EX-HEAD OF SALVATION ARMY TALKS IN CHAPEL

Volume XXXIII

HARTFORD, CONN., APRIL 20, 1937

Number 22

General Higgins, retired International Commander of the Sal­vation Army in this country, gave a talk in the chapel. He was a guest of General Richardson, who is succeeding him in this position.

He also commented on one depart­ure from the usual practices of the Salvation Army, which is the issuance of a monthly magazine, the "Worker." He explained that the magazine had been suspended and would not be reissued until the organization's finances were in better shape.

The Salvation Army, General Higgins stated, General Lee, in his annual message, has pointed out the need for better harmony among men. He compared this with the situation in the Salvation Army, where the goal is to bring people together and help them overcome their differences.

The Salvation Army, according to General Higgins, is making progress in its efforts to reach more people. He mentioned the expansion of its programs and the increase in membership.

General Higgins went on to say that the Salvation Army is working to improve moral conditions and to make better harmony among men. He emphasized the importance of education and training in achieving this goal.

The Salvation Army, General Higgins stated, is committed to the principles of love and compassion. He reminded the audience of the need to treat all people with respect and dignity.

General Higgins ended his talk by expressing his gratitude to General Richardson and the Salvation Army for the opportunity to speak to the congregation. He concluded by urging everyone to continue to work towards a better world.

ELECTIONS AGAIN

For the first time in years, a true spirit of democracy prevails at Trinity. No electioneering, no much fanfare, last minute campaign speeches, or what have you? The whole college body could vote without any requisites such as down to the union to cast our ballots. This was a bit of a surprise to many people know that all the way down the walks there are many vacancies in the four parts of the Glee Club, and new voices will, of course, be needed. We are prompted to ask one of the eternal questions, "Would you do this again?"

in re campus

We were not at all surprised when we returned from Easter vacation to find that the college had seen it expedient to put up a series of fences and signs on the paths around the Chemistry Center in order to be able to raise some semblance of a lawn. It and still not surprised us that many students do not attempt to stay within them that set them there.

All of this brings to mind the problem of the campus as a whole. Seldom in its history has even come to our own, here, students seem to care what the place looks like. Scarcely anyone takes the time and trouble to be neat. We wonder how many know that when they walk down the walks there are ash cans conveniently placed to receive that empty cigarette butt. It, perhaps, is rapidly becoming of the very finest atmosphere; there out loud; don't tell them my applause which he deserves.

At a meeting of the Alpha Poli's, organized at Trinity, the glee club man is considered to be one of the leading ladies in a New show; Isabel Jewell, who at one time was leading lady in a New show, Humphrey Bogart and Lola Lane are ex-officio grant performances.

The story is satisfactory and rather exciting in spots, but it is the performance of the student body. The public has not been impressed by the acting ability, and Bette Davis and Eduardo Ciannelli are our early candidates for the leading lady in a New show. Take it or leave it, but we cannot help feeling that we have viewed "Marked Women," and yet we thought it grand.

The truth is that many prospective freshmen visit the college with interest in the campus was such that a holiday was declared once that it was so intended at first, but it is very doubtful whether Howard, than she is in "Marked Women"; perhaps Miss Davis really is so indifferent that she has been helped to no end in this laughless little opus by an excep- tionally inept cast and director. Miss Davis offers grand support to Miss Davis, who is Miss Davis' closest rival ever since the show; Isabel Jewell, who at one time was leading lady in a New show, Humphrey Bogart and Lola Lane are ex-officio grant performances.

MARKED WOMEN—2.5—At the.

The 'new' Bette Davis has returned to England from her successful appearance in "The Little Foxes," that other tragi-comedy in which she snatched the female role of Little Howard, than she is in "Marked Women"; perhaps Miss Davis really is so indifferent that she has been helped to no end in this laughless little opus by an excep- tionally inept cast and director. KAPPA BETA PHI completely stolen by illickable Jack Haley, who should finally attract the attention of those who have been sufficiently impressed by the catchy tunes, fast action, and some reminder of a plot. Then, too, there is the utilization of Winchell and Bernice which is often pleasant enough to enjoy. Patsy Kelly and team-mates such as Faye and Halley do most of the singing, and certainly offer some fine songs to work with, including "The News of the World," "It's Swell of You," "I'm Bubbleing My Head," and "There's a Little Love." The Salvation Army, General Higgins, concluded, had been organized with the desire to keep in a state of high musical com- dition in which sin, vice, and evil held their power in the end. There is still much to be done to keep back evil influ­ ence and to firmly establish the cause of righteousness. He asks that every one should have a deep consciousness and a responsibility on the shoulders of all.

At a meeting of the Alpha Section of Kappa Beta Phi, undergraduate honorary society, bids and offers were offered to the following men: Delta Phi—William Gorman, Mal Crocker, Raphael Baldwin, Warren French. Delta Tau—Robert Janse, Fred Bartlett, Barrett, D. N. Moore, "Well—sometimes I'm right"—Art Smith and Mountford.

Trini's diamond lineup has quite a touch this year. In the three in the batting order are Shelley, Kelly, and O'Malley. And the umpire is a remarkable imitator. two if the wind had been a bit more favorable. Ralph Shelley poked a couple almost to the center field fence which is marked as 371 feet, my friends. And then O’Malley sidles that right field barrier.

That Coast Guard infield certainly had a brainstorm in the second. Instead of cutting off throws from the outfield when Trinity were well on the way home, the inner cordon let which is marked as 371 feet, my friends. And then O’Malley sidles that right field barrier.

The prize of the afternoon was O’Malley’s cleaning the bases on a ‘milli’on dollar’ hit. Nothing is known about the relations of the Vermont men, but it is to be hoped that it succeeds.

THE TENNIS TEAM TO OPEN SEASON WITH VERMONT

Coach Altmaier Optimistic Over Outcome of Match—Team to be Chosen This Week

With a larger tennis squad than has ever before reported at Trinity, Coach Altmaier is optimistic over the outcome of the first match of the season which will be played with Vermont on home territory on Saturday, April 24. The team has not as yet been definitely chosen and will not be announced until shortly before the Vermont game. During the rest of the week a ladder tournament will be played and those ranking highest in it will probably make up the team. So far it is a wide-open proposition with all contestants having a playing chance. With such men as Parsons, Harriss, Roberwally, O’Byron, Patterson, and Barrows returning from last year’s squad, it is expected that there will be very keen competition for team berths. In addition there are several promising new men among whom Dodge is outstanding.

We’re wondering what Kelley’s reaction will be when he is ushered into the rather dimly-lit visitors’ dressing room in the old gym.
