SPUD DREW'S PROBLEM

No easy nut to crack

Most Coaches Would Say
"Try it and Do it!"

Some of the difficulties under which Coach "Spud" Drew labors in the field of football were portrayed for the students by statistics compiled by the Athletic Association regarding the past experience of the Trinity football squad.

When "Spud" came to Trinity in 1920 there were nineteen Freshmen in the "varsity," and of that number only two have remained with him, Kaplan and Keating, the two most formidable gridders in the Trinity football squad.

bible, and no pretty girls for ways stumped us. A few non-residents found it convenient to join with their fellow-students in the Chapel. President Ogilby has been trying to promote college spirit, by securing many interesting speakers for Wednesdays and Fridays. We consider the idea a commendable innovation. However, we are altruistic; we are not selfish, and hope the undergraduate body should share in these early morning discourses. It is questionable that this spirit of a student do not pay proper attention to his spiritual welfare. We believe that the best college, perforce, will force him to share in the multifarious benefaction derived from attendance of chapel.

AN APPRECIATION.

If the proverbial "power of the press" is not an empty abstraction, we want to take this occasion to turn it to good account, unless the thing we should have done. We wish that every student would realize that E. W. Sinnott, '20, and N. B. Anderson, '22, have been named for the Freshman football team. Their work has been done purely for the sake of the game, and although the number of students who have not been able to attend. They are now the envy of the Freshmen, and are a source of great pride to the college. The big problem is to select such clothes. And to eliminate all question, we offer you nothing but the best there to be had; whether you choose the free-and-easy athletic style, demanded by most college men, or the smartly conservative — you will find it here. COLLEGE COMMENTS

Caucasian, Comic, and Casual.

"COLLEGE SPIRIT." The phrase College Spirit has always alarmed us. It has scared us into silence when our duty should have been to speak. It has whipped us into doing the things we should not have done and leaving undone the things we should have done. It has led us to bow the knee before impostions which have no respect of the most elementary rights of freedom. Only too often has it made the most absurd demands for our money, for the sake of the respect of the individual. It has defied us to see how and why, no matter how urgent, that in any way seems to va­nance and discipline of College Spirit. It has made warders and professors whom we know are not of that kind, suspicion all to have an blind submission to every dictact of its supposed will. It has ostra­cized, and in the interest of College Spirit, that we do not even try to have any direct destructive effect on our spirit. But if the system is one of non-resident, it will defeat its own end and it would formalize and destroy the impetus and stimulating effects of College Spirit.

But I speak abstractly of college spirit, because it is quite evident that the non-resident student does not pay proper attention to his spiritual welfare. We know that he has a love and affection for the institution, because I have realized what a team to college for, I have gotten out of it all I expected and wanted. Scholars will have the best spirit, when they are left to the study of which they are expected and of which they are interested. Athletes will love Trinity, because it is not an empty abstract, we not an empty abstract, we not an empty abstract, we...

true at least insofar as my experience went. The student is thereby deprived of the personal contact and the helpful guidance which smooths out so many rough places in his university career.

"It would certainly be a radical change to introduce such a system in America. It would undoubtedly be disastrous for quite a number of years, for it is evident that the American student body suddenly released from such strict guidance would avail itself to the full of such sudden freedom.

"Eventually the students would get their bearings in the new order of things and it would possibly prove to be the best solution of so many of the problems arising in American colleges today."

Professor Naylor's courses are contributed much that is conducive to thought along intellectual lines. His methods have proved to be in keeping with the ideal of a "personal college" to a marked extent.

Miss Marjorie E. Booth and H. J. Ferguson, '23, both of Norwich, were married last Saturday evening at the residence of the bride. Ferguson is now associated with his father in the jewelry business.

RELIGIOUS AND RACIAL INTOLERANCE SCORED BY TRINITY REGISTRAR

Dr. Adams, speaking before the annual meeting of the Marylee Foundation of Connecticut in the Morgan Memorial, Tuesday, denounced the ‘“method of lying” in religious and racial fields. Dr. Adams’ topic was “Toler- ation in the Pilgrim Age.”

“Tolerance is a part of the process of whipping into shape diverse elements of the social group. There are social groups and it may be true in some wars as medical intolerance, national in- tolerance of foreigners, social intolerance of unusual manners of dress. Religion is especially subject to intolerance.”

Reasons for decline of intolerance in the religious field are: 1st, perception that force is no remedy; 2nd, discovery that the results of the existence of diverse or antagonistic groups is not so dire as believed; 3rd, lack of enthusiasm for the revealed truth—more indifference; 4th, development of a consciousness of the nature of religious truths that is sure of knowing the real God as fathers were.

Increased repression of persecution of dissenters, especially the very few separatists, the first separated congregations dating from late in Elizabeth’s reign, re- sulted.”
