Annual Giving Passes Half-Million Mark

Goal Topped By $28,000

The Annual Giving Drive has passed the half-million dollar mark for the first time in the College's history. The drive ended with gifts and pledges totalling $502,965.

The total is nearly $28,000 above the campaign goal of $475,000, and more than $62,000 above the $440,421 contributed last year.

The Annual Giving Drive, which is conducted between October and June each academic year, supports the College's operating budget, which was $8.5 million for the 1972-73 fiscal year.

Contributions to the annual giving fund came from alumni ($287,631); parents ($109,381); business and industry ($65,416); friends of Trinity ($30,237); and non-corporate foundations ($19,100).

Total gifts in each category were equal to or greater than the goals which were set when the campaign was planned.

Alumni gifts totaled 104 percent of the $275,000 goal, and were up about $35,000 from last year's total of $248,944. Parents made 115 percent of their $35,000 goal, and gave nearly $22,000 more than last year, when gifts totaled $88,099.

Of the 3,880 contributors, 31 percent, or 1,202, were new contributors.

Eighty-four donors joined the Founders Society with gifts of $1,000 or more, and 637 made gifts between $150 and $999 to become members of the Anniversity Club.

"This is a milestone year for Trinity in many ways," President Lockwood said, "because it is the year the College reached the $100,000,000 mark. It is to the credit of our contributors and those who volunteered to work on the campaign that this year's gifts passed the half-million mark. Such support goes a long way in keeping Trinity among the leaders of small private colleges."

Seven financial aid students will be studying at other institutions in the United States and abroad next fall under scholarships provided by the College. A new policy begun this year allows qualified students to take their financial aid with them when they study somewhere else for a semester. One student next fall will be studying in Washington, D.C.; one will be in France; one will be in Germany; one will be in Madrid, Spain. Requirements for continuing financial aid under these circumstances include that the program of study be integral to the student's major field of study, and offer significant opportunities not available at Trinity.

NEW ALUMNI DIRECTORY

Alumni should by now have received a first or second request for the essential information required for the new publication of the Alumni and Student Directory to be published in January of next year. We sincerely hope that everyone will reply to this request.

Publication will be handled by Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company, Inc. of White Plains, New York. In the contract with the college, the firm assumes all financial obligations, including the compilation, editing, billing and distribution of the directory, and will cover its costs through the sale of advertising and individual book sales (to alumni only). All advertising will be sold subject to the approval of the college. This new plan will eliminate the normal sizable cost to the college and Alumni Association, and through its self-sustaining operation assures the compilation of a professionally complete volume.

The number of directories printed will be based on the number of advance orders received via the phone call, plus a limited number of copies for the college use only. No post-publication sale is planned.

The Harris Company is the Alumni Association’s sole authorized agent for the production and marketing for the directory, which will be made available to Alumni only and will be shipped at cost, profit not being involved.

There is no charge to you for your listing—and full representation is essential. Whether or not you purchase a book, we ask that you comply with the information requested when you receive a phone call from the publisher.

Trinity Bows to Wisconsin at Henley

Trinity College's varsity heavyweight crew fell to a powerful eight from the University of Wisconsin in the second round of The Ladies' Challenge Plate at the 134th Henley Royal Regatta on July 5.

The three-quarter length loss ended Trinity's third attempt in five years to become the first American crew to bring The Ladies' Plate to the United States. A fine crew from Harvard University won that honor with a three-length victory at The Barrier which is 5/16 of a mile down the course.

Coach Anderson commented after the race that "We had one length over Durham at The Barrier so we eased up a bit. We rowed at 36 strokes for the rest of the race without sprinting at the end."

The following day's encounter pitted Trinity against Wisconsin's junior varsity eight which had stroke to a national intercollegiate championship in Syracuse, New York in early June.

The contest came on a day in which spectators lining the banks of the Thames River were treated to what was easily the largest number of record shattering performances in recent decades.

The Trinity-Wisconsin race was no exception as the Bantams rowed to The Barrier in 1:53 to tie a new record set only hours before by crews from Harvard University and University College of Dublin, Ireland.

Marks for The Barrier, Fawley (which is halfway down the course), and The Ladies' Plate were each broken four times during the day.

Trinity again set a strong 49 strokes per minute pace at the start and had a 3 1/4 length lead over the Badgers at The Barrier. Through the heart of the contest the Bantams rowed at 39 while the Badgers stroked at a lower but powerful 36-37 rate.

Wisconsin moved up on Trinity and took a six-foot lead at the halfway mark in 3:13. The Badgers' Fawley time tied a Ladies' Plate record which had stood since 1949. It was subsequently bettered by three other crews that day.

Each crew took "pops" or short sprints in the middle of the race, but Wisconsin's junior varsity continued to widen its lead. With just four hundred meters left, the Badgers pulled out to a two-length lead for their largest margin of the day.

The Trinity crew moved its pace up to forty in a last-ditch effort to catch the leaders. Two lengths were cut in half and then to less than a length but the gap was just too much to overcome.

Wisconsin's winning time of 6:41 was one of the fastest every recorded in The Ladies' Plate while Trinity's 6:44 was just two seconds off the old record which was broken several times during the day.

Coach Graft commented afterwards, "We raced a very fine crew from Wisconsin today, but I'm proud of our crew's efforts. In other years our course time would have been fantastic but this year's field of competitors has no equal in any American Regatta."

The 1973 crew season which began on the Connecticut River in April with a 10-length win over Wesleyan came to an end on a warm July day at Henley-on-Thames. Though this year's crew had not achieved all they might have wanted, they had come a long way since the early days of the season. A 201 record, included a win and New England Championship in five years, a good showing at the IRA Championships in June which included a consolation victory in the four coxswain class and second place in the collegiate title for Dave Brown and Rick Ricci, and a trip to the world's most prestigious rowing event - The Henley Royal Regatta.

The Wisconsin race was the last one for Brown and Ricci in a Trinity uniform.
