Charles Buell, former All-American football star at Harvard and now an instructor at Milton Academy, was the chief speaker of the evening. He talked on "Out-weighing the other fellow" in the field of sports, selecting training, luck, and optimism as the three necessary qualities. Dr. Ogilvy also spoke.

The end came as the President Vanbrugh was entering Manila Harbor in the Philippine Islands. Funeral services were held in the following day in the Manila Cathedral by Bishop Moore. Mrs. Galpin will return home by way of Europe.

SOCIETIES HAVE VALUE

Fraternities that observe "Hell Week" are out of step with the spirit of fraternity, said Mr. Norman F. Hackett, Traveling Secretary of Theta Delta Chi, in an address delivered before the Interfraternity Council and its guests, both students and alumni of Theta Delta Chi and other colleges, on Tuesday evening, April 2. The talk, the first of its kind to be given here, was delivered in Cook Lounge. Representaives of various fraternities were present.

Speaker Compares Good Points with "Stressful Need of Council and Cooperation"

The chief service of a house to college men, in order to meet the increasingly strict demands of modern business as to qualifications, is to provide them with extra-curricular activities, and scholarship, Mr. Hackett said. He stated that college men in order to meet the increasingly strict demands of modern business as to qualifications, are out of step with the spirit of fraternity, and that fraternities possess these values and in addition build character in the individual. It is time to distinguish between the spirit of being a gentleman and the spirit of fraternity, he added. The speaker divided his time into three parts. In the first he said that fraternity men are out of step with the spirit of fraternity, and that fraternities possess these values and in addition build character in the individual. The second part of the talk was devoted to the problem of rushing and its attendant evils. Mr. Hackett stated that, while

BASEBALL CANDIDATES REPORT FOR INITIAL OUTDOOR PRACTICE

Some thirty-five candidates for the baseball team are working in the time of weeks of indoor practice, have been working out on the diamond under the direction of Coach Gil Wright. Several of the latter's team last year's ready to resume their positions, and the nucleus of the nine will be built around them. Captain Bill Hunting, who has seen service for the past three seasons, is ready to shoulder the bulk of the pitching assignments. Jack Amory is again on hand to be the promising end of the batting. The infield will be intact, except for the top cap, basely filled by Bobbin who captained the 1932 team. John Kelly, who led the team with the willow, will again bear the brunt of the mid-way sack. Tommy Keays and Minnie have been doing the right hand side of the infield again at shortstop and third base. The outer garden will still be open. Bob Parker, a promising freshman, has been the leading candidates for the initial attack, to round out another veteran inner defense. Foreman and Dowses are batting out of the substitute role at second base, the latter's fielding has been so remarkable that the third, Micky Kohokho, George Sutler, and Lindall appear as the most promising men in the infield. Amore will have the assistance of Gil Smith for the upper right. In addition to Captain Hunting, the hurling corps will be composed of Bob Galpin, Bill Bullard, Saville, and Dowses.

Present prospects for a successful season are quite promising, and the veterans and new candidates prepare for the opening game with Clark University. The schedule is an

AN EXCHANGE STUDENT LOOKS AT HAWAII.

By William H. Roney.

I. Introducing Hawaii.

The Hawaiian Islands may be the most isolated land in the world, but they are by no means the least important because of their policy. Despite 2,100 miles of ocean water separating them from the California coast, modern means of communication and transportation have made them a terminal community rivaling the most progressive areas of the mainland. This latter fact may be a surprise to many, for the average American's conception of Hawaii is usually somewhat antiquarian, based more upon fiction than fact.

For most of us, Hawaii has been pictured as the King of the South Pacific," where all live in grass huts and do nothing but enjoy the sun, the breeze, and the balmy dance of the Pacific." To exaggerate in comic beauty is the very idea of a part of the world.

The Hawaiians have much to be proud of, but there is much more to be proud of for their loyalty to the college and to his friends. He was, in brief, the embodiment of the perfect gentleman.

II. People and Culture.

For an area so small as Hawaii, there could scarcely be a more fertile field for criticism by the students of the island. In Hawaiian culture, photography makes an ideal point which Mr. Hackett addressed. It was the value of the Interfraternity Council. We were pleased to hear that such a group of representatives of the student body was being recognized as the student council here at Trinity. It is still toddling along in the infant stage and is therefore none too strong as yet. We noted particularly that he stressed the idea of having as few regulations as possible in running, but pointed out the absolute necessity of complete and whole-hearted observance of whatever rules there are. While the Junior representatives of our houses are struggling toward an agreement which it is hoped will represent a crystallization of constructive legislation, let us recommend this thought for their consideration.

The last notable feature was the matter of great interest which the speaker discussed—so many that we are tempted to prolong a reflective sketch indefinitely. It was that the students were not present, but those who missed Mr. Hackett's address are not made aware of their mistake by this similar talk. We extended to Mr. Hackett, and we hope that a similar talk will be made possible in the near future.

AN APPROPRIATE TALK

Fortunate indeed were those students who attended the talk by Norman Hackett, '37. Cook Institute last night who heard that they heard a straightforward and intelligent discussion of the pros and cons of the fraternity system by a man who is not only well qualified for such an audience, but who also knew his young men as well. It was perhaps the best talk of its kind heard here in several years, as it dealt with problems which face undergraduate education every day.

Particularly pertinent were Mr. Hackett's remarks concerning "Hell Week." Frequently, the term is used somewhat fancifully to oppose to those more violent aspects of initiation week, pleading for giving us this opportunity, we extend our appreciation of his years of faithful service to the college. He will long be remembered for his kindness, his keen sense of humor, and his appreciation of his students.

It was not easy to choose which section of Mr. Hackett's talk was the value of the Interfraternity Council. We were pleased to hear that such a group of representatives of the student body is being recognized as the student council here at Trinity. It is still toddling along in the infant stage and is therefore not too strong as yet. James Frankel, '36, of Brooklyn, N.Y., received honorable mention for his play, "Two's A Crowd," which will also be presented this season.

JUNIOR CLASS ELECTS MOWBRAY PRESIDENT FOR TRIPORTY TERM

McCook Chosen Vice-President, Wardner Secretary-Treasurer at Special Meeting

At the last meeting of the Junior Class, officers for the Trinity Term were elected. T. H. Mowbray was again chosen to office of President. J. S. McCook was elected Vice-President, and W. J. Wardner was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer. This special meeting was held for the election of officers, owing to the fact that at a previous meeting many were unable to attend because of the severe storm.

Mowbray is prominent in campus activities, being a member of the tennis, track, swimming, and soccer teams. His home is in Bermuda. McCook is the Editor of the Tripod, the Ivy, and a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity. Wardner is on the varsity basketball team and the track squad, and is a member of Alpha Delta Phi.

PROF. BARRET ATTENDS ANNUAL MEETING OF ORIENTAL SOCIETY

Re-elected Corresponding Sec'y; Announces New Publication for Journal

During April 3, 4 and 5 Professor Barret attended the annual meeting of the Oriental Society, which was held in Philadelphia at the University of Pennsylvania. As is customary for a specified term of office, he was re-elected to the position of Corresponding Secretary. His chief participation in this last meeting consisted of a report concerning the "Kashmir Atharva Veda," which he has been editing in a serious form. He announced that the 16th Book is now prepared for publication, and will appear in the Journal of that society, as have the previous numbers.

The purpose of this organization, as the name would suggest, is for promoting interest in the Far East, chiefly from a literary or classical standpoint. About a hundred members attended this month's gathering, and some fifty papers were presented, covering various Oriental topics and fields.

ORGAN RECITAL SUNDAY

On Sunday, April 22, Mr. Watters will give a recital on the Chapel organ at 4 o'clock.
