Close Vote on Chapel Question

Advisory of Abolishing Compulsory Chapel Discussed.

Trinity Delegates Favor Voluntary Service

Matters Being Considered in College Senate.

"Trinity's delegation to the Students' Convention, the remaining games and the resolution which recommended the plan of making all chapel services merely voluntary were J. T. Marion, chairman of the Trinity delegation and E. J. Stearns. A number of arguments were brought forward on both sides, and the Harvard delegates were emphatic in their approval of the spirit of the resolution. The majority of the dissenting members of the delegation voted that there was little question but that many chapel services were mere forms and of little inspiration.

Webster Brown, the Bowdoin delegate, spoke heartily in favor of the abolishment of compulsory religious services and requested that the college ratify the resolution as being in favor also of voluntary class attendance. This last question was tabled as being the subject of a recent resolution of a religious conference.

The question of the day was introduced at the morning session on Saturday, but the greater part of the discussion came up in the afternoon session of the men's division. There the resolution was put to a vote and defeated by a bare vote of three men.

This same subject of compulsory chapel services was brought up at the subsequent meeting of the College Senate and a committee was appointed to be sent to the faculty or the Board of Trustees in order to bring about the repeal of the compulsory connection with the college's religious services. Tennessee, T. W., was appointed chairman of the committee which consists also of J. T. Marion and E. J. Stearns who do not desire to take that step.

Columbia Hockey Team Disbanded

Investigation by Faculty Revealed That Two Ineligible Men Were Playing on Team.

Columbia witnessed a sensational athletic fracas last week when the hockey team was disbanded by order of the university faculty.

An investigation of the record of the team revealed that two ineligible men had been allowed to take part in the games. When the schedule were cancelled, the coach was dismissed, and recommendations that the men be thrown out with members of the former team.

Lafayette Wins Last Home Game

Places Hope of World in Younger Generation

Englishman Says Conditions Among Undergraduates in America and English Universities Are Similar.

Conditions among undergraduates in America are very similar to those found in the English universities, according to a speech delivered by Rev. T. W. Pym, D.S.O., head of the Cambridge Museum, London, who recently addressed the Student Senate held at Trinity College.

"I have found that your country and mine are going through a period of turmoil. The things which we work for in the past seem to have been defeated in both America and in Europe. The old and the young of us who went through the war at a cost of millions of lives and property seem to lack what I call the hope of the world, you young men of to-day and your generation."

"There is a feeling in England, as there is here, that something has gone wrong. The world is literally in a hell of distresses, and yet we can scarcely work towards any solution of the world's ills."

"The world, the flesh, and the devil have very much their way and one is apt to lose the battle among ourselves. We are merely interested in making Roman Catholics and the Anglican Church in America appear to be the only way of salvation."

"The Lafayette captain accounted for the first point of the day. But Jepson and Cannon added three each and the Lafayette score and the rest of the game was marked by hard basketball.

The Trinity five showed an ex- ceptional ability to score. Crab shot a beautifully executed field goal and Montgomery furnished another thriller in a perfect long distance shot.

Lafayette emerged victorious in the seven attempts, to drop foul shots. Newman substituted for Cannon and dropped one out of three in his first try. (Concluded on page 4.)

Sturgis Bemoans Conditions

Claims Religion As Only Solution

Discussing Various Phases of Missionary Work.

Bemoaning the conditions of the world in general and college in particular, W. C. Sturgis, educational secretary of the department of missions of the Episcopal Church, spoke in chapel, at the time of the conference recently held at Trinity.

"The world is in a hell of a mess. Things in Europe are in just the same condition as among ourselves. What I thought what I told a group of men the other day. The world is literally in a hell. There is, furthermore, no hope or power on earth that can straighten it out except that of organized religion.

The preacher went into the various phases of missionary work in great detail, but continually emphasized the fact that in order to do missionary work one does not necessarily have to go to the South Seas.

"This world is a hell of a mess. It's not that we should go to the South Seas or to the ends of the earth. We should do something to help what is at home."

Saturday was occupied with a special call meeting of the students' conference in the college chapel for the delegates and members of the conference. At 11 o'clock Mr. Sturgis was called on to address the group and was held in high esteem by all present.

"What is it that we can do here at home? It is not that we should go to the South Seas or to the ends of the earth. We should do something to help what is at home."
MISS ADELA Landon SPEAKS BEORE CONFERENCE

Urges Youth of Present Generatioi to Rally to Tasks Before World.

Miss Adeila Landon, a religious worker connected with various New York City churches and organization, addressed the young men and women of Trinity College recently held at Trinity College.

The substance of her address, which is reproduced in full on page 359, is: "The future of the world lies in the hands of the young men and women of today, and it is up to them to see that it is built to the specifications of sound and justice."

In exemplifying his ideas of many organizations and the importance of service, Bishop Brewster, President of Trinity College, said: "The College is proud of its traditions and customs, but it is equally proud of its students and what they are doing for the world."

BISHOP BREWSTER

Says There is Plenty of Narrow­ness in Christians but Church is Broad and Roorny.

"There is plenty of narrowness in Christians but the Church itself is broad and roorny," Bishop Brewster said in his address to the Students' Conference in Seabury Hall.

In exemplifying his ideas of various forms of narrowness, the Bishop pointed out that narrowness was not necessarily bad, but that it was important to be aware of its dangers. He also said that the Church was broad and roorny, and that students should strive to be like the Church in this regard.

In his address, Bishop Brewster said: "The Church is broad and roorny, and it is up to us to be like the Church in this regard."

He also said: "The Church is broad and roorny, and it is up to us to be like the Church in this regard."

In an article on "Local Pride," which he has contributed to a recent issue of "The West Side News," President Ogilvy says, "True happiness comes to those who learn what they are getting."

In our opinion it would be rather difficult for a man to learn to want what he is getting. Hartwell suggests that if we are going to want to learn to want what we are getting, we had better ask for something else.

BOWDOWIN HOLDS ANNUAL SUB-FRESHMAN WEEK-END

Bowdoin held its annual Scholastic Week-End last week entertaining a large number of Portland and neighboring preparatory school boys by means of athletic events and dramatic entertainments.

Several hundred sub-freshmen were present on the Bowdoin campus and saw typical college life. Two entertainments were put on by undergraduates, and Outing Club held its annual Winter Carnival as an added feature. The Bowdoin freshman track team also met the Portland High School track team in a dual meet.

He sneered in the dark and kissed her hand. For a moment blush was "Oh," he said, "I thought it was my sister."

She laughed and said, "It is." —Medley

The Best Business Career

Is what every ambitious senior is thinking about at the present time. Life insurance is one of the best, one of the most desirable, and one of the most satisfactory as a permanent calling.

In assets and volume of business, life insurance is one of the three leading businesses of this country, yet the field is comparatively under-developed. Only 7 per cent of the economic value of human life in the United States covered by insurance. This gives an idea of the big field still to be worked, especially business insurance for firms and corporations.

As to remuneration: Reports of college graduates who have entered business indicate that life insurance is at the very top as a source of income. Now is the time for you to consider what you are going to do after graduation. If you are ambitious and willing to work hard and are interested in knowing about life insurance, address

ANNUAL EDITORIAL CONTEST HELD

Conducted by Pi Delta Epsilon, Journalism Fraternity.

Chi, III. (Special) — Is the college football business getting to be a little too ridiculous? Has his bodily development been neglected because of attention to mental development? Should a new standard of physical fitness be required of every student as a qualification for a degree?

Every male undergraduate in the junior and senior classes was invited by Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary college society, to answer these questions.

In announcing as the subject for Pi Delta Epsilon's 1922 Intercollegiate Editorial Contest "Physical Development as a Requisite for the College Degree," Cecil F. Gordon, of Dartmouth College, General Undergraduate, said:

"Last year's hundreds of editorials were entered in our contest. Pi Delta Epsilon was the first recipient, but the second to bring together in general and particularly by sporting editors interested in intercollegiate athletics.

Faculty Aid Solicited.

Philip C. Pack, Grand Editor of Pi Delta Epsilon, has urged cooperation from college administrators, as well as from the student body for approval some funds in the near future.
