DEAN HOOD RETURNS FROM ENGLISH TRIP

Collection of Browning's Letters to Be Published During the Spring

DESCRIPTS OXFORD LIFE

The Dean Now Resumes His Former Position on the Faculty as Associate Professor of English.

Dean Hood returned to Hartford from his trip to England on Wednesday with his research work in preparation for the publishing of a selection of the letters of Robert Browning completed. He had been in England since early in the fall and has ever since been in a state of tension and of unknown future for which he states are the only places where a thorough research into the life of any English man of letters can be made. Dean Hood had the privilege of examining the manuscripts of Browning, and spent many days and nights with them.

In commenting on the British Museum where much of his work was done, the Dean said that there he made contact with the largest collection of books in the world, a collection of five million titles and of an unknown number. He spoke of the library as a vast storehouse of magazines and newspapers which can be used to supply and check the background for such work as his college's letters.

The Dean said that he was glad to have returned (Continued on page 5.)

QUAN SHI FINAL TO BE HELD ON FEBRUARY 3

St. Anthony to Play Psi Upsilon Valley's Leader of Four Days Match in Feb.

The final match of the Interfraternity Squash Raquetas Tournament will be played on Tuesday, February 9. The two teams which will meet on these representing St. Anthony and Psi Upsilon both teams contain some of the strongest players in the college and a close match with probably result. It is impossible to say which team will win, the matches will be represented by R. E. Britton, John S. Burke, R. A. Clark, Dean Hood, and John Mason. The members of the Psi Upsilon team are B. R. Cook, J. B. McEwen, W. D. Sprague, and J. W. Wykoff.

The "big" squash tournament will face the hardest matches of the season's schedule during February. They will be made up of the members of the various groups were little concerned with the schedule so that all unfinished matches were played off in the first week of February. Chairman F. Isherwood asks that matches be played off within this stated time, so that the winning teamiver will be awarded the Interfraternity Council Bridge Trophy as soon as possible.

Although all scores have not yet been turned in, the final round of the Interfraternity squash tournament is now being played off, in quest of the cup to be offered the winning team by the members of the Interfraternity Council. The results up to date show that the Psi Upsilon and Sigma Nu teams are in the lead, having won nine matches and lost four spoeces. Notwithstanding the results of these two teams, it is believed that the Saint Anthony Hall men have a good chance of taking the championship, having won six tables, although they have not yet played on three matches. The Psi Upsilon team is led by F. Isherwood, chairman of the Council, and the Sigma Nu team is led by closed shortly before examinations period, but permission has been granted to two teams behind the schedule so that all unfinished matches may be played off in the first week of February. Chairman Isherwood asks at this time that all matches be played off within this stated time, so that the winning team may be awarded the Interfraternity Council Bridge Trophy as soon as possible.

In a statement representative of THE TRIP, Chairman Isherwood states that the Interfraternity Council was pleased with the response and the spirit of sportsmanship shown by the various teams in the tournament.
The TRINITY TRIPOD

TRINITY COLLEGE, Hartford, Conn.

Editor. A. E. Holland, '34
Advertising Manager, W. J. Haring, '34
Managing Editor, C. Leonard, '34
Copy Editor, G. H. Day, '34
Artistic Director, J. D. Flynn, Jr., '34

Published bi-weekly during the year.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per Year.

Advertising Rates furnished on application.

THE TRIPOD PROGRESS

The TRIPOD progresses as a result of the cooperation of the students and faculty of Trinity College, and it is our hope that with the hearty cooperation from the students and faculty, it will continue to progress and develop.

The TRIPOD has been shoulder ed by an energetic handful of conscientious workers. Needless to say, the task has been difficult and discouraging at times, but the fruits of our labor are at last beginning to show. For the first time in four years, the actual news work of the paper is being handled almost entirely by representatives of the freshmen and sophomore classes. Financially we are treading on firm ground, having realized a loss of only $25 in last year's fund, and TRIPOD becomes a profit-sharing corporation, with the division of the surplus funds among the executive officers, whose work deserves a reward of "the spoils."

In the past your Alma-teacher has been surprised to have the second part of the story begin on Lake Como instead of in the open little French restaurant on Fifth Avenue, or in the drawing room of the princely husband of Delice. Here there enters a new character, Andrea, a vivid contrast to Dorn in temperament and interest. Here Andrea is a child of the eighties; the life led by aristocratic and leisureed people of income over expenses; and that the view of a mature man of fifty-nine-year-old Philadelphia ancestors behind him, all the traditions of enjoyment. Andrea is then surprised to have the second part of the story begin on Lake Como only opens the door to the crypt, which is already fairly near completion, you have read in the matriculation service when Freshman Wright, Class of 1925, authorized October 14, 1926.

The TRIPOD progresses as a result of the cooperation of the students and faculty of Trinity College, and it is our hope that with the hearty cooperation from the students and faculty, it will continue to progress and develop.

THE JUNIOR PROMENADE

During the past two weeks most of us who compose the genial "family circle" of Trinity, have been inflicted with the nauseating experience of discovering the hollow resonances of the human mind which one must bring to bear in dodging insinuations of an intellectual nature. Many of our comrades, poorly versed in the art of deciding which is what, will be seen in this garbled halls on all sorts of errands, more. Yet there is a happy ending for all. Tradition has handed over the chal lenging of our comrades, whose bank accounts will not warrant attending the festivities of Beauches, we suggest that campus football games might be performed with snowshoes and with an ice ball. In spite of the minor sensational escapades, we earnestly hope that those who are our guests will retain in their memories those excitements which are embodied in the character of a Trinity man.

EDITOR'S NOTE

In his latest novel has started with single character and then confronted an entire cast of characters. His fifty-nine-year-old hero, Mr. Burt, is a retired business man who has resolved to lead a leisurely life around which if nothing else lacks the quality, courtesy, service.

SEE OUR DISPLAY AT THE UNION STREET FESTIVAL, Hartford, Conn.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1931

COMMUNICATIONS

EDITOR'S NOTE

One of the most loyal and active of our Board of Trustees in Richard W. Wright, Class of 1926. Mr. Wright is Editor of "Home and Garden," a well-known and popular magazine, and a member of the board of directors of the National Geographic Society. He has charge of the publication of the magazine, "The American Journal of Economics and Business," and property. After each meeting of the Trustee's Meeting, Mr. Wright finds time to send a series of letters which inform the alumni of what took place at each meeting. It will do your readers good to read the last letter in this series which Mr. Wright sent this month. It brings a new and a fresh view of the situation that does us all good. He has the view of a man of mature age, the world, an enthusiastic optimism for the future of the College, and has no point on the toe of his shoe to keep continually kicking his Alma Mater, and we do well to follow his example.

JOSEPH JUFELFJELT

Dear Judge Kuffingen,

Last year, as one of your Alma­Trustees, I ventured to write you a cross section of the progress of things at Trinity College. Since no one has ever registered a protest I shall continue these letters, written after each meeting of the Trustees.

Several important and memorable things have occurred since the last meeting of the Board of Trustees. There was a Trustee-Faculty dinner, a Sonata for six, and a round of discussion on limiting the student body. The suggestions flattered the ego of the person who had at that time Alumni on the floor below were chewing over the situation.

That We believe him coming from the following day was due to sheer fatigue after our team played a basketball game with them for two and a half quarters.

Before this game, however, came the matriculation service when Freshman took the oath and the nervously read a manuscript of Professor Merritt's musical instruction was evident: the choir sang well and even venturing into the crypt, an anthem, under the able direction of Mr. Kuffingen. It begins to become a bit winded.

At the Trustees' meeting three points were encouraging: The report of the Committee of the Trustees was favorable. At the time Alumni on the floor below were chewing over the situation that does us all good. He has the view of a man of mature age, the world, an enthusiastic optimism for the future of the College, and has no point on the toe of his shoe to keep continually kicking his Alma Mater, and we do well to follow his example.

JOSEPH JUFELFJELT

Dear Judge Kuffingen,

Last year, as one of your Alma­Trustees, I ventured to write you a cross section of the progress of things at Trinity College. Since no one has ever registered a protest I shall continue these letters, written after each meeting of the Trustees.

Several important and memorable things have occurred since the last meeting of the Board of Trustees. There was a Trustee-Faculty dinner, a Sonata for six, and a round of discussion on limiting the student body. The suggestions flattered the ego of the person who had at that time Alumni on the floor below were chewing over the situation.

That We believe him coming from the following day was due to sheer fatigue after our team played a basketball game with them for two and a half quarters.

Before this game, however, came the matriculation service when Freshman took the oath and the nervously read a manuscript of Professor Merritt's musical instruction was evident: the choir sang well and even venturing into the crypt, an anthem, under the able direction of Mr. Kuffingen. It begins to become a bit winded.

At the Trustees' meeting three points were encouraging: The report of the Committee of the Trustees was favorable. At the time Alumni on the floor below were chewing over the situation that does us all good. He has the view of a man of mature age, the world, an enthusiastic optimism for the future of the College, and has no point on the toe of his shoe to keep continually kicking his Alma Mater, and we do well to follow his example.
Hartford, Conn.

...WILLIAMS, with a position regarding the supervision of the officials of the R. O. T. C., in which all members of the Mibhigan teams are enrolled.

The tabulations of the final score recently received by Edward H. Law, '30, of Hartford, who is secretary and treasurer of the Trinity Club, show that all of the Blue and Gold and with the exception of Laubin were defeated by their individual opponents in each of the firing positions. Laubin defeated Walker of the Tech men with a final total of 561 to 554 while following Laubin were H. Ross Mitchell, with a score of 515, tying C. E. Wilkins, '31, of Yale, and H. H. Lawton followed next with the respective totals of 519 and 517.

According to the latest reports received from TRENTON, the Finest of all等文本。
Barry Lasigi, son of Hartford, Miss Ruth Gleason also having a house party. The house tomorrow evening. They are of New York City, Miss Constance chaperones for the week-end are: Mrs. Terry Fitzgerald of Norwich and Miss Ellen Perrichini of New York, Miss Margaret Ward of New York, Miss Mary Edwards of Hartford, and Miss Polly Purden of London, Eng. The chaperones are Mrs. William Even and Mrs. Charles Rohr.

At the dance held last night Mrs. Perkins, Mrs. Ogilvy, Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. L. B. Reisland, Mrs. Humphries and Mrs. Dadeurian were the pu­tronesses. The house was decorated with evergreen.

Lionel Kennedy’s Orchestra played last night at the dance given by the fraternity of Delta Kappa Epsilon. The patronesses were: Mrs. Ogilvy, Mrs. B. W. Bailey, Mrs. Hood, and Mrs. R. E. Ladd. The Deks are not having a house party, but among those who attended the dance were: Miss Frances Ford of Brookline, Mass., Miss Eloise Gardner of New York, Miss Janice Scripture of William­son, Miss Frances Ringleham of Houghton, Mich., Miss Virginia Mitch­ell of Middletown, Miss Olive Love­joy of Pleasant Valley and Miss Jessie Liddle of Windsor.

The fraternity of Delta Phi plans a dance for tomorrow evening at their house. They are having a house party chaperoned by Mrs. Frank Jones and Mrs. Rose Parks. Among those at­tending their party are: Miss Stella Polhemus of New Hyde Park, L. L., Miss Marion Gurkenbough of New York City, Miss Ruth Sherman of Florence, N. Y., Miss Marie Vail of Woodlawn, Conn., Miss Margaret Ward of Hartford, N. Y., Miss Janet Myers of West Hartford and Miss Barry Iasili.

The Sigma Nu Fraternity is having a formal dinner and dance at their house tomorrow evening. They are also having a house party. The chaperones for the week-end are: Mrs. Raymond Segur and Mrs. Raymond Woodward, and among those staying at the house are: Miss Dorothy John­son of Hartford, Miss Ruth Gleason of New York City, Miss Constance Durand of Pompton Lakes, N. J., Miss Harriet Southworth of Southington, Miss Ellen Perrichini of New York, Miss Ellen Faust of Jewett City, Miss Terry Fingalson of Norwich and Miss Virginia Pierson of Tariffville. Among those attending the dinner are Professor and Mrs. Bangs, Pro­fessor and Mrs. Wadmond, Professor

THE HEBULEIN HOTEL

A most Satisfying Hotel, catering to a Select Clientele.

Rates Reasonable.

CLIFFORD D. PERKINS, Proprietor.