OLIGBY AND BARBOT BROADCAST.

Discusses "Lost Books of the Bible."

The widely advertised "Lost Books of the Bible" bazaar of last fall has never been a part of the Bible. President Remsen O. Ogilby and Professor LeRoy Cary Barret of Trinity College have been working on a project called "The Apocryphal New Testament," in which a book was a reprint from a publication in 1876, Professor Barret, who is head of the Latin department, said. The book contains as additional material other few fragments such as "the Gospel according to St. Peter," which was discovered in Egypt in 1886. Professor Barret added.

Both Have's and the more recent reprints, the author points out, are in form suggestive of the conventional Bible and contain some, but not all, of the apocryphal gospels, the so-called letters of Paul before and after his death.

All of these records have been known for centuries and have been rejected as spurious by the Church, just as the Palestinian Jews rejected.

Trinity Quintet Defeated by Workhouse Tech.

The Trinity basketball team, playing the third game of the 1926-27 season, suffered its first defeat at the hands of Workhouse Tech on Saturday, January 8. The final score of the game was 24 to 16. Throughout the entire first half of the game was practically a tie. The Blue and Gold five, although unable to gain the lead, held the score to 12 to 15 at that opening period. At the start of the final period Trinity started off brilliiantly and brought the score to 14 to 16. Tech, however, soon turned the tables and again presented a fast offense which was able to break down the defensive combination which had so effectively served Trinity until that time. The Blue and Gold finally went down to a rather decisive defeat.

Illustrated Lecture by Professor Spaulding.

There was a meeting of the German Club on Tuesday evening, January 11, in the Public Speaking room. Professor Spaulding gave a very interesting illustrated lecture on German Art and Architecture, beginning at about the time of Charlemagne and showing famous examples from that period up to the present. Professor Spaulding stressed particularly the work of the Medici and the Colosseum as wonderful examples and treasures of the art of their different periods.

We hope that the Alumni will realize the changed conditions here and that their support is a necessity in the every way. It is up to every Trinity to take advantage of this new stage in its development and with the power to strengthen it and maintain it.
The Alumni have taken an active part in the activities of the College which needs support, and we wish to take advantage now of the present opportunity to thank the officers of the Alumni Fund for their help.

A NEW GYMNASIUM.

The most urgent need of Trinity College is a new gymnasium. We students are appealing to the graduates of the college for spending as they say, too much of our time away from college. The limited facilities of our gymnasium and the winner climate of Hartford make it necessary for us to seek our exercise and amusement elsewhere.

For instance, the basketball season is over, and instead of being able to play our games at the college, we are forced to use the High school gymnasium and the metal bucket of the squad have to spend time going to to school, and in school. In addition to their regular hours of practice.

Students at college who want to swim have to take membership in the Y. M. C. A., and a swim which would ordinarily take only an hour's time is protracted into a whole afternoon. First with one or two of interest about some Trinity man.

MEXICO. QUESTION.

The world sees a banded, dedicated group of revolutionaries, says the world, and shakes its poor head deprecatingly. They shout hours of wild night-rides, of beach parties, and all sorts of things that Aunt Prudence wouldn't think of doing, all of which the world of Aunt Prudence labels dangerous.

The joy-boys who furnish the "insolent old ball" with fresh reasons for their dreams, may even be college students but that isn't material in our eyes, so they must be said, the world said.

But because the world is like huge potato, which has not eyes to see it, it takes for granted that college life is a success. It doesn't have an excessive desire for play and no ambition. —Ohio State Era.

A most interesting view of the undergraduate education of college students is offered; in other words, be it drinking liquor or shaping the destiny of the world, the juvenile, is B.A.

The article is brought to its bompastic close with the statement that college men can't forget their college days. The world sees a broadening education, the world of the worth of their diploma. The showing of the gradual transition from college to non-college life is made.

I know; I've been watching them for years. We who are "unfortunate" as to be college men are reminded by the youth of "Judge," various expressions of Paris by One Who Has Never Been There.
