Named New Chairmen

Three members of the Trinity faculty have been named chairmen of their departments. They are: Dr. Robert A. Battis, chairman of the Department of Economics; Dr. Charles B. Schultz, chairman of the Department of Education; and Dr. William M. Mace, chairman of the Department of Psychology. Battis will succeed Dr. Richard Scheuch, G. Fox and Company Professor of Economics, who has held the chairmanship since 1967. Battis came to Trinity in 1958 after teaching at Muhlenberg College, Lehigh University and Lafayette College. He was appointed an associate professor in 1967 and is a member of the American Economic Association, the American Economic History Association, the Economic History Society and the Association for Comparative Economic Studies.

Schultz, who has also been promoted to associate professor, succeeds Dr. Richard K. Morris, professor emeritus, who served as department chairman from 1971 until 1974. A 1951 graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, Schultz received a Master of Education degree from Temple University in 1952 and a Ph.D. from Pennsylvania State in 1970.

Mace will succeed Dr. Charles B. Schultz, who has also been promoted to associate professor, succeeds Dr. Richard K. Morris, professor emeritus, who served as department chairman from 1971 until 1974. A 1951 graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, Schultz received a Master of Education degree from Temple University in 1952 and a Ph.D. from Pennsylvania State in 1970.

Vohra Appointed Dana Professor Of Political Science

Author and East Asian specialist, Dr. Ranbir Vohra, has been appointed the Charles A. Dana Professor of Political Science at Trinity. Dr. Vohra is a chairperson of the department.

The Dana Professorship has been established under a grant supported by the Dana Foundation, which recognizes outstanding professors by underwriting a portion of their salary. Dr. Vohra is the first professor to be appointed under the grant.

Dr. Vohra came to Trinity in 1973. He was graduated from The Punjab University in India. From 1956-1959, he was an exchange scholar at Peking University and was subsequently in charge of the Chinese Broadcasting Unit of External Services of All India Radio. In 1964 he left Indian government service to enter Harvard Graduate School and received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in the East Asian field in 1965 and 1969.

The recipient of a Ford Fellowship for study at Harvard University, Dr. Vohra taught at Harvard from 1969 to 1971 and was associate professor at the University of Calgary, Alberta, Canada, from 1971 to 1973.

He has published articles dealing with China and Japan in The Statesman and The Atlantic Monthly. Two books, Lao She and the Chinese Revolution (Harvard East Asian Monograph) and The Chinese Revolution, 1900 to 1950 (Houghton Mifflin Press) were both published in March of 1974.

Dr. Vohra has traveled widely through Asia and Europe and is fluent in several languages including Chinese, Japanese, Urdu and Hindi.

Annual Giving Goal Set At $500,000 For Fourth Year

For the fourth consecutive year, the College will be seeking a half-million of dollars in annual gifts from alumni, parents, friends, and business firms to support the current academic program. Annual gifts have surpassed a half-million dollars for the past three years.

The 1975-76 Annual Giving Campaign will open October 1. In announcing that the College has kept the Annual Giving goal at $500,000, President Lockwood explained: "In recent years, as costs have risen on all fronts, annual gifts have become a necessary resource for funding a first-rate academic program. These gifts supplement our regular revenues and provide for that margin of quality which makes a Trinity education distinctive and special."

Trinity achieved its $500,000 Annual Giving goal for 1974-75 with total gifts and pledges of $500,675. Final results were:

- Alumni Fund: $300,154
- Parents Fund: $112,245
- Business & Industry: $32,520
- Friends Fund: $32,520

A complete report on 1974-75 Annual Giving, with names of contributors, will be published later this fall.

Trinity's budget for the current year (through June 30, 1976) is $10,8 million, of which $6 million, or 56 percent, comes from tuition and fees. Income from such sources as room and board will provide another $2 million, and endowment will generate an estimated income yield of $1.6 million.

The remaining $1.2 million to meet the full cost of College programs must come from various other sources, Lockwood said, including $500,000 from Annual Giving.

Of the $500,000 total, The Alumni Fund is expected to provide $310,000, The Parents Fund $100,000, Business & Industry $60,000, and Friends $30,000.

Donald J. Viering, '42 is serving for a second year as national chairman of The Alumni Fund. Assisting with that campaign are John L. Bone '43, distinguished gifts chairman; Ethan F. Basford '39, class agent chairman; Richard P. Morris '68, MA '70, masters degree chairman; Siegbert Kaufmann '46, MA '66, phonothan chairman; and Karen A. Jeffers '76 and Raymond E. Johnson '76, student representatives.

"Along with these chairmen," Viering said, "are many other volunteers working as class agents, solicitors, letter-writers, and telephoners. We will depend on them to make this a successful effort."

Charles P. Stewart Jr., of Pittsburgh, father of Charles P. Stewart III '76, is also serving a second year as chairman of The Parents Fund. Theodore T. Tansi '54 is chairman of Business and Industry Associates, also for a second term.

Ellsworth S. Grant of West Hartford is chairman of The Friends of Trinity Fund. Grant, a producer of educational films, is former Mayor and an incumbent councilman in West Hartford. He has been prominent in many civic affairs.
Three Promoted to Full Professor

Three members of the faculty have been promoted to full professor. They are: Dr. Joseph D. Bronzino, professor of engineering; Dr. Drew A. Hyland, professor of philosophy; and Dr. Edward W. Sloan III, professor of history.

Bronzino received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1959. He received a master of science degree in electrical engineering from the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School in 1963 and, in 1968, a doctorate from Worcester Polytechnic Institute. He is a licensed professional engineer.

Before joining the Trinity faculty in 1968, he was an assistant professor of electrical engineering at the University of New Hampshire. He is director of a joint biomedical engineering program between Trinity and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute's Hartford Graduate Center. A clinical associate in the department of surgery at the University of Connecticut Health Center in Farmington, he is also a member of the cooperating staff of the Worcester Foundation For Experimental Biology, Shrewsbury, Massachusetts.

He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, American Society For Engineering Education and the American Association for the Advancement of Sciences.

Hyland received a bachelor of arts degree from Princeton University in 1961. He received a master of arts and a doctoral degree from Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1963. He received a master of arts and a licensed professional engineer.

In addition to his duties at Trinity, he is a consultant in maritime literature to the Wesleyan University Press.

Backer To Direct Graduate Studies

Ivan A. Backer has been named director of graduate studies and community education at the College.

Backer joined the Trinity staff in 1969 as director of community affairs and has been instrumental in the creation of faculty, programs and internships for students.

In his new post, he will be responsible for directing the graduate studies program within the office of the dean of faculty. He will concentrate his efforts on the promotion of the existing graduate programs and the development of new programs to meet the needs of people in the Greater Hartford area.

Backer is currently on the board of the Knox Foundation, the Hartford Urban Research Committee and the Hartford Better Business Bureau. He is a member of the Department of Philosophy since last July.

Shinkman Heads Office Of Career Counseling Placement

Dr. Christopher J. Shinkman has been named director of career counseling and placement.

Shinkman takes a position with the Hartford Graduate Center and to continue her doctoral work at the University of Connecticut.

ADDITON TO MATHER HALL — Built in 1946 while the Mather Campus served a student population of 985, increasing enrollments over the years have resulted in overcrowding in the Mather Dining Hall. The addition now underway will help alleviate the problem, adding approximately 200 seats. Improvements in kitchen facilities and relocation of serving areas are expected to reduce wait times and provide a better atmosphere at noon and evening meals.

In addition to enlarging the Dining Hall, the Bookstore area will be increased. Total cost of the project — including construction, new furniture, carpeting, etc. — will be about $500,000. Completion date for the addition is scheduled for November.

Trinity has 12 starters returning this fall (6-0, 6-D) of a total squad of 41 upperclassmen and 31 sophomores. The Bantams, under Coach Miller, will have experience and depth in the offensive and defensive lines, and will have depth but a shortage of experience in both backfields.

Senior co-captain George Rose will anchor the line with sophomores John Connelly and George Novak at left guard and center and John Storer,抓获 and Jason LaRusso,抓获, as Gerald Wilson at right guard and Mike Kluger and Randy Slaughter at right tackle. The defensive line and linebacker corps will also be strong this season with five of seven starters returning. Pat Heffernan ’77 and Rich Uluski ’77 will occupy the end positions with Vic Novak ’76 at middle guard. Gary Zabel ’77 will remain at right guard, and Gary Jones ’76 and Don Grabsowski ’77 will compete for the remaining linebacker slot with John Griglun ’77 and Charles Reiss ’77 vying for left tackle. Don Barker will fill in at center, with a free medical examination. Alec Waugh ’78 will be coaching the program.

Heffernan was the team’s leading ground gainer last year with 411 yards and an average of 4.5 yards per carry. Wholley had a 4.3 yards per carry average. Oba Barks ’76 will fill the remaining halfback slot.

Experience Could Be Key To Bant’s ’75 Soccer Season

With the loss of only five lettermen and an abundance of anxious sophomores from Coach Robie Shults’ 7-1-1 freshman squad, the varsity soccer outlook is very favorable this year. While coming off a disappointing 4-3-3 season, the Bantams are expected to exhibit the abilities displayed in last year’s contest with Middlebury on a more consistent basis.

Coach Dath has 29 varsity players returning plus 21 sophomores to increase the pre-season competition for positions.

Offensively the Bantams will be well stocked with the return of two of the team’s scoring leaders, seniors Chris Jennings and Rob Fernald. Senior Jeff Chin will assume a starting berth for a third year and junior lettermen Alex Childers and Bill Dodge, Mike Kluger and Randy Pearsall.

The defensive backfield will be coached by Michael Darr, a new member of the Physical Education Department. Co-captain George Rose is the only starter returning among the defensive backs this year. Nine men will compete for the remaining three spots. Junior Dan Iadonisi will probably be at left cornerback with Senior John Wiggins at strong safety and Junior Don Daigeneau at safety. Juniors Tony Trivella, David Janecarski, Gil Childers and Clement Darling will provide added depth in this area.

Senior Maus will return as Trinity’s kicking specialist. Last season he made 7 of 12 field goal attempts, 15 of 18 conversions, and averaged 37.5 yards per punt. He now holds several College kicking records including the longest successful field goal attempt (48 yards), vs. Bates, ’74. Junior Bob O’Leary and Gil Childers will back him up in punting and place kicking respectively.

Senior co-captains Hobie Porter and Jim Solomon will anchor the defense along with seniors Chris Harris and Jeff Kelter. Juniors John Kendall, Jim Parker and Rich Sokolov are expected to provide competition and depth for the fullback spots as sophomores Bill Dodge, Mike Kluger and Randy Pearsall.

This year Trinity is fortunate to have a number of excellent goal tenders. Starter Andy Kaufman ’76 will return for a second season with Eric Luskin ’77 backing him up. Alec Waugh ’78 and Clay Carley ’78, two outstanding goalies from last season’s freshman team, are expected to gain further experience working in this position.

The most vexing problem which the soccer team encountered last year was a lack of consistent coordination between the offensive and defensive units. With the return of a number of experienced players and talented sophomores, the prospects for overcoming this situation appear excellent.

Women’s Crew: Three Fall Regattas

The women’s crew will participate in three major regattas this fall. Trinity will host the Connecticut Fall Regatta for the Genevieve H. Goodwin Cup, donated by Mrs. James Lippincott Goodwin, for a second consecutive season on October 11. Heats will begin at 10:00 a.m. off the Bliss Boat House. On October 18 the women will move up the river for the newly instituted Greater Holyoke Regatta, sponsored by the Holyoke Chamber of Commerce to be followed by the Head of the Charles Regatta at Cambridge, Massachusetts on October 26.

The women this year are coached by Gary Caldwell, now in his fourth year as a Trinity crew coach.

The rowers look forward to strong season with five members returning from last year’s first boat. A member of the original women’s “Eight” Senior Cuylor Overtoli has returned for a fourth year with the Bantams. Seniors Cathy Clark, Jody Scala and Judy Owen, captain for 1975, have also returned. Junior Robin Wilson is back as coxswain for her second year. Seniors Debbie Packer, Lucy Richards and Nancy Hirschhorn are expected to fill the remaining spots in the first boat.

Hundreds of Greater Hartford Youths Participated in Two Summer Programs

During the summer Ferris Athletic Center and several other college buildings were utilized by 450 boys and girls from Hartford in two separate recreation programs held at the College.

For the sixth consecutive year, Trinity hosted a sports program co-sponsored by the College, the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the President’s Council on Physical Fitness and Health.

The program offered a wide variety of activities for youngsters, 10-15 years of age, including football, basketball, soccer, swimming, tennis, volleyball, gymnastics, wrestling, physical development and dance.

Sessions were held from 8:30-12:30 each morning for four days a week from June 30-August 6. The morning was divided into three activity periods with a free hot lunch for participants at the end of each day’s session. Before the program began all youngsters were given a free medical examination.

Richard Taylor, assistant professor of physical education at Trinity, served as the program’s instructor for a third year with Walter “Doc” Hurley, assistant to the principal at Weaver High School acting as liaison officer to the Hartford Community. Robie Shults and Bob Slaughter, associate professors in the College’s Athletic Department, helped to supervise the program.

Trinity students Adren Keaton ’75, Mark Steen ’77, Carey Doyle ’77 and Walter Thompson ’75 acted as assistants.

Trinity was the only college in the state to host this national program which included 104 other colleges and universities in over 40 states.

The second program, which ran from June 30 to August 8, was the Trinity Summer Arts Program, funded by the Hartford Parks and Recreation Department and the Greater Hartford Arts Council.

The purpose of this six-part concentrated arts program was to provide Hartford youths with greater exposure to the arts subjects which they normally would not receive in school. Activities included painting and sculpture, drama, ballet, modern dance, photography, and swimming with instructors provided by professionals and college students.

The Summer Arts Program was directed by Stephen Woods, a former artist-in-residence at the College and presently a member of the Fine Arts Department at the University of Hartford.

His staff included three Trinity students, Debbie Geraci ’76, Susan Egbert ’76 and Mark Stern ’77.
