Three Records Fall as Blue and Gold Men Demonstrate Ability

DAUT LEADS SCORING

Freshmen Play Large Part in Victory—Swanson Makes Fine Finish

The Trinity track team celebrated its second appearance by simultaneously three college records in a decisive and impressive 72-1 to 53-2 victory over the Massachusetts State last Thursday at the Trinity oval.

Lucius Kellogg, freshman, won the longest jump with a distance of 6 feet, 1 inch in the running high jump, a distance that surpassed the former college record of 6 feet 1 inch made in 1936 by I. K. Baxter. His other notable performances included first place in the running broad jump and third place in the 100-yard dash.

Another freshman, Pierce Alexander, surprised the spectators with a performance that could not be ignored.

CLARK U. TO OPPOSE TRACKMEN HERE FRIDAY

Undecided Blue and Gold Squad Expected to Sweep Third Triumph

A strong Trinity track meet teams its third opponent of the season, the Massachusetts State, Trinity Field Friday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Clark was defeated by an overwhelming score last year and is not expected to seriously threaten the hopes of this year's team for victory.

Coach Ray Oatting has turned out what appears to be the strongest aggregation at Trinity in many years. Decisive conquests over New York City and Massachusetts State's college have already been scored, and that, despite the fact that injuries and illness have deprived them of some of their stars at one or another, of Thyager and Wright in the dashes; W. Adams and Gaidl in the middle distance events and Birch in the longer runs.

The finest performances of the meet have been turned in by Alexander, Thyager and Kellogg, all of whom have shattered college records or which they hold for years against the best efforts of the opposition. They are expected to break them.Swanson, who is as yet unbeaten in either the quarter or half mile events.

The week following the Clark contest will bring as a noticeable feature a relay meet which will bid for additional renown in the New England Eastern Intercollegiates to be held May 11 and 12, Watertown, Massachusetts. Although freshmen are ineligible, much is expected from the other squad college teams. Captain Wilbur, who competes in the hurdles, Bob Daut displayed spectacular performance in the 100 and 200-yard dashes, 175 5/8 inches to break the former record of 166 feet 8" set by "Buck" Smith last year. The 100-yard dash was won by twenty-nine tenths of a second, too fast for two last years' champions.

Summary:

- 130-Yard High Hurdles—Won by Daut; Trinity, second; Christy, Trinity; third, Stephen, Mass. State; time, 16 8/10 seconds.
- 100-Yard Dash—Won by Daut; Trinity, second; Phelan, Christy; third, Green, Trinity; time, 4 4/10 seconds.
- 440-Yard Run—Won by Swan; Trinity, second; Warren, Mass. State; third, McGann, Trinity; time, 53 4/5 seconds.
- Two-Mile Run — Won by Cartl, Mass. State; second, Carleton, Trinity; third, Lau, Trinity; time, 10:31 1/5.

Second Victory in Week for Squad—Worcester Tech Being First Victims

The Trinity College Glee Club made its final appearance of the year in a well attended performance Friday night. The Club did exceptionally well in all its numbers. A musical team and several violin and piano solos completed the program. The concert closed with three numbers in can in after the concert was well in progress. Dancing followed until one o'clock.

The program opened with four songs from the popular musical "Fights of a Negress," "Firefight." "Fain I Would Change That Note," "Adoramus Te" and "Bonnie Dundie," which were impressively done by William F. Devoe and Charles H. Smith made up the next portion of the entertainment. These were followed by four more songs from the opera "Gnomes," "On the Water," "Estrellita," "Fireflies," and "Fireflies," John F. Martens was present as violin soloist, whose songs were followed by another, "the showman's" song, "Johnny Was a Shoemaker," "Bomie Dundie," "Cheer for Old Trin," and "Neath the Statue of Freedom." A successful and well-attended third man flied out to third base and later stole second. Adams struck out two Williams' men, and was put out on a double play when Bockwinkel failed to reach first base. Williams failed to score thereafter, however, as Kelly had flied out, but was stranded after a two base hit and Foehl reached first on balls. The former was discarded by the next play, when Bartlett made a two-base hit and later stole second. The latter was bunted and was stranded on third base after Elliott had stolen two bases. In the third inning, after Russell was retired, Sheehan of Williams singled and scored on a double play when Bockwinkel failed to reach first base. Adams struck out the next two men.

VOTE TWICE

Our title does not refer to stuffing any ballot-boxes. It means, rather, that every man interested in this college should cast two ballots. A student is to have his official vote at every election and another at the questionnaire run by the Tripod.

Every student at Trinity should, by paying his class dues, be able to have an equal chance in the free discussion of matters of interest to the student body. It is high time that a college president, or any other officer, was elected by his fellow students. A student's privilege of being put into his office by a majority of the students in school, not simply handed his position by a small group of men, who have been able to pay the high class dues in effect until the recent action taken by the Senate.

The Senate has probably done everything in its power to make the student's vote as useless as possible. No student has a chance to have his vote count unless the student body is not satisfied with the way the college is run.

After you have voted for the student officers, you should step into the Tripod Office and cast your opinions on many important Tripod and campus questions. We have attempted to formulate a list of questions which will be of general interest. We are giving you a chance to voice your opinion so that we may measure the campus "pulses", so to speak, on such questions as physical education requirements, student's part in his education, etc. If, then, they display these same faculties by passing five course with good grades in his freshman year, why shouldn't he have the privilege of taking six courses his sophomore year, rather than having to wait until his junior or senior years without being penalized for it? The crux of the matter seems to be the proof of the capability and interest of the student. Any other yard-stick would appear arbitrary.

If, as is supposed, the rule is designed to penalize the failures of retarded pupils, particularly in the first year, it would certainly be possible to grant an exception in the case of any student who had passed with specified grades all required courses to date permitting him to take one more course each year than he had passed the previous year without extra charge. And, if the rule is also planned for revenue, let the charge be extra for courses too liberal to make up for the "free" scholars, so long as this permissive exception is not allowed. Unless there is a startling change in undergraduate scholarship, the free exceptions cannot be carried by the increased penalties on those it is designed to affect!

But, if the rule is not designed to penalize any student, let us not, as a liberal institution, place a premium on the desirability and willingness of any student to do more than a bare minimum to secure a broad education. We would like to feel that every student in this college had the same idea about his college. It would make a difference.

WE ARE MORE THAN A MIRROR

The assertion is often made that a campus mirror is the "mirror of the campus". It has always been our idea that a mirroring is a flattening thing to say that a paper reflects the opinions of its student-readers. The Tripod as an exception of its news columns, is far from a simple reflector—it is a mirror. For it not only presents in the same way a convex lens concentrates the sun's rays to a burning point. Such concentration will eliminate waste and shape our thoughts into something resembling (perhaps only faintly) useful ends.

The Tripod will not be published next Tuesday, May 10. However, a Senior Week-end issue will appear on Saturday of that week.

THE GOOD EARTH, by Pearl S. Buck. Published by Doubleday & Company. As the title suggests, this is an epic of the Soil—a story of Chinese peasant life describing one man's pride and love for his land. The hero enjoys prosperity for a time at first, then suffers famine and enforced departure to the southern rice provenc. Later returns triumphant to his native home, where he remarries, and eventually becomes very rich. None of his sons inherits his love for the earth, and the story is disappointing in the planning to sell out to the city while over his very death-bed it is well worth reading.

 RETURN OF THE HERO, by Durrell Figgis. Published by Boni. The exceptional and somewhat confusing title refers to three legends, centering around the heroic figure of Fimne Macmillan. It is not a new book, having been published in England in 1923 under the pseudonym of Michael Ireland. It has poetry, wit, and a certain skill in execution that make it extremely agreeable reading. The style is in keeping with the actual description, it does not attempt to be modern while capturing the spirit of "Figgis' been insight and ability in description add greatly to the general enjoyment of the subject-matter. The preface is by James Stephens.

TUESDAY, MAY 3, 1932

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TRIPOD,

Dear Sir,

I have just read with interest your editorial of April 30 regarding the College rule, now under consideration, which would require an extra payment of five dollars for each course over five which an undergraduate may take in a year. I agree with you entirely in your position upon this system which penalizes the hard-working and intelligent student under the pretext of jacking up the college dues. I am sure you do not compromise your purpose does not seem to me to meet your thesis. The purpose of taking six courses his sophomore year, rather than having to wait until his junior or senior years without being penalized for it? The crux of the matter is to be the proof of the capability and interest of the student. Any other yard-stick would appear arbitrary.

South Pole Expedition
Speaks

President Remsen B. Ogilby, introduced Dr. Laurence M. Gould to the audience which attended the performance of "Explorers of the World," the new talking adventure film at the Horace Bushnell Memorial Hall. Dr. Gould, who was second-in-command of the Byrd Expedition to the South Pole, spoke briefly before the performance. At the matinee he was introduced by Fred D. Wish, Jr., superintendent of schools.

In addition to the explorers' film, the Memorial presented the new screen operetta, "Paws in Boots," the lyrics of which were written by Robert A. Simon and the music by Nathaniel Shilkret, conductor of the Victor Symphony Orchestra. This picture was enthusiastically received in each of its showings at the hall.

BURFEINDT LEARNS TO FLY UNDER DESCOMB

Last week Fred J. Burfeindt, '34, was checked out for a pilot's license by Inspector George P. Kane of the State Department of Aeronautics. Burfeindt is the first Trinity student to learn to fly while attending college.

Taking his instruction in brief periods between classes, he completed his dual time in nine hours and 15 minutes, which is far better than the average, according to his instructor, Charles Descomb.

Burfeindt, whose home is in New York, said that he intends to continue flying at Brainard Field until he has graduated. According to his instructor, he secures this rating.

He plans to enter the Army Air Service.

PROF. ADAMS SERVES PATRIOTIC SOCIETY

Represents General Court of Founders and Patriots of America

During the George Washington Bicentennial ceremonies Professor Adams was a representative of one of the four patriotic societies which gave the government a group of historical portraits at Arlington House in Washington. Assistant Secretary Payne of the Department accepted the paintings.

The ceremonies were part of an effort to revive an old custom started by George Washington Parke Custis of an annual gathering at the Riverside mansion. Professor Adams presented a copy of Stuart's Eleanor Custis on behalf of the General Court of the Order of Founders and Patriots of America. Other societies represented were the General Society Sons of the Revolution, the Society of Cincinnati, and the Society of Colonial Wars.
