Backfield Prospects Look Much Brighter Than Expected After Last Season

Jesse Declares Games This Fall Will Be Fun for Spectators

By D. O. Carberry, ’36.

The Trinity eleven has been practicing three weeks for the seven-game schedule which confronts it. Hartford College will provide the opposition in the opener on the Trinity football field this Saturday.

The schedule is the same as last year's with the exception of one game.

The Coast Guard Academy game has been replaced by an encounter with Westpoint College. Reports are that Hobart is planning on enlisting an undefeated and untied team.

R. P. I., Connecticut State, Worcesters Tech, Wesleyan, and University of Vermont aggregations will again meet the Blue and Gold, but at this time they will be the outcome of any of the games.

Only R. P. I., Connecticut State, and Wesleyan games will be played away, giving Trinity fans an opportunity to travel to Vermont.

Line Greatly Weakened

Although the well-balanced, heavy linemen cleared the way for a comparatively heavy backfield last year, the offensive and defensive team is far from dull.

With the addition of a three-quarter end list, even though no one expects Dan Jesse to produce another undefeated and untied team this year, the outlook for the team is far from dull.

Jack Wadler's days are to be filled with socially valuable work.

ANNUAL CONVENTION HELD HERE BY A. P. B.

Doctor Ogilby Addresses Group Convening Here Week-end of September 6

The Forthright Annual Convention of the American Philatelic Society was held with the Phi Psi Chapter at Trinity College on September 5, 6, and 7. Between one hundred and fifty and two hundred delegates from the various groups assembled for the meeting.

The convention officially opened with a meeting of the National Council, which was followed by supper in the residence hall.

The convention adjourned to the College Dining Hall. In the evening a smoker was held in the Public Speaking Room, with some excellent entertainment being given by the Convention Committee.

On the Friday morning a model initiation was conducted in the College Chapel, followed by luncheon in the residence hall.

The final event on the program was the annual Banquet held at the Wamsutta Country Club, at which President Ogilby and the officers of the National Fraternity were the chief speakers.

WHO'S WHO AT TRINITY

(We published the following information for the benefit of the freshmen and other new students in order that they may become more familiarly acquainted with the end and its leading organizations.

The Senate is the student governing body, composed of ten seniors who represent each of the eight fraternities, and the on-campus and off-campus neutral groups. It has control over the financial matters of the various organizations, and in charge of all college elections.

One of the Senate's functions is the meetings on Monday evenings.

1 Delta Phi—John Geary, Presi­dent.
2 Alpha Delta Phi—Stewart Ogil­by, Secretary.
3 Delta Kappa Epsilon—David D. Car­berry.
4 Sigma Nu—George H. Upson—James R. Miller
5 Alpha Chi Rho—Paul Hender­son.
6 Delta Phi—Desmond Crawford.
7 Alpha Tax Kappa—Thomas Castagno.
8 Phi Psi—Jim Cusick.
9 Alpha Kappa—Neutral Body On-Campus.
10 Alpha Chi Rho—Rogel Motten; Off-Campus—Joseph J. Phillips.

The Musaeus, Senior honorary society, consists of an undetermined number of undergraduate members assigned the duty of acting as col­legiate scavengers.

The Student Senate, composed of ten seniors who represent each of the eight fraternities and the on-campus and off-campus neutral groups, constitutes the governing body of the college.

The members of this year's Musaeus are: John Geary, Horace Littled, Stewart Ogilby, and Thomas Lowry Sinclair.

The Musaeus Club is an honorary society whose members are elected in the middle of their sopho­more year for outstanding participation in college life.

This year's group is assigned the duty of acting as collegial scavengers.

LABORATORY NOW WELL AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Dinner Held on August 1 for Men Working on Structure-Krielle Site Experiments

The building of the new Chemistry Laboratory which was started last spring, is now two to three months ahead of schedule, with construction being pushed so that the roof will be ready before the winter storms.

It is expected, also, that the windows will be put in and glazed so that the laboratory can be used during the winter months.

The chief difficulty will be in the installation of the necessary equipment to supply hot and cold water, steam, alternating and direct current, and compressed air to the building. The work is in progress.

On August 1, President Ogilby and Professors Krielli and Smith entered the building at the College Dining Hall, at which there were four hundred and seventy-five guests, heads of the constructors and architects.

NEW STUDENTS COMPRISE ALL-TIME RECORD GROUP

Three Territories, One Foreign Country, and Fourteen States Represented in Numbers.

One hundred and fifty-seven freshmen, fourteen transferred students and four non-matriculated students are all combined to constitute the largest body of students ever to be admitted to Trinity College at one time.

This year, in view of the limitation of enrollment, the selection of candi­dates for admission has necessarily been rigorous.

More than two hun­dred applicants were rejected before the final one hundred and seventy-eight of all groups were admitted. Consequently, the incoming class is unusually strong scientifically and collegially and authorities and alumni have expressed satisfaction regarding both numbers and quality of the new students.

It is of further interest to note that this year will find all of the dormitory occupations filled.

Also, with the ninety-four medical and chemistry students, the largest group ever to be accommodated in Chemistry in their freshman year in the history of the college will tax the chemistry facilities heavily. The good that these men would derive from the new lab­oratory is especially evident at this time.

The total enrollment of the college is coming close to the limit of five hundred, beyond which the college is unwilling to go for fear of excessive crowding.

Aside from the medical, business and chemical professions the new students display widely varied interests.

We have one student on his way to Harvard as a holder of the scholar­ship, one on his way to Yale as a holder of the scholarship, one is planning on going to the university, another is planning to enter a profession, etc. The total enrollment of the college will be put in and glazed so that the laboratory can be used during the winter months.

It is expected, also, that the windows will be put in and glazed so that the laboratory can be used during the winter months.

CROSS-COUNTRY TEAM TO RUN ONE EXTRA RACE THIS SEASON

The cross-country schedule shows five meets for the coming season, one more than has been customary in former years. While it is not yet a "recognized sport", cross-country all ways has its share of candidates at Trinity. This year the team plans on running credibly through the longer schedule.

Ray Perry, who won several meets last fall, will find an able pacemaker in the person of Art Mountford, who returns to the squad after a year's absence due to indiscipline. Bauer and Castagnes, veterans of two years of intercollegiate competition, will complete a satisfactory nucleus around which to build a team. Camp­uss itself will report to Coach onto tomorrow afternoon.

Funeral Held at Bridge­water of Monday—Memorial Service to be Held Thursday

On Monday afternoon the funeral service for Professor Frank Cole Babbitt was held at Bridgegewater Conn., where he was born and brought up. He was laid to rest in the family lot in the town cemetery, President Ogilby conducting the services. Members of Professor Babbitt's family and his friends on the Trinity faculty were present.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock there will be held in the College Chapel a Memorial Service, on which occasion tribute was paid to his memory. Professor Kleene and Professor Bud­set spoke for the faculty; Mr. George Steventon added his tribute as friend in Hartford, and Peter Finn of the Senior class expressed the esteem in which Professor Babbitt was held by the Student body. Presi­dent Ogilby spoke for the Trustees and the Administration of the College.

Continued Class Work and Research Until Time of Death

Member of Faculty Here for 37 Years—Prominent Among Classics

Frank Cole Babbitt, Hobart Pro­fessor of the Greek Language and Literature, Senior member of the Faculty of Trinity College, died at his home, 65 Vernon Street, on Satur­day, August 5. Although he had been ill in health for over two years, he died in harness. During the last academic year he taught classes regu­larly at his house, devoting long and strenuous hours to his translation of Plutarch's Moralia in the Loeb Classical Library series. He kept on his feet for several weeks during the summer, correcting proof even to within three weeks of his death.

When Professor Babbitt came here as an instructor in Greek thirty-seven years ago he was the only Classics instructor registered in the four undergraduate classes. Twenty-five dozen degrees had been conferred the previous spring.

There were nine Professors on the faculty of Classics in those days, with a few occasional lecturers. The college buildings ran from the History Room to the Memorial Building, and the old gymnasium was still young enough to be spoken of with enthusiasm. He lived to see the un­dergraduate body more than quadrupled its size in which he played an important part. To think of him as merely a representative member of a national institution in terms of numbers is of course trivial; it is the respon­sibility of a member of a national institution to do his best, and that is growth worth while, and better, and most of all, his contribution.

The prestige of the presence on the faculty of a scholar of his calibre and attain¬ments was of course standard of values. It was at Andover and Harvard that he received his education, getting his bachelor's degree in 1890 and his degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1900. Among his professors at Harvard he played an important part in ar­chaological discoveries in Corinth, he was a member of the Harvard Greek Club. He was closely interested in the intellectual development of that great institution. An active member of the Harvard Club of Connecticut, he took special pains in the annual selection of a worthy student, of whom he was very fond. He was a member of the Philological Society, of whom he was a member for many years.

The Trinity Club is the dramatic society of the college. Admission is obtained by election after the candidates have been carried out in various parts. Participation in only one play makes one a member of the club.

One of the consequences of accidents, particularly in athletics, is the great waste of time. The College authority should try to do all that is possible in this direction.

We would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to the people of Hartford who have been so generous in their support of the College in the past year. Their contributions have been necessary to establish the trip.

TWO WEEKS OF RUSHING WILL END NEXT SUNDAY

Freshmen Will Again Signify Three Choices, Following Last Year's Plan

Adopting the plans of the 1934 Rushing Agreement, the Interfraternity Council has decided to finish off the rush week by giving the Freshmen hand in hand in a list of their first three preferences to the Council, where they will be completed as per the lists that each fraternity will submit. Invitations to dinner will then be sent out by the fraternities to the Freshmen they have chosen.

AGREEMENT

The following rules for rushing have been adopted by the Interfraternity Council in order to avoid, to the advantage of the new man and the fraternity, some of the evils of "cut-throat" rushing.

Article 1. There shall be controlled rushing only, meaning the establishing of rules under which rushing shall be conducted.

Article 2. There shall be deferred pledging (by which is meant that non-fraternity entrance to the Freshman and Sophomore classes at Trinity shall be permitted from the fall of 1935 until some time following the official opening of the new school term).

Article 3. Rushing will be permitted from the time Freshmen and Sophomores come to college this fall (subject to specific rules set forth below).

Article 4. New men on the campus may not be entertained at meals at any of the College Houses until the time which classes commence (Monday, September 23).

Article 5. No man shall receive more than six invitations to meals at any one house (those which include no more than two invitations (accepted) to any one of the three meals, breakfast, dinner, and supper).

Article 6. There shall be no off-campus rushing (by which means no midnight meetings of alumni of any fraternity, no visiting of any of the houses, no leaving of the campus, no going out to restaurants or any other place until classes begin on Tuesday, September 23). Article 7. Pledging may begin earlier than noon of the first Sunday (September 21) but no class exercises have been in session (pledging to be subject to rules set forth in the above Articles).

Article 8. All new students are requested to take advantage of the privilege to ask any Fraternity man for an introduction to any of the seven chapter houses on campus during this rushing period.

Article 9. On the Sunday morning of pledging, September 29 (time and place to be announced later) each house will hand in to the Council a list of the men it desires to pledge. At this time each new man may file in his choices (first, second, and third) of fraternities on slips to be submitted by the Council. The committee will then meet to assort the slips. When the results have been determined, bids will be offered by the fraternity of their choice to the pledges.

by D'Angelo or Heimer. MAther was a steady offensive man who had the remarkable ability of spotting plays and ensuring them when he was on the defense, and the bidders for his place will find it hard going to come up to his style of play. W. Kirby, Scott, and McVilie are fighting it out for the guard positions.

Ymnick and Benjamin are showing good work at the tackle positions and have for their competitors Paul and Jim Henderson, and Kellar. The ends are fast and rangy, and will probably be given many opportunities to score. Haight, Hindell, Eaton and Lefevre will all see active service before the season closes.

Cobra Looks Good.
Not in many years has Trinity had such a fast and shifty backfield. Captain "Cobra" Kobrosky looks as good as ever in his runs, passes, and kicks. O'Malley is a versatile player and should cause no end of worry to his opponents. Sinclair, though light, is a fast and plucky halfback. Jackson has shown up well in the line plunging are fine and his speed is an added asset.

Coaches promise more spectacular games this year. "The air will be filled with balls," is his lurid prediction. When Trinity takes to the gridiron anything is to be expected in the way of chance-taking, tricky laterals, and hidden ball plays.

following which the group adjourned to the old laboratory where Professors Kriple and Smith demonstrated what it should mean to the men to be working on the laboratory. Professor Smith outlined the history of chemistry from the time of the ancient Egyptians up to the present. Professor Kriple explained some of the achievements of modern chemistry and conducted experiments involving chiefly the materials with which the men are working. After the last explosion he remarked that he had never instructed such an attentive class.

Clement C. Moore of New York, a student during the last two years at Trinity, was married to Miss Elizabeth Bird of Hartford in the College Chapel on September 10. It was a large wedding and among the ushers were John Mason, Nathaniel Clark, both of the class of 1934, and William Benjamin, of the class of 1935. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will live in London during the coming winter.

GLEE CLUB TRYOUTS
The Glee Club will hold its first regular meeting on Thursday, October 3, and until that date tryouts will be held every afternoon by Mr. Watters. Last year there were several concerts, among them a joint concert with Smith College, and in all probability there will be an equal number this year. The club has been depleted by the graduation of the 1935 delegation.

CAPTAIN KOBROSKY.

We have on hand at all times for CHESTERFIELD cigarettes upwards of 350,000 bales of Turkish tobacco...

The pleasing aroma and flavor of Turkish tobacco is almost necessary if you want a good cigarette. Turkish tobacco is more costly when you take into account that you have to pay 35c a pound duty, but we have to have it to blend with our mild ripe home-grown tobaccos.

It helps make Chesterfields milder, it helps give them better taste. Just try them.
