Seven financial aid students will be studying at other institutions in the United States and abroad next fall under scholarships provided by the College. A new policy begun this year allows qualified students to take their financial aid with them when they study somewhere else for a semester. Purpose of the policy, according to Robbins Window, dean of educational services, is to allow students on financial aid to strengthen their major through foreign study. One student next fall will be studying in Washington, D.C.; two will be in France, one in Germany, and three in Madrid, Spain. Requirements for continuing financial aid under these circumstances include that the program of study be integral to the student's major field of study, and offer significant opportunities not available at Trinity.

Lockwood Names Attorney as Aide

Thomas D. Lips, an attorney formerly from San Francisco, Calif., has been appointed assistant to the president.

A native of Wilmington, Del., Mr. Lips is a 1966 graduate of Dartmouth College, and earned a J.D. degree from Harvard Law School in 1969. He served in the U.S. Army from 1970-71, in the Systems Analysis section of the Office of the Secretary of Defense. John Hey! to Take Development Post

John L. Hey!'66, who was named alumni secretary in 1970, will become assistant director of development, effective October 1. He will replace Alfred M. C. MacColl '54 who has resigned to become assistant to the headmaster of The Rectory School in Pomfret, Connecticut.

In his new position, Mr. Hey! will have responsibility for the Alumni Fund and Parents Fund in the Annual Giving Campaign.

A native of Philadelphia, Mr. Hey! graduated from Loomis School and, after receiving his B.A. from Trinity, did graduate work at Brown University. He taught for two years in Thomaston, Maine and, during the year before his appointment as alumni secretary, at the Hyde School in Bath, Maine.

Mr. Hey! succeeded John A. Mason '54 who now serves as assistant to the president for alumni affairs.

A UNIQUE CONTRIBUTION—Raymond A. Montgomery '25, who at 70 years is as spry as some undergraduates, spent 2½ weeks in early June painting the concrete shields on both sides of Downs Memorial Arch. His painstaking work, which involved hand-picking the ivy which had grown over the shields, was a "gift" he wished to contribute ever since he saw similar painted shields in England. He researched the authentic colors for the shields, which included the Trinity College shield, the shield of Trinity College, Cambridge, the Tudor Arms and the arms of Henry III, which is pictured above. Using acrylic paints, he worked from a 20-foot aluminum scaffold. His project attracted TV and newspaper reporters, and headline writers had a grand time describing it. Some samples: "Grad, 70, Brushes Up at Trinity;" "Trinity Grad Rates High in Devotion;" and "Painter Goes High on Trinity." NEW ALUMNI DIRECTORY

Alumni should now have received a first or second request for the essential information required for the new publication of the Sesquicentennial Directory to be published in January of next year. We sincerely hope that everyone will reply to this request.

Publication will be handled by Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company, Inc. of White Plains, New York. In the contract with the college, the firm assumes all financial obligations, including the compilation, editing, billing and distribution of the directory, and will cover its costs through the sale of advertising and individual book sales (to alumni only). All advertising will be sold subject to the approval of the college. This new plan will eliminate the normal sizable cost to the college and Alumni Association, and through its self-sustaining operation assures the compilation of a professionally complete volume.

The number of directories printed will be based on the number of advance orders received via the phone call, plus a limited number of copies for the college use only. No post-publication sale is planned.

The Harris Company is the Alumni Association's sole authorized agent for the production and marketing for the directory, which will be made available to alumni only and will be a valuable asset, profit from which funds immediate future.

There is no charge to you for your listing—and full representation is essential. Whether or not you purchase a book, we ask that you comply with the information requested when you receive a phone call from the publisher.

Trinity College's varsity heavyweight crew fell to a powerful eight from the University of Wisconsin in the second round of The Ladies' Challenge Plate at the 134th Henley Royal Regatta on July 5.

The three-quarter-length loss ended Trinity's third attempt in five years to become the first American crew to bring The Ladies' Plate to the United States. A fine crew from Harvard University won that honor with a three-length victory over defending champ D.S.R. Laga of Holland in this year's final.

Trinity's lineup included the following rowers: Currie, Anderson, Mosely, Anderson, Harris, Sargent, Franklin, Smith, Anderson, and Burford.

Andy Anderson of Northfield, Illinois, called a strong sprint from the start. The Bantams rowed at a blistering 49 strokes per minute pace for the first 200 meters and pulled to a one-half length lead. Trinity lowered its temps to 40 strokes and was still within striking distance by The Barrier which is 5/16 of a mile down the course.

Anderson commented after the race that "We had one length over Durham at The Barrier so we eased up a bit. We rowed at 36 strokes for the rest of the race without sprinting at the end." The following day's encounter pit Trinity against Wisconsin's junior varsity eight which had shot to a national intercollegiate championship in Syracuse, New York in early June.

The contest came on a day in which spectators lining the banks of the Thames River were treated to what was easily the largest number of record shattering performances in recent decades.

The Trinity-Wisconsin race was no exception as the Bantams rowed to The Barrier in 1:53 to tie a new record set only hours before by crews from Harvard University and University College of Dublin, Ireland.

Mark's for The Barrier, Fawley (which is halfway down the course), and The Ladies' Plate were each broken four times during the day.

Trinity again set a strong 49 strokes per minute pace at the start and had a 3/4 length lead over the Badgers at The Barrier. Through the heart of the contest the Bantams rowed at 39 while the Badgers stroked at a lower but powerful 36-37 rate.

Wisconsin moved up on Trinity and took a six-foot lead at the halfway mark in 3:13. The Badgers' Fawley time tied a Ladies' Plate record which had stood since 1949. It was subsequently bettered by three other crews that day.

Each crew took "pops" or short sprints in the middle of the race, but Wisconsin's junior varsity continued to widen its lead. With just four hundred meters left, the Badgers pulled out to a two-length lead for their largest margin of the day.

The Trinity crew moved its pace up to forty in a last-ditch effort to catch the leaders. Two lengths were cut in half and then to less than a length but the gap was just too much to overcome.

Wisconsin's winning time of 6:41 was one of the fastest every recorded in The Ladies' Plate while Trinity's 6:44 was just two seconds off the old record which was broken several times during the day.

Coach Gret commented afterwards, "We raced a very fine crew from Wisconsin today, but I'm proud of our crew's efforts. In the other year our course time would be fantastic but this year's field of competitors has no equal in any American Rowing Plate." The 1973 crew season which began on the Connecticut River in April with a 10-length win over Wesleyan came to an end on a warm July day at Henley-on-Thames. Though this year's crew had not achieved all they might have wanted, they had come a long way since the early days of the season. A 201 record, included a 196 New England Championship in five years, a good showing at the IRA Championships in June which included a consolation victory in the four with coxswain class and second consecutive collegiate title for Dave Brown and Rick Ricci, and a trip to the world's most prestigious rowing event- The Henley Royal Regatta. The Wisconsin race was the last one for Brown and Ricci in a Trinity uniform.

Trinity Bows to Wisconsin at Henley

Trinity's athletic facilities will be used to capacity by over 800 boys and girls from Hartford this summer in two separate sports and recreational programs conducted by the College.

For the fourth consecutive year, Trinity will host a program which is currently funded under a national grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and co-sponsored by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) and the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. The program runs through August 9.

Trinity is the only college in Connecticut hosting the program which includes 104 colleges and universities in 67 cities and 36 states serving as many as 50,000 youngsters this summer.

Activities such as football, basketball, swimming, track, wrestling, gymnastics and tennis as well as modern dance and physical development will be offered with instruction given by professional coaches and college and high school athletes.

This summer's program will also include a free hot lunch each day for all participants and will feature an educational program with lecturers drawn from the Hartford community speaking on such varied topics as the use of cosmetics, hygiene, drugs and job and educational opportunities.

Richard Taylor, assistant professor of physical education is head of this year's program, while Walter "Doc" Hurley, assistant to the principal at Weaver High School, will be liaison officer to the Hartford community.

As a preliminary, each youngster received a free medical examination given by physicians from the Hartford area. For the fourth year, a group of Trinity alumni doctors volunteered their services for the examinations.

The second program, which will run through August 17, is the Trinity Summer Recreational Program, sponsored by the Hartford Parks and Recreation Department.

This program is a "walk-in" for residents of the area and includes football, weight lifting, gymnastics and swimming. Additional activities will include the making of a film, scheduled trips to the beach, and visits to local points of interest.

Corporation Officers: J. W. Cook '72, a Trinity graduate assistant in the physical education department, heads the program.

Dr. Rosenbaum was one of 14 alumni doctors from the Hartford area who volunteered to give free physical examinations to boys and girls in the program. Others who participated in the examinations were Drs. Joseph J. Belizzi '44, Roger G. Conant '44, David M. Geeter '55, William E. Hart '46, Henry W. Kaplan '41, William W. T. Seven other members of the crew will be back: coxswain Andy Anderson, oarsmen Ken Vos Gryka, Phil Wendeler, Chad Mooney, Ted Berghausen, and Curt Jordan who will co-captain next year's crew.

All three of the crew's sparers will also return. Sophomore John Mencherow who doubled as back-up coxswain and team manager at Henley will return next spring along with oarsmen Burt Alfigbbaum and Ben Brewer. The two were a taste of international rowing when they reached the finals of the pre-regatta tournament for spare oarsmen in cowxswained pairs.

The Bantam pair defeated the Victoria Boat Club of Liverpool, England and Ridley College of Canada before losing a two-length verdict to a combination boat of the University of Wisconsin and MIT.
