Squad Faces Hard Schedule with Six Contests—First Eleven Looks Promising

After several weeks of hard practice, the football team, under the able coaching of Dan Jesse, is beginning to shape up well. With the opening game still less than a month away, the very stiff schedule ahead, the Blue and Gold this year boasts a slightly heavier, stronger, and more powerful team that is endowed with a real fighting spirit. Every man of the team realizes that victory is secure or not, is putting everything he has into the game. This constant drive on the offensive to an even keel shows the difference between the team of 1933 and last year.

Jack Maher, the choice of several sports writers for All-New England, has learned to live his time and experience life. Hardier and stronger than ever, Maher is a real team man, and his exceptional defensive ability and his constant drive will make him one of the outstanding centers of this section.

The whole situation—Kingsley will team with Jack Amport, who returned this year heavier, faster, and more experienced. His combination of speed and ball-carrying ability should make him an even more valuable man this year. The veteran Sammels will play the important fullback position.

With such a strong team the Blue and Gold should seem to have a very bright outlook, but there is one great weakness. This is the lack of reserve material. At present Coach Jesse is working with a squad of twenty, several of whom are light and inexperienced. It means easily the spoiling of a great game after the first few games have been played. Stronger and more experienced team members, Brewer, Haring, and Snowden, have been called away. It is hoped, however, that the opening of college may bring in replacements to the Blue and Gold.

The cross-country team will come out. 1935 delegation, which includes the Faculty team, is one of the feature events of the fall. The first meet is one of the feature events of the fall. The first meet is expected to last longer than last year, and Coach O'Galsop hopes that a large number of candidates will remain from last year are Gladwin, Harris, Lue, and Christiansen. Harris set the course record in the meet with Coast Guard Academy last year, and much is expected of him. Lue was ineligible, and his return is heartily welcomed. However Christiansen was not a member of the team, but the rapid last year and it is hoped that he will show up this fall. Woodrow, who was a member of the team, is a candidate for the football team, and consequently lost to the Blue and Gold.

TO THE FRESHMEN

It has often been said that advice is the cheapest thing in the world. Freshmen, and hardly anyone else, can hear such words, and with no reason to suppose that any one will now go and say the same to you, new men, may be futile. However, there is much that can be said in welcoming you to Trinity College which will make your stay a pleasant and a profitable one.

Trinity is a small school, its facilities are limited, and you will do well to come to terms with the conditions and requirements set up by that, and not by the individual. But it is quite certain that you will find a happy and contented life at Trinity, and that you will make the most of your time there.

The academic year is divided into two terms, the fall term beginning on September 20 and the spring term beginning on January 14.

Soccer Team to Hold Practice Wednesday
Candidates to Report to Coach Wright—Squad to Play Four Games

The first fall for soccer candidates will be held Wednesday, September 27, under the direction of Coach Gilbert V. Wright. Coach Wright will be assisted by Charles O. Bierkan, '34. The team faces a hard schedule, meeting such teams as Massachusetts State, Connecticut State, Wesleyan, and Amherst.

In previous years, the team has been scheduled to meet only one college team, Wesleyan. Last year the schedule included Connecticut State as well as Wesleyan. Thus the soccer team will be competing against more seasoned teams than it has met formerly.

Among the mainstays from last year are Warner and Motton, fullbacks; MacGuire and Mauer, halfbacks; Lobb, Hormdes, Howay, Underdog, and Irving. Forwards: With these men as a nucleus, Coach Wright will work the new men into the team. Since soccer is not recognized as a regular college sport, freshmen and transfers are eligible to try out for the team.

The schedule is as follows:
October 21—Massachusetts State, at Amherst.
October 24—Connecticut State, at Storrs.
November 3—Wesleyan, at Hartford.
November 10—Amherst, at Amherst.

CROSS-COUNTRY SCHEDULE.
