McKNIFF'S TWIRLING BEATS WESLEYAN

Blue and Gold Wins 5-4 Victory Over Old Rivals

With Harry McKniff hurling in super form, and the rest of the team fielding almost perfectly behind him, Trinity triumphed over its arch rival, Wesleyan, in the game that marked the resumption of athletic relations between the colleges.

It was the fastest and most interesting game that has been played on the college diamond for many a moon. Wesleyan scored two runs in the first inning on two singles, two pastes and a fielder's choice. From that inning they were held scoreless until the second, and the seventh stanza, when they pushed over one tally in each. In the second inning McKniff walked Lotespleich, Childress and Braydons in succession, and then, with only one man out he struck out the next two men to face him.

The Blue and Gold attack did not get under way until the fifth inning, when, with two out, Newsholme walked, McKniff singled to center, sending Newsholme to third. Burr then sent a screaming single to left field, scoring Newsholme home. Burr then sent a screaming single to left field, scoring Newsholme home. The book is divided into three parts. The first, "Religious Elements of the American Revolution", deals with the part played by the various sects in the struggle with England. Taking up the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Congregational Church, the Presbyterian Church, the Dutch Reformed, etc., one after the other, the author impartially shows the influence of each on the whole, all denominations were patriotic and stood by the Revolution despite British invasion, Tory threat, and internal dissension. Particularly impressive is his chapter concerning the unfortunate middle ground taken by the patriots yet pacifistic speakers and Moravians and the two-fold persecution resulting from it. Sections dealing with Tory preachers in patrician towns, or vice versa, are very interesting and show that not all the heroes of the Revolution were those of the battlefield.

The subtitle of the second part is: "The Revolution Dealt With from a New Angle". Professor Humphrey's new book, "Nationalism and Religion in America, 1774-1799", deals with the troubles that were a result of the \"advent of the sixteenth-century Anglican Church, the Congregational Church, the Presbyterian Church, the Dutch Reformed, etc., one after the other, the author impartially shows the influence of each on the whole, all denominations were patriotic and stood by the Revolution despite British invasion, Tory threat, and internal dissension. What ever your "Choice of a Career," college training has increased your economic value, and whatever you may be professionally, your life insurance is a proper self-appraisal of your powers in that direction.

The traditions, practices, and financial strength of the JOHN HANCOCK Mutual Life Insurance Company are such that a college man can take special pride in having a John Hancock policy on his life. It is also a distinct asset from the start. It will pay you to buy it; and later, when you think of joining any favored business, it will pay you to sell John Hancock policies. Our representatives will tell you just how, and assist you in selecting both your career and your insurance.

The eight Greek letter fraternities on the hill held their annual reunion.
At the Alpha Chi Rho house, delegations from most of the chapters in the East were present. The Trinity chapter is the parent chapter of this fratern-

TRINITY NEEDS LARGER
STUDENT BODY

Statistician Reveals Class
Sentiment

The statistics of the class of 1924 at Trinity, compiled by Thomas J. Birmingham, president and a prominent member of the class, showed that the average age of the class was twenty-three years, the average height was five feet three inches, and the average weight about 150 pounds.

According to the same records Thomas J. Birmingham was the choice of the majority as the most typical Trinity man. William S. Terrell of Wallingford the best looking, and Harrison D. Schofield of Hartford as the best dressed, Frank S. Jones of North Adams, Mass, has done the most for the college and John Keating of Hartford was the best all around athlete in the class. The most intellectual was Birmingham and the man who had the biggest drags with the faculty was Stanley L. Kennedy of New Brighton, New York. Birmingham in the opinion of the class, was also the most blasé, and the biggest social light was C. Waldoon O'Connor of Bushing, Long Island.

Professor Naylor of the French department, according to the statistics, is the easiest man on the faculty to buff, and Professor Galpin of the mathematics department is the hardest.

The easiest course in college is Geology 1, and the hardest is Mathematics II.
The highest honor that a man can get at Trinity is to be elected president of the college body.

Business Claims Many.

As to their chosen occupation most of the class signified their intention of going into business immediately upon receiving their degrees.

"The Hartford Times," "The New York Times," and "The Christian Science Monitor" were the best liked ewspapers; and "The Nation," and "The Saturday Evening Post" were the favorite periodicals.

Next to Trinity, most of the men replied that they liked Ambrose. Smith received the verdict as being the best women's college. To the question, "What does Trinity need most?" the majority was a larger student body would solve all the present problems.

The most valuable course in college is Philosophy. The least valuable were the Greek courses. All but one man in the class preferred brumettes to blondes.
