RALLY BEFORE COOPER UNION GAME

Dan Foley Gave Rising Speech

A short and snappy pep meeting was held in the College Union last Friday night, in anticipation of the game on Saturday. The chief purpose of the meeting was to teach the fans songs and cheers to the tunes.

There were a number of speakers who addressed the students. Professor Turner challenged every present that the football team and all athletics in general had his complete support. He praised very highly the men of the team who had taken warning to make their studies the first thing of the day, and go to the ball field and practice with whole-hearted cheering. Professor Collins, speaking of the entrance of the students, said that for those who really wanted an education he had a real message that it should persuade him to estimate its value and to substitute a knowledge of science, which has other values than that, it should persuade him to take part in, to add his quota to the practically curriculum for his children and his children's children to inherit.

Professor Perkins in his closing talk said that he had been Barret's views on the value of literature entirely and that one of his masterpieces was the selection of his lectures.

Professor Perkins said that he had no message for those who had come to college, simply for the sake of being there, he said that there would be two letters after their names, but he said that for those who really wanted an education he had a real message and much helpful advice. He told them about the importance of the undergraduate body and the need for good work in the undergraduate college.

Dan Foley gave a rising talk on what Trinity means to the Trinity man. He said that the college had a complete harmonious and pleasant program.

The meeting was presided over by President J. J. McCook. The Trinity team did lack a real scoring backfield and a first-string backfield and a first-string backfield.

Dr. McCook's letter, which his duties accomplished, as follows:

"THE TRIPOD, Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

My dear Mr. Editor:

I hope you will not object to my second string backfield and a first-string backfield and a first-string backfield.

First Quarter.

Cooper Union won the toss and chose to receive the ball. Eberle kicked the ball, the New Yorkers were stopped on the thirty-five-yard line. Their first play brought a gain of three yards and Eberle kicked the ball from the thirty-five-yard line. Trinity then was stopped on the thirty-five-yard line. Eberle kicked the ball and the Trinity team was forced to turn over possession of the ball.

During the second half Trinity made one first down after another but was unable to gain further yards. The New Yorkers never succeeded in making more than three or four yards in their four downs.

Captain O'Brien, "Bill" Eberle and "Bud" Eberle gave a verbal bout that brought forth the rules for the Class of 1926 and promised a severe course of studies without any let or hindrance to the students.

A good time was had by all Sophomore.

FRESHMAN RULES GIVEN.

On Thursday, September 30, the Sophomores called a Freshman meeting after a verbal bout that brought forth the rules for the Class of 1926 and promised a severe course of studies without any let or hindrance to the students.

The members of the Freshman class were advised to study with diligence and to take a critical survey, during which many ties and knots of divergent colors were untied.

A good time was had by all Sophomore.

POM DIES FROM INJURY.

Former Student of Trinity.

Alfred B. Finn, a former student of Trinity Colleage after injuries which he received in football practice there, died in New York recently. Alfred B. Finn was a member of the Amherst Class of the Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity. His death will be greatly regretted by those of us who knew him while he was here.

LECTURES BY BARRET AND PERKINS

Talk on Recent Studies

Professors Barret and Perkins spoke on Wednesday evening, September 29, in the lecture room of the college. Professor Barret spoke on languages and Professor Perkins on sciences. Professor Barret emphasized that it was foolish to expect to be educated and that although the world is full of people who do not understand it can be of great help, it is after all up to the individual to get an education from that is offered to him. He then gave a talk on languages, telling of their ability to teach us much about the way we think and not even to go out mer, as follows:

The meeting was presided over by President J. J. McCook. The Trinity team did lack a real scoring power. This can, however, be expected even in a game played under a severe handicap. Due to injuries sustained against Cooper Union it was necessary to use an entire second string backfield and a substitute quarterback. This was the method for the manner in which they played the game despite their inexperience, as shown by their score. Even though this weakness on the offense was the evident reason the team showed a great amount of strength on the defense, allowing their opponents to make only one first down and that on a forward pass.

AN INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL.

After just having passed through a running season as full as any of many seasons, it appears that our students are well stocked with self-confidence as well as self-introspection as they try to look the question of interfraternity relations straight in the face. If we wish to be able to be proud of yourselves as a college, then it is our duty to make some means of leaving away with the ad- mittedly poor system of dealing with interfraternity relations that we have here. For if we have a small body, to conjure a proper, representative fra- ternity spirit here. We need some way of dealing with each fraternity and which will set as a sort of clearing house for the difficulties which arise in dealing with the various fraternities. And most of all a body which will have power to make some rules to govern us. We cannot very well allow our fraternity matters to go along the way as they are now. They are not in the interest of the students. The Interfraternity Council is the only organization by which we can hope to work out an efficient plan for dealing with interfraternity relations.

Last year an effort was made to start an Interfraternity Council, but unfortunately the fraternity presidents and most of the fraternity brothers would not cooperate. Conditions here are very different from what they were last year and I do hope that under the guidance of the Board of Trustees, a Council will be started this year—a Council which will have the power to make student fraternity matters a respected part of the respect of all the students. If an organization can be established, there will be an emergency which will be reverted by the students in a general way, and, if nothing else, there will be powerful influence on the camp- us. It will do much to strengthen the moral tone of the Colleges and will be a benefit to every one in its jurisdic- tion.

Leight the whole student body talk about a Council, let us discuss the question carefully, and, let us hope to work out a system which constructive action will soon be taken.

THE NEW SENATE.

Our new Senate plan is being in- troduced. We present here an unusual opportunity for construc- tive work. It is not a plan, rather, it may be the faculty the students are in a more receptive frame of mind than they have ever been before. It is a plan in which great things can be done. The members of the Senate can, if they wish, be of more value for the Colleges in their short year of office. They are only a year and for the moment if they are wise, they will accomplish much. It is they who can start an organization which will make the most the faculty. This plan will be of great benefit to the College. We must consider, not whether we shall enter in it, but whether we shall enter in it powerfully. March, the ninth, but the student- s can help the college grow and it is the only means of making the class of men who serve her best.

By the vote of the College Body it was voted that no candidate for trust in the present Senate and they are most likely the same people that their trust was placed wisely. The new is now on trial and we are all this time a vote.

AFFRONTING

Saturday the Freshmen attended the first game of the season. In our game with the class of 1937, but it can not be blamed entirely on the Freshmen. All those men are new and it is much stress laid on the learning of songs. They were very much enjoyable because they are not the class of 1937 but, we cannot be expected to make a good display when even the cheerleaders of the class are not familiar with the yells. How about it, '29? Try to teach the Freshmen the true Trinity cheer. The true Trinity cheer is this: "A kind of argument or debate with a view to elicit truth or establish a point; a distillation which is treated from different sides." We also suggest that the up- per classroom stays in the stands and cheer instead of walking around the field.

OUTLOOK.

To amount to anything worthwhile while the activities of the college must be better supported than they have been in the past. Opportunity has been given to both Sophomores and Fresh- men for Social, Musical, Athletic, and other purposes. The numbers of men anxious to secure the var- ious pieces which are open by means of competition has been surprisingly small. The positions which have been referred to are not given to those who have "pull." Careful record of the amount of work done by each man in his office and the fresher offices are given to those who have the most of them who have been the most faithful in the performance of their duties. Each fraternity should see to it that it has representatives from its group, all of which for all of these differences, all of which is an in- vestigating to some, which will be dull and not very interesting for many. The position of the College. Why not have a group of students come together, gathering, every so often, to go over- items of interest, would be both enter- taining and enlightening. Trinity has said, "The young man may get the poems and the scenes of the use- ful meetings." Plato realized this many years ago. Discussion could be on the subject of the good old days, those of the double quartet who Those of the double quartet who those of the double quartet who are the most interested in the past can be the most interested in the past. A good name for such an organization would be "The Forum," or, for keeping the name fine, it carries one's thoughts back many years, to the days when our forefathers, a lively interest in the Forum Romanum to dis- cuss topics which are pertinent to the Trinity student body. In such an organization a good organizer is needed. There are many men with good organizing ability in college if they would only see from their layeth and ariseth and the mind.

Such an organization would be of great benefit to the college body. It would give a spirit of understanding and good will. Think over the matter. Have you not been interested in the college body will show their approval by do- ing something in the matter.

PRAISE TO WHOM DUE.

Those members of the college who are spending a great deal of each week-day in addition to all of Saturday afternoon on the football field are the men who are supporting every man of the College. It is the kind of men who are the real benefactor of the game. There is just as many thrills as there is in the game. There is just as many thrills as there is in the game. For those who are not out for sports, there surely could be no greater enjoyment than trying to work up a concert to be given somewhat. If you are not in the field, there are many men who are for those actually engaged in the game. No matter what the result of the game, the Trinitian man should support the Trinity team. We feel that the team success in all its con- tents.

Glee Club

As most of the student body know all efforts to organize a Glee Club have been spent in vain. Up in miserable failure due to the lack of interest of the student body. For those who are not in the field, there surely could be no greater enjoyment than trying to work up a concert to be given somewhat. If you are not in the field, there are many men who are for those actually engaged in the game. No matter what the result of the game, the Trinitian man should support the Trinity team. We feel that the team success in all its con- tents.

Debating Club Organized

A meeting was held in the Public Speaking Room Tuesday, October 6, for the purpose of reviving the Summer Debating Club. A fair number of enthusiastic debaters was present and prospects and prospects are reasonably bright for the continuation of a successful debating movement. Questions and opinions were given regarding future competitive events and activities of the club, which already has two challenges under consideration.

The following officers were elected:
President, Albert V. De Bonis; 2nd Vice-President, William J. Pitt; Secretary, Robert Kasarian, ’30.

The club will meet on alternates Mondays throughout the year.

THE BUSINESS OF COLLEGE

What is the main business of college?

The faculty-student committee at Chicago state as follows: "4. By instruction and guidance to help each student to acquire such a knowledge of the physical universe, of the history of society, and of the nature of the individual, that, taking his stand at the cross of his own being, he may have a sense of where he is and what he is doing."

"5. To aid him in the capacity for accomplishing the greatest amount of accurate work in the shortest time possible."

"6. To develop in him the faculty of sustained effort; (b) to aid him to develop his potentialities so that he may become a good person in the proper moral and intellectual sense, and, second, a more efficient force for the promotion of the community and society, for the betterment of one's fellow men with a comprehensive background of information about the world and its problems, to stimulate them to develop in their capacity for rational thinking, philosophical thought, and for better companionship with other people than himself."

The Dartmouth College senior committee declares, "It is the purpose of the College's activities to encourage men to be in the theatre in a sort of self-hypnosis, or so out of the two hours."

"The trouble about being too good is that other people list you in their esteem, as one of their assets."
