The Jesters' Own Dramatic Story

By Sue Weisellberg '76

The story of the Jesters — Trinity's dramatic group which began over a century ago — has its own dramatic side. It's a rags-to-riches tale, beginning with casual "society melodrama" and developing into a full-fledged academic department with a modern theatre.

The evolution of the group, always dependent on available facilities, took place in spurts. From 1871 to 1887, productions were both casual and occasional, and were for the purpose of "the cultivation of histrionic talent, intellectual improvement, and the entertainment of ourselves and others." In 1887, Alumni Hall opened; its upper floor had an auditorium that was used as the College theatre until the late 1920's, when all of Alumni Hall was taken over by the athletic department. Shortly after, the auditorium was destroyed by fire.

Jesters rented theatres in the area for their productions until 1949, when Alumni Hall's lower floor was converted to Connecticut's first arena theatre. From then on, the Jesters' productions usually remained on campus, first in the arena theatre, and from 1965 to the present, in Goodwin Theatre of the Austin Arts Center. In 1969, theatre arts at Trinity ceased to be just an extracurricular theatre, and, from 1965 to the present, in Goodwin Theatre of the Austin Arts Center. In 1969, theatre arts at Trinity ceased to be just an extracurricular activity and became a formal department and major.

With the completion of Alumni Hall in 1887, the Trinity Dramatic Club finally had a stage. In October of that year, it announced that it would attempt a season of "society melodrama or light farce." After that, the club, which donated all proceeds to the Treasury of the Athletic Association, gave at least two plays a year.

From 1924 to 1926 the Jesters were a major, and, from 1965 to the present, in Goodwin Theatre of the Austin Arts Center. In 1969, theatre arts at Trinity ceased to be just an extracurricular activity and became a formal department and major.

With the completion of Alumni Hall in 1887, the Trinity Dramatic Club finally had a stage. In October of that year, it announced that it would attempt a season of "society melodrama or light farce." After that, the club, which donated all proceeds to the Treasury of the Athletic Association, gave at least two plays a year.

Full props and costumes were used in most of the plays. Men usually took both male and female parts; not until the early 1900's did Hartford area women regularly play female roles. In 1894 the drama club took the name "The Jesters," and it has been used ever since.

The Jesters, which had suffered through a slump and during and after World War I, enjoyed a revival during the 1920's. They reorganized themselves in the fall of 1923, deciding to continue to produce two plays a year. A person who played a single part was called a Junior Jester. One who played two major, one major and one minor, or three minor parts was made a Senior Jester, and awarded a charm for his efforts.

From 1924 to 1926 the Jesters were a social and financial success, producing "The Turtle Doves," by Margaret Scott Oliver; "Rollo's Wild Oats," by Clare Kummer; "The Dover Road," by A.A. Milne; "Arms and the Man," by George Bernard Shaw; "The Whole Town's Done It" (Continued on Page 3).

Clifton Bockstoce

Clifton M. Bockstoce of West Hartford has been appointed vice president for financial affairs and treasurer of the College.

Bockstoce succeeds J. Kenneth Robertson, Treasurer and Comptroller since 1951, who is retiring. The appointment is effective May 15.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., Bockstoce worked for Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. (PPG) from 1935 to 1961, serving in the U. S. Army from 1943 to 1946. At PPG he was regional manager of the Merchandising Division, based in Hartford.

In 1961 he joined Putnam and Co. in Hartford, and served as a general partner in that firm and its successor company, Advent.

He is a member of St. John's Church, West Hartford; a trustee of Trinity Church, York Harbor, Maine; assistant treasurer of the Episcopal Diocese of Connecticut; a trustee of the Wadsworth Atheneum and the Bushnell Memorial Hall, and a director of Lydall, Inc., and XTRA, Inc.

Bockstoce is a graduate of Haverford College and of the Advanced Management Program, Harvard Business School. Robertson, a native of Cambridge, Mass., holds a Ph.B. from Yale and an M.B.A. from Harvard. He has been active in the Eastern Association of College and University Business Officers, has served as Secretary-Treasurer of Scholarships for Illinois Residents, Inc., a scholarship program which brings Illinois students to Trinity, is a former director and treasurer of the Connecticut Student Loan Foundation, and served several years as a director of the University Research Institute of Connecticut.

In his earlier career, Robertson served from 1935 to 1943 with Warner Brothers Theaters, dealing with operations, public relations, and advertising. From 1943 until he joined Trinity in 1951, he was business manager of the Taft School in Watertown.

In making the announcement, President Lockwood said, "Mrs. Robertson has ably served the College as Treasurer for twenty-three years, and it was a difficult assignment to find a successor for her. We are delighted that Mr. Bockstoce will join us this month and bring his experience to bear upon the special problems of endowment management, long-range fiscal planning, and the financial resources needed in independent higher education."

More Students Applying to Enter Trinity

Trinity's next freshman class will be drawn from the largest applicant pool in the college's history. The college anticipates that about 450 men and women will enroll as freshmen in September. If this expectation is met, the class would be slightly larger than last year's entering class of 421, but smaller than the 495 freshmen who enrolled in 1972.

While private college enrollments nationwide declined last year and sharp drops in enrollment are predicted nationally for the rest of the decade, applications to Trinity nevertheless increased 20 percent this year. The total of 1,989 applications — 1,251 women and 1,647 men — increased by 481 over last year's admission total of 2,417.

According to college statistics, the number of male applicants this year is equal to the greatest number of men who ever applied to Trinity before the decision to become coeducational in 1969.

Included in this year's applications were 145 from minority people, up from last year when 124 applied. Letters of acceptance were sent to 1,154 people, including 641 men and 513 women. There were 90 minority people — black, Latin and Asian — among those admitted.

Auditorium Named to Honor Boyer

Trinity College has named the auditorium in the Albert C. Jacobs Life Sciences Center after the late Francis Boyer, former chairman of the board of Smith Kline & French Laboratories and benefactor of the College.

Francis Boyer, who died May 21, 1972, was associated with the pharmaceutical firm of Smith Kline & French for more than 50 years, from 1919 until his retirement in 1970. He was executive vice president from 1936-1951, president from 1951-1958, and chairman of the board from 1958-1966.

He was awarded an honorary Doctor of Science degree (Sc.D.) from Trinity in 1961.

Mr. Boyer established a scholarship fund at Trinity in memory of his son, John Francis Boyer, who was killed in an automobile accident in 1954. John Boyer, a member of Trinity's Class of 1953, had spent three semesters at Trinity before transferring to the University of Pennsylvania. A prolific writer, he had been editorial associate of the Tripod, and wrote short stories and poetry for the Trinity Review, and had been published in other journals.

Also in memory of his son, Boyer made a gift to provide for the Tripod office in Mather Campus Center when it was built in 1960.
The Office of Community Life and Student Services will be consolidated into one office next fall. The new office of the dean of students will be directed by J. Ronald Spencer.

Terry Costelloe, director of student services, has resigned to become a�e Manager at Millbrook School, Millbrook, New York. In the new combined office, Ellen Malquimp will serve as dean of a�ents, David Lee will serve as dean of student services, Mohamed Jilani will serve as dean of students and Eleanor Tilles, part-time administrator, will take a full-time position and become assistant dean for college a�idences.

Terry Costelloe will retain her position as master calendar coordinator.

Dr. Randolph M. Lee '66 has been promoted to associate college counselor, effective July 1. Lee is also assistant professor of biology.

Lee received an A.B. degree from the University of Massachusetts in 1969 and 1970 respectively. While at the University of Massachusetts, he was a clinical and research assistant at the counseling center for the University and the Child Guidance Center in Amherst, Mass.

Lee is coauthor of an article on counseling services in Canadian universities which appeared in the Journal of the Council of the Association of University Student Personnel Services and an article on client training prior to counseling which appeared in the "Canadian Counseling."

He has been involved in two research grants from the Connecticut Commission on Aid to Education.

Lee is treasurer of the Connecticut Psychological Association and a member of the American Psychological Association, the Association for the Advancement of Psychology, the Eastern Psychological Association, the New England Psychological Association and the Society for the Psychological Study of Social Issues.

Dr. Howard is vice-president, and Edwin P. Nye, dean of the faculty, were participants at a conference on environmental sciences sponsored by University Research Institute of Connecticut (URIC) held in April. The theme of the conference was "Connecticut Energy Situation" and Nye, who is URIC chairman, was host for the conference. Smith moderated a discussion on "Solving Connecticut's Energy Problems."

Robert A. Cole, artist-in-residence, has been awarded a grant of $2,500 by the Connecticut Commission on the Arts to set up an etching studio and printmaking workshop. The grant will enable Cole, who is a printmaker, to open "The Storington (Conn.) Workshop" where Cole will offer beginning and advanced classes in printmaking at minimal cost, open printshop facilities to area artists for a nominal fee and train printmakers from the workshop participants.

Dr. Robert D. Ozman has been promoted to associate professor of history, effective September 1. He joined the Trinity faculty in 1970, as assistant professor of history. Ozman is a 1964 Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Williams College and received an M.A. and Ph.D. in 1966 and 1969 respectively from Yale University.

Ozman has been a member of the American Historical Association and the New England Historical Association and the Conference on British Studies.

An authority on modern Chinese history, Ozman teaches both Chinese and Japanese history at the College. The author of "History and Simulation: The "Oriental Camp" and biographies on Ch'In China in "The Encyclopedia of World Biography," Ozman is presently writing "The Oboi Regency of Russia."

HONORED - With the traditional reception, the College honored those retiring or having reached 25 years of service. Left to right, The Rev. Thomas Devonshire Jones who served for the past year as English Exchange Chaplain; Joseph T. Schilling, assistant to the treasurer, retiring after 16 years; and Dr. Godfrey of Villanova, Father L. Lee, who has served as President, and Francis J. Salmon, retiring after 13 years; Mary Lee Curry, secretary to the dean for student services, honored for 25 years of service; and President Lockwood.

Dr. Crawford Dr. Howard

2 Men Named Full Professors

Two members of the Trinity College faculty have been promoted to the rank of full professor.

They are Dr. Richard B. Crawford, associate professor of biology, and Dr. Albert J. Howard Jr., associate professor of political science.

The promotions to full professor are effective September 1.

Dr. Crawford, a native of Kamalao, Mich., joined the Trinity faculty in 1967. He holds a bachelor's degree from Kalamazoo College, a Ph.D. in biochemistry from the University of Rochester, where he was a graduate fellow and postdoctoral fellow.

From 1959, until his appointment at Trinity, he taught at the University of Pennsylvania's School of dental medicine. He has written or co-authored 23 articles in professional journals, presented a dozen invited lectures, and is a member of the American Chemical Society, the Philadelphia Biochemistry Club, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Association of University Professors, the American Society of Zoologists, and the Mt. Desert Island Biological Laboratory (Bar Harbor, Maine), of which he is associate director, research, and corporation council.

Dr. Crawford was recipient of a National Science Foundation grant to study the chemical processes that induce the growth of the embryo. He has also received research grants from the American Cancer Society and the U.S. Public Health Service.

Dr. Howard, a native of New Haven, holds B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees in philosophy from Yale University. He joined the Trinity faculty in 1962 and has taught, as a visiting associate, at Yale University and at the California Institute of Technology.

A nuclear physicist, Dr. Howard has coauthored 22 articles published in professional journals.

Alumni Shown 'Trinity in Action'

A group of alumni got to see "Trinity in Action" for three days in late April. More than 200 students and 50 faculty and administrators helped to welcome the returning alumni what Trinity is like today.

They were introduced to the curriculum, athletics, the arts, and new teaching techniques, among other things.

"Trinity in Action" was the suggestion of the executive committee of the Alumni Association. One alumna who participated said he "learned a lot about Trinity in a short span than I have in the preceding 20 years."

Dr. Borden W. Painter, Jr., associate professor of history, has been appointed chairman of the history department effective July 1, 1974. He succeeds Dr. George B. Cooper, who held the chairmanship since 1964.

Dr. Painter, who came to Trinity in 1964, is a 1958 Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Trinity and was a 1958-1959 Woodrow Wilson Fellow. He received an M.A. in 1960 and a Ph.D. in 1965 from Yale. He also holds an S.T.B. degree from General Theological Seminary.

Dr. Painter was ordained a priest in the Episcopal Church in 1962 and currently serves at St. James Episcopal Church in Farmington.

He was a member of the faculty of the Trinity College Rome Campus in 1971 and has been appointed director of the summer program in Rome for 1974.

He is a member of the American Historical Association, the New England Historical Association and the Conference on British Studies.

Painted Appointed History Chairman

The Jesters always had a faculty adviser willing to serve as dramatic coach. In 1920, Harry Perkins was a professor of physics; his wife, who had had a brief career as a professional stage supervisor, the Jesters until about 1919. Other people served as advisers until 1946. Then, according to Dr. Michael Campos, a student at the time and today professor of modern languages and literatures and director of the Theatre Arts Center, “Mr. Perkins was the ‘Golden Age of the Jesters’—along with several veterans of the Second World War who were eager to take on challenging roles and experiment with the theatre.

Advised and directed by Dr. Bard McNulty, the Jesters rehearsed in the top floor of Seabury. They expanded from the traditional presentation of a tragedy in the fall and a comedy in the spring to the avant-garde. In the fall of 1946, “Golden Boy” was produced, with Michael Campos playing the role of the old Italian father, and Ken Wyne as Eddie Fuselli, the young boxer. In the spring of 1947, Thomas Campos played Jacoby and Moe Johndrman was the German Colonel. One Jester had a pilot’s license, so he flew a plane over Hartford, showing the city with leaflets about the play.

In the summer of 1947, some of the Jesters decided to do their own summer stock. They found a barn in Sharon, Conn., and convinced the Sharon Inn that they had done a great job. Shakespeare’s plays were performed in the summer months. The Jesters performed in Alumni Hall, but not in Alumni Hall until about 1960, when the original auditorium in Alumni Hall

THE FORTEES – In 1947 the members of the Jesters were, from left to right: (first row) J. H. Schachter; K. Wynne, Jr.; Professor J. B. McNulty; D. W. Craig; P. E. Brooks; M. Neat; and B. K. Nicholson; (second row) R. S. Neat; G. D. Denny; J. F. Straley; R. B. Nicholson; E. F. Albee; R. H. Reid; L. E. Edgar; S. F. Campbell; and D. Reynolds. Albee, who was at Trinity for a year and a half, went on to write “Who’s Afraid of Virginia Woolf?” “Amputee Dream,” “Zoom Story,” and other plays. Other Jesters who have achieved successful careers in various aspects of the theatre include Mike Kellin ’43, George Dessart ’44, Hal Parone ’49, Richard Roat ’55, Mark Healy ’59, John Toye ’59, Lee Kalcheim ’60, and Bill Bartman ’68.

THE TEENS – In “Tom Moore,” a four-act play produced by the Jesters in 1915, the female roles were played by women. The review of the play in the 1916 Ivy stated, “It is difficult to judge correctly how they were all so charming and altogether delightful that any description is sure to fail so far short of the reality. The playing of their parts was as delicate as it was discriminating.”

From 1947 to 1950, Robert M. Vogel, then assistant professor of English, was director of dramas for the Jesters. He moved productions from the Avery Memorial Theatre back to Alumni Hall. The original auditorium in Alumni Hall had been destroyed in the 1920s by a fire, so Dr. Vogel and the Jesters built an arena theatre, using the lower floor of the old gym. A series of platforms, 18 inches high and 16 by 32 feet, were constructed in the center of the floor as the stage. The audience sat by three sides of the platforms and curtains were hung on three walls to tone down the gym’s atmosphere.

The arena theatre competed with athletic teams and the regular physical education programs in the winter, so that plays and full-length plays were produced in Kriebel Auditorium or the Washington Room during the winter months. The Jesters performed in Alumni Hall, however, until 1965, when the its establishment has meant a fairly wide variety of courses on the theatre. Eliet says, "I would like to see the department push harder and develop more, but its gains have been substantial. Our offering is traditional, and it’s good.”

Last semester, there were three major productions: Anton Chekhov’s “The Seagull,” directed by Eliet; Shakespeare’s “Richard II,” directed by Nichols; and Tennessee Williams’ “The Night of the Iguana,” directed by Len Cowan ’74. “Iguana” was the first student-directed major production since the department began. Six one-act plays were also presented.

Cowan chose “Iguana” because “it treats the line between comedy and seriousness. Williams’ play gets across the idea that distinctions between fantasy and reality are indeed blurry, and we must not be frightened of one or the other, as they are both components of life itself.”

On the second floor of Seabury, they found themselves working 18, 20 and 22 hours a day putting the barn in shape, working on publicity, choosing casts, acting and directing. In ten weeks, nine or ten plays were produced, including “The Monkey’s Paw,” “Spring Fever,” “The Pitchfork Playhouse” was in the summer of 1946, with Mike Kellin, today a professional actor, replacing Michael Campos. It still exists

THE PLAYHOUSE -- In 1947 the members of the Jesters were, from left to right: (first row) J. H. Schachter; K. Wynne, Jr.; Professor J. B. McNulty; D. W. Craig; P. E. Brooks; M. Neat; and B. K. Nicholson; (second row) R. S. Neat; G. D. Denny; J. F. Straley; R. B. Nicholson; E. F. Albee; R. H. Reid; L. E. Edgar; S. F. Campbell; and D. Reynolds. Albee, who was at Trinity for a year and a half, went on to write “Who’s Afraid of Virginia Woolf?” “Amputee Dream,” “Zoom Story,” and other plays. Other Jesters who have achieved successful careers in various aspects of the theatre include Mike Kellin ’43, George Dessart ’44, Hal Parone ’49, Richard Roat ’55, Mark Healy ’59, John Toye ’59, Lee Kalcheim ’60, and Bill Bartman ’68.

Dr. Eliet has stated. With the inception of the Lift One-Act Series was introduced (about five one-act plays produced entirely by students each semester) and the number of major productions was increased from three to four, with Eliet and Nichols each directing two during the year.

Since the establishment of the theatre arts department, there have been many opportunities for interested students both at Trinity and through affiliation with other programs. Students can spend a semester in the United Kingdom program, offered by the Tufts-In-London program, studying the theatre, or at a semester at the O’Neill Theatre in Waterford, Conn., or take an open semester or independent study involving the theatre. With the Lift One-Act Series, they can experiment with directing and acting, and develop their general concept of the theatre.

Many students have become involved in the department without being majors.

While there are always improvements that can be made, most students seem glad that there is an active theatre arts department. Ann Convey ’74 says, “The main thing about the theatre arts department is that the spirit down there is incredible. There is no hierarchy. Everybody cooperates; they’re happy and dedicated. The kids work very hard on the respect that they’re not paid.”

Ann Convey, a senior English major, says, “The great advantage of a liberal arts school like Trinity is that it gives a student access to all aspects of the theatre, more so than in a professional drama school. It also gives students discipline; we can do crazy things but we must do them seriously.”

THE SEVENTIES – The Theatre Arts Department produced Thornton Wilder’s “Our Town” in 1972 at the Goodwin Theater. From left are Steve Meyer ’74 as George Gibbs, Ann Egbert ’75 as Emily Webb and Glenn Gustafson ’73 as Mr. Webb.
defeat Tufts 5-4. On April 17 the Bants lost a 7-6 squeaker to the Lord Jeffs of Amherst. The 15-3 setback to Bowdoin was much closer than the score indicates.

The next four games belonged to Trinity as the offense poured in goals at the opposition's 18. The victories over Fairfield (12-5), New Haven (16-3), M.I.T. (11-4), and Rhode Island (14-6) were all impressive decisions.

The 15-13 defeat to Union's Dutchmen can only be described as heartbreaking. Once Union stretched its advantage to 14-11, there was not enough time to make a comeback. Against Middlebury, after an early Trin goal, the Panthers rode off 11 straight tallies. In the second half the Bants played well, but it was too late in this 1-2-6 defeat. Trinity's last game of the season was against the Wesleyan lacrosse team. The Wesleyan game marked the last home appearance for seniors Rip Lincoln, Tom Stevens, Frank Kelleher, Mark Geller, Allan Stark, and Chris Srehng. In the first half, Trin played as well as they had all year, strolling the powerful Cardinals. Nevertheless, the 7-4 lead was not enough to hold off the second half Wesleyan siege as they came back to win 14-9.

Looking towards next year, one cannot forget the excitement, the frustration, the hard work, and the strong performances by both the team and certain individuals. Attackman Mark Cleary has been nominated for All-East honors, Rick Bender, Chris Max, and Jeff Ford are on the All-New England team, and Captain Rip Lincoln is a contender for All-America honors.

Looking at the awards ceremony junior midfielder Bobby Murenia won the Connecticut Valley Lacrosse Club trophy for most improved player and Chris Max won the Charles Boyer award for the Most Valuable Player.

Next year, Coach McPeek's squad will be led by co-captains Mark Cleary and David Lewis.

15 Mr. William B. Presey
6 Parkway
Glastonbury, CT 06033
THEODORE PECK writes that the biggest event in his life recently was his marriage on Monday, April 14, 1973 to a lovely blond-haired, blue-eyed, and very young woman with the most delightful voice. They are both laymen in the Episcopal Church, and they say they have the reservations for the Invalids banquet.

19 Mr. Clinton B. Retl
RFD No. 1, Box 228D
Tallahassee, FL 32301
ED ARMSTRONG has written HAM BARBER, "My retirement took place in stages over a period of time but I have been coming closer to it for four or five years and I am perfectly contented in that status. I look forward to being in the "Invalids" dinner."

KINGSLAND McGUIFFY wrote that he had spent some 35 years with the "Bell" system and after the February 13th, 1973 he was then, as always, associated with an old friend in the real estate business. He still has as many of the boys who might remember him. HERB PREISS (Deerfield, E. P. Presey) moved from Maine to 442 Deerhurst Terrace, Silver Spring, Maryland 20906. He expects to visit Maine in July. The congregation of the chapel at Orr's Island in Maine has invited him to spend the coming summer with them.

1973 DANIEL M. Cohen
Hagerman
MATTHEW Stearley, Bryon Lamont, February 25, 1974
Mr. and Mrs. Michael, son, and Mrs. Lamont, three articles on the

BIRTHS

1966 Mr. and Mrs. GILBERT G. CAMPBELL, son, and Mrs. Martin. Mr. and Mrs. GILBERT G. CAMPBELL, son, and Mrs. Martin. Mr. and Mrs. DONALD M. M. F. BURNEY, son, and Mrs. Martin. Mr. and Mrs. DONALD M. M. F. BURNEY, son, and Mrs. Martin.

1967 Mr. and Mrs. DAVID G. press, daughter, Natalie Hancock, January 13, 1973
Mr. and Mrs. DAVID G. press, daughter, Natalie Hancock, January 13, 1973

Dates to Remember:
PARENTS WEEKEND
November 1 - 2
REUNION/HOMECOMING
November 16, 1973

20 Mr. Joseph Hartmark
2229 Jutland Dr.
Pawtucket
Cleveland Heights, OH 44118

26 Mr. N. Ross Parre
18 Van Buren Avenue
West Hartford, CT 06107

The Class of 1966 met with the Class of 37' in the same hope for Dr. WILLIAM T. SAFFORD, who is improving. Dr. Safford is working at the Mayo Clinic.

As we of '72 know, Bill Barto is our PETE HOGAN's brother-in-law in Amherst. He received a letter from NORM ROPER's last letter, he writes, "I have not smoked for five years." Wonderful, Norm! Keep up the good work.

Mary Fish et al., The Rev. JULIUS H. STARK, Jr., will be keeping busy with travel, giving illustrated talks to civic groups and doing volunteer work, He is still very active in the Church, and he has just been awarded the pope's resignation, but I have been over a period of time but I have been coming closer to it for four or five years and I am perfectly contented in that status. I look forward to being in the "Invalids" dinner."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Rile, daughter, Catherine Lynn Lin, May 30, 1970
Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Rile, daughter, Catherine Lynn Lin, May 30, 1970

Mr. and Mrs. CLarence HAIN writes to tell us he is 96 years old. His wife, Edith, died in 1971, but his daughter, Lillian, and son, Robert S., age 58, are both alive and well.

28 Dr. ROYDEN C. Berger
57 Thomson Street
West Hartford, CT 06107

The Rev. ROBERT GIBSON, Jr., has retired after 25 years in the episcopate. At a dinner honoring Bishop Gibson, he was described as "a natural, not an adapted economist."

Mr. and Mrs. CLarence HAIN writes to tell us he is 96 years old. His wife, Edith, died in 1971, but his daughter, Lillian, and son, Robert S., age 58, are both alive and well.

29 Mr. James V. White
22 Austin Road
Newtown, CT 06470

CARL KOENIG retired from Colgate University last year and, although he seems to be making the transition to retirement, one feels that he has just begun to play more adjustment but he thinks he made it. He possesses at least two sons.

JOHN ROWLAND writes that he has two lovely grandchildren and a son getting married this summer. He still lives in Chattanooga, N. Y., but also has a summer home on Long Beach Island, New Jersey. He enjoys boating, sailing, and gardening.

32 Mr. Arthur B. L. HADDOCK, Jr.
34 West Avenue
Avon, CT 06001

The Trinity trip to London last fall included the signing of an agreement between the University of Trinity and the University of UHLIG. More details later. Incidentally, Yale 1956 will be keeping busy with travel, giving illustrated talks to civic groups and doing volunteer work, He is still very active in the Church, and he has just been awarded the pope's resignation, but I have been over a period of time but I have been coming closer to it for four or five years and I am perfectly contented in that status. I look forward to being in the "Invalids" dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael, son, and Mrs. Lamont, three articles on the ARCHIVE HAHN writes to tell us he is 96 years old. His wife, Edith, died in 1971, but his daughter, Lillian, and son, Robert S., age 58, are both alive and well.

29 Mr. James V. White
22 Austin Road
Newtown, CT 06470

KARL KOENIG retired from Colgate University last year and, although he seems to be making the transition to retirement, one feels that he has just begun to play more adjustment but he thinks he made it. He possesses at least two sons.

JOHN ROWLAND writes that he has two lovely grandchildren and a son getting married this summer. He still lives in Chattanooga, N. Y., but also has a summer home on Long Beach Island, New Jersey. He enjoys boating, sailing, and gardening.

32 Mr. Arthur B. L. HADDOCK, Jr.
34 West Avenue
Avon, CT 06001

The Trinity trip to London last fall included the signing of an agreement between the University of Trinity and the University of UHLIG. More details later. Incidentally, Yale 1956 will be keeping busy with travel, giving illustrated talks to civic groups and doing volunteer work, He is still very active in the Church, and he has just been awarded the pope's resignation, but I have been over a period of time but I have been coming closer to it for four or five years and I am perfectly contented in that status. I look forward to being in the "Invalids" dinner.
John Sam says it was a very exciting cruise and that while in Bermuda, he met his cousin, Fred, "in fish."

HERB VINICK is now employed as general manager of the Daily Mattress Company, Randolph, Massachusetts. Herb reports five grandchildren.

39 Mr. Earl H. Flegen
147 Goodacre Dr.
Newtown, PA 18940

SUMER TWISS, who has been president of Chrysler Corporation’s chemical division in Tifton, Georgia, has been appointed vice president for development at the Institute of Technology, Southfield, Michigan.

40 Mr. Herbert R. Bland
43 C. Knowlton & Co.
P.O. Box 930
Hartford, CT 06101

AL HOPKINS and his wife, Jean, will attend Trinity concurrent commencement exercises May 26 at which their daughter, Carol, will receive an alumnus, as did son Paul ’56 and Steve ’59.

HERB VOGEL of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, will be president of the Metropolitan Hartford YMCA.

41 Mr. John L. Bonser
McCook, Kenyon and Bonser
40 State St.
Hartford, CT 06103

JIM CLARK has become director of the Wellspring Learning Center, Dayton, Ohio.

At the annual convention of the Diocese of Western Virginia, ROBERT HALE, bishop coadjutor of Virginia, was installed as head of the diocese. He is an alumnus of Trinity.

43 J. KELLER, who appeared in the play "Joan of Lorraine," in New York City, was named to the editorial board and last summer presented a paper at the Ninth International Congress of Biochemistry in Stockholm, Sweden.

44 Dr. Harry R. Goshing
358 Sprague St.
Hooftield, 06002

EARLE EPPS recently moved to Albany, New York, where he accepted a temporary appointment as an assistant professor of sociology. He is well known to private practice in Lakeland, Florida this coming September. Earle, who celebrated his 25th wedding anniversary on April 1st, has a son, Douglass, age 22, who just graduated from the University of South Florida with a major in cinematography; a daughter, Cindy, age 20, who is a sophomore at Springfield College, Springfield, Massachusetts, and a daughter, Connie, who is still attending the Academy of Holy Names School in Albany, New York.

45 Mr. Andrew W. Milligan
15 Wren Lane Rd.
West Hartford, CT 06107

FRASER DREW is one of the first nine students in the 72-campus State University of New York system to be promoted to the newly established rank of distinguished teaching professor. His book, "John Mason's England," was published last year by the Fairleigh Dickinson University Press.

46 Mr. J. William Vincent
50 Newnave Court
West Hartford, CT 06107

ALEXANDER GOLDFARB, Hartford's communications secretary, recently reported to the Trinity Chapel of Hartford on "The Role of the Public Lawyer."

47 Paul J. Kingston, M.D.
25 Watertown Road
West Hartford, CT 06119

BING HALSEY is employed as division manager of Glidden Company (paints, textiles), Russell Corporation, New York City. Bing, who is also a member of the New Hampshire American Arbitration Council, has three children — Holly Anne, a sophomore at Southern New Hampshire University; Scotty, a sophomore at Cathedral College, Richmond, Indiana and going on to law school; and Karen, receiving her Bachelor of Science degree from Fairleigh Dickinson University, New Jersey. Says she may want to change (and some change) let’s beat Williams next year.

48 Mr. Herbert R. Bland
234 South St.
Salt Lake City, UT 84111

RAY BARNES is the Lexington, Massachusetts celebration committee chairman for their bicentennial.

49 Mr. Charles L. Tenney
Charles E. Tenney & Associates
2 Byne Ave.
Wallingford, CT 06492

ALLEN BRAY III has accepted an appointment as headmaster of Christ Church Episcopal School in Greenville, South Carolina. He will fill the current academic year as head and headmaster of the Bishop Shuttlesworth, Saint Mary’s, Saint James — in Fairfieid, Massachusetts.

50 Mr. James B. Glassco, Jr.
Ascena Life Inc.
151 Farmington Ave.
West Hartford, CT 06119

RAY SNOW has been named to the newly created position of marketing manager for Fisher Bearing Company, New Britain, Connecticut.

51 Mr. John F. Klingner
C. R. Stowell, Inc.
51 Wood Pond Rd.
West Hartford, CT 06119

KINGSTON HOWARD is chairman of the Lexington, Massachusetts Bicentennial celebration.

52 Mr. Douglas C. Lee
15 Wood Place
West Hartford, CT 06107

JOE MOREHEAD, professor of library and information science at SUNY, Albany, New York, writes that he and his wife, Bebe, are the proud parents of a son. John Gray Jr., who has completed a book on "United States Public Documents" which is to be published in the American Library Association early this year.

WALLACE BARRETT has been elected a director of the international insurance brokerage firm of Davol & Dorland Company, New York.

JOHN WEBER, associate professor in the department of radiation biology and biochemistry at the University of Rochester (N.Y.) School of Medicine, is teaching a course in biobiochemical-genetic research on DNA metabolism and an regulation of protein synthesis by bacterial viruses. John is on the editorial board of the "Journal of Virology" and last summer presented a paper at the Ninth International Congress of Biochemistry in Stockholm, Sweden. He, his wife, and his children are a great treat of Europe at that time. Their oldest child, Katrina, is a sophomore at Hamilton College and is studying music.

REID SHAW is still president of General Electric Broadcasting Company and General Electric Cable Broadcasting Corporation. He reports that he and his wife have now moved to New York, New York. He says that son, Mike, is a freshman at Syracuse University, daughter, Gayle, is completing freshman year at Colby College, and sons Steve and Andy are freshmen in high school and first grade respectively.

53 Mr. Theodore T. Tatel
Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co.
1 Amherst St.
Hartford, CT 06103

HARLEY SMITH is a surgeon at a hospital in Massachusetts Hospital in Harvard Street, where he has been named to the recently elected to the American College of Surgeons.

54 Mrs. Edward A. Montgomery, Jr.
Backbone Rd.
Southwick Heights, PA 15153

RODNEY SMITH recently joined the Church Pension Fund and Affiliates as administrative vice president in their head office in New York City.

55 Mr. E. Wade Cloke, Jr.
200 Hunter's Trace Lane
Atlanta, Georgia 30328

DICK KOPP writes he is still with IBM and currently is working in New York City, upgrading the New York City Police Department emergency car dispatching system. Dick has been associate of a troop in Chester, New Jersey for the past three years and last fall took the troop to the National Jamboree in Pennsylvania.

DAVID HOGG has been in charge of two parades in Florida, one this year in Fort Lauderdale and being consolidated into one, with two buildings — Christ Church and the Church of the Redeemer and now called the Parish of Christ the Redeemer.

JOHN NEWLIN writes that he is the owner of two real estate properties, one on Madison Avenue, New York City and the other in Guayacal, Ecuador. John says he travels extensively and his family spends summers in the South of France.

56 Mr. Edward A. Montgomery, Jr.
60 Newport Ave.
West Hartford, CT 06119

PAUL B. Marion
7 Martin Place
 Dedham, New Jersey 07928

LAIRD MORTIMER writes from Elswood, Connecticut that he has been a president of Periodical Corporation, a printing firm turning out millions books and periodicals. If you ought to ask WARD JUST for an exclusive.

Any of you classmates having trouble bonding, meeting, or talking should contact our nose and throat specialist MANNY MEYERSON in New Hartford, who recently elected to the American College of Surgeons.

BILLY MORRISON, a member of the headquarters staff of Westinghouse, writes from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania that he and his wife, Carol, are very active attending Penguins hockey games. Pitt football, and membership in the Pittsburgh Council for International Visitors.

57 Mr. William E. Borden, Painter, Jr.
110 Ledgeswood Rd.
West Hartford, CT 06107

DAVID MOORE and his wife, Adrienne, now have their first son, David, who is the apple of their eyes. Dave is currently an assistant member of the technical staff, Bell Laboratories’ business information systems division. He and Adrienne plan to do his personnel subsystem design and development.

GEORGE BAXTER writes he is reporting the business interests in Washington, D.C. of A. C. Bucker & Co., Inc., New York City. He says "a return" is being planned soon in D.C. for the many Trinity alumni including JIM GLENN, HUGO DICKERSON, TED CASS, and TIM JEFFREY.

FAIRFIE LD CHURCH reports he is now rector of St. Andrew’s Church, New London, New Hampshire, chaplain at Colby College, and a member of Colby’s Department of Philosophy and Religion. Francis is also chairman of the commission of christian social relations of the Diocese of New Hampshire. He, with his father and brother, has been back to college to work for a graduate degree and his children are Elizabeth, who is in the third grade, and Nathaniel, who is in kindergarten.

ALUMNI GATHERING IN PALM BEACH — Top, left to right, Tom Cary ’33, Don Puffer ’20, Jim Fyfe ’55 and Stephen Bonifazi ’47. Bottom, left to right, President Lockwood, Mrs. William F. Gwnn, Mrs. Lockwood, and Mr. Gwnn, a Charter Trustee of the College. Mr. and Mrs. Gwnn were hosts at the gathering.

Dwight Dake, the happy organist from the department of music of Wells College, Aurora, New York, continues on his concert tour with upcoming organ recitals at the Church of the Ascension, Rochester, New York, May 6, and the Music Hall, Methuen, Massachusetts, Aug. 21.

NORMAN RICHARD, the father of three, is doing processing director for Coomb & Co., Hartford, Connecticut.

GEORGE CASE has just been appointed secretary, individual insurance operations, at Connecticut General Life Insurance Company, Hartford.

HUGH McCRAKEN has been promoted to lieutenant colonel and his present job is chief of training for the 374th tactical air wing, Clark Air Base in the Philippines. He says that for the first time in years he has run into a Trinity alumnus who is Air Force — Lt. Mark McCABER ’71, who is also a pilot with the 374th wing.

NORM KAYSER has received the "Associate in Risk Management" designation from the Insurance Institute of America.

58 Mr. Borden W. Painter, Jr.
110 Ledgeswood Rd.
West Hartford, CT 06107
Students joined alumni to help with a phonathon in his wife, and challenging and the travel, tolerable. John, the Boston-Broderick: Agency of Mutual of New responsible for a group of consultants who choice questions for review purposes.

Connecticut living in Queens, New York and working in knowledge in management consulting division. He is international and is now in charge of Middle transferred from the metropolitan "division to the pulpit of Connecticut, Inc., New York to stay in Boston as an associate in surgery and, Connecticut, Dr. Paul Scheinberg, Lt. MC, USN, HMC - 12, NAS-Norfolk, Virginia.

We are building a unit in our midfield. KEVIN DALY has made show business. After studying for two years under Philip Burton at the University of Colorado, he wants to go into the Air Force in June.

Florida where he received his degree in 1984, he has been serving as a brand manager for Deltics America in Chicago, Illinois, where he is a director in the marketing department. John is responsible for a group of consultants who pertained to the analysis of travel and is rector of All Trinity College, he teaches architectural design at Trinity. Right now I guess he's facing private colleges today. Unless we all help, Trinity won't be able to remain the outstanding institution it is today.
KEN PAVEL is now living and working in New York City. Since leaving Trinity, JOHN WITHERSFORD has done graduate work both in England and at McGill University in Montreal. He received a Master's degree in education from the University of Rhode Island in 1973 and is presently teaching in the public school system in Rhode Island.

Mr. Frederick A. Vyn
10 Tom Ave.
New Rochelle, NY 10801

BILLY BUTLER writes he is windsurfing his first year at the Amos Tuck School of Business Administration at Dartmouth College. This summer he plans to intern with Arthur Andersen & Co., New York.

DICK WILTON will graduate from St. Louis University School of Law in May and will begin a straight medicine internship as a captain in the U.S. Navy. After two years in medical school and the completion of a Master of Science degree in Urban Studies at the State Trade Center, Joe is in charge of all programs for the largest commercial rental real estate company in the U.S.

DIANN SWAIN has spent this academic year as a reading consultant at Kent School, Kent, Connecticut and plans to do so again next year.

JONATHAN GOUHAN, who is just a senior student at Yale Law School, has just been elected article and back review editor of Law and Contemporary Problems at Harvard. He will be working in New York for a law firm this summer.

He is 34 years of age as a carpenter, BOBBY LAWSON is now setting up his own business doing custom work and is some future projects lined up are the remodeling of an old farmhouse in Connecticut and addition and remodeling of an old farmhouse in Connecticut, this summer.

An exhibit of paintings by Nestor, New Jersy artist, is presently on display in the Easton Art Center.

JOHN WITHERSFORD has been working for almost 2 years as an analyst for O. H. Harris Works of Art in New York City, managing this gallery of contemporary painting, sculpture and photography, and is currently decorative arts. He is married to survivors. A lawyer, and they live in "rent-control splendor" in New York City.

TOM LOM is currently an account executive at WNYC, the public radio station in New York City. He is working on a Proctor & Gamble brand. He says he lives in Manhattan and enjoys life in the City.

REY. DAVID ANGELICA was a speaker for United Way. He is an area resident and is working on a Proctor & Gamble brand. He says he lives in Manhattan and enjoys life in the City.

JIM ADAMS confirms he received his M.D. degree from Yale and will be a medical intern at The Queen's Medical Center, Honolulu, Hawaii, next year.

Mr. Peter N. Campbell
404 N.E. 14th St.
Atlantic, GA 30208

RICHARD WYLAND was ordained as a priest in the Episcopal Church on April 7, 1973, in New York. He is a native of New York and has served as a priest in the Episcopal Church on April 7, 1973, in New York. He is married to survivors. A lawyer, and they live in "rent-control splendor" in New York City.

PATTERSON SIMS has been working for almost 2 years as a senior executive for O. H. Harris Works of Art in New York City, managing this gallery of contemporary painting, sculpture and photography, and is currently decorative arts. He is married to survivors. A lawyer, and they live in "rent-control splendor" in New York City.

CHRIS KAPPELL writes that he is his senior year. He recently passed the New York State Bar examination and is now working for the New York City. Sites of his previous residence include New York, New Jersey, and Rhode Island.

He received a Master of Science degree from Trinity in memory of Charles McLean Andrews, Class of 1924, who was a leader in public administration and civic affairs and was an incorporator of the Packard Business School in 1933. For many years, he was associated with Fred N. Fechner, a former director of a national company.

Mr. Robinson prepared for college at St. Andrew's School, Middletown, Delaware. As a Trinity undergraduate, he was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and was active in political life at the school. He retired from Travelers in 1969.

ALEXANDER GREGGIEF, 1928

Wool has reached the College of the death of Alexander Greggief in October, 1973. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Natalee Lawson; two sons, Alexander Paul and Serge; and grandchildren, one brother, Ignacio, and sister, Conchodra.

In 1955 in Petrgnac, Carhon, he attended Trinity in 1949, having spent his high school years studying in Russia and Canada. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Trinity in 1949. In 1950, he joined the United States Army and was active in the military until his retirement in 1967.

RICHARD PERKINS, 1973

He entered Trinity in 1947 with the Class of 1951. At Trinity he was the recent guest speaker at the annual Washington, D.C. Chapter dinner. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and was active in political life at the school. He retired from Travelers in 1969.

GREGORY TALLMAN MCKEE, 1938

ARTHUR VAN RIFER TILTON, 1920

Born in Hartford and an area resident most of his life, Mr. McKee attended the Trinity undergraduate, he was a member and president of Alpha Chi Rho fraternity.

Robert F. Robinson of Clinton, Massachusetts, who succeeds Mr. Robinson as the new president of the Alumni Association, is the son of Charles McLean Andrews, Class of 1924, who was a leader in public administration and civic affairs and was an incorporator of the Packard Business School in 1933. For many years, he was associated with Fred N. Fechner, a former director of a national company.

Mr. Robinson prepared for college at St. Andrew's School, Middletown, Delaware. As a Trinity undergraduate, he was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and was active in political life at the school. He retired from Travelers in 1969.

ALEXANDER GREGGIEF, 1928

Wool has reached the College of the death of Alexander Greggief in October, 1973. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Natalee Lawson; two sons, Alexander Paul and Serge; and grandchildren, one brother, Ignacio, and sister, Conchodra.

In 1955 in Petrgnac, Carhon, he attended Trinity in 1949, having spent his high school years studying in Russia and Canada. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Trinity in 1949. In 1950, he joined the United States Army and was active in the military until his retirement in 1967.

RICHARD PERKINS, 1973

He entered Trinity in 1947 with the Class of 1951. At Trinity he was the recent guest speaker at the annual Washington, D.C. Chapter dinner. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and was active in political life at the school. He retired from Travelers in 1969.

GREGORY TALLMAN MCKEE, 1938

ARTHUR VAN RIFER TILTON, 1920

Born in Hartford and an area resident most of his life, Mr. McKee attended the Trinity undergraduate, he was a member and president of Alpha Chi Rho fraternity.

Robert F. Robinson of Clinton, Massachusetts, who succeeds Mr. Robinson as the new president of the Alumni Association, is the son of Charles McLean Andrews, Class of 1924, who was a leader in public administration and civic affairs and was an incorporator of the Packard Business School in 1933. For many years, he was associated with Fred N. Fechner, a former director of a national company.

Mr. Robinson prepared for college at St. Andrew's School, Middletown, Delaware. As a Trinity undergraduate, he was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and was active in political life at the school. He retired from Travelers in 1969.

ALEXANDER GREGGIEF, 1928

Wool has reached the College of the death of Alexander Greggief in October, 1973. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Natalee Lawson; two sons, Alexander Paul and Serge; and grandchildren, one brother, Ignacio, and sister, Conchodra.

In 1955 in Petrgnac, Carhon, he attended Trinity in 1949, having spent his high school years studying in Russia and Canada. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Trinity in 1949. In 1950, he joined the United States Army and was active in the military until his retirement in 1967.

RICHARD PERKINS, 1973

He entered Trinity in 1947 with the Class of 1951. At Trinity he was the recent guest speaker at the annual Washington, D.C. Chapter dinner. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and was active in political life at the school. He retired from Travelers in 1969.
Trinity Reporter May 1974 Page 8

Crew

By Burton Apfelbaum '75

The 1975 Trinity crew program, with 7-4 boat placed third of 16 at the Dad Vail Cup, has produced a record of 125 victories and 41 defeats in six regattas.

Trinity's Varsity Heavyweight eight began its season with a four length victory over W.P.1. to win the Mascon-Dows Cup, then captured the Emerson Cup by one length over Coast Guard. Racing at Princeton April 20, the varsity defeated Georgetown by 3.5 seconds.

The Bants next won the heavyweight event at Poughkeepsie in the freshman class oarsmen will add to the competition for varsity seats next year.

Varsity Baseball

By Douglas Sanderson '74

The 1974 Trinity varsity baseball team had a 7-11 season, but the campaign closed on both an historic and exciting note as the Bants played their first tripleheader.

The three games featured a race for the team batting championship between Trinity's only .300 hitters, junior Mike Getz and Dave Kuncio. Kuncio, on the strength of a 5-0 for 8 performance, raised his average to .409, overtaking Getz's .375. But Getz's six RBI's for the day gave him 15 for the year.

The first game against Bowdoin, played at 2:00, featured a three-run first inning by the Bants as an ttl built an 8-2 lead, then hung on for an 8-4 win.

The first half of the doubleheader, Kindl gave up two runs in the first inning, on no hits or walks, then scattered three hits as the Bants came back for the win. John Wiggin's sacrifice fly drove in the game-winning run for the 3-2 win.

In the 4-2 nightcap loss, Trinity loaded the bases with none out in the seventh (and final) inning but failed to score.

A fine pitching performance by Carlow, in relief of Scully, saved a 4-2 victory over the University of Hartford on April 22. Trinity, down 2-4, erupted for four runs in the top of the eighth inning for a 6-4 win.

WPI came to town on April 26, defeating the Bants 9-6. The Engineers' four-run fifth and three-run sixth innings were too much to overcome. A four-run Bantam rally in the ninth was keyed by Wiggin's 400-foot triple to right.

Trinity traveled to Tufts April 27 for a doubleheader and split 4-2 games. In the victory, Kindl pitched another three-hitter and Wiggin's last-inning single earned him the game-winning RBI.

The following week, the Bants lost 9-3 to Amherst, but 5-2 and 8-5 to Wesleyan, all at home. The powerful Lord Jeffs entered the game with a 9-2 record and 34 batting average.

The Springfield College game was disappointing. Though the final score was 18-7, Trinity led 5-2 after four and one-half innings. This was the last game prior to the historic tripleheader, which let Trinity go out on a positive note.

The Nine opened their season April 11 at Wesleyan, falling 7-3, then split a doubleheader with Colby. The Mules won the opener 6-0, then dropped to Trim 4-2.

Senior right-hander Bill Scully, the Bantam captain, led Trinity's second-game win with clutch pitching and two of the Bants seven hits.

The Bants next lost to Williams, 4-3, on the road after having tied the score in the top of the ninth. Only the winning run was earned by the Ephphids.

The Bants came back against Coast Guard, downing them at Trinity 8-3, and splitting with them in New London, 5-3 and 1-4.

Steve Carlow went the distance for Trinity in the 8-3 win, scattering seven hits and allowing the game's only earned run. The game's offensive highlight was Mike Hokinson's home run in the eighth. In the first half of the doubleheader, Kindl gave up two runs in the first inning, on no hits or walks, then scattered three hits as the Bants came back for the win. John Wiggin's sacrifice fly drove in the game-winning run for the 3-2 win.

In the 4-2 nightcap loss, Trinity loaded the bases with none out in the seventh (and final) inning but failed to score.

A fine pitching performance by Carlow, in relief of Scully, saved a 4-2 victory over the University of Hartford on April 22. Trinity, down 2-4, erupted for four runs in the top of the eighth inning for a 6-4 win.

WPI came to town on April 26, defeating the Bants 9-6. The Engineers' four-run fifth and three-run sixth innings were too much to overcome. A four-run Bantam rally in the ninth was keyed by Wiggin's 400-foot triple to right.

Trinity traveled to Tufts April 27 for a doubleheader and split 4-2 games. In the victory, Kindl pitched another three-hitter and Wiggin's last-inning single earned him the game-winning RBI.

The following week, the Bants lost 9-3 to Amherst, but 5-2 and 8-5 to Wesleyan, all at home. The powerful Lord Jeffs entered the game with a 9-2 record and 34 batting average.

The Springfield College game was disappointing. Though the final score was 18-7, Trinity led 5-2 after four and one-half innings. This was the last game prior to the historic tripleheader, which let Trinity go out on a positive note.

Golf

By Peter Schulter '74

The Trinity golf team accepted a challenge last spring season, a challenge put forth by virtue of its faltering records in recent years. The focus of emphasis placed on the sport. By responding to the challenge, the members of the 1974 team put up the best record of any Trinity varsity during the spring season but also compiled the most wins ever by a Trinity golf team.

In 1966, Trinity golfers amassed an 8-2 record, the best at that time in the history of the sport at Trinity. This season the team surpassed that with a 9-4 total, establishing a new mark for number of wins in a season. The 1974 team, in order of playing position, Peter Schulter, Henry Bruce, Ed Vail, Chris Mooney, captain George Finkenstaedt, Andy Tausig, Chris Jennings, Tom Shulta, and alternate Rich Huoppi also managed a second place finish in the Connecticut State Intercollegiates and eleventh place in the New England Intercollegiates.

The season started at home against the University of Rhode Island and Worcester Polytech. Trinity won both matches 4-3. The team then swapped Conn College 7-0 and narrowly beat the University of Hartford, 4-3. The team then travelled to Wesleyan where they increased their record to 6-0 by handling Bowdoin 5-2 and Wesleyan 6-1. After defeating Coast Guard 6-1, Trinity went to the Connecticut Intercollegiates and finished a strong second behind Central Connecticut, led by Peter Schulter's 73, the lowest score ever posted by a Trinity player in that event. Following the Huskies, the team had a rough week, succumbing to powerful Williams and Dartmouth, then finishing a disappointing eleventh (in a field of 40 teams) in the New England Intercollegiates. A final 7-0 win at Trinity thrilled AIC 7-0, but took a hard loss to Springfield 4-3 in their last home match. The 1974 season was a challenge last spring season, a challenge put forth by virtue of its faltering records in recent years. The focus of emphasis placed on the sport. By responding to the challenge, the members of the 1974 team put up the best record of any Trinity varsity during the spring season but also compiled the most wins ever by a Trinity golf team.

Lacrosse

By Alan Stark '74

Although the 1974 Trinity Laxmen finished the season with an overall 5-6 record, this junior oriented team has a bright future. Of the 107 goals scored this year all but six were by underclassmen.

The offensive minded Bants broke six college scoring records: season scoring team goals (107); season assists (54; season team points (588); career goals (59); NICK BENSLEY 1973-4); season goals-halffielder (26 Chris Max). Another record which speaks well of an individual is Jeff Ford's 176 goal saves.

The laxmen started on April 6 with a 7-6 victory at the hands of Wesleyan. Trim came back a week later behind the efforts of Chris Max (2 goals, 1 assist) to

(Continued on Page 4)