds of programs, new teaching technology.

Trinity, through several programs initiated over the past few years, has already begun to chart her course through this expanding educational universe. Some of the College's "non-traditional" programs, such as the Freshman Seminar, The Open Semester, the Intensive Study Program, or student-taught courses are already "old stuff." The Individualized Degree Program, which enrolls its first students this semester, even more clearly expresses Trinity's commitment to explore the "non-traditional," and shows also where Trinity departs from certain aspects of non-traditional study.

Last December, the State Committee on Alternate Approaches for the Delivery of Higher Education reported back its findings and recommendations to the State Commission for Higher Education, mentioning Trinity's IDP in several instances as one of the unique new programs in the state.

On a broader scale, the national Commission on Non-Traditional Study, co-sponsored by the College Entrance Examination Board and the Educational Testing Service, recently completed its study which is expected to be fairly influential over the next few years. Its basic recommendation is that "the oft-stated American goal of full educational opportunity should be made realistically available and feasible for all who may benefit from it, whatever their condition of life."

Of this commission's 58 proposals about half directly pertain to the philosophy or mechanics of the IDP. The ones which don't, either fall under state jurisdiction, are beyond Trinity's means to accomplish (for example, satellite broadcasting), or go against Trinity's educational purpose.

Trinity's IDP is an alternative means of earning the regular bachelor's degree which bypasses the regular course-credit system and relies instead on completion of "study units" and specific projects. The IDP can be completed in three to four years, and it is expected that the bulk of the IDP students will be non-resident older persons.

Two freshmen have enrolled in the IDP, Susan Thorn of Elkhart, Ind., and Henry Holt of Norwalk, Ohio. The non-resident applicants to the program currently range in age from 22 to 68, and include people with no college experience to up to two years of college.

Beyond making the college degree available to more people the IDP meets other commission criteria such as providing "flexible arrangements" for study, giving students of traditional college age the right to join the program, and, on the other hand, not denying students the option of staying within the traditional academic framework.

Two other commission recommendations which are emphasized in Trinity's IDP are that each institution should "relate such a (non-traditional) program to its whole process of curriculum development," and that programs should be absorbed "into the normal process of degree-granting instead of keeping it an ancillary part of their total program."

In regard to the first point, the academic requirements of the Trinity IDP have been developed through faculty committees and individual departments, with great care taken to insure that the IDP student is evaluated by the same rigorous standards that apply under the regular curriculum. The second point illustrates one area in which Trinity's IDP is far ahead of other programs; the recommendation indicates that most existing "non-traditional" programs are in fact external degree programs which need to be absorbed into the regular program.

Trinity's IDP from the start has offered the regular bachelor's degree. In addition, it is expected that Trinity's IDP students will make use of the resources of the College as they pursue their studies. The regular course offerings, while not required, are available for IDP students, use of the library; attendance at special lectures and programs; and consultations with faculty members, are generally expected of IDP students.

With Charter Day only a few months away, Trinity's Annual Giving Campaign is at 65 percent of the $475,000 goal, according to Judson M. Rees, director of development.

So far, the College has received 2,029 gifts and pledges totalling $320,989. Of these, 490 donors are new contributions, including 346 alumni, 113 parents, 18 classified as Friends and 13 from business or industry.

The campaign is making better progress than last year's successful drive, Rees said. At this time last year, the campaign was at 64 percent of the $425,000 goal, but ended in June at $440,421, or 104 percent of that goal.

May 16 Gift Deadline is Nearing

For Trinity's 150th anniversary year the goal was increased $50,000.

Because this is the anniversary year, Rees said, it is especially important that the drive be completed by Charter Day on May 16, and he urged donors not to delay in making their gift, so it can be received in time.

(see Annual Giving, page 3)
CAMPUS NOTES

JAMES L. WEST, Instructor in History, is leading a group of 40 Trinity students and faculty on a tour of the Soviet Union during Spring vacation. The trip will include visits to Moscow, Leningrad, and Kiev, and is generally open only to students who have studied Russian History. Combined with a series of unaffiliated seminars on Soviet politics, economics and history, the trip will be a form of "total immersion" in a culture with which the students have become vicariously familiar through their studies.

JOHN H. WOOLEY, administrator and technical director of the Austin Arts Center, attended the convention of the United States Institute for Theatre Technology held in St. Louis, Missouri, March 11-14. Convention topics included administration of theatres, new products and techniques in development for theatre use.

Dr. HUGH S. OGDEN, assistant professor of English, read his own poetry and that of Robert Hayden and Theodore Roethke in February at St. James Church in Glastonbury. The reading, part of the first annual Ecumenical Arts Festival, was sponsored by seven local churches.

Mrs. MILLIE SILVESTRI, assistant director of the News Bureau, has been invited to serve as a member of the Industry Looks at Civic and Arts Festival. She will also serve as the liaison with Trinity so that the college may assist and participate in the festival where possible.

RIEL S. CRANDALL, director of buildings and grounds, attended the meeting of the Association of Professional Plant Administrators for the Eastern Region in New York City on January 24-26. He was chairman of the January 25 session which dealt with ecological problems.

The Trinity faculty wives sponsored a lecture and exhibit of handwoven dolls of many lands by Miss Ann Storm Anderson, who is associated with the Lutheran Women's Missionary Society of America. Offsets for the Faculty Wives Group are Mrs. RAMONA DOTEN and Mrs. JOANN WILLIAMS, Co-Chairwomen, and Mrs. VERONICA PEDEMONTI, Treasurer.

Two juniors, CYNTHIA J. HAWKINS, from Darien, and BRIAN M. MCCLELLAN, from Westport, are attending the National Art Committee for the 1973 Greater Hartford Civic and Arts Festival. She will also serve as the liaison with Trinity so that the college may assist and participate in the festival where possible.

An article by Dr. ROBERT B. OXNAM, assistant professor of history and special assistant to the president, appeared in the "Journal of Asian Studies" in February. Entitled "Politics and Institutions of the Ohio Regency, 1641-1669," it is a study of the conflict between Manchu-oriented government and the strong traditions of Chinese state and culture during the early part of the 17th century.

Dr. CLYDE D. McKEE JR., assistant professor of political science, attended a joint conference of The American Institute of Architects, American Institute of Planners and The Connecticut Chapter of The American Society for Public Administrators, held at Alfred Sesquicentennial in New Haven. The conference was devoted to land use planning, Community's role in cooperation and development and The Greater Hartford Process.

JOHN A. DANDO, professor of English, delivered a convocation address at Sacred Heart College and an additional address in the Connecticut branch of the College of Surgeons. He also recently completed a film on Shakespeare.

President LOCKWOOD has been elected a member of the board of directors of the Association of American Colleges, a national organization of 800 liberal arts colleges. He is one of 15 directors of the AAC. His term expires in 1977. For the past three years he has served as a member of the AAC's Commission on Administrative Affairs, in 1973 he was vice chairman and in 1972, chairman.

The AAC was chartered in 1915 to promote "higher education in all its forms in the colleges of liberal arts and sciences." With more than 80 percent of its membership comprised of private institutions such as Trinity, the AAC is recognized as the leading spokesman for private higher education on the national scene. The AAC maintains a professional staff with offices in Washington, D.C.

HARRY O. BARTLETT, director of administration and services, attended the annual conference of the Eastern Region of the College and University Personnel Association in New York City. Also, he has been appointed to the West Hartford Board of Managers of the Y.M.C.A. and Chairman of the West Hartford Service Committee.

Ms. ELLEN MULQUEEN, associate dean for student services, has been appointed to the nominations committee of the Association of College Unions-International. She was also appointed chairman of a special committee on travel of the ACUI.

Rabbi KALMEN ROSENBAUM has been appointed counselor of the "I" With Hilll Foundation at Trinity. He hopes to help Hilll meet its present goals, which is the establishment of Kosher eating facilities on campus.

Dr. RICHARD A. SHIPLE, assistant professor of curriculum, will deliver a paper May 22 at the annual meetings of the National Association for Research in Science Teaching and the National Science Teachers Association. Entitled "The ability of non-college bound biology students to identify and apply selected principles in biology," it deals with concept learning at the higher cognitive levels.

A publication entitled "Charge Transport through the Cadmium-Selenium Interface" was prepared by Dr. AUGUSTE E. SAPIEGA, chairman and professor of engineering and Professor of Education, Laxson Polytechnic Institute appeared in "physical status and well-being". Also accepted for publication is an article entitled "Measurement of Sensitivity to Performance Time Lock-In Amplifiers" for the May 1973 publication of IEEE Transactions on Electron Devices.

BROOKIE GREGORY, instructor in the Physics Department, was promoted to assistant professor effective November of 1972. He has also completed the requirements for his Ph.D. from Brown.

West Shippe

Dr. CHARLES R. SCHULTZ, assistant professor of education, was represented in the winter issue of "Instruction Science: An International Journal" with an article entitled "A System of Cognitive Stimulation in Instructional Strategies."

Another paper entitled, "The Usefulness of Cumulative Depression as an Explanation for Educational Deficiencies," was selected for reprinting in the yearbook, "Annual Report of Child Psychiatry and Child Development."

JONATHAN B. REILLY, organist and director of music, gave a recital on the new organ in the chapel January 19. It included works by J. S. Bach, Brahms, Alan Stowell, Haydn, Widor, Messiaen, and Franck. A Hartford Times critic called the concert "impressive," and said that Reilly "demonstrates a high degree of technical ability and command of the instrument... and a very acceptable degree of virtuosity, with commendable clavichord articulation."

Laurel Vleck's WHIN-TV program, "Dialogue" featured Trinity faculty and administration members during a recent two-week period. Dr. SAMUEL HENDELL, chairman and professor of political science, and Dr. GARY C. an (see NOTES, page 4)

TRINITY REPORTER

February 1973

Vol. 3, No. 5

Issued once a week in October, November, December, January, February, March, April, May, and June. Published by the Office of Public Information, Trinity College, Hartford, Conn. 06106. Second class postage paid at Hartford, Connecticut.

The REPORTER is mailed to alumni, parents, faculty, staff and friends of Trinity. Copies are available to students. There is no charge.

Letters for publication must be no longer than 200 words and signed. The printing of any letter is at the discretion of the Editor and may be edited for brevity, not substance.

EDITOR: L. Barton Wilson '37; Associate Editor, C. Bullard '64; Assistant Editor, Mill Stivell; Sports Information, Richard L. Mazzone '71; Photographer, David R. Lower; Alumni Secretary, John L. Heyl '66.

BANNERS FOR CHAPEL. — Anne M. Warrington '75 stands framed by the 30-foot banners she made for the Chapel this year. The seven pairs of banners represent antimphoras from the Advent hymn, "O Come, O Come Emmanuel," and were hung in the Chapel during the Advent season. They are made of 45-inch strips of cotton materials, dyed royal purple, the Advent color. The designs, which were created, include a crown superimposed on a dove of peace (representing the King of Peace); the Latin acronym HIS representing Jesus; and the Key of David, a reference to Jesus' royal lineage. Miss Warrington, a Roman Catholic, is also the first woman sacristan at the Chapel, one of three sacristans who help Chaplain Alan Tull in preparing the silver and linen used in Chapel services. She also attends Mass at St. Lawrence O'Toole Church on New Britain Avenue. Different banners are hung in the Chapel at other seasons of the church year.
Budget Balanced in '72; Treasurer Is Optimistic

The College ended its last fiscal year with a balanced budget, and projections are that "reasonably balanced" operating budgets will be possible for the next year or two, according to J. Kenneth Robertson, treasurer.

In his report on the 1971-72 fiscal year, Robertson noted this is the second consecutive year the College has had a balanced budget since it suffered a cumulative $400,000 deficit between 1968 and 1970.

A $935,845 increase in the total operating income was the result. Robertson said, of an increase in $6.83 million came from tuition, endowment and investment income, and from other sources; the balance of more than $300,000 was contributed by alumni and parents.

Total expenditures and transfers in 1971-72 were $8,657,439, up from $7,719,646 in 1970-71. Of the $8.6 million, $2.75 million came from tuition, and $1.8 million was from endowment and investment income.

Robertson noted "expenses continue to rise as inflation takes its toll. The goods and services purchased annually to develop and maintain the educational program of the College cost predictably more in dollars each year. Annual salary increments for the faculty and the other members of the College community demand ever more dollars by definition. Necessary repairs and replacements for the physical plant and equipment can no longer be deferred and must be budgeted at an accelerating rate for the next several years."

"Robertson predicted that "for the next year or two we should be able to continue to operate with a reasonably balanced budget. Beyond that point our vision and our projections become uncertain and cautious. Too many factors are now leaving the comfortable area of straight-line extrapolations and become subject to quantum leaps of unpredictable magnitude and direction," he said.

In addition, Robertson said, there are "serious challenges to the continued productive health of this College," contained in the current political and social climate.

"Among the challenges, he said, are "a growing, but ill-considered threat of taxation, which could prove fatal to private institutions in this state and this country; a recent disenchantment with, and antagonism toward, the entire educational enterprise and its performance; the continuing threat of inflation to service-oriented and labor-intensive organizations, such as schools and colleges, and the frightening proliferation of new laws, requirements, reports, and regulations, such as red tape which remove from the educational mainstream an increasing proportion of funds, manpower, and attention."

Robertson said that in spite of these trends, he doesn't subscribe to the view that "services such as health care and education can no longer be delivered by private institutions without substantial governmental support and subsidy."
Report on Non-Traditional Study

(from page 1)

In other areas where the IDP dovetails with the commission’s thinking it is the product of joint administration-faculty planning; it has developed its own system of personnel policies and a program of training for the staffing of the program; new admissions procedures have been developed for IDP students; alternative fee structures have been worked out; a special committee is organizing forms of adult learning such as cable television and other electronic tools, is being anticipated.

In general, the IDP fits well into the commission’s definition of non-traditional study as “an attitude that puts the student first and the institution second, concentrates more on the former’s need than the latter’s convenience, encourages diversity of individual opportunity, and dehumanizes time and space of even course requirements in favor of complexity, where applicable, performance.

But there are other areas of non-traditional study toward which Trinity is not turning. Two key areas are the recommendation for a master’s degree programs in favor of what the commission calls “service to the learner,” and the finding that most adults want to study practical subjects, hobbies, recreation, and family life and personal development more than they want to study for a degree or a certificate turns the Locus of the Liberal Arts, which it recommends making a continuing contribution to the creative spirit of mankind.

Campus Notes (from page 2)

JACOBSON, instructor in political science, discussed “Affirmative Action—what does it mean—who does it affect?” in another program. Dr. MICHIE TOOMY, assistant professor of psychology, and Mrs. PAULA L. ROBBINS, director of career counseling, questioned whether or not women were a depleted minority.

Ms. CHASE TWICHELL, a senior English major, was one of four Connecticut Student Polls to give readings during February at Trinity, which was the first of eight schools on the poet’s tour. The four students were chosen by the selection committee of the Connecticut Poetry Circuit last fall, following competitions held at colleges throughout the state.

A petition drive was conducted through most of February by students from Trinity and other Connecticut colleges for the support of Conservation, the Connecticut Public Interest Research Group. The students hope to gain support for a new activity fee that would help Conservation direct work for public research done by students in environmental preservation, consumer protection, race age, and sex discrimination, and corporate and government responsibility. Ralph Nader’s Citizen Action Group provides advice to the group.

ALFRED C. BURFEND, director of the college News Bureau, has been elected chairman of the Department of Communication and Interpretation of the Connecticut Council of Churches and serves as a member of the Council’s Board of Directors.

BLACK COMPANY: THE STORY OF SUBCHASER 1264

By Eric S. Purdon ’75

Robert B. Luce, Inc. 1972

views the past through the eyes of the historians often supply in hasty defense of our livelihood, one is that history regardless of any other merits, are notable past. This assures the continual concerns . . .

SUBCHASER

(Time 1942) 61 1/2 feet, 94 tons, 2,000 horsepower. His subchaser was a special vessel, largely because she was built to be a match for the German U-boat at the time of the Battle of the Atlantic.

A subchaser, the PC 1264, was a vessel assigned to the submarine chase in the Atlantic coastal waters and in the Caribbean, but it was too great to give an affirmative answer to the questions which had inspired this effort could blacks be entrusted with equality with whites? Could black enlisted men take orders from black petty officers, let alone a black commissioned officer? Starting initially with only white officers to command the carefully selected fifty-man, all-black enlisted crew, the PC 1264 gradually but steadily evolved into not only a remarkably efficient ship but also one where with distinction blacks assumed authority and responsibility up through the non-commissioned officer level. Finally, this was achieved at the commissioned officer level as well, when, in May, 1945, Ensign (now Rear Admiral) Samuel Gravely was assigned to the ship.

With disarming brevity, especially when considering his exhaustive research, Mr. Purdon relates the varying fortunes of his vessel and her determined crew. His frequently understated account reveals a lively sense of compassion and a gift for re-creation. Both readable and reasonable, BLACK COMPANY does what I believe all historical works should do—inform, entertain, and enlighten.

HISTORICAL SERVICES—April 29; and the Book of Common Prayer (1928), May 6. Chaplain Tallulah says the service has stirred much interest in the community.

Dr. DONALD D. HOOK, associate professor of modern languages, is one of eight authors of a new cultural reader, ‘‘Kultur und Alltag,’’ published in January by Charles Scribner’s Sons. A book review by Dr. Hook also appeared in the November 1972 issue of ‘‘The German Quarterly.’’ Dr. Hook is also one of the authors of the monograph, ‘‘Goths,’’ published recently by the Connecticut Council of Language Teachers.
George is helping to restore historical places, buildings, and sites covering the early days of the American Republic for the bicentennial of the Revolution in 1976. HARRIS B. THOMAS reports that during the years from 1967 to 1971 he was director of School Year Abroad, Rennes, France, sponsored by Philips Andover, The Phillips Exeter Academy and St. Paul’s School, Harris was interested in the French students and the French school system. He is now in the academic community of New Mexico where he is second administrator and director of the local hospital.

ENGAGEMENTS
1954 DONALD K. BISSONNETTE to Claire Henny
1954 DONALD K. BISSONNETTE to Claire Henny
1968 PAUL T. DUVIVIER to Michele Cerver McKee
M.S. 72 ROBERT G. PICO to Barbara Marie Collins
M.A. 84 JEEL J. JOHNSON to Elizabeth A. Collins

MARRIAGES
M.A. 84 ELEANOR M. LEARY to David D. Clark, December 27, 1972

BIRTHS
1956 Mr. and Mrs. Ronald A. Warren, son, Thomas Kenneth, May, 1971.
1959 Mr. and Mrs. Frederic J. Flachsbain, M.D., daughter, Elizabeth.
1963 Mr. and Mrs. James P. Whittet, III, son, James P. Whittet, IV, December 12, 1972.
1965 Mr. and Mrs. James C. Goodridge, son, Timothy James, December, 1972.
1966 Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Huskins, son, Daniel Brian.
1969 Dr. and Mrs. Ralph V. Katz a son, Amos Ezra, January, 1973.

18 Mr. George C. Griffith P.O. Box 256
Seaside, GA 31561

25 Mr. Raymond A. Montgomery New Bsex Avenue
Woodbridge, CT 06525

32 RAY MONTGOMERY has been chosen to one of the three student seats on the Trinity College Athletic Advisory Council.
SAM W/LCOX will be inducted with the New Britain Choral dynasty (formerly Wilson-Rau Chorale) until he makes his full retirement official in the near future.

26 Mr. N. Ross Parks 18 Van Buren Avenue
West Hartford, CT 06107

Congratulations to our great MARTIE and Letty, for the first time in 117 years, they entertained at a cocktail party the Trinity Alumna in the Palm Beach area, included were our esteemed President LOCKWOOD, Alumni Secretary JOHN HEYI, and Mrs. Connie Warw who were in New York and Letty was in town this occasion. Thanks to Marty & Letty, the Alumna section of the Cumma Range of the Lincoln National Forest. Jack is also assembling a med, prefessional, prefessional "wakkip" at Alto Village, New Mexico.

28 Mr. Boydton C. Berger 53 High Street
West Hartford, CT 06107

Since his semi-retirement from newspapering, HARRISON BROWN has written and illustrated one book and is penning another. He and his wife have traveled in 45 states and have taken two trips to Europe. Harrison’s home on the Maine coast, his two granddaughters, his boats and other hobbies also keep him busy. His moral: The days are never long enough.

29 Mr. James V. White 22 Austin Road
Dover, NH 03601

Rev. LYNDE E. MAY III tells us that he could go to great lengths describing the joys of retirement to his home on Cape Cod but greatly fears that others might get ideas so we must rent the temperation.

31 Dr. Robert F. Waterman 148 Forest Lawn Avenue
Glastonbury, CT 06033

John Harrison is currently working for VA, FHA, Hud, Magic Mortgage, Urban renewal and private business in real estate development. He has three daughters and five grandchildren. John’s new address is 14 Salisbury Street, Torrington, Rhode Island.

33 Mr. and Mrs. George H. Shelton, son, Neil Rauh, son, Neil

35 Mr. Albert W. Bailekove 73 Birdwood Dr.
Derry, NH 03038

OLIVER JOHNSON, president of Bond Press, Inc., Hartford, in an attempt "to build an affection for education" and an understanding of others in Hartford, West Hartford, New Britain, is establishing a trust fund with the Hartford Foundation for Public Giving for the encouragement of learning. Executive of the fund is considered, he says, that many fine young people are not receiving high school education knowing how to read, write or speak their language effective. And it’s not because of lack of school facilities or teachers but because they don’t know they’re in school, he believes.

38 Mr. James M. F. Weiss 27 Brook Rd.
Woodbridge, CT 06525

Rev. ARTHUR M. SMITH, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, is the author of the article, "Getting Down to Cases," which appeared in the January issue of The Christian Ministry, a national magazine published in Philadelphia. The subject of the article is the Case Method Project of Lancaster Theological Seminary in which it is the directro, the Case Method Project is one of four centers located on the Lancaster Theological Seminary campus devoted to enrich the professional growth of parish ministers and to create peer-support structures at the parish level. Also in the issue are two sample cases selected by Art from the Project’s files.

40 Mr. Emil F. Flynn 147 Pond Street
Newington, CT 06111

42 Mr. Herbert R. Blund 86 Glennon Rd.
West Hartford, CT 06107

H. BENNETT WEBER has been named assistant agency director by The Ohio National Life Insurance Company of Cincinnati. He will have specific responsibility for the recruitment of brokerage and college general agents.

44 Mr. Martin D. Wood 19 Tootin Hill Rd.
Woodbridge, CT 06525

The selection of MORRIS R. EDDEY as chief executive officer of the Warner Insurance Group, was announced in early January. He continues as president and chief operating officer of the Warner Group, Inc. and Underwriters Insurance Company which provide lines of commercial and industrial coverages.

48 The Rev. O. E. Jones, bishop, United Church of Christ, 2000 E. Elk Ave., Salt Lake City, Utah 84111

ALBERT KRANSKY, M.D., is currently practicing child psychiatry at New York Presbyterian Hospital. He resides in Worcester, Massachusetts, and has three daughters aged 17, 15 and 11.

49 Mr. Charles L. Tenney Mr. Charles L. Tenney & Associates
26 Bryne Ave.
Lowell, MA 01851

WEBER 90

Mr. Erna H. Newman (center) and his wife, visited the campus during a stay in the city in early February. They were greeted by Dr. GEORGE A. UCHNEAT, president, and Mrs. Connie Ware who were joined by Mr. Raymond A. Montgomery, Derry, NH 03038.

Mr. James V. White 22 Austin Road
Dover, NH 03601

Rev. LYNDE E. MAY III tells us that he could go to great lengths describing the joys of his retirement to his home on Cape Cod but greatly fears that others might get ideas so we must rent the temperation.

Mr. Edward H. Newman, until recently chairman of the executive committee of the judges of the Hartford Metroland youth, is now a book reviewer for The New Haven Register and the Daily Times. He has three daughters and five grandchildren. John’s new address is 14 Salisbury Street, Torrington, Rhode Island.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Shelton, son, Neil Rauh, son, Neil

Mr. Albert W. Bailekove 73 Birdwood Dr.
Derry, NH 03038

OLIVER JOHNSON, president of Bond Press, Inc., Hartford, in an attempt "to build an affection for education" and an understanding of others in Hartford, West Hartford, New Britain, is establishing a trust fund with the Hartford Foundation for Public Giving for the encouragement of learning. Executive of the fund is considered, he says, that many fine young people are not receiving high school education knowing how to read, write or speak their language effective. And it’s not because of lack of school facilities or teachers but because they don’t know they’re in school, he believes.

Mr. Robert W. Alley 55 Rockside Rd.
Woodbridge, CT 06525

THE CLASS OF 1973 and the teachers will have the opportunity to meet at a semi-reunion on Friday evening, June 28, 1973, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Goodridge, 117 Maple Avenue, Newport, R.I.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Shelton, son, Neil Rauh, son, Neil

Mr. Robert W. Alley 55 Rockside Rd.
Woodbridge, CT 06525

THE CLASS OF 1973 and the teachers will have the opportunity to meet at a semi-reunion on Friday evening, June 28, 1973, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Goodridge, 117 Maple Avenue, Newport, R.I.

Mr. Robert W. Alley 55 Rockside Rd.
Woodbridge, CT 06525

THE CLASS OF 1973 and the teachers will have the opportunity to meet at a semi-reunion on Friday evening, June 28, 1973, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Goodridge, 117 Maple Avenue, Newport, R.I.

Mr. Robert W. Alley 55 Rockside Rd.
Woodbridge, CT 06525

THE CLASS OF 1973 and the teachers will have the opportunity to meet at a semi-reunion on Friday evening, June 28, 1973, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Goodridge, 117 Maple Avenue, Newport, R.I.

Mr. Robert W. Alley 55 Rockside Rd.
Woodbridge, CT 06525

THE CLASS OF 1973 and the teachers will have the opportunity to meet at a semi-reunion on Friday evening, June 28, 1973, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Goodridge, 117 Maple Avenue, Newport, R.I.
Mr. Theodore T. Tansi has been named professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, for seven years before joining National Life Insurance Company two years ago. His new position as vice president of J. Boeing Company in Massachusetts. His new address is 8 Lincoln Avenue, Westwood, Massachusetts.

Mr. Theodore T. Tansi has been named professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, for seven years before joining National Life Insurance Company two years ago. His new position as vice president of J. Boeing Company in Massachusetts. His new address is 8 Lincoln Avenue, Westwood, Massachusetts.

Mr. Theodore T. Tansi has been named professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, for seven years before joining National Life Insurance Company two years ago. His new position as vice president of J. Boeing Company in Massachusetts. His new address is 8 Lincoln Avenue, Westwood, Massachusetts.

Mr. Theodore T. Tansi has been named professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, for seven years before joining National Life Insurance Company two years ago. His new position as vice president of J. Boeing Company in Massachusetts. His new address is 8 Lincoln Avenue, Westwood, Massachusetts.

Mr. Theodore T. Tansi has been named professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, for seven years before joining National Life Insurance Company two years ago. His new position as vice president of J. Boeing Company in Massachusetts. His new address is 8 Lincoln Avenue, Westwood, Massachusetts.

Mr. Theodore T. Tansi has been named professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, for seven years before joining National Life Insurance Company two years ago. His new position as vice president of J. Boeing Company in Massachusetts. His new address is 8 Lincoln Avenue, Westwood, Massachusetts.

Mr. Theodore T. Tansi has been named professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, for seven years before joining National Life Insurance Company two years ago. His new position as vice president of J. Boeing Company in Massachusetts. His new address is 8 Lincoln Avenue, Westwood, Massachusetts.

Mr. Theodore T. Tansi has been named professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, for seven years before joining National Life Insurance Company two years ago. His new position as vice president of J. Boeing Company in Massachusetts. His new address is 8 Lincoln Avenue, Westwood, Massachusetts.

Mr. Theodore T. Tansi has been named professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, for seven years before joining National Life Insurance Company two years ago. His new position as vice president of J. Boeing Company in Massachusetts. His new address is 8 Lincoln Avenue, Westwood, Massachusetts.

Mr. Theodore T. Tansi has been named professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, for seven years before joining National Life Insurance Company two years ago. His new position as vice president of J. Boeing Company in Massachusetts. His new address is 8 Lincoln Avenue, Westwood, Massachusetts.

Mr. Theodore T. Tansi has been named professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, for seven years before joining National Life Insurance Company two years ago. His new position as vice president of J. Boeing Company in Massachusetts. His new address is 8 Lincoln Avenue, Westwood, Massachusetts.

Mr. Theodore T. Tansi has been named professor of medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, for seven years before joining National Life Insurance Company two years ago. His new position as vice president of J. Boeing Company in Massachusetts. His new address is 8 Lincoln Avenue, Westwood, Massachusetts.
Begun an administrative residency at Harrisburg February vacation when he and his wife, Leslie, Mutual in Boston.

GRIMES, DICK HAMMERSTEIN, EDWARD DICK FLYNN, whom there's been no word in at least five years follows. where they are or what they're doing:

GRIMES is currently employed by the Provident Management. Andrew's address is 8114 Eastern National Bank in Philadelphia in investment management. His M.B.A. from Wharton in 1968.

JOHN W. RICE is currently teaching algebra and geometry at a Connecticut Technical Vocational School in Brecksville, MA. Since his graduation from Harvard Business School, John F. LEVY has spent two years working for Zayre Corporation. His current position is assistant buyer in the men's shoe department at Harvard and at the University Club of Hartford, the Officers Club and the Waterbury Club.

RICHARD W. SCOVILLE has been a resident in psychiatry at McLean Hospital in Belmont, MA. John recently joined the faculty of St. John's College, Cape Cod, Massachusetts. He has been associated with the law firm of Williams, Fair and Gallagher at the Chase Manhattan Plaza, New York City.

PETER A. AMRAM MA '69 has been a resident in Geology at University of Connecticut. He is a member of Alpha Delta Phi. Mr. Amram is presently a graduate student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute to complete a masters in engineering.

BRYN RICHARDS, a resident of Massachusetts, was employed at Bradley International Airport and the Wethersfield branch of Society of Alpha Delta Phi. His current position is a vice president for real estate and marketing at Valley Bank in Springfield, Massachusetts.

PETER A. AMRAM MA '69 has been a resident in Geology at University of Connecticut. He is a member of Alpha Delta Phi. Mr. Amram is presently a graduate student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute to complete a masters in engineering.

BRYN RICHARDS, a resident of Massachusetts, was employed at Bradley International Airport and the Wethersfield branch of Society of Alpha Delta Phi. His current position is a vice president for real estate and marketing at Valley Bank in Springfield, Massachusetts.

DICK FLYNN, whom there's been no word in at least five years follows. where they are or what they're doing:

EDWARD DICK FLYNN, whom there's been no word in at least five years follows. where they are or what they're doing:

PETER A. AMRAM MA '69 has been a resident in Geology at University of Connecticut. He is a member of Alpha Delta Phi. Mr. Amram is presently a graduate student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute to complete a masters in engineering.

BRYN RICHARDS, a resident of Massachusetts, was employed at Bradley International Airport and the Wethersfield branch of Society of Alpha Delta Phi. His current position is a vice president for real estate and marketing at Valley Bank in Springfield, Massachusetts.
Winter Sports Report; Cagers Rip Wes 88-56

Trinity's varsity basketball team broke out of a midseason slump with a reounding 88-56 upset victory over archrival Wesleyan.

Although the Bants had managed a 64-61 victory over the Cardinals in the season's opener, Trim had been unable to get back on track after a five-week Christmas layoff and had suffered defeats to Middlebury (78-72), Union (67-55), and Williams (69-66) with its sole victory of the New Year coming against the Coast Guard (63-57).

The Wesleyan game found the Bants with only three victories in 10 decisions but a new fast-breaking offense installed by Coach Robbie Shults, and led by a pair of exciting freshmen, produced Trim's finest performance to date. Frosh Wayne Sokolosky, who hails from Branford, Christ and Williams (69-66) with its sole victory of the New Year coming against the Coast Guard (63-57).

The Wesleyan game found the Bants out of a midseason slump with a rousing performance of exciting freshmen, produced Trim's finest performance to date. Frosh Wayne Sokolosky poured in 24 points for the evening. Trim narrowly missed pulling out a victory against Williams a few days earlier after fighting back from a 10-point deficit midway in the second half. Down 36-46, Trim rallied to take six of seven contests in the last four minutes for a 49-48 lead but neither team was able to mount more than a two-point lead until the end of the game.

The highlight of the swimming season this winter was a come-from-behind 57-56 win over Union College. The Bants, who have won only three of eight duel meets, scored seven points in the last race of the day—the 400-yard freestyle relay—to edge the Dutchmen as seniors Dave Brown and Charlie Mack and freshmen Steve Cecil and Mike O'Brien turned in the winning performance.

Trim's other victories have come against Tufts (61-48) and Holy Cross (62-29) with its most recent defeat coming against the Coast Guard and MIT by identical 66-47 scores.

Senior Charlie Mack has regularly taken first place honors in the 50- and 100-yard freestyle events and is the team's top scorer with Captain Dave Brown and senior John Ted Stoble close behind.

The following weekend, the racquetmen traveled to Middletown and won three of four matches losing only to Cornell (5-4) and defeating Wesleyan (9-0), Franklin, and Marshall (6-3), and Stony Brook (6-3).

The true measure of the frosh team's depth of talent is that a new team leader seems to appear every time the squad plays. Leading the group is Charlie Stewart of Pittsburgh, Pa., followed by: Robie Shults (Villanova, Pa.), Mal Owen (Brooklyn, N.Y.), Tim Cross (East Sandwich, Mass.), John Gates (Lake Forest, Ill.), Mike Moffitt (Mechanicsburg, Pa.), and Tom Shults (Hanover, Pa.).

Coach Bill Sterne has an equally fine athletic team at Trinity when she placed third out of six competitors in diving in a meet with the Coast Guard Academy on February 6.

The class of 1976 is quickly establishing itself as perhaps one of the finest groups of athletes to come to campus in recent years. Last fall the freshman football team recorded an undefeated season and the soccer squad turned in a 6-2 mark. The winter's basketball and squash team have a combined 14-2 record. The racquetmen have a good chance to become Trinity's first undefeated squash team on either the freshmen or varsity level.

Whitney Cook's racquetmen have trounced all seven opponents this season, including identical 8-1 scores against Yale, Amherst and Wesleyan. The team has an abundance of talent illustrated by the fact that the seven top-seeded players on the team are all undefeated in match play. Leading the group is Charlie Stewart of Pittsburgh, Pa., followed by: Robie Shults (Villanova, Pa.), Mal Owen (Brooklyn, N.Y.), Tim Cross (East Sandwich, Mass.), John Gates (Lake Forest, Ill.), Mike Moffitt (Mechanicsburg, Pa.), and Tom Shults (Hanover, Pa.).

Coach Bill Sterne has an equally fine contingent of freshmen on the basketball court. His biggest problem, however, is that his top players seem to be moving up to the varsity one by one. Freshman Wayne Sokolosky is perhaps the most talented of the lot and has worn a varsity jersey since the start of the season. He is currently the second highest individual scorer on the varsity squa with a 14-point-per-game average.

The frosh "Iont" Othar Burks to the varsity after Christmas and the 6-1 guard has averaged nine points a game in his first five contests. Bo Pickard, a 6-3 center from East Greenwich, Rhode Island, moved up just recently and added six points to Trim's 88-56 win over Wesleyan.

The true measure of the frosh team's depth of talent is that a new team leader seems to appear every time the squad plays. The latest is guard Bobby Williams who has averaged 24 points per game and had a 36-point performance against Williams to his credit and a record-shattering 49-point total against Wesleyan.