PRESIDENT OGLIBY ON FRATERNITIES.

President Ogilby's attitude toward fraternities is "quibulous" but "not antagomistic" according to statements made in a meeting with the Interfraternity Council last Thursday. The meeting was called for the discussion of the mid-year scholastic standing in the fraternity ranks and the proportion of fraternity men in the class was the same as the proportion of fraternity men in the student body.

FLAMES GIVE SISTIFF BATTLE.

Estimated Damage of $500 Done. Students Turn Out and Move Furniture in Union.

The fire of undetermined origin, starting between the ceiling of the college union and the floor of the Library east, was brought under control by the Hartford Fire Department a stiff battle for over an hour Sunday night. No appraisal of the damage has been made yet, but it is estimated to be between $500 and $600.

The fire seems to have started near one of the radiators on the west side of the room, and this caused an elevation of the temperature of the overheated pipe. Investigation showed, however, that there was no one in the room. The fire was also eliminated as a cause of the fire, there being no wires near where the fire started. All the lights in college worked perfectly during the fire.

Second Fire in Week.

The fire Sunday night was the second in the south end of Alumni Hall within a week. Last Thursday afternoon one of the janitors found smoke coming from Dr. McCook's office on the lower floor. Lest Dunlap was selected for the role of Lord Dunlop in the play. The selection of this best of the modern Irish drama, "The Rising of the Moon", was made by a committee consisting of Stuart D'Andrea and G. Scott Whiting.

The selections offered some examples of the best in the modern Irish drama, with "The Rising of the Moon", "The Adventurer" by J. M. Synge, and "In the Shadow of the Glen", by J. M. Synge. The plays to be presented are "Riders to the Sea", and "In the Shadow of the Glen", by J. M. Synge; "The Rising of the Moon", by Lady Gregory; and "A Night at an Inn" by W. B. Yeats. The former two are one-act plays, and the performance of the latter to be on March 30th, has been recommended.

The Interfraternity council, held an informal reception and dance in Alumni Hall at which were present a number of the fraternity men. The undergraduates and their guests were received by the professors and at the door, Mrs. Anson St. John, Mrs. Gustavus A. Kleene, Mrs. Frank Cole Robinson, Mrs. LeRoy Curr Barret, Mrs. Odell Shepard, Mrs. Haroutune M. Dadourian and Mrs. Morse Sheperd.

Sunday was a day of relief and rest from the work of the week's events. In the afternoon President R. B. Ogilby, assisted by the chaplain, Dr. Arthur Adams, officiated at the special Junior Week vespers service. After the services a dinner party was held at the house of the president, Chapter Delta Kappa Epsilon. The house was elaborately decorated with green, palms and carnations. The tables in the dining room were arranged with lilies and red roses, the lower classes at the lower and the faculty guests and upper classes at the upper table.

The Interfraternity council has decided to hold an informal dance on the evening of the week of March 18th, in the library of the college.

At last the senior honorary society at Trinity has done something to the opportunity of the society, those who saw the opportunities of the society, and those who failed to seize the opportunity because of the tradition of the Medusa not to take a positive stand on big issues.

The general opinion seems to be that 1923 gave the best game ever played at the school. It was certain a wonderful party.

The society, which publicized the football game by other institutions included Russia, were pledged to op- portunities of the Medusa, or any other institution of similar grade.

It cannot help be a source of gratification to every Trinity man. The life and high ideals of Medusa is making a "come back." The accumulation of the 1923 delegation of the society stand out brilliantly in the history of the Medusa, who remanent with the delinquents, and it is the case of some freshmen, actually descended to pad- dle a man because he had not paid his assessment for the freshman-Junior Banquet. This, and this first circle-down have to a freshman who publicly defaced the football team, is the sum total of the accomplish- ments of the Medusa so far this year.

FIRE IN SEABURY HALL.

opinion that the fire had been smouldering in the partitions for days and perhaps weeks, the excellent construction of the building preventing it from breaking out. During the examination period, two weeks ago, smoke was found coming out between the base boards and the wall in the fourth floor room on the south side of Seabury Towers. Efforts to trace this were futile and it was ascribed to a leaky fine which permitted smoke from the chimney to leak into the walls.

Chief Moran and Deputy Chief Da-ville of the fire department were unable to account for the fire. Professor Dadean of the Physics Department said that the fire in Mr.

McCook's office was probably due to just who discovered the fire seems to be more or less of a mystery, with numerous claims for any medals which may be awarded. Poenz, '23, was probably the first one to see the blaze. He went into the cafeteria located in the basement of Seabury Towers about 9 o'clock and asked H. A. Stevens, who runs the cafeteria the reason for the Public Speaking Room being lighted. Neither knew of any reason and dismissed the matter as probable propaganda for the Bell Alarms.

Someone had also notified Mr. Stivens of the fire and he also called the fire department by telephone. En-ing Company 15, stationed at New America Avenue, near Summit Street, responded to the still alarm and six minutes later sent a bell alarm from the college box. No. 47. Zan-tinger also states that he was in the bell. The alarm bell brought Squad A and several more fire engines to the scene as well as a squad of policemen.

Dense Smoke.

When the firemen arrived, the Public Speaking Room was filled with a dense smoke from five different pipes of the flooring. Only the south door was open and there was no outlet for the smoke. Johnson, '23, dashed into the smoke and turned the fire hydrant in the room, but those did not help at all, since thick air was the smoke. Firemen and students who entered the room did so by crawling along the floor or on their stomachs through the smoke.

With the arrival of Squad A at least steam propeller, the pump was coupled to the hydrant in the rear of the refectories and three lines were laid in short order. Students did not require service to add to the firemen's work, but were very glad to help. The firemen went up the very pipes through the smoke to the hydrant and later through the windows in taking the boil into the building.

Students Help.

Around the building fire extinguishers borrowed from the firemen by a squad of students under the leadership of H. A. Stevens, who runned the north. Mogul and several firemen searched the upper floors where there was no fire although the rooms were filled with choking fumes of the burning pine.

At the doors of the Public

Speaking Room had been opened and students with wet handkerchiefs over the nostrils had opened the windows of the room, the fire was quickly put out by the firemen and was attached from the floor of the Public Speaking Room and through the ceiling of the union. The actual burned area included only two or three square yards, but about 150 square feet of floor and ceiling were torn up in making sure that there were no lurking embers.

The undergraduates rendered quick and skillful assistance to the firemen. In fact, one of the captives remarked that Trinity had as its undergraduate enrollment a bunch of "born firemen." The most tangible aid to the department came through President Goff, who instructed the cafeteria was turned into a free lunch and the firemen served with hot coffee, pie, cake and cigarettes.

The last apparatus left about 11 o'clock, saving one man on watch until after midnight.

ITALIANS AND CURBAN

AT 1922 PENN RELAYS.

Big Track Event Promises to Bring

Wonderful Entry List.

(Special to THE TRIPOLI.)

Philadelphia, February 12—Penn sylvania's Twenty-eighth Annual Re-boy Carnival, which will be held on Franklin Field Saturday, April 29 and Saturday, April 28, will bring together the most wonderful list of colleges and schools that have ever agreed any athletic meet in the history of track sport. In 1914, Oxford University of England sent over a four mile relay team which defeated Pennsylvania by a scant six inches in one of the most remarkable races ever seen. Again in 1919, England sent over a combined team from Oxford and Cambridge which made a new world's record for the two mile relay race. Last year, the University of Paris was represented and though the French collegians did not win, their visit was most interesting. This year, a team from the Universities of Italy will be here. The relay management is permitting the Italian students to bring over a combined team which will meet the indinual college teams of this country. The Italian team should, therefore, be strong enough to furnish stiff competition for the American teams. The University of Havana has already sent word that they will be represented, while it is expected that two or three Canadian colleges will have teams in the event. The Hamilton Collegiate Institute of Canada will bring down a team to compete for honors against high schools of this country.

Though the invitations for the meeting have been out only a few days, already seventy colleges have sent word that they will be on hand. These include all the big colleges of the East with a sprinkling from the West and a larger number from the South than usual. When all the college entries are in, it is expected that even a larger number will send teams than did last year when 112 colleges were represented. The school invitations are just going out, but judging from the number of colleges which have received, there will be close to 400 school teams at the carnival. The real problem of the management is to arrange the events so that they may be played in the order expected by the colleges.

The top success is just starting but already enough has been seen to indicate that very fine performances may be expected. The two new relay college championships have been added to the program, namely, a 440 yard relay in which the runners will go 110 yards and 220 yards. These races promise to be very popular and they should give a decided push to the development of the relays in this country. It is expected that the final entries will raise the number of college entrants in the final relays.
