TRINITY GOLF SQUAD DEFEATS WESLEYAN

Deschamps, Blake, and Young win their Matches to Get 4-2 Decision Over Opponents

Playing unofficially, a Trinity golf team composed of Deschamps, 1939; Blake, 1935; and Young, 1938, defeated the Wesleyan Capitals, 4-2, on Wednesday afternoon on the links of the Middletown Country Club. The game was played competitively.

In the singles, Deschamps, Blake, and Young won their matches. Blake losing to Longears of Wesleyan 6 and 3; Blake losing to White of Wesleyan six and one; Young losing to Benck of Wesleyan 6 and 2; Deschamps winning the remaining point. The teams also played out matches of the afternoon, played in this order: Deschamps, Blake, W. Tyler, R. Eldridge, and other members of the Wesleyan team.

The victory over Wesleyan was the second of the season for the first being the victory over Storrs last week by Golf Capital. The match was a good one and should be a good one.

With the strict supervision of the committee the games will be on the regular rules. Faculty committee on social functions, headed by Professor Rosay of the Training Department.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

We almost came pretty near giving the world a break this week by not printing a column. One reason for getting this here columni together on time. But in spite of the going-on of this most busy week-end, we're going to see what we can do before next week to find which may be of interest to you in the line of intercollegiate news.

The idea is all right but our weekly perusal of "exchanges" we found a very interesting article in the "Northwestern News," part of which we shall quote:

"The presence on college campuses of societies whose main purpose is to foster good will to visiting athletic teams is comparatively new in the East. Northeasterly, with the Foss Pay Society, is one of the most recent to form a club of this type. The name is the result of an interesting fact that those known as Key Societies and the prefix is generally the college color. Dartmouth's, organized in 1899, is called the Green Key Society, and is reputed to be one of the first of its kind ever formed.

At the annual conference of these societies several weeks ago in Hanover, New Hampshire, twenty-four institutions were represented by fifty-four students.

Plans were made for the staging of next year's conference. Four colleges were suggested to hand out the "Polytechnic Reports:"

"Eight o'clock class at the University of Denver, Chicago, Boston College, Holy Cross, Penn State, and McGill. These colleges will decide among them which one shall have the privilege of entertaining the conference twelve months from now.

Seventeen of the twenty-four colleges already have similar organizations while the other five are looking forward to having them soon. One of the main purposes of the conference is to make the students feel that by coming to a four-year college they are not made a mere spectator but are taken care of as equals.

Trinity Track Squad Loses in Dual Meet

Welivar leads Aggies to 86-44 Victory over Blue and Gold; Nye is High Scorer

In the dual meet held on Trinity Field last Tuesday, May 20, the track team of the Connecticut Aggies turned blue the Blue and Gold in both the field and track events with a final score of 86 to 44, Chubbuck of the Aggies taking the high and low hurdles as well as in the discus throw and the shot put. Captain Nye strengthened the varsity line-up, running up thirteen points, while Welivar and Belden each came through with firsts in the javelin throw and the broad jump.

Coach Osten's men began with a decided disadvantage, as many of the regulars including Higgins, Lovering, and Strong, were missing, the latter who recently shattered the college record in the javelin throw, having been taken ill. Although the Aggies gained an early lead over Trinity, as Chubbuck succeeded in taking five Aggies. Height, 5 feet 2 inches.
