Although no definite rate of pay for the students has been announced yet, Professor Taylor said he thought the canvassers would receive a small amount of time and would be assigned work on a monthly basis.

The general purpose of the work, according to an announcement, is to collect funds for the benefit of the college and for the support of the college.

The canvassers for the purpose of raising money for the college will be appointed by the college authorities and will be paid a small amount of money for each dollar collected.

CLASS DUES ON THE COLLEGE BILL.

The Senate’s resolution to petition the Trustees to have all class dues put on the Term bill is an expression of sentiment which has been felt by the student body for some time. We can all appreciate how inadequate the present system of collection by class officers has proved to be, and many of us realize that the financial burden of these class dues is carried by only a limited number. Consequently, the only class function left to us now is the annual dance, simply because there isn’t enough in the treasury to permit other activities, and any past dance chairman can tell us that it is hard enough to accumulate the required amount to hold this prom through the voluntary payment of dues.

Consider some of the benefits which would result from such a measure. First, the amount now annually raised would be sufficient to carry the small sum of a dollar a term, on the College bill. In the first place, it would insure a far better class spirit. Each man could feel that he was a member of his group in good standing, entitled to all its privileges, and would, therefore, feel free to join in its activities. Dance chairmen could arrange their programs without the constant thought that their dance was destined to be a financial failure. Their only question being how far in the red it would go, Additional functions, such as class smokers and banquets, could be held, to promote a closer class feeling. And what a difference in the inclusion of these dues, which now amount to the small sum of thirty dollars a year, would make in the annual college body elections! Instead of being in the same class, they reply that athletics are a definite serious doubt the advisability of including the spirit needs attention,

Question—What do you think of the proposed abolition of the buzzer system?

Anchovy Dugg, ’35.

Of course the present buzzer system for announcing the end of class periods is an outmoded relic of the last century. However, before we discard it, we must find a feasible scheme of letting the class know the hour is at hand. The opportunity to study the eccentricities of almost all of our professors, and afterward to discover that they can fill the place of the buzzer. The present bill, which contains a provision that will make the period automatically over after the professor has cleared the room, is a feasible scheme, searching vaguely for the right word. Other sections could be: a limit of thirty times for butting and unputting the co at, an allowance of fire “Johnes” accompanied by giggles and absolutely not more than two meals of pass out the door. If those who elect to sleep in class are unwilling to be awakened by the thunder of the re­ ceiving herd who keep count, it is not the fault of the system—it’s the individual.

Anthony Trippett, ’35.

I am so glad you boys have been thoughtful enough to realize what the buzzer means to those who have had the privilege of being the first to run into the frame on the buzzer. The system has been almost screamed every time those awful things went off. I suggest that one member of the house be appointed timekeeper, and when the fifty min­ utes were up he should get up and bow to the professor. The professor should return the bow and inform the class politely that the period was over. Then we could all get up and march on our little gentlemen. Just think how grateful our tiny curving nerves would be!

Dr. Raymond Walker sees increase in Medical Field

College enrollment in the United States this year is only a little behind that of last year, which was nearly two decades ago, according to the annual report of Dr. Raymond Walker, professor at the School of Medicine of Cincinnati. Full-time enrollment is up by 1 per cent. of last year's total while freshman registrations increased by 1.4 per cent., the survey further says.

The report was divided sectionally, there being eight divisions included. There were indications that he will again make the point that all other states with an increase of more than 1.5 per cent. of last year's total are from the Connecticut institutions.

Increase were prominent in the middle and far west. The so-called "Mountain" section led all other districts with a sectional gain of 1.4 per cent. Dr. Walker attributed these gains to its wider opportunities of the states in this geographical region. The states showing the most gain were: Oregon, New Mexico, Utah, California. All other states experience slight decrease as one of the states reporting the most significant fall was Massachusetts, which was 3.6 per cent. behind last year while the state with the greatest increase was California, with a gain of 7 per cent. Dr. Walker also stated that the states with a slight decrease was 5 per cent. behind last year, the state with the greatest increase was California, with a gain of 7 per cent. Dr. Walker also stated that the states with a slight decrease was 5 per cent. behind last year, the organization of the state's athletic programs were the primary cause for these differences.

"Poppy" Martin, playing his first game at a guard position, gave early indications that he will again make a name for himself in New England court circles. The nimble-fingered Blue and Gold captain, whose brilliant play last season earned him a first team berth at forward on the All New England five, gave a classy exhibition of back-court ball handling and footnote.

Statistics show that the Oustingleemen have won twenty-two of their last twenty-five games on the chalkboard court over a period of two years! Just another record for the gymnasts to add to, too, in the future. Mickey Koldovsky, nowhere near as tall as some of the more recent Trinity tap-off men, surprised everyone with his consistent ability to control the jump none-the-less. He must have springs in his feet, for his rival had at least two and one-half inches better, that is, in actual height.

Leather facings were rather poor. With stands up put on only one side of the gym. Of course the spectators were forced to stand throughout the evening to witness the game.

After playing through the entirevigorous and unrelenting game, the red faced performers emerged exhilarated through the first half with a badly twisted ankle. It all goes to show that the team is superior.

The Jayvees gave a truly worthwhile first showing. It was as bad a performance as the writer hopes never to see again. Of course the coaching staff is handicapped by the large number of likely fresh prospects who were recently put on scholarship probation. But we know of a few men left in school who could play better ball than that exhibited Saturday night, if they were allowed the chance.

CREDITS WHERE IT IS DUE.

Another fall has come and gone and Soccer and Cross-Country are still unanimous that the season could have been made again and again against the sternest intercollegiate competition. Again the Blue and Gold in these sports are equal to or ahead of any sort, even in the classics! All of our opponents, as well as most of the college, agree that the men recognize their teams in some fashion or another. We are forced to admit that she is still in the "dark ages" of athletics when unfair activities happen between the various fields of sport. Or is it just that our Athletic Advisory Board is composed of students interested in headband. All indications seem to point to the latter.

In fairness to the men who have taken regular part in these two sports, we, the editors, have decided to publish a Roll of Honor listing the outstanding men in these activities this fall. Many of these men are up-countrymen who have been too busy to try, for two or more seasons, but who are only "invited to attend" the banquet at which their marvelous achievement in the Varsity and varsity football squads will be recognized. The list follows:

SWIMMERS SUFFER LOSS.

The enforced resignation of Terry Merriweather from his swimming team and captaincy, due to a serious sinus infection, is a blow to the hopes of the natators, faced as they are with a difficult eight-month schedule this winter. The example of the expert coach done by Joe Clark, Newroly, who was only a fair swimmer his freshman year, had developed rapidly into the mainstay of his team's campaigns. At time one or another, the natators have been able to live embers. Trinity have a chance to win the meet.

Mr. Maxon rises. He looks toward Coach Battersby. "I'm afraid Coach Battersby is too modest. If it is safe to say that with due credit to you all players that the game was made something to do, too, with the fine record you made, however. Let's have a cheer. Wish him the best of luck, boys." Plewe jumps up. "O.K. What about a 'Bob Battersby'? ATHENAEUM GETS REPORT OF ANTI-WAR MEETING

Flynn, Davis Tell of Worcester Conference—Debate Plans Announced

Reports of the proceedings of the Worcester Anti-War Conference of November 9 to 11, were delivered at the meeting of the Athenaeum Society on Tuesday, December 11. John Flynn discussed the relation of the munition-makers to war, and Harry J. Davis presented the arguments made at the conference concerning Fascism and war. According to Mr. Flynn, the conference was disposed to regard the manufacture of munitions by private concerns as an important cause in precipitating war. Mr. Davis summarized briefly the arguments outstanding for Trinity and R. Mitchell scoring two points for the Northeastern club. Mitchell, who is the former Connecticut State chess champion, is extended in his match with Demioff of Trinity and was able to win only after the latter made a costly error towards the end of the match.

Chapel Notes

On Wednesday evening, December 15, the workmen who built the College Chapel will hold their annual reunion. While the Chapel was in construction, they worked regularly every week, and they occasionally dined together to talk over the progress of the building and to hear addresses by various persons. They will hold a service in the Crypt Chapel on Wednesday at six o’clock, as they used to do during the process of the building, and then will adjourn to the College Commons for dinner.

At the Vesper Service on Sunday evening, January 6, a carved pew-end, presented to the Chapel by St. Paul’s School, Concord, will be unveiled and dedicated. Mr. John Richards, a member of the Faculty, who has been active in arranging for this pew-end, will make the presentation. A special invitation to attend the service has been extended to graduates of St. Paul’s School in this vicinity.

If during the coming winter during a snowstorm students see smoke ascending from the roof of the Chapel, they need not turn in an alarm of fire, as it is not smoke but live ashes. Last year the formation of ice from melting and re-freezing snow on the roof above the organ let in water, which came near causing serious damage to the organ. This summer live steam pipes have been carried up to the gutters so that, as soon as snow begins to fall, a valve is opened and live steam is released along the gutters to melt the snow as it falls.
