Lockwood to Retire
President to Leave by January 1982

Dr. Theodore D. Lockwood, President of the College since 1968, has announced that he will retire from the post by January, 1982. His decision was conveyed Monday (November 7) to the executive committee of Trustees by Dr. George W. Smith, chairman of the board. Faculty and staff were informed on Thursday by letters from the President.

Lockwood, who is the senior college President in New England in terms of years of servitude, "personal and professional interest in the College," for the decision. He will return to Trinity this coming January for a six-month sabbatical leave.

Smith said that the board has accepted Lockwood's decision "with deep regret. Ted Lockwood has provided distinctive leadership and service to Trinity for more than twelve years. Under his prudent stewardship, the College has flourished and grown. It has fulfilled a promise of prominence assumed indelibly in the liberal arts and sciences. While we are sorry that Ted has chosen to step down, we respect his wish to try his hand at other things."

Smith stated that a wide and thorough search will be undertaken for a new chief executive of the College. A selection committee will be formed in the near future. In his letter to the College community, Lockwood said, "In deciding to leave Trinity, I take great satisfaction in the present strength of the institution. We have made steady progress during the last three decades. We now face changing circumstances which I am confident a new president will meet in a manner that assures the continuing prestige of a college for which I shall always retain deep affection."

Lockwood did not disclose his future professional plans, but noted that he was announcing his retirement from Trinity in order to advance to allow the College ample time to choose a successor and to assure a smooth and orderly transition.

Under Lockwood's leadership, Trinity has achieved an impressive record of fiscal stability and progress. The College has operated on a balanced budget for eleven years, and the endowment has grown steadily. The institution's net worth, which I shall always retain deep affection."

Lockwood did not disclose his future professional plans, but noted that he was announcing his retirement from Trinity in order to advance to allow the College ample time to choose a successor and to assure a smooth and orderly transition.

Under Lockwood's leadership, Trinity has achieved an impressive record of fiscal stability and progress. The College has operated on a balanced budget for eleven years, and the endowment has grown steadily. The institution's net worth, which Lockwood has brought up from $2 million to $41 million, currently. During Lockwood's tenure, Trinity underwent a smooth transition to coeducation, the curriculum was revised, and the undergraduate enrollment increased from 1250 to 1700. Approximately 25 million in 1968 to 1970.

Lockwood's tenure, Trinity underwent a smooth transition to coeducation, the curriculum was revised, and the undergraduate enrollment increased from 1250 to 1700. Approximately 25 million in 1968 to 1970.

Lockwood did not disclose his future professional plans, but noted that he was announcing his retirement from Trinity in order to advance to allow the College ample time to choose a successor and to assure a smooth and orderly transition.

Under Lockwood's leadership, Trinity has achieved an impressive record of fiscal stability and progress. The College has operated on a balanced budget for eleven years, and the endowment has grown steadily. The institution's net worth, which Lockwood has brought up from $2 million to $41 million, currently. During Lockwood's tenure, Trinity underwent a smooth transition to coeducation, the curriculum was revised, and the undergraduate enrollment increased from 1250 to 1700. Approximately 25 million in 1968 to 1970.

Lockwood did not disclose his future professional plans, but noted that he was announcing his retirement from Trinity in order to advance to allow the College ample time to choose a successor and to assure a smooth and orderly transition.

Under Lockwood's leadership, Trinity has achieved an impressive record of fiscal stability and progress. The College has operated on a balanced budget for eleven years, and the endowment has grown steadily. The institution's net worth, which Lockwood has brought up from $2 million to $41 million, currently. During Lockwood's tenure, Trinity underwent a smooth transition to coeducation, the curriculum was revised, and the undergraduate enrollment increased from 1250 to 1700. Approximately 25 million in 1968 to 1970.

Lockwood did not disclose his future professional plans, but noted that he was announcing his retirement from Trinity in order to advance to allow the College ample time to choose a successor and to assure a smooth and orderly transition.

Under Lockwood's leadership, Trinity has achieved an impressive record of fiscal stability and progress. The College has operated on a balanced budget for eleven years, and the endowment has grown steadily. The institution's net worth, which Lockwood has brought up from $2 million to $41 million, currently. During Lockwood's tenure, Trinity underwent a smooth transition to coeducation, the curriculum was revised, and the undergraduate enrollment increased from 1250 to 1700. Approximately 25 million in 1968 to 1970.

Lockwood did not disclose his future professional plans, but noted that he was announcing his retirement from Trinity in order to advance to allow the College ample time to choose a successor and to assure a smooth and orderly transition.

Under Lockwood's leadership, Trinity has achieved an impressive record of fiscal stability and progress. The College has operated on a balanced budget for eleven years, and the endowment has grown steadily. The institution's net worth, which Lockwood has brought up from $2 million to $41 million, currently. During Lockwood's tenure, Trinity underwent a smooth transition to coeducation, the curriculum was revised, and the undergraduate enrollment increased from 1250 to 1700. Approximately 25 million in 1968 to 1970.

Lockwood did not disclose his future professional plans, but noted that he was announcing his retirement from Trinity in order to advance to allow the College ample time to choose a successor and to assure a smooth and orderly transition.

Under Lockwood's leadership, Trinity has achieved an impressive record of fiscal stability and progress. The College has operated on a balanced budget for eleven years, and the endowment has grown steadily. The institution's net worth, which Lockwood has brought up from $2 million to $41 million, currently. During Lockwood's tenure, Trinity underwent a smooth transition to coeducation, the curriculum was revised, and the undergraduate enrollment increased from 1250 to 1700. Approximately 25 million in 1968 to 1970.

Lockwood did not disclose his future professional plans, but noted that he was announcing his retirement from Trinity in order to advance to allow the College ample time to choose a successor and to assure a smooth and orderly transition.

Under Lockwood's leadership, Trinity has achieved an impressive record of fiscal stability and progress. The College has operated on a balanced budget for eleven years, and the endowment has grown steadily. The institution's net worth, which Lockwood has brought up from $2 million to $41 million, currently. During Lockwood's tenure, Trinity underwent a smooth transition to coeducation, the curriculum was revised, and the undergraduate enrollment increased from 1250 to 1700. Approximately 25 million in 1968 to 1970.

Lockwood did not disclose his future professional plans, but noted that he was announcing his retirement from Trinity in order to advance to allow the College ample time to choose a successor and to assure a smooth and orderly transition.

Under Lockwood's leadership, Trinity has achieved an impressive record of fiscal stability and progress. The College has operated on a balanced budget for eleven years, and the endowment has grown steadily. The institution's net worth, which Lockwood has brought up from $2 million to $41 million, currently. During Lockwood's tenure, Trinity underwent a smooth transition to coeducation, the curriculum was revised, and the undergraduate enrollment increased from 1250 to 1700. Approximately 25 million in 1968 to 1970.

Lockwood did not disclose his future professional plans, but noted that he was announcing his retirement from Trinity in order to advance to allow the College ample time to choose a successor and to assure a smooth and orderly transition.

Under Lockwood's leadership, Trinity has achieved an impressive record of fiscal stability and progress. The College has operated on a balanced budget for eleven years, and the endowment has grown steadily. The institution's net worth, which Lockwood has brought up from $2 million to $41 million, currently. During Lockwood's tenure, Trinity underwent a smooth transition to coeducation, the curriculum was revised, and the undergraduate enrollment increased from 1250 to 1700. Approximately 25 million in 1968 to 1970.

Lockwood did not disclose his future professional plans, but noted that he was announcing his retirement from Trinity in order to advance to allow the College ample time to choose a successor and to assure a smooth and orderly transition.

Under Lockwood's leadership, Trinity has achieved an impressive record of fiscal stability and progress. The College has operated on a balanced budget for eleven years, and the endowment has grown steadily. The institution's net worth, which Lockwood has brought up from $2 million to $41 million, currently. During Lockwood's tenure, Trinity underwent a smooth transition to coeducation, the curriculum was revised, and the undergraduate enrollment increased from 1250 to 1700. Approximately 25 million in 1968 to 1970.

Lockwood did not disclose his future professional plans, but noted that he was announcing his retirement from Trinity in order to advance to allow the College ample time to choose a successor and to assure a smooth and orderly transition.

Under Lockwood's leadership, Trinity has achieved an impressive record of fiscal stability and progress. The College has operated on a balanced budget for eleven years, and the endowment has grown steadily. The institution's net worth, which Lockwood has brought up from $2 million to $41 million, currently. During Lockwood's tenure, Trinity underwent a smooth transition to coeducation, the curriculum was revised, and the undergraduate enrollment increased from 1250 to 1700. Approximately 25 million in 1968 to 1970.
SGA Discusses Course Evaluation Books

by Joseph McAlar
Beneath the portraits of the past Presidents of Trinity College, the Student Government Association assembled last Tuesday for their first meeting in Hamlin Hall. Highlighting the meeting were discussions concerning the Course Evaluation Booklets and the lack of minority faculty at Trinity.

In old business, Matt Carey reported on the possibility of obtaining a change machine from Mather Campus Center. This involves a "relatively-inexpensive monthly charge for the device," he stated. Wayne Asmus, Director of Student Services, revealed that the companies who distribute these machines are "reluctant" to install in several companies who distribute these machines are "reluctant" to install.

Student Services, revealed that the companies who distribute these machines are "reluctant" to install.

In other business, Liz Carrigan raised the issue concerning the problems with the Pub. Asmus reported that due to the recent incident involving the presence of beer on the tables after closing time, the hours and the absence of bouncers will remain until next semester. In addition, in an at-quest to "try and rejuvenate the atmosphere of the Pub when it first opened up," Asmus revealed that new machines will be reinstalled next term.

Carrigan also opened up discussion of new business by referring to the letter written by the Trinity Coalition of Blacks (TCB) and published in last week's Tripod. She praised the issues raised in the letter, namely those concerning the international Studies Program, Third World field programs, minority enrollment, the recent decision on the Education Department, and student input to the hiring and firing of faculty. These represent "issues that affect the entire school," she stressed.

"We have a really different minority presence," Carrigan pointedly called for the creation of a type of affirmative-action group to confront these problems, "for the betterment of the whole school.

As for the new representative, President Jim Pomeroy argued that the S.G.A. is also to look at the depart-ment of Thomas Lipton, the Director of Institutional Affairs, and try to "get somebody a little bit more for affirmative action in that position." In the lengthy discussion that followed, Faraj Saghri defended the administration from the TCB letter, citing the situations at Wesleyan and Tufts for examples.

These two institutions, in an at-tempt to recruit minorities, posed money into the development of new departments and courses in Afro-American, Swahili, and the like. As a result, these schools are adding financially today, due to the decrease in minority students. "It's a credit to our administration that they didn't get us into that situation," he explained.

Todd Beati, however, cited the popularity of the Education Department among black students in particular, and complained about its reduction. The administration is trying to pass the buck," he stated. Pomeroy reiterated this point, and stressed the importance of "making the school more attrac-tive" to minority students. He also added, however, "what can the S.G.A. do to help?"

Carrigan stated that since a new representative from the Inter-Fraternity Council (Armando Paolino) is now present at the S.G.A. meetings, a representative from the TCB should also attend. Matt Carey responded that this would help make the S.G.A. "an effective integrated body." Sandy Smith, however, said that such an action "would go against the atmosphere we're trying to create," presenting a "practical method of approaching the problem," stated, "Why don't I just help TCB," as a way to integrate the minorities on campus. Anna Collins, on the other hand, said that the TCB does not want itself to be integrated, but rather "to be integrated into the students and college."

A motion was made to table this discussion until tonight's meeting. In addition, Carrigan planned to write a letter for today's Tripod, and TCB would be invited to the meeting this evening.

On the subject of the Course Evaluations, co-editor Carolyn Gin-li-ghurtted to the "unfair judgment" of the booklets by the editor-in-chief in last week's Tripod. Ellen Nalle stated that it would be "a good idea" to have more S.G.A. members supervising and helping out during the completion of the evaluation forms at pre-regis-tration. Pomeroy suggested that the co-editors work with Dean De Rossi to "get a better rate" by distributing the course evaluation forms during classes. A motion was approved to table this discussion until tonight's meeting.

The Student House was the subject of additional new business. Todd Beati turned over discussion until tonight's meeting. The Student House was the subject of additional new business. Todd Beati turned over discussion to Matt Carey, pending his letter for today's Tripod. Finally, Pomeroy addressed two additional issues at the meeting. First of all, he suggested the idea of "pamphlets" to inform Trinity to "be an S.G.A.-sponsored thing," he stated, and would turn the S.G.A. "into a student senate.

However, the consensus was that the R.A. was already-capable of doing their jobs, and that the dormitories are too small for such a venture.

Secondly, Pomeroy presented a "pamphlet" published by Bryant College which serves as "a fact sheet" concerning their S.G.A. He suggested that the S.G.A. work on a similar publication for the Trinity community. Ted Hartrose and other volunteers work on such a pamphlet.

******

CASA DI TRAVEL

Welcome students and all their travel needs.

ASK ABOUT OUR LOW FARES TO LONDON — NOW ONLY £39 ROUNDTRIP

DOMINIC SCOTICE (203) 527-6600
423 New Britain Ave. Hartford, Conn. 06106
across from D&D Package

D & D Package Store

417 New Britain Ave. Hartford
(Store at 84 Main St.)
Always on Hand
249-6833

D & D Package Store

417 New Britain Ave. Hartford
(Store at 84 Main St.)
Always on Hand
249-6833

Wine Merchants
249-6833

Winter Recess
January 4 - 9 ••• January 11 - 16

SKI STRAFFON

Five Days — Lifts $65

Ski Trini-5

Three-World field programs, minority enrollment, the recent decision on the Education Department, and student input to the hiring and firing of faculty. These represent "issues that affect the entire school," she stressed.

Carrigan stated that since a new representative, President Jim Pomeroy argued that the S.G.A. is also to look at the depart-ment of Thomas Lipton, the Director of Institutional Affairs, and try to "get somebody a little bit more for affirmative action in that position." In the lengthy discussion that followed, Faraj Saghri defended the administration from the TCB letter, citing the situations at Wesleyan and Tufts for examples.

These two institutions, in an at-tempt to recruit minorities, posed money into the development of new departments and courses in Afro-American, Swahili, and the like. As a result, these schools are adding financially today, due to the decrease in minority students. "It's a credit to our administration that they didn't get us into that situation," he explained.

Todd Beati, however, cited the popularity of the Education Department among black students in particular, and complained about its reduction. The administration is trying to "pass the buck," he stated. Pomeroy reiterated this point, and stressed the importance of "making the school more attrac-tive" to minority students. He also added, however, "what can the S.G.A. do to help?"

Carrigan stated that since a new representative from the Inter-Fraternity Council (Armando Paolino) is now present at the S.G.A. meetings, a representative from the TCB should also attend. Matt Carey responded that this would help make the S.G.A. "an effective integrated body." Sandy Smith, however, said that such an action "would go against the atmosphere we're trying to create," presenting a "practical method of approaching the problem," stated, "Why don't I just help TCB," as a way to integrate the minorities on campus. Anna Collins, on the other hand, said that the TCB does not want itself to be integrated, but rather "to be integrated into the students and college."

A motion was made to table this discussion until tonight's meeting. In addition, Carrigan planned to write a letter for today's Tripod, and TCB would be invited to the meeting this evening.

On the subject of the Course Evaluations, co-editor Carolyn Gin-li-ghurtted to the "unfair judgment" of the booklets by the editor-in-chief in last week's Tripod. Ellen Nalle stated that it would be "a good idea" to have more S.G.A. members supervising and helping out during the completion of the evaluation forms at pre-regis-tration. Pomeroy suggested that the co-editors work with Dean De Rossi to "get a better rate" by distributing the course evaluation forms during classes. A motion was approved to table this discussion until tonight's meeting.

The Student House was the subject of additional new business. Todd Beati turned over discussion until tonight's meeting. The Student House was the subject of additional new business. Todd Beati turned over discussion to Matt Carey, pending his letter for today's Tripod. Finally, Pomeroy addressed two additional issues at the meeting. First of all, he suggested the idea of "pamphlets" to inform Trinity to "be an S.G.A.-sponsored thing," he stated, and would turn the S.G.A. "into a student senate.

However, the consensus was that the R.A. was already-capable of doing their jobs, and that the dormitories are too small for such a venture.

Secondly, Pomeroy presented a "pamphlet" published by Bryant College which serves as "a fact sheet" concerning their S.G.A. He suggested that the S.G.A. work on a similar publication for the Trinity community. Ted Hartrose and other volunteers work on such a pamphlet.

**********

Prep for: January 24, 1981

GMA

Call Days Evenings & Weekends

Classes begin Nov. 12, 1980

HARTFORD AREA
800 Silver Lane
East Hartford, Ct. 06118
(203) 568-7927

TEST PREPARATION

For information about other centers in more than 80 major US cities & abroad

Outbacks NY State. CALL TOLL FREE. 800-223-1173

MEALS * PARTIES * TAXES * GRATUITIES

HOT OVEN PIZZA
SPECIALISTS SINCE 1938

STAGG'S

256 Broad Street
Hartford 246-3663

Campus Pizza wishes everyone a Happy Thanksgiving!

TAURAS

5 DRAFT BEERS
HARTFORD'S LATEST UPTOWN RESTAURANT
TRINITY LAWRENCE
CAPITOL AVE

All Ryerson Jazz Quintet
Every Fri. & Sat. thru Dec. 13
227 LAWRENCE ST.
249-6833
American Nazi Party and whether it could be attributed to their issues brought up by students concerned the provisions of the S-1 and intent audience. Some of the repression of the Communist Party Korean War — a period of political before, during and after the night, November 20 in the McCook, communist Party, spoke on Thursday evening, November 20 in the McCook with Dennis. He expressed his belief that the American Communist Party could justify its beliefs and goals in light of the position the Soviet Union takes on the issues of human rights and anti-Semitism. Dennis' response to the question emphasized the "truth that there are people in this country that don't support workers in this country, and that's not anti-Semitism movement.

He also said, "They (the Soviets) are having big difficulties. They are making mistakes. Just because the American press makes a big thing of anti-Semitism, it doesn't mean it's a policy there."

A Trinity professor in the audience suggested that the American Communist Party could justify its beliefs and goals in light of the position the Soviet Union takes on the issues of human rights and anti-Semitism. Dennis' response to the question emphasized the "truth that there are people in this country that don't support workers in this country, and that's not anti-Semitism movement." He also said, "They (the Soviets) are having big difficulties. They are making mistakes. Just because the American press makes a big thing of anti-Semitism, it doesn't mean it's a policy there."

Most of the audience remained until the end of Dennis' lecture, and seemed interested in what he had to say. Some members of the audience expressed the opinion individually. Their pursuits are to be of the Polish workers' movement.

The four finalists, Michelle Pagnotta, Pam Wilton, Laura Roulet, and Richard Williams were selected from a group of seventeen applicants. Their pursuits are to be of the Polish workers' movement.

Most of the audience remained until the end of Dennis' lecture, and seemed interested in what he had to say. Some members of the audience expressed the opinion individually. Their pursuits are to be of the Polish workers' movement.

Laura Roulet desires to study graphic and film arts in Eastern European nations, particularly Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, and East Germany.
Some Final Words

Two and a half years ago a scared freshman who couldn't spell walked into the Tripod office hoping to learn something about the newspaper business. The freshman was me and today I walk out of the Tripod office still unable to spell but having learned a lot about newspapers and even more about people. This being my final editorial I would like to make some personal comments about Trinity and the Tripod.

Tripod is one of the finest colleges in America, but it has potential to be far better. I think perhaps the biggest problem Trinity has is one of attitude. Editorial writers need to criticize everybody for being apathetic.

The attitude I am talking about is partially apathy but I think it runs deeper. Too many people here and elsewhere just don't care about anything except themselves. Caring seems to be an emotion which has gone out of our lives. This is why organizations like the Tripod have problems finding people who are willing to take a risk in it and care about it, really care about it. They are unwilling to sacrifice so that the Tripod can come out once a week. They don't care enough to shut up in the library or turn down the stereo in their dorm. They don't care enough to leave the pub when they are supposed to or to not give abuse to the security guard.

All I am saying and perhaps I am generalizing too much is that we should all take some time to care about something other than ourselves. If we did Trinity would be a far better place.

When I leave Trinity College the Tripod will be one of the things which I will most regret leaving. It has been one of the challenges of my life. It has been that work, it is a labor of love. As much, as and care deeply about it. To those people I say thank you for making this such an easy and enjoyable Sundays and Mondays, it all.

Member. It is the product of a group of people good as it is not because of any one editor or staff member. The Tripod is as the paper comes out on Tuesdays. The is enough in formality and when my brother Muzz, who has decided to crftiz- everybody for being' apathetic. They don't care enough to leave the pub when they are going to the tripod. They don't care enough to shut up in the library or turn down the stereo in their dorm. They don't care enough to leave the pub when they are supposed to or to not give abuse to the security guard.

It's that time of year again --- time for your humble narrator to hop a 727 to the City of Champions and head back to the house of Doc and Nat for the traditional Feast of Thanksgiving. The whole family will be there, with the exception of my brother Muzz, who has decided to take this time and play nice with his future in-laws. It's therefore in the affluence of Greenwich Connec- isn't that what we will gather around the long oval table at 1444 Inneverse Street smiling, eating, and remembering how it had to be.

In our family, we don't deal much in formality and when my mother says dinner's at six that means that we will be tasted, elbows in action, indigging in the once feathered bird at 6:01. If my Uncle Mickey is late, we put hands to work and prepare a turkey dinner, stuffing, dressing, and all the fixins'. My Aunt Shirley's green bean casserole. Belts are loosened and the crowd waits for a second wind after eating a hefty meal. Everyone is talking and laughing about something, the rest of us will gather in the living room. because eating and laughing with childlike spon- anything comes easy. The fire is warm, I'm with the people I love and Toyota --- I think we're back in Kansas. The best part of this holiday though, occurs after all the guests have said their farewells and I have wiped all the various shades of orange lipstick off my face. It is just mom, dad, and my brothers and me and I feel like a kid again, smiling and laughing with childlike spon- the evening would have been more fortuitous. For that would have been an event worth witnessing.

To the Editor of the Tripod:

To the Editor of the Tripod:

While I was here at Trinity and the Tripod, I found the tripod to be as exciting as I am sure every other student found it to be. The Tripod, the sentiments expressed in this letter, colored to a considerable degree, with my own, in lectures which I delivered to students in "American History," I made some of the same points at great length, and even entered the tangential undercurrent of the Hu's and Rosenberg cases in order to be faithful to the facts as I understood them and to illustrate the disquieting implications of the so-called McCarthy period. Stepped in the anti-Communist literature, I have never denied the danger, always remote, that Mr. Dennis's appearance might corrupt* Mr. Dennis might issue* to a heated, even tense, exchange between Mr. Dennis and the American Communist Party's members and published in the American Communist Party before inviting Mr. Dennis to the campus. In the Poll following Mr. Dennis's talk, these convic- oned to the point that the event was a roaring success.

The tripod is 5 P.M., Saturday, preceding Tuesday's offices are located in Jackson Hall Basement. Office hours: Saturday, 3-5 P.M., Sunday 9 A.M. Telephone 246-1825 or 527-3315, ext. 252, Mailing address: Box 1310, Trinity College, Hartford, Ct. 06106.
Letters to the Editor

Racism Is Our Responsibility

To The Editor:

We were shocked to find not a single white in attendance — not even single white students understood us, for we were tenured Community who have been working with other white to undo the damage of this problem.

We are the racist — not; We are still do not understand the nature of a course and the generalizing comments made, the institution and it represents my own wish to try my hand at other things. You may have a similar feeling some day.

My wife and I wish you a most pleasant holiday season, and we look forward to seeing you next semester.

Sincerely,

Theodore D. Lockwood

Thank You

To The Editor:

I like to take this opportunity to express my thanks to the Trinity Community for making this last 3½ years an enjoyable one. Staffing the Institutional Office, one-person, part-time staff has, in and of itself, been a "learning experience." I hope to continue the cooperation I have had from the students, staff, faculty to coordinate this program. Until my successor is hired, the office is being taken care of by the very capable hands of Linda Rich '82, who has worked with me for the last 1½ years. Those of you who plan to intern next semester should already be in touch with Linda. Linda can give you any assistance you may need. 8:30 - 3:30 EST. Or get out there and find out how much you can learn from the resources available within Trinity. I hope you have already engaged in

Sincerely,

Eng Song Loh '81

We Agree With TCB

We of the Student Government Association are painfully aware of the attitude of the institution as presented in last week's Tripod in the article "A View of the Minority Problem." This issue necessarily involves each and every member of the Trinity Community. It is largely a question of social responsibility between all of us and the need to take action.

We are in agreement with the basic tenets of the letter, seeing the performance of the student in administrative decision making (i.e., hiring and firing of faculty, minority and students representation on the Board of Trustees, and in general) as unsatisfactory.

Given this initial step, we feel that students will be given a means to act upon these, and other pertinent issues. It is within the interests of the college, as a responsible institution, to provide a use process for such significant decisions to be met. The S.G.A. is pleased to support such a functional approach, on the part of the college, in addition to the course evaluation, and in a broader context, to society as well.

The S.G.A. extends an invitation to the Trinity Community to address these issues at the next meeting on Tuesday, November 25, at 10:00 PM in Hamlin Hall.

Respectfully Yours,

Representatives of the S.G.A., Matt Carey, Eric Carpen, Dan Carev, Carolyn Ginsburg, Todd Beall

Praise to Lips

To the Editor,

I would like to express my thanks to Mr. Lips for rediscovering the Malter Campus Center, and especially to Mr. Thomas D. Lips, in particular for this effort. The New England of Robert Frost to Trinity. It was one of the most enjoyable literary lectures that I have had the privilege to attend. As I understand it, Mr. Lips was instrumental, down right instructive, in arranging for this event.

Sincerely,

Eric B. Anderson '81

Valueless Evaluations

Dear Sir:

There are not many things on this campus which can provide sufficient motivation for me to write, but one recent issue of the course evaluation is however one of these rare exceptions. Amongst the many large and small tragedies that reside on this campus, the publication of this booklet will not be one of the greatest. These evaluations have been discussed before, and not recently or directly on the pages of the Trinity Tripod.

Though I may seriously object to the statistical validity of the generalizing comments made, the qualified statement that "this year's evaluations are of course universally accepted" is solely irrelevant to finding out the purpose for which these evaluations were intended. The performance of the teacher with respect to the course's stated objectives, or the supposed lack thereof, the evaluations booklet is a sufficient tool for such judgements by students to be had, or improvements by professors to be made. It is the reflection of the pomposity with which the statement of purpose and intent is stated, I am not directly concerned with them.

I am a professor with students who may have stereotypical conceptions in the longer run. I am especially interested in the perception of others who may have stereotypes in the shorter run. I think that a valuable tool is the stereotypical image of professors - to be propagated as reflected in comments in this mode, and the predisposition of students to judge as others. This is unfair to professors on the receiving end, for genuine attempts at understanding that are unrecognized. Where tenured faculty members are concerned, this image problem is irrelevant, but where untenured professors are concerned, the story may be different. Given the tendency of the Teacher Evaluation Committee to jump to student opinions as expressed in publication such as these, it is no wonder that our society is so full of the conception of miscarriage of justice exists by the very fact that these evaluations are anonymous. If I am accused by being the joke that I am, and have no desire to support the course evaluations possesses a sufficient quality that should be recognized.

I confess to a degree of ignorance of the functions of the S.G.A. which may be unwarranted, and perhaps also inexcusable. But if evaluation, so proudly produced under the name of the Student Government Association, and which I am told represent the most substantive effort of the S.G.A. to date this term, is any reflection of the need for, and quality of, the S.G.A. I am willing to support a bunch of students in this or any effort to support my money, I cannot in all good conscience support the publication of a literature that is so inherently worthless, and perhaps even harmful.

Sincerely,

Eng Song Loh '81

Lockwood Letter

To The Editor:

As you may already know, for both personal and professional reasons, I have informed the Board of Trustees of my decision to retire from the presidency of Trinity College. I have concluded that it was necessary to assure the orderly and constructive transition to a new chief executive if I announced this conclusion now rather than upon my return in January, 1981. I have enjoyed my long association with the College. I hope particularly enjoyed knowing so many students — nearly one-third of the living alumni have graduated since I came in 1968.

I have told the Trustees that I shall remain no longer than this academic year, and therefore have the responsibility to act upon these, and other demands to be met. The S.G.A. is interested in the planning stages; see Linda soon.

To the student body: I have already engaged in discussions with many of the friends I have made here. For all the difficulties Trinity is encountering, this college's greatest asset is what we, as students, are as motivated as interns usually are.

I thank you for your constructive criticism. We look forward to seeing you next semester.

Sincerely,

Kenya B. Jamison

Director of Cooperative Education
University of Hartford

The Ad Hoc Committee to Review the Curriculum will hold an open meeting on Tuesday, December 2, 1980

in McCook Auditorium

at 4:00 p.m.

All interested students are invited.
Trinity’s Advances During

"Trinity affirms its commitment to consider new programs directly related to social service and to work closely with other groups in the Hartford community in creating a better environment for all citizens of the area."

Trinity College, in connection with the Hartford Hospital and the Institute for Living became a part of SINA (Southside Institutions Neighborhood Alliance) in order to connect more closely area institutions with the city of Hartford.

"Trinity affirms its intention to devise new approaches to improve international sensitivity among the members of this community."

In the Fall of 1980, over 75 Trinity students were studying at institutions not located in the United States.

All quotes taken from President Theodore D. Lockwood’s Inaugural speech, October, 1968.
During the 1970's, Trinity College instituted an internship program which has allowed students to gain first hand experiences in businesses and agencies outside of the college.

"Trinity affirms its determination to discover new means by which students, faculty, and administration may cooperate responsibly in planning the future of this particular community."

Over the past ten years there has been an increasing number of committees made up of students, faculty, and administrators to deal with Institutional Priorities, Curriculum, and College Affairs.
MUSICAL REVIEW

by Laura A. Wilcox

Thanksgiving, the Trinity College Music Department presents Musical Review. The show is under the direction of Gerald Moshe and is composed through Scott Colburn and Jana. It was held on November 21, 1980.

The program consists of a variety of music from different genres and periods. It features a range of performers, including the Trinity Glee Club, the Trinity Madrigal Singers, and individual vocalists.

The program begins with a rendition of "Ode to Joy," performed by the Trinity Madrigal Singers. The choir's harmonious voices create a sense of unity and shared purpose.

Later in the program, the Trinity Glee Club performs "The Star-Spangled Banner," a powerful and inspiring song that resonates with themes of patriotism and unity.

The program also includes a variety of solo performances, showcasing the talents of individual students. One particular highlight is a solo performance of "My Heart Stands Out" by an anonymous student, which receives a standing ovation from the audience.

The program concludes with a rendition of "Nearer My God to Thee," performed by the Trinity Glee Club and the Trinity Madrigal Singers. This song, with its powerful and emotive melody, leaves a lasting impression on the audience.

Overall, the Musical Review is a testament to the talent and dedication of the students involved. It is a showcase of the rich musical heritage of Trinity College and a reminder of the importance of music in our lives.
Men's Squash Hopes To Continue Winning Ways

by Bruce Newman

The Men's Varsity Squash team enters its 1980-81 season with a supposed "building year" status. Six starters graduated from last year's squad. Despite the loss, this year's team is loaded with depth and talent. Returning players are captains Pete DeRose, Ross Goldberg, Jack Scott, Bill McAvoy, and Rick Gellin. Also, after a year away from Trinity, senior Dick Kermond and junior Jamie Webb return as starters. New to the varsity squad are Topher Browne, John Holmes, Drew Hastings, freshmen Bruce Newman, Ted Wheeler and Scott Fuller.

Last year's season closed with a 15-4 record, placing the Bantams seventh in NCAA rankings. Their narrow loss to Army and Navy cost them a 3 national ranking. This year Coach George Sutherland is placing more emphasis on physical conditioning (e.g., the infamous "NEXTS") to better prepare for another challenging season. The team faces the following schools: Bowdoin, Amherst, MIT, Dartmouth, Yale, Princeton, Tufts, Wesleyan, Stony Brook, Franklin and Marshall, Williams, Army and Navy.

Last Thursday, preseason play began with a match against the Hartford Golf Club. Despite a 5-5 final score, Coach Sutherland was pleased with the Bantams' overall performance.

Today, the Men's Varsity squad hosts Bowdoin. School support would be greatly appreciated.

Ross Goldberg (L) and Jamie Webb are two players that should help to provide a winning edge for this year's squash team.

Men's Varsity Basketball

Men's Varsity Basketball.

BANTAM SPORTS ARENA

Ski Class

Register now for Ski Class to meet third quarter. If you are an experienced skier or just want to learn, this class is the lift to the slopes. The group will travel to Ski Sundown in Litchfield Hills, New Hartford. The class will leave Trinity at 5:30 PM and return to campus at approximately 10:00 PM. Lessons at Sundown will run from 7-9 PM after which is free skiing time is available. The course is posted on her office door. Registration will end on December 12. Any further information can be obtained from Rita Kane.

Hoop Tourney

On Friday and Saturday, December 5-6, the Trinity Men's Varsity Basketball team will host the Trinity-UHart Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Friday, Dec. 5
7 PM UHart vs. Central
9 PM Wesleyan vs. Trinity

Saturday, Dec. 6
6 PM Consolation
8 PM Finals

Two-time MVP and high scorer Carl Rapp (center)
Hockey Looking To Return To Playoff Form

by Robert Falk

After falling to 9-11 last season, the Trinity Hockey team is looking to return to the form which saw Trinity gain three consecutive ECAC playoff berths in 1977, 1978, and 1979. However, the task will not be an easy one for the Bantams, as Coach John Dunham describes the upcoming schedule as "the most challenging since I've been here." Dunham, who has posted a 97-86-3 record, is entering his tenth year as Trinity's mentor. This season, Trinity will practice and play all of its home games at the new Kingswood-Oxford School rink in West Hartford. Last year, after the closing of the Glastonbury arena, Trinity's home for seven years, the Bantams were forced into irregular practice times at local rinks and had to play their home games at Wesleyan. The long term agreement worked out with Kingswood has insured Trinity of a permanent home as well as a spacious locker room.

The 1980-81 version of Trinity is a mixture of young and old. The returning blue line of six, including senior Larry Rosenthal, who is coming off knee problems, and freshmen Dave DeFabio and Ken Crowe. DeFabio graduated last year, leaving Butler to take the fourth spot. Butcher and Sharp brings a year's experience to the fourth spot.

The epee squad found itself in a unique position for recent Trinity history. Senior Steve Butler is the only fencer to return this year. In the past, the sabre squad had been Trinity's strongest squad. Butler was taught by Dave Weisfeld, who then went on to become one of New England's top fencers. As a freshman, Butler broke into the tenth position.

Senior Co-captain Dan Schlenoff will be leading the men's team. Much to the delight of the six returning members of the team, the six new members are showing a good deal of promise. Vladimir Dimanshteyn, Turkish national fencer Yearn who went on to become one of New England's top fencers. That same year, he fenced with two of the third team's sabres, Dan DeFabio and Ken Crowe. DeFabio graduated last year, leaving Butler to carry on the winning tradition by himself. He was a strong fencer during both his sophomore and junior years, and appears to have matured into a worthy successor to the past Trinity Greats. Butler taught the beginning and advanced fencing classes this year, and from that clan he acquired Andy Haase for the sabre squad. Haase is showing a great deal of potential.

Along with Haase, the squad obtained Tim Martin, who has some foil experience from last year. Both of these fencers are learning quickly, and should take some of the pressure off their teacher, Butler. The fourth member of the squad is John Kawcak, a senior with some experience from his freshman year.

The team is being coached again by returning sophomore Kevin Tizlley, and freshmen Ellery Brown and Nader Ahari.

For next year, Co-captain Ken Groebi will stay on to help the men's team and improve for next year.

Co-captain Dan Schlenoff will be leading the men's team. Much to the delight of the six returning members of the team, the six new members are showing a good deal of promise. Vladimir Dimanshteyn, Turkish national fencer Yearn who went on to become one of New England's top fencers. That same year, he fenced with two of the third team's sabres, Dan DeFabio and Ken Crowe. DeFabio graduated last year, leaving Butler to carry on the winning tradition by himself. He was a strong fencer during both his sophomore and junior years, and appears to have matured into a worthy successor to the past Trinity Greats. Butler taught the beginning and advanced fencing classes this year, and from that clan he acquired Andy Haase for the sabre squad. Haase is showing a great deal of potential.

Along with Haase, the squad obtained Tim Martin, who has some foil experience from last year. Both of these fencers are learning quickly, and should take some of the pressure off their teacher, Butler. The fourth member of the squad is John Kawcak, a senior with some experience from his freshman year.

The team is being coached again by returning sophomore Kevin Tizlley, and freshmen Ellery Brown and Nader Ahari.

for next year, Co-captain Ken Groebi will stay on to help the men's team and improve for next year.

Co-captain Dan Schlenoff will be leading the men's team. Much to the delight of the six returning members of the team, the six new members are showing a good deal of promise. Vladimir Dimanshteyn, Turkish national fencer Yearn who went on to become one of New England's top fencers. That same year, he fenced with two of the third team's sabres, Dan DeFabio and Ken Crowe. DeFabio graduated last year, leaving Butler to carry on the winning tradition by himself. He was a strong fencer during both his sophomore and junior years, and appears to have matured into a worthy successor to the past Trinity Greats. Butler taught the beginning and advanced fencing classes this year, and from that clan he acquired Andy Haase for the sabre squad. Haase is showing a great deal of potential.

Along with Haase, the squad obtained Tim Martin, who has some foil experience from last year. Both of these fencers are learning quickly, and should take some of the pressure off their teacher, Butler. The fourth member of the squad is John Kawcak, a senior with some experience from his freshman year.

The team is being coached again by returning sophomore Kevin Tizlley, and freshmen Ellery Brown and Nader Ahari.

So far, Dunham has been pleased with the play of the team. He said, "We have a very enthusiastic group of freshmen who are going to come to work hard every night." There has been a tremendous amount of competition for positions and a high level of intensity at the practices, and Dunham feels that these factors will benefit the team in the long run. The Bantam coach added, "Everything has been perfect thus far. Our new set up at Kingswood has improved the spirit of the team tremendously."

Co-captain Duncan and Chase affirmed Dunham's remarks, mentioning: "The attitudes have been really great this year," and "We have a solid team out this year who have been working hard and playing well."

This season, Trinity opens against Raimo at Kingswood. The December 2 game is a rematch of a 15-1 win last season. On December 5, the Hawks will participate in the Ambler Invitational tournament which will be held at Kingswood. Five games will make the first season of Division III schools this winter. Three of these schools, Western, New Haven and Wesley College, will make the playoff Division II last season. Also, the University of Connecticut seems to have a solid team to contend in the ECAC."}

Six-foot freshmen Chris Leeford (21, left) is one of the reasons Women's Basketball Coach Karen Eriandson is optimistic about the young team this winter.
Swim Teams Promise Excitement For '80-'81 Men's Squad Talented But Tiny Chet's Chicks Awesome

by Bill Gregg

Coach Chet McPhee feels that the 1981 women's varsity swim team shows promise of being Trinity's best ever. With due consideration to the handiwork created by last year's team, the 1981 team should be one to look for. With the exception of All-American Denise Jones, all of last season's letter winners are back in the lineup, joined by the strongest freshman group ever to don the blue and gold lyres.

Senior caption Anna Montgomery and Leigh Mountford add strong leadership to a long, strong and lively squad who are competing fiercely for spots on the starting team.

For sprinter Montgomery the competition lies in overcoming the talents of freshmen Michelle Parsons and Debbie Croeze. Anne Ward, who was an All-New England selection in all Freestyle events last year, is still the class of those races, but will probably be used primarily in middle and distance events. Also, Karen Miller has gotten off to a fast start in the distance work.

Returning superstar, Scott Bowden, along with sophomore Doug Gray, has set a total of nine college records, and has been swimming stronger than ever.

by Bill Gregg

Coming off a fantastic season last year, the men's swimming team has been devastated by graduation. The opening weeks of practice see the absence of many performers. The team is led by Captain Lenny Adam, one of the premier sprinters in the league. The men's swimming team has been pleased with the quality of his leadership of the seniors also due to graduation. Trin lost three letter winners from last year. The squad also had three incoming freshmen and six returning letter winners from last year's success. Caskin also placed fourth in the Novice Tournament at the conclusion of last year's season.

Also returning is junior Glenn McCallan. McCallan's 7-1/2 record last season qualified him for the Varsity New England Tournament. Although he did not place, he had a very strong first showing at the meet. Coach Darr feels that McCallan will be "someone to be reckoned with in the heavyweight division" this year.

Besides the dedication and hard work displayed by his team members, Coach Darr feels that Assistant Coach Nick Martin is his other positive asset to the team. Martin will again be volunteering his time to work on the team's technique and movement.

The Bantams' first match is on December 6 against Bridgewater and Norwich. The first home meet will be four days later versus Bridgeport.

Freshman Martha Belcher is blossoming as a sensational performer in the butterfly, backstroke, and individual medley events. Coach McPhee regards her as one of the most exciting swimmers he has ever coached. Leigh Mountford along with Belcher will handle the butterfly chores.

Linda Gillott, record holder in the individual medley events, prepares to fill the backstrokers while sophomore backstrokers Paul Ryan and Julie Veale have bolstered strong in practice and will be ready in time.

Veteran divers Janet Rathbun and Dave McKeel have been joined by freshman Bena Colombo to assure that diving continues to be a strong event in the Trinity line-up.

The team has been training rigorously for the past three weeks and is beginning to look extremely good. All signs point to an exciting season as they have difficult schedule, playing the best in New England.

The opening meet is at home December 6 against Fairfield University, so treat yourself and be there.

Wrestling Squad Small In Number But Big On Dedication And Hard Work

by David Mueller

With the season about to begin for the Trinity Wrestling team, two problems face this year's squad: injuries and depth. The team has all of its middle weight classes filled, and as a matter of fact, there is some overlap in certain cases. Yet the team is having problems filling its two lowest and some of the higher weight division. Injuries have added to the problem of members of the lineup. Also, including last year's team, has been the loss of members due to graduation. Trin lost three of its members: 150-pounder Tom Gerke, and Co-captains Dave Brooks and John O'Brien. Brooks and O'Brien had the squad's leading individual records. The co-captains were also able to qualify for the Division III New England tournament where they each garnered a third place finish. The success and leadership of the senior also spurred the grappling Bantams to finish a respectable tenth out of 16 Division III schools. Their absence will surely be felt this season.

Despite the fact that the team's returning this year, Coach Mike Darr is quite optimistic. Darr feels he has a good nucleus and that the people he has right now are a very hard working group. Rusty Nesbitt, Sean Darby and Wat Stevens are making their "Trinity debut" this year. The squad also has three winners from last year returning. Sophomores Mike Howe and Frank Coeburn had their hard knocks freshman year but should contribute heavily toward this year's success. Caskin also placed fourth in the Novice Tournament at the conclusion of last year's season.

Also returning is junior Glenn McCallan. McCallan's 7-1/2 record last season qualified him for the Varsity New England Tournament. Although he did not place, he had a very strong first showing at the meet. Coach Darr feels that McCallan will be "someone to be reckoned with in the heavyweight division" this year.

Besides the dedication and hard work displayed by his team members, Coach Darr feels that Assistant Coach Nick Martin is his other positive asset to the team. Martin will again be volunteering his time to work on the team's technique and movement.

The Bantams' first match is on December 6 against Bridgewater and Norwich. The first home meet will be four days later versus Bridgeport.
Coach Doyle Announces Resignation

by Anthony Flechetti

There's something about a team that's good. And knowing it. It's an unspoken understanding, as if the team members are aware of the moves and tendencies, of where someone is, what their abilities are, and before movement at all takes place.

The 1980-81 edition of the Men's Varsity Basketball team is such a group, the nucleus of which has grown together over the past two seasons, leading most to believe that this is the year the Bantams will really gel. Two seasons, a team centered on his players. "Not only is my son. That team won the tournament in Prague, Czechoslovakia. In the two years prior to Doyle's arrival, Trinity compiled a 10-30 record. After an 8-15 season two years ago, Doyle, using all freshmen and sophomores, posted a 16-7 record last year. The Bantams finished fourth in New England out of 43 Division III schools and ended up eleventh nationally in Division III.

During Doyle's short tenure, the basketball schedule has seen an increase in travel. In 1978-79, note Doyle's son. Doyle was the Head Coach at Kingswood-Oxford School in West Hartford, added, "We are dedicating our season to Coach Doyle's son."

Possible weak spots lie in the frontcourt contingent are: Billy Zidelis, a swingman at guard and forward, who has taken some action last year at power forward; John Wynter, whose leaping ability, scoring and rebounding punch, while frontcourt mate Wynter will provide the glitter to the team's offense. The lightening-fast swingman's full-court dashes highlighted Trinity's winning game in 79-80, while underneath he continually outjumped and outplayed taller, slower opponents.

Rolling out the frontcourt contingent are: Billy Zidelis, a swingman at guard and forward, and a first-team Connecticut selection, the junior will once again be counted on for scoring and rebounding punch, while frontcourt mate Wynter will provide the glitter to the team's offense. The lighten-fastr, swingman's full-court dashes highlighted Trinity's winning game in 79-80, while underneath he continually outjumped and outplayed taller, slower opponents.

Doyle intends to work with his son on a full time basis for ten to twelve months with backup assistance from the West Hartford School System. From March through May, he will work with his son two or three days a week as well as weekends. Beginning in June, Doyle plans to be with Danny seven days a week. By then, the only outside activity which he will engage in is his two week summer basketball camp, and his position as a member of the West Hartford School Board of Education.

Using Coach Doyle's little boy as an inspiration to all of us," Meany, who played two years of high school ball for Doyle at Kingswood-Oxford School in West Hartford, added, "We are dedicating our season to Coach Doyle's son."

Prior to coming to Trinity, Doyle spent two years at Brown University as Freshman Basketball Coach. Before his move to Brown, Doyle was the Head Coach at Kingswood. In 1976, Doyle took a Kingwood team with a prior record of 4-16 to a 40-11 two year record, and they became the first United States high school to play in a sanctioned tournament behind the Iron Curtain. That team won the tournament in Prague, Czechoslovakia. In the two years prior to Doyle's arrival, Trinity compiled a 10-30 record. After an 8-15 season two years ago, Doyle, using all freshmen and sophomores, posted a 16-7 record last year. The Bantams finished fourth in New England out of 43 Division III schools and ended up eleventh nationally in Division III.

luing, using Coach Doyle's little boy as an inspiration to all of us. "(D)meany, who played two years of high school ball for Doyle at Kingswood-Oxford School in West Hartford, added, "We are dedicating our season to Coach Doyle's son."

During Doyle's short tenure, the basketball schedule has seen an increase in travel. In 1978-79, Doyle took his team to Montreal, Canada to meet McGill University. Last season, Trinity traveled to Cuba to meet the Cuban National team, thus becoming the first United States college team to visit Cuba since 1959. Through his efforts, Doyle has arranged for Trinity's men's basketball team to meet the University of Alaska at Anchorage during the 1981-82 season.

established the MacGregor-Trinity College Coaches Clinic. In 1980, this clinic became the largest coaches clinic in the East. This year, the clinic attracted such notables as UCLA Coach Larry Brown, Atlanta Hawks Coach Hubie Brown and University of Iowa coach Lute Olson. In 1979, Doyle helped to bring about a volleyball match between the United States and Russia held in the Ferri Athletic Center. Doyle intends to work with his son on a full time basis for ten to twelve months with backup assistance from the West Hartford School System. From March through May, he will work with his son two or three days a week as well as weekends. Beginning in June, Doyle plans to be with Danny seven days a week. By then, the only outside activity which he will engage in is his two week summer basketball camp, and his position as a member of the West Hartford School Board of Education.

extremely gifted lineup. Returning are mainstays Carl Rapp, two-time MVP as a freshman and sophomores, Captain John Meany, a heady point guard, quick guard-forward David Coutu, whose leaping ability, speed and counter-speed abilities will once again be counted on for scoring and rebounding punch, while frontcourt mate Wynter will provide the glitter to the team's offense. The lightening-fast swingman's full-court dashes highlighted Trinity's winning game in 79-80, while underneath he continually outjumped and outplayed taller, slower opponents.

Rolling out the frontcourt contingent are: Billy Zidelis, a swingman at guard and forward, and a first-team Connecticut selection, the junior will once again be counted on for scoring and rebounding punch, while frontcourt mate Wynter will provide the glitter to the team's offense. The lightening-fast swingman's full-court dashes highlighted Trinity's winning game in 79-80, while underneath he continually outjumped and outplayed taller, slower opponents.

Rolling out the frontcourt contingent are: Billy Zidelis, a swingman at guard and forward, and a first-team Connecticut selection, the junior will once again be counted on for scoring and rebounding punch, while frontcourt mate Wynter will provide the glitter to the team's offense. The lightening-fast swingman's full-court dashes highlighted Trinity's winning game in 79-80, while underneath he continually outjumped and outplayed taller, slower opponents.

Rolling out the frontcourt contingent are: Billy Zidelis, a swingman at guard and forward, and a first-team Connecticut selection, the junior will once again be counted on for scoring and rebounding punch, while frontcourt mate Wynter will provide the glitter to the team's offense. The lightening-fast swingman's full-court dashes highlighted Trinity's winning game in 79-80, while underneath he continually outjumped and outplayed taller, slower opponents.

Rolling out the frontcourt contingent are: Billy Zidelis, a swingman at guard and forward, and a first-team Connecticut selection, the junior will once again be counted on for scoring and rebounding punch, while frontcourt mate Wynter will provide the glitter to the team's offense. The lightening-fast swingman's full-court dashes highlighted Trinity's winning game in 79-80, while underneath he continually outjumped and outplayed taller, slower opponents.

Rolling out the frontcourt contingent are: Billy Zidelis, a swingman at guard and forward, and a first-team Connecticut selection, the junior will once again be counted on for scoring and rebounding punch, while frontcourt mate Wynter will provide the glitter to the team's offense. The lightening-fast swingman's full-court dashes highlighted Trinity's winning game in 79-80, while underneath he continually outjumped and outplayed taller, slower opponents.