Tripod Examines Platforms; SGA Elections October 1-2

Editor's note: On Thursday and Friday, October 1-2 (note the change in dates), the Student Government Association will conduct campus-wide elections. A candidates' debate will be held tomorrow evening at 9 p.m. in Hamill Hall. For the benefit of the voting population, this article examines in detail the platforms of the candidates competing for the positions of SGA President and Vice-President.

by Marego Athans

Morris/Toitchio

Of the four SGA tickets this fall, the Pat Morris/Chris Toitchio platform distinguishes itself as "saying on ideas, not experience." Since freshman year, the candidates claim that they have become increasingly concerned with the school's apathy problem. Neither senior has ever served on the student government, yet Morris attended meetings his freshman year as the Tripod-SGA liaison, and he spent his junior year at the London School of Economics. Watching apathy grow to epidemic proportions, Morris says that he slowly became "fed up."

Mr. Toitchio is interested in "pushing" the student government, yet Morris, in his debate, expressed concern for the student body. He believes the current structure of SGA meetings to prevent maximum efficiency, they propose to enlarge on the committee system to facilitate the organization that could lead to greater efficiency.

Another aspect that Morris feels predominate attitudes toward many current issues, Morris says that he slowly became "fed up."

The Morris/Toitchio platform models some of its major plans after the United States Congress. As they believe the current structure of SGA meetings to prevent maximum efficiency, they propose to enlarge on the committee system to facilitate the organization that could lead to greater efficiency.

At 2:50 p.m., the inaugural procession will begin, from the Goodwin arch, down the Long Walk, and into the seating area. Among the delegates will be representatives of some sixty colleges and universities, most of them in the Northeast. The procession of delegates, arranged according to the year of the founding of the institution, will be led by Cambridge University, founded in England in the thirteenth century. The last delegate in the procession will represent Hartford's seven independent colleges, started in 1972.

The inaugural ceremony will include greetings from representatives of groups at Trinity and other constituencies. The annual report expresses concern about such issues as minority recruitment, academic affairs, student action and student life.

The members of Board of Fellows, the College's board of trustees, will be represented by Dr. George W. B. Starkey, Mr. English, who has made his mark in the past as one of the leaders of Hartford's seven independent colleges, started in 1972.

The inauguration will be the sixteenth of its kind in the College's 358-year history.
Domestic Leave

Arrangements for all other domestic Leaves of Absence should be completed by November 15. All necessary information and application forms are available in the Registrar’s Office.

Volunteer

Have some spare time? The Hartford Hospital Volunteer Department is looking for volunteers to work in the pediatric playroom, emergency room, and the nursing units. If interested, call 524-3198 or 524-3182. Benefits include free parking and meals.

American Service Academies

WASHINGTON — Students interested in applying for admission to one of the four military academies must have until Oct. 1 to receive application materials. The deadline for application of Sen. Christopher J. Dodd.

Dodd has set an Oct. 30 deadline for those interested in applying to the Military Academy of West Point, the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado, and the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point.

Sen. Dodd has named a nine-member U.S. Service Academy Selection Committee to interview candidates and make recommendations to him. The interviews will begin later this year.

MEMBERS OF THE SELECTION COMMITTEE ARE: Chairman, Ermanno Hamdon, Mrs. Marion Gill of Glascottshire, Thomas Laffite of Millgrove, Dr. Thomas Lay of Newport, Dr. Dornish of Higgansum, William Pointset of Torrington, Peter Mullens of Mystic, Merrill Thoresen, Jr. of Norwich, and Ms. Nida Roland of Middletown.

Exhibition

On Tuesday, October 6, at 7:00 p.m., there will be an informal meeting held in the Alumni Lounge for those students who would like information about Thursday’s presentation of student work. There will be an opening reception in the gallery on the following day at 7:00 p.m.

The exhibition, “Portrait of the Artist as a Young Woman,” will be available to students interested in French Majors.

Cooking

Tired of Saga? Try something different! Students are presently involved in organizing a cooking collective as an alternative to the cafeteria routine at least 1 night a week. Come to our next meeting to share your ideas and to decide upon a regular cooking time. We will be utilizing facilities up in the Women’s Center 3rd floor kitchen. So welcome all men and women.

October 1 — Thursday 4:00 p.m. at the Women’s Center, 3rd floor kitchen. If you can’t make it, but still have an interest, contact Karen Weiss, Box 875.

Scholarships

Lions Club of Hartford will award three $1000 scholarships per year to students from the Greater Hartford area. Applications will be approved in order of greatest financial need. Community involvement will be taken into consideration. Application will be given to first year students and to Fine Arts and Humanities students.

For Delicious Pizza and Hot Oven Grinders

Call when you leave — it will read your arrival.

Come in and Eat in Our NEWLY EXPANDED Dining Room

Phone 247-0234

287 New Britain Ave.

Hartford

Across from South Campus

Richard Straton, prop.
Grant Provides Funding For Faculty Research

by Patty Hooper

With the College having recently received an additional $500,000 Mellon Grant for faculty research, the Faculty Research Committee is "gearing up to do its work," according to Dean of the Faculty, Andrew De Rocco.

This Committee is responsible for receiving and reviewing proposals for faculty research projects. The grants, which are given annually, include four junior faculty grants, individual grants available to both junior and senior faculty members, and an annual sabbatical extension grant which extends a professor's leave from one term to a full year.

The sabbatical extension grant is the largest of the grants. This year, Eugene E. Beach, Associate Professor of History and the Director of the American Studies Program is using this grant to pursue a study of "Crowd and Community: Social Psychology 1890-1900."

According to Fedy Dworin, Assistant Professor of Dance and Chairman of the Committee, they have been working to "increase the visibility of the Committee" through such activities as the Faculty Research Lecture Series and last year's Greylock Conference. The Greylock Conference was a series of seminars held over a weekend last spring which explored in depth the methodology of writing proposals for federal grants.

Dworin explained that all the grants which faculty members receive through the College are generally used to extend research already in progress. The grants, the noted, are used to "spur" further research, and frequently lead to opportunities for the faculty to receive additional grants in the future from sources outside the College.

The faculty grants, awarded annually, are used for research from April 1 through December 31 of each year. It is stipulated that the eight weeks of full-time work, which usually fall during the summer months, be devoted to research, Dworin said.

The other members of the Faculty Research Committee include: Sharon Hersberger, Assistant Professor of Psychology, Associate Professor Mathematics David Robbins, Edwinuyo, Hallden Professor of Engineering, Kenneth Lloyd-Jones, Associate Professor of Modern Languages and Dean of the Faculty Andrew De Rocco. According to Dworin, the money available for the grants has decreased substantially. Three years ago, it was $800,000. Now, with the recent Mellon Grant included, the available funds have been reduced to $80,000. The $30,000 Mellon Grant is to be used specifically for junior faculty members who are beginning their scholarly research in the area of the humanities.

Dworin explained that "nothing definitive has been done yet" with regard to the Mellon money, but she hopes that by early November the Committee will be significantly involved in the evaluation process for these grants.

The other primary activity in which the Committee is engaged is the Faculty Research Lecture Series, which includes talks by six members of the faculty on topics which they have extensively researched. The faculty presenting lectures this year are History Professor Borden Painter, Economics Professor Robert Battis, Assistant Professor of Psychology, Nan L. Blackiston, Assistant Professor of Music Gerald Moskall, Nanos Channels, Associate Professor of Sociology, and Dean of the Faculty Andrew De Rocco.

On September 21, Painter presented his lecture entitled "Popular Preaching in Sixteenth Century Europe: Reform, Censorship and Propaganda." This lecture explored an answer to the question: "Should preaching encourage reform without forgoing rebellion?" Painter explained this primarily from the Italian Catholic point of view following the Council of Trent and from the Church of England perspective during the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

The next scheduled lecture is by Professor Battis on October 14 at 4 p.m. in the Faculty Club. His presentation is entitled: "Yugoslavia's System of Self-Management and the Experiment in Economic Organization."
SGA Candidates Explain Election Platforms

continued from page 1

ministerial decisions involving their professors. He said a grading system as part of the evaluation process means a professor should receive continuously poor grades, "something about which he should be concerned."

"By the same token," he adds, "should a professor do exceptionally well, we're with him forever."

Generally, Morris and Tolerico would like to see the lines of communication open between students, faculty and the trustees, as presently students are excluded from many of the committees that form academic policies. The platform specifically advocates the appointment of students to the Educational Policy and the Appropriations and Priorities committees.

Morris and Tolerico also say they are prepared to put the SGA to work in Morris's words, "to make it constitutionally impossible for SGA to do nothing."

Tom Hefferon

Running alone on his ticket, Tom Hefferon believes "now is the opportune time to put the SGA to work. SGA to do nothing."

On the subject of minority improvements, Hefferon intends to see that the administration follows up on all commitments to minority improvement that it has made. As for Awareness Days, Hefferon advocates making it a permanent option, "to open more communication lines."

Hefferon sees the present SGA system as lacking efficiency, moreover. He does not believe, however, that the solution lies in creating more committees, because, he says, "SGA people don't want committees." Hefferon explains that with a 65% turnover in the government body, "much of the groundwork must be done in the student input in this matter, they advocate open hearings, followed by a subsequent report to the administration.

Awareness Day, Freshman Orientation and minority recruitment are some of the means by which the candidates hope to improve the ideological attitudes at Trinity. They are committed to continuing the idea of awareness day, but to keep changing it so that it remains novel and spontaneous, thereby maintaining interest and involvement.

On the improvement of social life, Pace comments that the fraternity system "has more assets than drawbacks," and therefore, he intends to "work with or around it." What is needed, he feels, is greater coordination between the Planning Board, SGA and Student Councils to create more viable social alternatives.

The Pace/Ginzburgh team believes the most vital function of the SGA to be leadership of the student body, and it posts the slogan "let's make a difference at Trinity."

Alteration of the physical plant includes specifically the renovation of Mather Campus Center. As Pace and Ginzburgh would like to use student input in this matter, they advocate open hearings, followed by a subsequent report to the administration.

Pace/Ginzburgh divide their platform into three categories of changes they intend to make: Improvements must take place, they feel, in the physical plant, the ideological attitude and the social life at Trinity.

What is needed, he feels, is greater coordination between the Planning Board, SGA and Student Councils to create more viable social alternatives.

The Pace/Ginzburgh team believes the most vital function of the SGA to be leadership of the student body, and it posts the slogan "let's make a difference at Trinity."

Steve Snodgrass and Chris Sullivan stress the need for action at Trinity, as they feel "too long the Trinity community has crouched behind its Iron Curtain." Among their goals, they urge a greater participation by the student body in the Hartford community, as well as in school affairs.

The Snodgrass/Sullivan team posts a record of respective three and two years of service on SGA. Sitting on various Planning Board committees, Snodgrass was elected chairman of the lecture committee. A three year member of the Career Counseling committee, he has also served on a number of other committees, including the Buildings and Grounds committee and the Curriculum committee.

Chris Sullivan was Vice-President of SGA in 1981, as well as co-sponsor of the constitutional amendment creating campus-wide Presidential and Vice Presidential elections. Chairman of the SGA Constitution and Policies Committee.

Steve Snodgrass and Sullivan intend to facilitate greater interaction with the Hartford community by expanding the boundaries of the Security Escort Service, increasing safety and aiding the Big Brother/Sister program; and promoting internships to get people "out of the dusty classroom atmosphere."

As for the structure of the SGA, the candidates advocate a congressional type of committee system. However, they feel the structural changes are not nearly as important as proper leadership, which is vital to inspire workers to become active. They intend to work toward placing SGA representatives on the Educational Policy and Appointments and Promotions committees, the Board of Fellows and InterFraternity councils, as well as appointing a woman's organization representative to SGA.

Stressing the value of student awareness and involvement in school issues, the platform supports the institutionalization of bimannual Awareness Days and a Debating Society. They also plan to reallocate the money in the Student Activities Fund to help pay for the drastic decrease in financial aid benefits that lies ahead.

Tom Hefferon

The Matt Pace/Carolyn Ginsburgh ticket offers collectively four years of SGA experience. Pace has served five semesters and Ginsburgh three as representatives. In addition, Pace has served as Vice President of the Interfraternity Council, Treasurer of the Rugby Club, and on the SGA, he has been involved in three different committees, including the Steering Board. Outside of Trinity, Pace was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention and did a Congressional internship. Ginsburgh, too, has served on three different committees within the SGA and was a Resident Assistant for two years.

Pace and Ginsburgh divide their platform into three categories of changes they intend to make: Improvements must take place, they feel, in the physical plant, the ideological attitude and the social life at Trinity.

Alteration of the physical plant includes specifically the renovation of Mather Campus Center. As Pace and Ginsburgh would like to use student input in this matter, they advocate open hearings, followed by a subsequent report to the administration.

Pace/Ginzburgh divide their platform into three categories of changes they intend to make: Improvements must take place, they feel, in the physical plant, the ideological attitude and the social life at Trinity.

Alteration of the physical plant includes specifically the renovation of Mather Campus Center. As Pace and Ginsburgh would like to use student input in this matter, they advocate open hearings, followed by a subsequent report to the administration.

The Pace/Ginzburgh team believes the most vital function of the SGA to be leadership of the student body, and it posts the slogan "let's make a difference at Trinity."

Long after the other gents was wore out, that ole railroader Jeremiah Weed was still going strong. He liked dancin' almost as much as sippin' likker and sweet-talkin' us Hurdy Gurdy girls."

Jeremiah Weed is more than a legend. It's a tribute to a 100 proof maverick.

"Jeremiah had a powerful influence on my life. He taught me the finer points of drinkin' and dancin."

Sweet Jackie, Dance Hall Girl.
Anderson Attends Fundraiser, Blasts Reagan

by Nancy Funk

Former presidential candidate, John B. Anderson, mentioned experiencing "a great wave of emotion" last Thursday as he recalled the last time he was in Hartford. Speaking at a fundraiser for Independent Councilman Sidney Gardner at the Old State House in Hartford, Anderson related his feelings toward Gardner, Hartford, and the nation.

Sidney Gardner, like Anderson, is a Republican turned Independent. Gardner left the Republican Party when he found himself in disagreement with some of its positions, and is now running for re-election to the Hartford City Council as an Independent. Speaking of the respect he has for people like Councilman Gardner, Anderson explained his reason for giving Gardner his support, "I identify so strongly with the positions he has taken," Anderson remarked.

The former presidential candidate reminisced about the last time he was in Hartford, when Gardner was supporting him in his 1980 presidential campaign. Anderson did receive good results in Hartford, and in the state of Connecticut as a whole.

The Reagan administration was a key topic in Anderson's speech. Anderson made reference to a Doonesbury comic in which it is remarked that we need not worry about the condition of the poor because they are used to it anyway. He feels that the problem of social programs is that he has strong disagreement with some of its positions.

Gardner was supporting him in his 1980 presidential campaign. Anddr-son did receive good results in Hartford, and in the state of Connecticut as a whole.

The Reagan administration was a key topic in Anderson's speech. Anderson made reference to a Doonesbury comic in which it is remarked that we need not worry about the condition of the poor because they are used to it anyway. He feels that the problem of social programs is that he has strong disagreement with some of its positions.

However, claims that Alphonso wants the law suit ended to prevent the discovery of various illegal methods used by Alphonso to win the primary.

All four candidates, Mayor Alphonson, Rep. Miller, Martin Mayor Ludgin, and Johanna C. Murphy, plan to run again and feel that votes were counted in the new primary.

Dem. Mayoral Debate Sponsored by Courant

The Hartford Courant will be sponsoring a debate among the four candidates running for nomination in the new Democratic Mayoral Primary. The event will be held on October 6, at 7 p.m., in the Old Statehouse, located in downtown Hartford.

Three of the four candidates, Mayor Alphonson, Rep. Miller, and Johanna C. Murphy have agreed to participate. The fourth candidate, Deputy Mayor Ludgin, is considering participation, but first desires more information about the debate.

Anti-Klan Convention Releases Guide

Concerned with a resurgence of violent activity and a growing membership of the three major Ku Klux Klans, the Council of Interracial Organizations, and The Council on Interracial Cooperation have released a guide entitled "Violence, The Ku Klux Klan."

The guide was released in a CEA convention held Saturday at the Emanuel Lutheran Church at 311 Capitol Avenue.

The convention also heard from keynote speaker Julian Bond, a State Senator from Georgia, who recounted the history of the Klan and many incidents of violence. He denounced the growth of its membership in the last twenty years and the establishment of paramilitary camps in many states in the South in preparation for the possibility of what Klanmen call the new Civil War, a conflict between minorities and white supremacists. He commented the work of the Task Force and called for exposure of Klan activities and philosophy through both education and federal legislation curbing violence and terrorist activity.

Although the convention, attended by 250 educators, was conducted smoothly and was not marred internally by disruption, two KKK members were arrested outside the church building in an attempt to get into the meeting, which was not open to the public. One of the men was James Farrands of Shelton, leader of the Connecticut chapter of the Invisible Empire of the Ku Klux Klan. He will appear in a Hartford Superior Court in October.

A CBS-TV film on the Youth Corps was shown at the Convention. Current estimates show that its membership exceeds 10,000 in 22 states.

The convention also heard from keynote speaker Julian Bond, a State Senator from Georgia, who recounted the history of the Klan and many incidents of violence. He denounced the growth of its membership in the last twenty years and the establishment of paramilitary camps in many states in the South in preparation for the possibility of what Klanmen call the new Civil War, a conflict between minorities and white supremacists. He commented on the work of the Task Force and called for exposure of Klan activities and philosophy through both education and federal legislation curbing violence and terrorist activity.

Although the convention, attended by 250 educators, was conducted smoothly and was not marred internally by disruption, two KKK members were arrested outside the church building in an attempt to get into the meeting, which was not open to the public. One of the men was James Farrands of Shelton, leader of the Connecticut chapter of the Invisible Empire of the Ku Klux Klan. He will appear in a Hartford Superior Court in October.

The seventy-two page curriculum guide entitled "Violence, The Ku Klux Klan, and the Struggle for Equality" was made available at the end of the convention. This instruction kit, for use by teachers, is intended for use by grades seven through twelve. CEA officials announced that copies will be distributed to all Connecticut public libraries and to each of Connecticut's 163 school districts.
History in the Making

This week, three events of major importance will take place. Each in its own way will shape the history of this institution. And the success or failure of each will partially determine the future identity of the Trinity body as a whole.

The importance of the first of these occurrences was emphasized in last week’s editorial. This concerns the scheduling of the first in a series of open hearings on the future of fraternities, to be held on Friday at 7:30 p.m. in McCook Auditorium. Although students and faculty alike realize that the topic of fraternities is complex and disturbing, this meeting remains an important first step towards the transformation of the social scene at Trinity.

Secondly, history will be made on Saturday when our next classaki is initiated in the historic ceremony. An event of this nature happens only once in a blue moon, and is a unique opportunity for the evocation of school pride as well as a nostalgic look back at the grand history of our 156-year-old institution. It is an event that should be respected by all, and is not to be missed.

Finally, the Student Government Association will conduct its elections on Thursday and Friday. It is imperative that every student vote and take these elections seriously. While your vote may not, in itself, be critical to the outcome of an election, it is not the participation of each candidate that will govern the outcome of that election. A student who votes will be contributing to the best-looking candidate or for the one who will save you money on the purchase of your next sandwich. Don’t be discouraged, further- more, the right information concerning the schedul- ing of the elections, and of the candidates’ debate, set for tomorrow night. Believe it or not, the SGA can be an effect- ive tool for students to hold their elected leaders accountable, provided you the right candidate in the right position.

Thus, the Tripod urges all students of the Trinity Com- munity to openly voice their opinions, vote, and par- ticipate in a most historic week.

Dear Editor,

We would like to thank you for printing this letter which is in- tended to respond to the review of our bar, “The College View Cafe” by Ms. von Molle, appearing in the November 15 issue of the Tripod.

We accept Ms. von Molle’s comments, however reluctantly, that alcohol is a problem we do protest. what we consider, the unnecessary sale of “middle- aged, blue collar workers” — folks who, the last we checked, are still drinking our beer — is of the utmost race although, perhaps not as talented in the art of vinoception as Ms. von Molle seems to be if one were to judge her piece by her article. We are particularly incensed at the “put down” of “men working regularly in Mather Hall.” We didn’t realize being workers in Mather Hall or handicapped makes one sub-human.

We make and make no pretense to being “Trinity’s bar” — although it is the only one. Trinity-connected folks would give us their patronage.

We have been owners now for just over a month. We are both young and new at the business. We are working hard at trying to make a living and having a neighboring bar where the atmosphere is completely different from our own. These are the reasons for our features to appear in this issue of the Tripod and why we have decided to put them on this bulletin board across from the Bookstore. I produce posters to disseminate information concerning the scheduling of the elections, and of the candidates’ debate, set for tomorrow night. Believe it or not, the SGA can be an effective tool for students to hold their elected leaders accountable, provided you the right candidate in the right position.

Thus, the Tripod urges all students of the Trinity Com- munity to openly voice their opinions, vote, and par- ticipate in a most historic week.

Denise Atkinson is right! The fraternities now active on the Trinity campus are not the fraternities that existed in cogito. Partis and other so-called functions sponsored by our fraternities are specifically planned around the disguised attraction and subtle facilitation of the false sex (no insult intended Denise).

My observations here are not second hand; they’re no mistake. I’ve seen the clandestine workings of fraternities, and the black hats paint black and the futile fraternal distressful. But it was not until I could no longer feel the sweat of the branches of the forest” that I found the courage to speak out and tell you the truth. It’s time we take out to the troop ship and see just who is on board.

Fellow Students - Follow Her Blazing Path

To the Editor of Tripod:

Since school opened this Fall, I have been the victim of thoughtless fraternal pranks. First, as electric door, locker opener, etc. were taken from my bedroom. Then, a large scale and my deer disappeared only to return the following day from an oversight of the faculty. These are annoying events, but what prompts me to write is “The GreatPoster Caper”.

Atkinson and Beyond

Capeing efforts have been the victim of thoughtless pranksters. I was suddenly to be the next victim. And what about the brothers who supplied “The Crew” and the “Nazi” brothers? What will they do to the brothers who supplied “The Crew” and the “Nazi” brothers? What will they do to the

Fellow Students - Follow Her Blazing Path

To the Editor of Tripod:

Since school opened this Fall, I have been the victim of thoughtless fraternal pranks. First, as electric door, locker opener, etc. were taken from my bedroom. Then, a large scale and my deer disappeared only to return the following day from an oversight of the faculty. These are annoying events, but what prompts me to write is “The GreatPoster Caper”.

One of my duties as Internship Coordinator is to maintain the posters that are on display in the Student Bookstore. I produce posters regularly and place them on this board to disseminate information concerning the Internship Program for Freshmen and Sophomores. As soon as I put up a poster, someone takes it. This is also true for samples of the forms and the Internship Directory. I was naively enough to believe that one “looked” at a bulletin board; one did not help him/ herself to items posted on it. The alternative to making information available in a public place is to resort to the grapevine method or worse, to place the responsibility for determining the information upon the person who wants to know, thereby requiring a walk of 100 feet to my office.

But most inviting of all was the removal of two special posters announcing a guided bus tour of Greater Hartford for new students during orientation. These posters featured an attractive printed map of Hartford with the buildings drawn in and, we might add, purchased at my own expense, I expected to frame one of the maps after the tour to go in my office. The posters were displayed in Mathay by the Front Desk and were gone hours after they were put up. Result? Most new students never saw the anno-

I have a few suggestions: the first concerns the AQ (artistic quotient) of the Trinity community. Dr. Mahoney might want to enlist the services of an intern to determine the strange popularity of my art, I would be most interested in the findings, particularly the financial potential as I am on the verge of giving up my current position and carrying on a full-time poster-making. And secondly, a warming to those students who may be admiring my work in a "local gallery." You had better check your own possessions as you could become the next victim. And finally, to possible "thoughtless thieves" if it doesn’t belong to you, keep your hands off of it!

Best regards,
Betty Anne Cox, Internship Coordinator

Bantam Baby of the Week

September freshness mentioned in Mrs. Atkinson’s article and apply an outlook to continue to improve the quality of life at Trinity.

Sincerely,
Marybeth Callan ’83

Fellow Students - Follow Her Blazing Path

The big secret, though, is how the fraternity halls cleverly provide beer and alcoholic beverages at their parties, just for social drinking as they say. But let’s look at a more serious situation. Alcohol helps one to overcome personal inhibitions and become less... But, as with most things, there are rules. Listed in the 1958 Farmer’s Guide is a mild aphrodisiac. The implied sequence of events is

We have been owners now for just over a month. We are both young and new at the business. We are working hard at trying to make a living and having a neighboring bar where the atmosphere is completely different from our own. These are the reasons for our features to appear in this issue of the Tripod and why we have decided to put them on this bulletin board across from the Bookstore. I produce posters to disseminate information concerning the scheduling of the elections, and of the candidates’ debate, set for tomorrow night. Believe it or not, the SGA can be an effective tool for students to hold their elected leaders accountable, provided you the right candidate in the right position.

Thus, the Tripod urges all students of the Trinity Com- munity to openly voice their opinions, vote, and par- ticipate in a most historic week.

Dear Editor,

We would like to thank you for printing this letter which is in- tended to respond to the review of our bar, “The College View Cafe” by Ms. von Molle, appearing in the November 15 issue of the Tripod.

We accept Ms. von Molle’s comments, however reluctantly, that alcohol is a problem we do protest. what we consider, the unnecessary sale of “middle- aged, blue collar workers” — folks who, the last we checked, are still drinking our beer — is of the utmost race although, perhaps not as talented in the art of vinoception as Ms. von Molle seems to be if one were to judge her piece by her article. We are particularly incensed at the “put down” of “men working regularly in Mather Hall.” We didn’t realize being workers in Mather Hall or handicapped makes one sub-human.

We make and make no pretense to being “Trinity’s bar” — although it is the only one. Trinity-connected folks would give us their patronage.

We have been owners now for just over a month. We are both young and new at the business. We are working hard at trying to make a living and having a neighboring bar where the atmosphere is completely different from our own. These are the reasons for our features to appear in this issue of the Tripod and why we have decided to put them on this bulletin board across from the Bookstore. I produce posters to disseminate information concerning the scheduling of the elections, and of the candidates’ debate, set for tomorrow night. Believe it or not, the SGA can be an effective tool for students to hold their elected leaders accountable, provided you the right candidate in the right position.

Thus, the Tripod urges all students of the Trinity Com- munity to openly voice their opinions, vote, and par- ticipate in a most historic week.
Letters and Commentary

Heffernan: "My ideas are my strongest asset"

To the student body,

The elections for SGA President and Vice-President are to be held on Thursday and Friday. I would appreciate the support of all Trinity students in my run for the position of SGA President. I am "not running" with anyone because that is not necessary — I urge you to vote for any one of the vice-presidential candidates whom you feel will do the best job.

I feel I deserve this support for three main reasons — I have unattached and useful experience.

Dear Students:
The election campaign is finally drawing to a close. By now we should all have our ballots in our hand to distribute our pamphlets and to discuss any issues of interest to you that you would like the Student Government to tackle this semester. We hope you have had a chance to look over our pamphlet. If you have any questions, please pick one up before making your decision to vote. In the pamphlet, you’ll find our statement of purpose, our goals that we will work to achieve, and our promises of involvement in the school community. Between us we have brought many changes such as the present campus-wide election of the SGA for three years. Freshman and Junior year as a class representative and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA.

We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA.

Again, please look at our detailed pamphlet. When we say "Vote for the two highly visible, accessible, and effective student body" we mean it. We urge you to vote for Temple and Sulllivan.

Thanks,
Lynne Snodgrass and Chris Sullivan

Pace-Ginsburg: We will lead

To the Editor:

We are writing to alert the student body as to the goals and purposes of our candidacy for President and Vice-President of the SGA. We believe our goals are clear. We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.

We are running for office only because we feel that we are the two who work closest to ensure the long needed leadership to guarantee a strong, visible, effective representation of the student voice at SGA. We hope you have had a chance to talk with us. We are concerned about the physical character of the college and placing student input on tenure decisions, increasing the perimeter rate, and the on-campus service. We have obtained a greater diversity of students for President and V.P. and created services such as the annual Book Exchange in January.
Dear Editor:

Whose man is Reggie E. Kennedy? I read his analysis of the incoming freshman to the position of Junior Class Representative to the SGA. It is for these reasons that I heartily endorse Tom Hefferon, and urge you to vote for him as the next President of the SGA. Remember to vote; don’t take this election lightly. After all, what you vote for is what we get.

Respectfully yours,
Daniel Cave

1990-91 O.C. Class Representative
1991-92 SGA O.C. Class Representative

For the first time, I am throwing my weight publicly on the side of an S.G.A. presidential platform. I have maintained a discreet silence in the past because I have never been overwhelmingly impressed by any platform.

This year, however, the trend has changed, and I felt it both a moral and social obligation to publicly endorse the Matt Pace-Carlynn Gillis Platform. Having been actively involved in student politics for the last two years (now retired), I have had a close interaction with, if not all of the potential candidates. I am therefore in a position to assert with positive certainty which of this year’s presidential platforms is the most promising.

Both candidates have the necessary experience. Matt Pace for example was elected as the freshman representative to SGA, a term rep, again a rep. He served actively on the Constitution, the Election, and the Executive committees of the SGA, and as the Vice President of the IFC.

Carolyn Gillis was dorn rep for two years and has been an RA for two years. She has served and continues to serve on the Curriculum committee, Academic Dishonesty committee, the Financial Affairs committee and the Executive committee of the SGA.

To me these experiences are not the best part of these candidates. Leadership, sometimes, has very little to do with background experience. What is important is the qualification, that is, the human relation of the individuals, their sociability, their approachability, and their ability to diagnose situations and apply adequate remedies, those are the qualities that the personalities of Matt and Carolyn reflect. As Matt put it... "the essence of leadership realization what is possible..."

I have noticed this year that some of the candidates have expressed their satisfaction about the Awareness Day, and plan to institutionalize it so that we can have it once or twice in a year. To Matt and Carolyn this is not enough; what is important is to initiate measures which will insure that the traditions of the Awareness Day become an everyday issue and not a yearly affair.

I strongly endorse their platform. They are two very qualified candidates who will make a difference at Trinity. The voices that speak through them are human in the finest sense, and I know their positive visions will be animated through their leadership.

They Will Make A Difference

Farnham for ’83 Class Rep

To the Members of the Class of 1983:

I would like to request your support for the following nominations which the Student Government Association will hold on October 1 and 2, I am running for the position of Junior Class Representative to the SGA. As your Sophomore class representative last year, I exhibited a continual devotion to the activity of the SGA. I served actively on several committees, among them the Constitutions, Procedures, Health, Admissions and Election (first semester’s At-Large election for President and Vice-President) Committees. I also co-ordinated the Course Evaluations Booklet during the fall semester, and I worked with three other members of the SGA to write and publish the Student Rights and Services Handbook during the second semester. Finally, I was a discussion leader at Trinity’s first Awareness Day. I think that these activities say more for me than any promises can. I hope that you will vote for me, Wendy Farnham, for Junior Class Representative. I would really like to serve you again in the SGA.

I am also running for the Class Executive Committee. This is a new committee, independent of the SGA, which is made up of four elected representatives from our class. The committee will generate class spirit by organizing different activities that should be fun. I envision it as adding a new and much-needed dimension to the social life here at Trinity. For it to work, though, you must elect four people who are willing to devote a lot of time, energy, and imagination to the committee. These people must commit themselves to the responsibilities involved in planning and executing activities. Furthermore, they must generate enthusiasm from other members of the class.

I am optimistic about this committee; I voted for it in a SGA meeting last spring. Please let me help make it work in action, and vote for me — WENDY FARNHAM. Thank you.

Sincerely yours,
James M. Streitzo, M.D.
Class of 1996

Don’t Take Election Lightly

To the Trinity Student Body:

Thursday and Friday you will be electing a president and vice president of the Student Government Association to serve us for the coming year. This is not a decision to be taken lightly. The SGA has developed into an organization which is relied upon more and more by the administration regarding policy decisions. Last year the SGA was instrumental in the development of Awareness Day. It is the medium through which change can and has occurred.

There are several names from which we have to choose. Some are for split ticket—voted for tickets, or vote for someone running alone. Almost everyone running for the top positions is energetic, and experienced enough to do an adequate job. However, as a past and current member of the SGA, I feel from experience that one person stands above the rest. His name is Tom Hefferon. Tom combines uncanny administrative and leadership abilities, initiative, determination, and perhaps most importantly, the ability to work both with students and administrators to make things happen for us. Tom has consistently shown his desire and willingness to make Trinity a better place for students.

I have this strange feeling that nobody takes these elections seriously anymore. If you vote for Ted Hartsoe, there is no point in Trenton. For it to work, though, you must elect four people who are willing to devote a lot of time, energy, and imagination to the committee. These people must commit themselves to the responsibilities involved in planning and executing activities. Furthermore, they must generate enthusiasm from other members of the class.

I am optimistic about this committee; I voted for it in a SGA meeting last spring. Please let me help make it work in action, and vote for me — WENDY FARNHAM. Thank you.

Sincerely yours,
James M. Streitzo, M.D.
Class of 1996

The Glue That Bonds the SGA

To the editor,

I would like to urge everyone on campus to vote for Ted Hartsoe for SGA representative in the SGA elections being held Thursday and Friday.

I have worked hard to help...
by Karen Webber

"For Colored Girls who have Considered Suicide when the Rainbow’s Presence was too Much," the play explores and achieves the black woman’s search for acceptance, wholeness and love. The play, which is a collection of voices, describes to the audience the specific experiences which the black woman must endure. Each piece suggests that the anger and pain which they feel stem from an integrated, male dominated society—a society of insensitivity and oppression.

The language is simple; and, the stark and powerful poetry is enhanced by the movement of the performers. The movement was at times unpredictable, as in the opening rendition of "Bessie’s Braid." And yet, these moments of joy, innocence and child’s play are juxtaposed with moments of suffering as in both the Harlem monologue and the abortion sequence. Each fragment of the play, from her opening monologue, where she terminated her affair, to her imaginary lover "Toussaint L’Ouverture," whom she discovered in a book, in the forbidden adult reading room. The suggested undertones of the story are quite intense, in the unhappy frustrations of a youth searching for something unknown.

The Lady in Red, played by Brenda Denmark, gave a stunning and consistent performance throughout the scenes. Her performance, in a way, touched both the characters who supported her and the audience. In her performance, the universal message of this piece also contributed to its intensity.

"Townsend Jones" is a clever well structured monologue that deserves mention. Delivered by Francie Norris, the Lady in Brown, this speech was energetic, and tireless. Ms. Greene might have been a bit too wide eyed and naive for the eight year old, whom she portrayed. This eight year old girl runs away from her "integrated home, integrated school and integrated street" to go to Haiti with her imaginary lover "Townsend L’Ouvrier," whom she discovered in a book, in the forbidden adult reading room. The suggested undertones of the story are quite intense, in the unhappy frustrations of a youth searching for something unknown.

The Lady in Red, played by Brenda Denmark, gave a stunning and consistent performance throughout the scenes. Her performance, in a way, touched both the characters who supported her and the audience. In her performance, the universal message of this piece also contributed to its intensity.

"Townsend Jones" is a clever well structured monologue that deserves mention. Delivered by Francie Norris, the Lady in Brown, this speech was energetic, and tireless. Ms. Greene might have been a bit too wide eyed and naive for the eight year old, whom she portrayed. This eight year old girl runs away from her "integrated home, integrated school and integrated street" to go to Haiti with her imaginary lover "Townsend L’Ouvrier," whom she discovered in a book, in the forbidden adult reading room. The suggested undertones of the story are quite intense, in the unhappy frustrations of a youth searching for something unknown.

The Lady in Red, played by Brenda Denmark, gave a stunning and consistent performance throughout the scenes. Her performance, in a way, touched both the characters who supported her and the audience. In her performance, the universal message of this piece also contributed to its intensity.

"Townsend Jones" is a clever well structured monologue that deserves mention. Delivered by Francie Norris, the Lady in Brown, this speech was energetic, and tireless. Ms. Greene might have been a bit too wide eyed and naive for the eight year old, whom she portrayed. This eight year old girl runs away from her "integrated home, integrated school and integrated street" to go to Haiti with her imaginary lover "Townsend L’Ouvrier," whom she discovered in a book, in the forbidden adult reading room. The suggested undertones of the story are quite intense, in the unhappy frustrations of a youth searching for something unknown.

The Lady in Red, played by Brenda Denmark, gave a stunning and consistent performance throughout the scenes. Her performance, in a way, touched both the characters who supported her and the audience. In her performance, the universal message of this piece also contributed to its intensity.

"Townsend Jones" is a clever well structured monologue that deserves mention. Delivered by Francie Norris, the Lady in Brown, this speech was energetic, and tireless. Ms. Greene might have been a bit too wide eyed and naive for the eight year old, whom she portrayed. This eight year old girl runs away from her "integrated home, integrated school and integrated street" to go to Haiti with her imaginary lover "Townsend L’Ouvrier," whom she discovered in a book, in the forbidden adult reading room. The suggested undertones of the story are quite intense, in the unhappy frustrations of a youth searching for something unknown.

The Lady in Red, played by Brenda Denmark, gave a stunning and consistent performance throughout the scenes. Her performance, in a way, touched both the characters who supported her and the audience. In her performance, the universal message of this piece also contributed to its intensity.

"Townsend Jones" is a clever well structured monologue that deserves mention. Delivered by Francie Norris, the Lady in Brown, this speech was energetic, and tireless. Ms. Greene might have been a bit too wide eyed and naive for the eight year old, whom she portrayed. This eight year old girl runs away from her "integrated home, integrated school and integrated street" to go to Haiti with her imaginary lover "Townsend L’Ouvrier," whom she discovered in a book, in the forbidden adult reading room. The suggested undertones of the story are quite intense, in the unhappy frustrations of a youth searching for something unknown.

The Lady in Red, played by Brenda Denmark, gave a stunning and consistent performance throughout the scenes. Her performance, in a way, touched both the characters who supported her and the audience. In her performance, the universal message of this piece also contributed to its intensity.
Arts

Witness the Wild and Woolly

by Jennifer Wolfe

The Trinity Organ Series begins its new season with a performance by English concert organist Gillian Weir, on October 3, at 3:00 p.m. in the Trinity Chapel. Gillian Weir is the most widely travelled of the prominent organists having soloed with major orchestras and recorded for Argo and Delos. A native of Canada, Miss Weir was honored as “International Performer of the Year” by the American Guild of Organists in New York City.

In early 1981 she was awarded first prize by the International Competition at St. Albans, England. Her program at Trinity College will include works by Bach and Mendelssohn.

Jesters

Try Acting! Try Directing!

The Jesters invite you to an informal Reader’s Theatre at 4:15 p.m., in the Chapel, on Tuesday, October 29, and continuing each Tuesday through the end of October. In this experimental interactive situation, the Jesters invite you to an informal Reader’s Theatre at 4:15 p.m...

More Sports

Ducks Edged Out By Iona, Then Thrash RPI

by Mike Merin and Lincoln Collins

The Trinity Ducks opened up their season with a close loss to Iona College. Captain-coached by the Trinity gnomical and wopolo nerd Rob Calgi, with a final score of 6-8. The Five-Man Tourney, won by Williams, was not a complete fiasco; Trinity finished strongly enough on Saturday, beating the RPI Engineers 14-0. However, the highlights of this weekend was the Ducklings - the freshman team. In their games against UMass, RPI, a close 9-8 heartbreaker, they showed some of their down and played well overall.

The Ducks offense clicked several times against Iona with Captains Merin and Pike turning up to chile Pike's quick drives into goals. Chips up the side of a moving among men, the Ducks won all four swim-offs. Even with this result, the Ducks showed that they are still tunefully, into the rather limp game plan of Iona and didn't capitalize on their swimming ability.

The Ducks rallied after dropping two goals in the first period and turned up the heat on Iona in the second and third periods, scoring four unanswered goals to grab the win.

Bantams Lose Opener

continued from page 11

Running attack was held at bay by Captain Bill Schaeffer and crew surrendering only 70 yards on the ground. Meanwhile, Trinity totaled 251 yards in Tom Davis' club rushed for 141 yards and passed for 116 more. Hidden on the backfield, as the brains of the passing senior earned 141 yards in the passing game, were Kruger, Holder's counterpart and last season's leading rusher with 804 yards, tooled up as he led the Jumbo running game with 64 yards on 13 carries.

This Saturday Trinity travels to Clifton, New Jersey as the Bantams take on Hamilton College, a 28-19 inner last year. The Continentals are guided by Head Coach Ted Stratford, and are seeking to reverse last season's 2-6 season, Hamilton owns an 8-6 advantage over the Bantans, but has dropped the last three encounters in a series dating back to 1897.

In games of interest last Saturday, Westryton topped Colby 31-2, Bates edged Amherst 14-7, Bowdoin cruised Colby 30-11, Williams beat Middlebury 24-7, Wesleyan bested Castleton State 14-0. In the Bowdoin-Dartmouth battle junior John Theberge showed that he can be counted on as the Polar Bear Quarterback rushed for three touchdowns. The Continentals were paced by Paster and Pete Morgen who each tallied touchdown runs. The Hamilton aerial attack appears suspect as the remaining Hearts came up with four interceptors.

On Friday, October 16, Hans Reykel will take his jazz guitar to the Protean Theatre. A current candidate for mayor of Hartford, he will perform on October 20 and 24. A man whose slogan is "put a real clown in office," he has been called out of which are "officially" outrageous! Finally, for a night of highly skilled, incredibly energetic rock and roll, Glen Phillips will come to 78 Pratt Street on November 6 at 8:00 p.m.

The combination of these events should be a unique and worthwhile experience for those who decide to attend.

Organ Series

The Trinity Organ Series begins its new season with a performance by English concert organist Gillian Weir, on October 3, at 3:00 p.m. in the Trinity Chapel.

Miss Weir is the most widely travelled of the prominent organists having soloed with major orchestras and recorded for Argo and Delos. A native of Canada, Miss Weir was honored as “International Performer of the Year” by the American Guild of Organists in New York City.

In early 1981 she was awarded first prize by the International Competition at St. Albans, England. Her program at Trinity College will include works by Bach and Mendelssohn.

Booters “The Guillotine”

Brinton also practiced taking kicks from the line. Brinton and Conkling mustered 8-0. They obliterated RPI 14-0 and the shut-out was well deserved for both goalies, Collins and D.K. Choy. The offense, led by Mike Merin’s four goals, sunk any chance of an RPI victory.

Last but certainly not least, the inspired play of the Ducks defense was commendable. Lulu Cast had a rude awakening to some of the classic aspects of the game. Nevertheless, her defense was strong and she rebounded on offense to miss a goal by a matter of inches. Betsey Coggswell and Toby Arowood rounded out the women’s unit...
Tufts Gained Revenged Cover

by Robert Falk

The 1981 Trinity-Tufts game meant more to the Jumbos than ever before. The game, held at the New England Championship venue, was a highly anticipated match that would decide the fate of the Trinity defense.

The Bantams entered the game with a 3-1 record, while the Jumbos had a 1-3-1 mark. The Trinity defense had allowed only 12 points in its three previous games, but the Jumbos were looking for a chance to break through.

The game started well for the Bantams, as they never surrendered in the first half. However, in the third quarter, Trinity gained the lead, and Tufts couldn't catch up. The final score was 17-14, with Tufts taking the lead in the fourth quarter.

Chadwick launched the game with a 33-yard field goal, followed by a touchdown on the next drive. However, the Bantams responded with a 95-yard touchdown drive, which was capped by a 3-yard touchdown.

Trinity played well in the second half, with a touchdown in the third quarter and another in the fourth. The final touchdown was scored by Kirk Cammeron, who ran for a 7-yard touchdown.

By the end of the game, the Bantams were down 17-14, and the Jumbos had gained revenged. The win was a huge accomplishment for the Trinity defense, who had been struggling in recent games.

Tufts Gained Revenged Cover

by Stephen Gallman

For the first time in many years, the BC women's tennis team struggled against their East Coast rivals.

The Boston College women's tennis team suffered a difficult weekend against two of their toughest opponents. On Saturday, they lost to Northeastern University, 6-1, and on Sunday, they lost to Harvard, 4-3.

The team's performance was uncharacteristically low, with the BC team losing to both opponents. The loss against Northeastern was particularly significant, as it marked the first time in many years that BC had lost to the6Northeastern Huskies.

Despite the losses, the BC team showed great resilience and continued to work hard throughout the weekend. The team's performance was a stark contrast to their previous seasons, where they had consistently won against their East Coast rivals.

The weekend losses were a wake-up call for the BC team, and they will need to work hard to bounce back in the upcoming matches.

The Boston College women's tennis team had a difficult weekend against Northeastern University and Harvard. Despite the losses, the team showed great resilience and continued to work hard throughout the weekend. The BC team's performance was a stark contrast to their previous seasons, where they had consistently won against their East Coast rivals.

The losses were a wake-up call for the BC team, and they will need to work hard to bounce back in the upcoming matches.

Tufts Gained Revenged Cover

by Jeffrey Barroche

The men's soccer team began its season this week with very unsuccessful results. On Tuesday, the Booters lost 0-1 to Central Connecticut College while Saturday's outcome was a 2-1 defeat at the hands of MIT.

Trinity's problem in both games was an inability to score even though they controlled the tempo of most of each contest.

The Central Conn. game was an unhappy way to start the season. The actual play was even the entire game. Though Trinity was able to put the ball in the set without much difficulty, it was not able to cross the net with any effectiveness. Some good chances but the connection never came. At the other end of the field, goalie John Simmons played well, but three shots were lashed at him and he made several very fine saves.

Overall, Trinity played a very good first game. The Booters have exceptional skills. More than a few exceptional combinations were deployed on the field. Coach Tom Arbolito, a Trinity alumnus, won the women's 110 meter hurdles event in last week's meet. The women's team lost all three meets, but the Booters were the ones left with the losses. The Booters were unable to score and the Booters were unable to score.

As the second half progressed, Trinity's play digressed continuously. The aggressiveness that characterized the first half was not exhibited in the second half. The Booters were unable to score and the Booters were unable to score.

A shot was fired towards the goal of the center of the field. Fullback Mike Hurwitz, in very alert fashion, caught the ball, saving a decisive goal for the Booters. This was in the hopes that either Simmons could stop the shot or the Booters would keep it. The Booters, however, occurred and the score remained 2-1, which is how it ended.

Coach Shults employed a new strategy for the NIT game. He fielded two all-new teams, which alternated 12 minute shifts, one consisting of underclassmen and the other of seniors. Although the Booters were a freshman, who scored, the plan was to rely on him and it was expected to be used again. The purpose was to run MIT into the ground but the Booters' speed could not be matched, so their effectiveness was ruined.

John Simmons must once again be pointed out for fine play. Other students who played well were junior captain Peter Miller at striker and senior Greg Brown at fullback.

Both games were discouraging for the Booters. But it is in an attempt to be gangbuster but to be fair to the team, the Booters showed well. Their play is now at an even point than it has been in the last three years. This is not a three and nine team. A winning season could actually be attained if the Booters start scoring. All the other aspects of the team are solid to excellent.

Quarterback Peter Martin (#17) being tackled by a Jumbos player before he was able to punch the ball to the ground on September 29, 1981.

Photo by A. Ashley

Men's Soccer Team Loses to Kick

by Jeffrey Barroche

The men's soccer team began its season this week with very unsuccessful results. On Tuesday, the Booters lost 0-1 to Central Connecticut College while Saturday's outcome was a 2-1 defeat at the hands of MIT.

Trinity's problem in both games was an inability to score even though they controlled the tempo of most of each contest.

The Central Conn. game was an unhappy way to start the season. The actual play was even the entire game. Though Trinity was able to put the ball in the set without much difficulty, it was not able to cross the net with any effectiveness. Some good chances but the connection never came. At the other end of the field, goalie John Simmons played well, but three shots were lashed at him and he made several very fine saves.

Overall, Trinity played a very good first game. The Booters have exceptional skills. More than a few exceptional combinations were deployed on the field. Coach Tom Arbolito, a Trinity alumnus, won the women's 110 meter hurdles event in last week's meet. The women's team lost all three meets, but the Booters were the ones left with the losses. The Booters were unable to score and the Booters were unable to score.

As the second half progressed, Trinity's play digressed continuously. The aggressiveness that characterized the first half was not exhibited in the second half. The Booters were unable to score and the Booters were unable to score.

A shot was fired towards the goal of the center of the field. Fullback Mike Hurwitz, in very alert fashion, caught the ball, saving a decisive goal for the Booters. This was in the hopes that either Simmons could stop the shot or the Booters would keep it. The Booters, however, occurred and the score remained 2-1, which is how it ended.

Coach Shults employed a new strategy for the NIT game. He fielded two all-new teams, which alternated 12 minute shifts, one consisting of underclassmen and the other of seniors. Although the Booters were a freshman, who scored, the plan was to rely on him and it was expected to be used again. The purpose was to run MIT into the ground but the Booters' speed could not be matched, so their effectiveness was ruined.

John Simmons must once again be pointed out for fine play. Other students who played well were junior captain Peter Miller at striker and senior Greg Brown at fullback.

Both games were discouraging for the Booters. But it is in an attempt to be gangbuster but to be fair to the team, the Booters showed well. Their play is now at an even point than it has been in the last three years. This is not a three and nine team. A winning season could actually be attained if the Booters start scoring. All the other aspects of the team are solid to excellent.

Quarterback Peter Martin (#17) being tackled by a Jumbos player before he was able to punch the ball to the ground on September 29, 1981.

Photo by A. Ashley

Tufts Gained Revenged Cover

by Howard Sadlasky

The Harriers had a perfect day on Saturday as they qualified with ease for the first time of victories. The clear weather and light winds that day were perfect for the Harriers' immense desire to win, and they did not disappoint.

The Harriers scored early and often, winning both games against Eastern Connecticut State University College and Connecticut College. The women's squad won handily against Albertus Magnus, the men have raised their record to 5-1 while the women have begun with an undefeated record of 3-0.

Both races were exciting and filled with suspense. Dave Libert of the men's team started the race 10 seconds behind the leader's Teflon covered plastic bags full of sweat. The men's race with a phenomenal tune just after as freshman Bill Holden paced the drive which resulted in a 31 yard touchdown.

The women's race was a close match, with the Harriers taking the lead early on. The Harriers dominated the second half, scoring a 31 yard touchdown to put them in front. The Harriers ended the game with a 17-0 victory, as they were able to put the balls in the net while the Tigers were unable to put up a fight.

The victory was an important one for the Harriers, as they have been swept in scrimmages and games, and the team's depth and poise were evident. The Harriers' team depth and poise were evident as they were able to put the balls in the net while the Tigers were unable to put up a fight.

The victory was an important one for the Harriers, as they have been swept in scrimmages and games, and the team's depth and poise were evident. The Harriers' team depth and poise were evident as they were able to put the balls in the net while the Tigers were unable to put up a fight.

The victory was an important one for the Harriers, as they have been swept in scrimmages and games, and the team's depth and poise were evident. The Harriers' team depth and poise were evident as they were able to put the balls in the net while the Tigers were unable to put up a fight.

The victory was an important one for the Harriers, as they have been swept in scrimmages and games, and the team's depth and poise were evident. The Harriers' team depth and poise were evident as they were able to put the balls in the net while the Tigers were unable to put up a fight.
Field Hockey Loses to Foreigners; Defeats Natives

by Anne Louise Kerr

Joggers, jeans, hamburgers, men from outer-space, and competitiveness seem to be a set of unrelated terms. In this case however they are all related in that they have something to do with the reactions and impressions of America that 14 field hockey players from Durham, England will bring home after their tour of the eastern United States is finished.

Although the coach had been over before, it was the first time for all of the girls. On the field hockey side of the trip Durham has been successful despite disadvantages. The squad was chosen on the basis of their consistency, but thought "though they are all related in that they are women, and marveled Sheppard with her fiftieth career point lead, but towards the end of the first half Durham pounced on their penalty corners resulting in three quick goals. When the half time whistle blew Trinity was ahead 3-1.

During the half time huddle Sheppard was specific about players' responsibilities, but she was confident the team could pull it off; that confidence became contagious and the Trinity defense defended Durham out of the goal the rest of the game. Within the last 10 minutes of the game boy's appeared when Laura Gill blasted the ball off the line, but it was too late. Although the game counted on the record and gives the team a record of 0-4, the coach, Robin, feels confident about her team's future and of continued success.

Trinity scored its fifth and final goal on a rebound off the goalie's pads flicking it across the goal line for Trinity's third goal. The strength of the Bantam defense, Lisa Nolan, Amy Waugh, Parsons Withbeck, and Judy Peterson, held the ball on Central's half and halted the attacks into the circle. The last goal of the first half was a result of their recurrent "cage front suffocates," but Susie Cutler finally managed to slip the ball right past the goalie. An assist was given to right wing Kai Castle.

The second half started slowly, but picked up towards the end after

Trinity won 4-0, and Sheppard with her fiftieth career point lead, but towards the end of the first half Durham pounced on their penalty corners resulting in three quick goals. When the half time whistle blew Trinity was ahead 3-1.

During the half time huddle Sheppard was specific about players' responsibilities, but she was confident the team could pull it off; that confidence became contagious and the Trinity defense defended Durham out of the goal the rest of the game. Within the last 10 minutes of the game boy's appeared when Laura Gill blasted the ball off the line, but it was too late. Although the game counted on the record and gives the team a record of 0-4, the coach, Robin, feels confident about her team's future and of continued success.

Trinity scored its fifth and final goal on a rebound off the goalie's pads flicking it across the goal line for Trinity's third goal. The strength of the Bantam defense, Lisa Nolan, Amy Waugh, Parsons Withbeck, and Judy Peterson, held the ball on Central's half and halted the attacks into the circle. The last goal of the first half was a result of their recurrent "cage front suffocates," but Susie Cutler finally managed to slip the ball right past the goalie. An assist was given to right wing Kai Castle.

The second half started slowly, but picked up towards the end after
Editor's note: In the Sept. 29 issue of the Tripod, a front-page article examining the candidates for SGA President and Vice President in this week's election overlooked one candidate for Vice President: Tina Tricarichi. In the best interests of comprehensive and unbiased journalism, we provide Tina with equal coverage in this handout. The following is not intended as an endorsement of any kind.

* * * * * * *

Tina Tricarichi's campaign slogan embodies a combination of experience, ideas, and qualification. "I can be more truly representative of the Trinity student body as a whole" than the other candidates for Vice President, she states. Tricarichi justifies this assertion with her past record of involvement in the SGA. As a freshman, she was a class representative and a member of the Steering Board, as well as a member of the SGPB, "helping to plan the social and cultural activities this board provides," she states. During her sophomore year, Tricarichi was a dorm representative, a member of the Budget committee, and a participant in the ad hoc committees of Housing Advisory, and Relations with the TCB. In addition, she was a member of the joint Faculty-Administration-Student committee on Admissions and Financial Aid.

At present, Tricarichi is a dorm representative and "would like to play a more significant role in student government" by running for Vice President. She does not cite as her major concern, if elected, to be providing an answer to student apathy. This, she feels, "will always be alive to one degree or another." Rather, her overall desire is "to retain and increase the SGA's influence on and participation in the major decisions being made at Trinity College." Tricarichi has seen the power of the SGA grow in recent years, and would not only like to increase this ascendancy in decision-making but provide, as she puts it, "more control we as students have over our lives and the betterment of student lives at Trinity."

Her other goals include to strive to eradicate racism and sexism on campus; to investigate the possibility of creating more all-night study areas; and to increase the role of women in decisions on student life. "Enthusiastic and spirited," Tricarichi has high hopes for the SGA if she is elected Vice President. "The SGA can be most effective and powerful if it continues to move in the direction it has been, playing a larger role in decisions made at Trinity College. This is what I would strive for as Vice President," she states.

Tricarichi is the only candidate for Vice President that is not running on a ticket with a presidential candidate. She feels she can work well with whoever is chosen President, and believes "it is best to open up as many avenues and combinations as possible when choosing leaders for a governing body."