Jr. Varsity Defeats Westminster Eleven

Blue and Gold Victorious in 7 to 0 Game

A determined Junior 'Varsity football team advanced on Westminster with determination Saturday night and emerged with a narrow 7 to 0 victory over the Westminster eleven, to close the final game of the season by a 7 to 0 score. This makes a perfect record for the Junior 'Varsity, which has won all its games this season. A splendid performance, the win was well deserved.

The Blue and Gold team, fresh from a successful trip to react against Westminster, was invincible. Led by Geiger, the backfield ripped the opposing line to pieces and Westminster fumbled. The Blue and Gold was fighting for the future. Albert V. DeBosis, editor, announced that after the Trinity course is announced, the team will come out on Tuesday of each week. The summary:

On Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock in "The Tripod" room, the 'Tripod' staff held a meeting to decide its final drive toward its opponents.

Dr. Angel C. Cook, a Trinity graduate, met with the students in the room last Wednesday morning to speak to them on the subject of "Higher Education." As one can easily surmise, this is a very difficult topic to present. Dr. Cook, in his address, reminded his audience of the need for higher education, his message providing much food for thought.

The most fact stressed in his discussion was that college men have a decided advantage over men without higher education, but that, unfortunately, the public is not aware of how little education they need to obtain. He also stressed the need to apply their knowledge properly and wisely, reminding them that knowledge is a serious menace to humanity.

In the progress of his message, Dr. Cook repeatedly emphasized the idea that college men have a life of three fundamental rules of criticism:

1. What is the man's intention?
2. Is he successful in carrying it out?
3. Is the intention worth carrying out?

He continued to relate a number of stories which illustrated his points, the most notable being the story of the man who could not lift the chicken and the man who could. The story was used to illustrate the point that the picture of the man is often difficult to convey.

Dr. Cook's message was well received, and he was given a standing ovation for his efforts.

Coach Ousting Announces First Basketball Pracitce

Coach Ousting announces that the first basketball practice will be held in Alumni Hall Monday at 4:45 o'clock. All players are expected to be present. The team are to appear in uniform. As there are no regulations from last year, it will be necessary for the coach to make a berth on the team, and with this in mind, the training and work will be more intense than they have been in the past.

It is expected that there will be a large turn-out.

The team Trinity had on the floor was in a position to make a strong showing, eight years, and although graduation and other innate difficulties may be encountered, it was expected that this year, with a few recruits, it would be possible to maintain to the same team that would be its equal. But with the unforeseen loss of Captain-elect Halstrum, Aptor, and Thoole, these expectations had been dashed. However, it seemed to be a sign of things to come.

The Blue and Gold team, fresh from a successful trip to react against Westminster, was invincible. Led by Geiger, the backfield ripped the opposing line to pieces and Westminster fumbled. The Blue and Gold was fighting for the future. Albert V. DeBosis, editor, announced that after the Trinity course is announced, the team will come out on Tuesday of each week. The summary:

Westleyan Wins Tough Soccer Battle

Westleyan came through an exciting season to clinch a hard fighting Trinity team last Monday by the score of 3 to 1. The game was well fought, and it was not at all favorable for a game. A cold drizzle lasted through the entire game, and at the end it was raining quite hard. Nevertheless both teams played well and the ball was on the side lines to cheer for the team.

The final score was Westleyan 3 to 1.

The team Trinity had on the floor indicated that the Purple had an easy time of it. The outcome of the game was not in doubt from the beginning, and the team were able to keep the game up to the end.

In spite of the fact that the team will be formed entirely from men who have spent this year's season in the field, it is evident that the toughness Westleyan ever had. With the exception of one or two games which were played without regulars, the team was evenly matched, and had not Westleyan a chance in the game.

Winning things are nice, and it was not to be expected that the team would be defeated.

The try for the extra point was successful in the first half, and the ball was kicked straight over the crossbar for the seventh point.

The next play was a short pass to Geiger, who caught it and went in for the score. The ball came along the ground, and the quarterback, without lifting it, kicked it straight over the crossbar for a field goal.

The summary:

The playing of the Trinity team was much improved. Deschamps and Liverwood played exceptionally well. Salvation played a fine game in the backfield, and the team as a whole gave a good account of itself. There is no reason to believe that the team will not be successful in the coming season.

The next week's game will be against Amherst in the first half, and the ball was kicked straight over the crossbar for the seventh point.

The Tripod

When the college campus became a battle ground and the human being was reduced to a being of brute force and brutality, it was through the medium of the Tripod that the students were able to express their views and experiences. Today, the Tripod is still the forum for the expression of student opinion. This is the spirit which the student of today should strive to uphold.

CRITICISM AND THE STUDENT

The purpose of any school of higher education is among other things, to bring about an environment wherein the student is free to question and to think. The chief criticism should play a vital part in the life of the American student. It should be remembered that criticism is more than an attack or a criticism; it is a way of life. It is only when the student is able to criticize himself and to criticize others that he is able to develop an independent critical and cultural attitude on the part of students.

TROJAN TROTTER

When the fall home party begins to draw near and the many intramural and extra-curricular activities begin to take place, the usual discussion is that of a certain amount of personal criticism. These criticisms are often based on the opinions of others or on the opinions of those who are not present. The student of today should be able to make his own opinions and to express them to others.

LITERARY COLUMN

Our life has been joy, no beauty I confess, Not kissed by Zephyr, but slaved by storm and snow.

She tells me what she thinks or does, no less.

But we are, she has no thoughts—

That gracie Venus though she is sublime

Should lose the...—my love inspired this rhyme.

Approaching Infinity.

Freshmen at Rutgers were subjected to more than the usual indignities in the freshman class recently. They were taken to the track and made to march in 22 Times. Those who failed to comply were treated to a dose of hard wood applied where it would do the most good. Each year another lap is added on the number that must be covered by the person. For each break in the lap, 100 at.

How did you come to lose in Sam?

Well, sub, do you say it, ... to the streets.

Johns Hopkins' hoop-rolling seems to be popular in other colleges too. At a grand finale of the Freshman husky-rolling at Dartmouth, a certain group of the class of '30, on the day of the first football game were adorned in blue and white dresses and commanded to roll hoops through the town and around the gridiron. The stunt was known as "whoooshing it up."

Plans for New Swimming Pool

Architect's drawings for the second and third floors of the new New Testament Hall, now under construction at Trinity, are being reproduced in this week's issue of The Tripod. The plans for the first floor, including the proposed swimming pool, were reproduced last week. The plan of the second floor shows the gallery for the accommodation of spectators, which will overlook the swimming pool on the ground floor.

This gallery is expected to accommodate about four hundred persons. It will be reached by two staircases leading up directly from the vestibule on the first floor, independent of the swimming pool and locker rooms.

The third floor will contain six squash raequet courts, and additional locker rooms, for the convenience of those who may wish to play squash. There will be a small gallery overlooking the squash courts, which is not shown in the drawings reproduced in "The Tripod."

WE FROSH

Trinity College has recently received the gift of a collection of letters written by Jedediah S. Jones, Trinity in the year 1863, to his mother and father and various friends. It may be of interest to "Tripod" readers to consider these letters with those of undergraduates of the present generation, and so "The Tripod" has secured permission to run parts of these letters. The first one under the title of "We Frosh." It will be reprinted. The second letter is also reprinted by request of the writer. The last two letters were written by the writer. COLLEGE FOOTBALL.

Harvard University's receipts from football in 1924 amounted to more than a million dollars, of which nearly $500,000 was spent on various intercollegiate teams, travelling expenses, coaches, rubber, trainers, doctors, uniforms and supplies. In the same year, according to a report to the National Collegiate Association by Professor Thomas E. French, of Ohio State University, Ohio spent $15,000 for intramural athletics, and $127,000 for a $1,000,000 stadium.

"This proportionate expenditure is by no means unusual," says John H. Tunis, in the current Harper's Magazine. "During the same year Stanford University's athletic receipts were $184,000, and after paying for a football stadium, a basketball stadium, team expenses and equipment, it spent the general sum of $7,500 on intramural sport," he states.

"When a college spends $14,000 for coaches, $5,000 for rubbers, and $8,000 for medical services in one short season of two months, it might appear that intramural athletics would be likely to receive less than their share from the remainder. Strong and powerful as is the Great God Football, signs are not wanting to show that American college undergraduates are beginning to doubt its divinity. "Intense class feeling began to die out years ago. Classes today are far too large in the great universities to permit of such class feeling or class loyalty being shown. The feeling so wrongly called 'college spirit' is losing ground in many of the large educational institutions throughout the country."

Seventeen per cent. of the men and twenty-eight per cent. of the women at the University of Chicago attended no football games during a recent season, according to the 1925 report of the Faculty-Student Committee on the Distribution of Students' Time, to which Mr. Tunis refers. "If so many students had been absent from a football game twenty years ago the situation would have called for a football revival meeting."

"To the sports follower football is more than merely a game, it is a religion. It might almost be called our national religion. Dean Willard Sperry of the Harvard Theological School, said that the only true religious spirit to be discerned among large bodies of undergraduates today, is in the football stadium. So fundamental is the craving of man for ritual in one form or another, one college president said, that when churches do away with ritual it springs up in other and most unlikely places. Ritual has so pervaded football that it is fixed and standardized from Maine to California.
