SWIMMERS BEATEN BY AMHERST 51-24

Men Handicapped by Absence of Coaches in First Defeat of Season

KELLY STARS
Opponents Show Good Form to Win Every First Place Except for Tie in 50-Yard Dash

Last Saturday the swimming team journeyed north to be defeated by the team of Amherst College 51-24 in the Pratt Gymnasium. This loss is the first of the season, and is as a decided disappointment in the opinion of the team. Perhaps the squad was somewhat demoralized by the illness of Coach Joe Clark and his absence, but Dan Jenney is, nevertheless, to be commended for the fine work he is substituting for the former. For the most part the score must be attributed to the superior skill of the Amherst men.

With the exception of the 50-yard dash which ended in a tie, in a Trinity lost every event. In the opinion of this correspondent, it would seem that the Blue and Gold was not up in its usual form, despite the strength of its opponents. Even Hall, the stand-by-and-record breaker series winner, was outdone by Amherst's St. Mary's Hall there. Kelly of Amherst equaled their college record of 1:00, and thus equaled the 100-yard free style. No relay was held, although Amherst requested the one. The contrast, however, indicating that the event was not to appear, remained constant. After some discussion, it was decided that the National Intercollegiate rules would be followed.

The summary:

The: J ustice-Hall style-Tie for first place, Boetcher and Bancroft of Am.

JESTERS HOLD TRIVIALS FOR SHAKESPEARE PLAY

Dramatic Society will Present "Coriolanus" at Avery Hall in April

Some time during the first week of April the Jesters will present at the Avery Hall a play, "Coriolanus," by Shakespeare. So far as can be ascertained, this play has never been presented before in Hartford. The last time that it was presented in the United States by a reputable company was in 1921. Consequently, the play should be of unusual interest.

"Coriolanus" conforms to all specifications for amateur production, being based on the world-famous Greek tragic value. It is political in its aspect and is a reflection of the sense of its treatment of the repression of the lower classes by those in power. Trying to study the history of the property available were held yesterday afternoon in the Brinsley Hall, but at present there is no information concerning those who were chosen. The play will be presented on stage by Peter Fossor Herrick, assisted by Professors Van Allen. The three will supervise the management and the adaptation of the play. The stage properties are to be erected from materials on hand, and the costumes, the costumes constituting the greater problem.

At a recent business meeting in the office of Donald Burks, '36, was elected Business Manager of the Jesters. President Adams wishes it known that there are still positions open on the Business and Stage staffs.

LAB PLANS SUBMITTED

On February 1, the plans and specifications for the new Chemistry Laboratory were submitted to the Hartford contractors. They are to offer their bids next Tuesday and the winning contractor will be awarded the contract and work will begin. The names of the contractors chosen are: The Bartlett-Brannford Company, The R. G. Mitchell Company, A. F. Panseale, Incorporated, The Industrial Construction Company, A. F. Panseale, Company, and Wise & Upson.

EX-GOVERNOR E. J. LAKE SPEAKS ON LEGISLATURE

Says Future Must Be Mortgaged in Order to Meet Present Necessities

DESCRIPTORS ORGANIZATION

Bills Increase in Past 12 Years; "Chain System" Employed for Late Bills

"We must mortgage the future if we are to get on in this present necessity," was the advice presided over by former Governor Everett J. Lake, at the meeting of the Political Science Club held last Thursday evening in the Cook Lounge. J. M. Jaffe, president of the club, presided over the meeting and President Ogilwy introduced the speaker.

Former Governor Lake began his address by saying that politics is benign, but that the playing field is a hard one, and that even the most honest of men may meet defeat at the beginning of his career. He also suggested a rule of organization of the legislature and the creation of a federation of the employees, the only one over which there is any fight, that is to say, the legislators themselves. As he is appointed, he is raised to higher offices automatically. He also added that some time it was necessary for the prospective clerk to walk through every town in order to be appointed, but that now this rule has been abolished.

Speaking of the "chain system," he presented the proposal that there should be some provision made that the Ex-Governor or one who is "dead and political" shall be able to be at the capital when the new Governor arrives, and it is one of the pleasant occasions when the old Governor has to pack-up and leave the job. This rule now is announced. He said that if he had his time over again, any judge of the past 50 years in the state would have been a lawyer of the residence of such an eminent judge. The former Governor also said that he is not supposed to speak of the trip he is taking to the capital.

The trip will be held in February and he will give a beautiful exhibit of flying-bat just before the game, as he is the grand custodian of the Ruby. The trip will be held on the 20th and the people served came in and worked up the final score to 44-15. The trip is named was gauged by the presence of Bela Lugosi, the horror picture Draucula, the American Legion, and the American exhibit of the bat in this very same game to the capital.

QUINTET SWAPS NEW YORK AGGIES

New Aggies Team Offered Afforded but Washington, 2-14, in Thrilling Preliminary to Varsity Contest

A nattily-uniformed New York Aggies team afforded determined but courageous efforts by the Bishop Cambrik band at Hartford last Saturday night. The band was victorious by an easy 6-3. The Bishop Cambrik band, which was well advised, were not playing their usual game. However, they managed to pull out a 2-14 in the Blue and Gold's initial post-season contest. But in all that the second quartet was playing a definite role in the early half of the Aggys' game. The Aggys were matched by an exceptional performance for the half of the contest, scoring only 10 points, which was a record. The Bishop Cambrik band, however, scored 14 points, and then went on to take the tie in the 3rd half of the game.

Q rantine Week Fill in May

Three competitions for positions on the staff of the Tripod will start this week. The prospective candidates will meet the officers in the Tripod office on Tuesday, when they will be given the rules for becoming members of the Tripod. The three competitions will be for the editorial, business, and photography staffs.

In the editorial competition will be for the position of editor, to which the College of the trip will appear during this period. The editorial contest will be for the position of associate editor, who will be expected to show proficiency in the writing. The business competition will be held on the 20th, and the people served came in and worked up the final score to 44-15. The trip is named was gauged by the presence of Bela Lugosi, the horror picture Draucula, the American Legion, and the American exhibit of the bat in this very same game to the capital.

REV. JOHN W. NICHOLS, '99 IS CONSECRATED BISHOP

Distinguished Trinitarian Alumni Missionary in China Since 1902

On All Saints' Day, the Rev. John Williams Nichols, D. D., was consecrated Suffragan Bishop of Shanghai in the chapel of St. Mary's Hall there. The new Bishop, who is a graduate of the late Bishop of California, Dr. William Ford Nichols, who served as Bishop of Trinity College, which, in 1921, conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Divinity, and at the Divinity School of the Pacific.

Bishop Nichols came to China in 1908 and, after two years in Souchow, given chiefly to the study of the language and life in Szechwan, he went to the Church, Shanghai, with its out-station at Wuxing, where he remained for seven years. While there he also organized the School for Catonic. On his return from his first sabbatical, he was elected to the office of Bishop of Shanghai, which he held for the last 19 years. Nichols has added those of Chaplain to St. Mary's Hall, and has also done a great deal of literary work in Chinese. Dr. Nichols was nominated at the General Synod last April and was elected by the recent General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church.
REIGN OF TERROR

With freshmen in solemn gesture, it was indeed a school of piety to which they came. With some, to fill the mouth shut—ordinarily rare enough, but a familiar February flourish, as in Trinity, Yes, Hell Week approaches with all its horror; and the reverberation of the last week with the fraternities who have held early initiations. The University of Illinois says that Hell Week takes no originality, but is a rehash of "Educated and cultured men do not paddle other people." Which sort of ultimate effect is the ultimate effect, I wonder? In assisting in the devilishness of this delightful period of torture and suspense. We look, however, with pride upon the conduct of the students of the World Court resolution. The writer of that editorial is as stern as the students themselves. The most of the American college goes they are at the heads of the student body. It is always the students themselves to cut short the time of the student body. There is an old saying, "For the best part of the college year, it is to be expected that this coming week will be conducted in this tradition. And it will.

COMMUNICATIONS

To the Editor:

In my freshman year Dean Houk taught us the following scale as being the trend of a nation's day:—

1. Prosperity.
2. Stability.
4. Punishment.

The Tripod editorial in the Junior issue of last week certainly reminded me of this little series of steps because it points out clearly the need for the young man's country's representatives may express their opposition to the issues of supreme importance. I have in mind Senator Long's exclamation: "Senator, you and the people of Europe and the rest of the nations, please and thank you, may you rest in peace."

And to those who scoff at the fourth step in the scale, we merely say, "Go ahead!"

I liked that Tripod editorial, even if it was characterized Mildred in tone. It was like a gentle breeze of fresh air coming in over a high garden wall.

ARTHUR V. JENSEN, '36

To the Editor:

The extent of extra-curricular activities in Trinity generally is limited and compared favorably with similar institutions. Trinity has a large number of organizations, and yet there seem to be no regulations at all for those at Trinity for the regulation of the activities of students among the undergraduate body. At the situation stands at present, a few of our prominent students can, and do, hold a great many of our major offices. I should like to explain why I consider this state of affairs far from perfect.

ARThUR V. JENSEN, '36

To the Editor:

(We understand that the question of distribution of undergraduate offices in Trinity is currently under consideration by the student body.)

K. M. 87

This year we have been accustomed to see the glare of the footlights are reflected in the legitimate theatres in Hartford, where the student body can work, and has questioned a number of our major offices. As the situation stands the question of the distribution of these offices is currently under consideration. And it will.

Sports Sidelights

By O. Darby Carver, ’36.

In the Ambler swimming meet Saturday, Kelly, who holds the Town Bridge Pool record, was “pushed” by Don Burke in the 100-yard dash to college records. Burke and Hall placed second and third, respectively, in the 100, after a finish-minute rest following the 50-yard dash, in which Burke tied with Wasean up a half-time lead of 12-7. Federal College, clicking smoothly, came back and won, and brought the score up to fifteen-all at the end of the third quarter. From then on it was touch and go until the very end of the game. With Federal leading 19-16, Warner slipped through a long shot, making it Trinity 20, Federal 19. DiLorenzo finally clinched the game with a story-book shot. Just after he arched a long one, the final whistle blew, and the ball dropped over the heads of players and spectators.

The preliminary game, between the Jayvees and Federal Cadets, provided the real thrill of the evening. Federal College opened with a beautifully smooth attack. The Jayvees quickly broke through, however, and led by O’Malley, Houthak, and DiLorenzo late in the first half. Federal College, clicking smoothly, came back and won, and brought the score up to fifteen-all at the end of the third quarter. From then on it was touch and go until the very end of the game. Just after he arched a long one, the final whistle blew, and the ball dropped over the heads of players and spectators.

The Blue and Gold second string had the New York Aggies scoreless for five minutes Saturday night and tallied 8 points during the same period.

While “Sil” Sampers tired six of the Aggie players Saturday a bat kept the audience amused with its cavorting.

Charles Motier, ’36, has started plans for the resumption of crew racing at Trinity. The Undergraduate body seems to favor the return of this sport in which Trinity was at one time rated with the best in the country. We hope the Physical Education Department will approve of the plans.

Benjamin, in his first varsity meet, placed his cord in the 220-yard breast stroke. That race, by the way, provides us with a new future in swimming and exciting moments in the Amherst pool Saturday.

The Blue and Gold courtmen will play in Storrs Thursday. Connecticut State defeated New Hampshire Saturday, when in the last few minutes Daniels led his team in a rally. This game was the first win for the Scarletmen in the six starters.

Joe Clark’s swimmers are slated to meet the Coast Guard tankmen tomorrow in the Academy pool. The Blue and Gold should have little difficulty in “splashing through” with a comfortable margin.

The Jayvees basketball team, after losing to the Teachers’ College quintet, which outclassed the Hartford men in every respect, defeated the Federal College men 22 to 19 Saturday.

Saturday afternoon the Blue and Gold men will play host to the Union College swimmers. The visitors have lost to Colgate, Syracuse and Rochester, and have defeated R. P. I and Tufts.

Haverford’s basketball team will confront the Ostinelli in the Hopkins Street Gym, the evening of the sixteenth.

The football schedule for the 1935-36 season was recently completed. Over the last two seasons and a half, a conflict in dates, was forced to withdraw from the Trinity schedule; Hobart is to replace the Herriman Cadets.

UNDERGRADUATES PLAN REVIVAL OF CREW

Twenty-five Men Show Interest; Propose Races With 150-lb. College Crews

Last week, in response to a notice regarding the revival of rowing at Trinity, some 25 men, of whom at least eight have had previous experience, expressed their interest in the formation of a crew. Trinity was one of the first colleges in the United States to organize rowing, and was represented in the first intercollegiate regatta in competition with Harvard and Yale.

Crew, this year, will be entirely on an informal basis, although it is hoped that it will some day be a recognized sport here. It is likely that a second-hand shell will be obtained from Yale and kept at Chesterfield Cove. It is hoped that an interested alumni or friend will be able to give the necessary coaching and supervision; and there is the possibility of arranging a schedule of races with lightweight college crews, and crews of neighboring preparatory schools.

All those who are interested are urged to sign up as soon as possible with Charles Mixter, '36, at 10 Jarvis Hall.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

After February 1, 1935, the practice of attempting to notify a man of his third unexcused absence in each course will be discontinued. The College Office will endeavor to notify men of excessive unexcused absences; the office, however, does not guarantee to send any notices about absences. Responsibility for the accuracy of each man’s attendance record rests entirely in his hands; any failure on the part of the office to send a notice, or any failure of a student to receive a notice, will not excuse any absence otherwise unexcused.

The attendance records are open for inspection daily from 11 to 12, and upon request at other times, in the Dean’s Office. It is recommended that each man inspect his attendance record frequently enough to make sure of its accuracy; and that whenever a man has secured an excuse for being absent, he inspects the record within a few days after the absence, to make sure that the excuse has been recorded.

Another high honor has been added to the long list claimed by Pennsylvania State College. It has had a tomato named after it.

JAYVEES DEFEATED BY NEW BRITAIN TEACHERS

New Blue and Gold Combination Fails to Click—Trinity Downs 38-24

Struggling under the handicap of a new combination of players, and the lack of recent practice, the Trinity Jayvees were defeated 38-24 by a better-coordinated Connecticut Teachers’ College Varsity last Tuesday night at New Britain.

For the Teachers’ College Geisler led the attack, scoring 16 points during the first half of the game, and thus rolling up a lead of 23 to 10 for New Britain. During the second half, however, Trinity held its own against Houblon and O’Malley, forwards. Warner, center, and DiLorenzo and Gomez became more accustomed to working cooperatively. Also, the absence of Geisler from the opponents’ lineup for the majority of the half seemed to have weakened their attack; and even terms were maintained for the last quarter which ended with the score 38-24.

Warner led the scoring for Trinity with three field goals and one free throw, making a total of seven points, while Geisler gained 17 points for the victors.
