MEDUSA TAPS FOUR MEN IN ANNUAL CEREMONIES

Bassford, Morris, Gorman, and Muir Are Chosen by the Honorary Society

Tuesday, May 19—Ethan F. Bassford, Edward J. Morris, and Robert M. Muir were tapped this evening for the Medusa, Trinity College's Honorary Society, in recognition of the students' hard work and dedication. The ceremony is an annual tradition held to honor the students who have demonstrated exceptional performance in academics and activities.

The selection process is held in secret, and the tapped students are not informed until the evening of the ceremony. The Medusa is a prestigious honor, and being tapped is considered a great distinction for the students.

Luncheon in Honor of President Ogilby Given Before Dinner at University Club

Tuesday, May 17—The alumni of Trinity College joined in a luncheon held at the University Club to celebrate President Ogilby's achievements over the past year. The event was attended by seventeen alumni, three guests, President Ogilby, and Thomas Wallace '89, Alumni Secretary.

The luncheon was a formal gathering, with speeches and toasts made in honor of President Ogilby's leadership and the institution's successes during his tenure. It was a momentous occasion for the college community to come together and express gratitude for President Ogilby's service.

JESSESMEN DROP CLOSE DECISION TO VERMONT IN PITCHERS' BATTLE

Crowd of 5000 James Vermont Field to See Home Team Obtain Winning Res in 9th

Saturday, May 21—A crowd of 5000 spectators witnessed an exciting game between Trinity College and Vermont, held at the Home Team's stadium. The game was a close battle between the two teams, with Vermont emerging victorious with a score of 4-3 in the 9th inning.

The game was a thrilling contest, with the Vermont batter successfully hitting a three-run home run in the 9th inning to snatch the victory from Trinity. The Vermont pitcher delivered an impressive performance, allowing only three hits to the Trinity batters and striking out five. The Vermont pitcher's skill and the batters' determination were evident throughout the game.

In a final effort to counterbalance the four setbacks received at the season's start, the Jumbos squared in the final meet of the current season. Trinity enters the last game with a decided advantage, having compiled a strong record and defeated some of the state's top teams.

JesterS GIVE COLORFUL PERFORMANCES OF "LEAN" IN THE COLLEGE CHAPEL

Much Credit Due Prof. Shepard and College Boys for Their Production of "King Lear"

By James Neale, '10

Saturday, May 21—The color and stirring performance of the Shakespearean play was once again captured at the College Chapel, when, against a plain background of red and white, the players illuminated the effects. The College Jesters presented their version of "King Lear."

The production was directed by the Jesters, with the cast comprising the college's most talented actors. The performance was well-received by the audience, who praised the actors' dedication and the vibrant portrayal of Shakespeare's timeless drama.
The Jesters have failed again to make a financial success of their latest production, a failure which is in no respect the fault of that organization. For some time the Jesters have been attempting to carry the favor of the student body as well as this of the public at large. Experience has taught them that to gain support and offset numerous deficits of the past years they must launch a program to "educate" the masses.

Consequently, when plans were made for the production of "King Lear," a publicity manager was appointed and authorized to spend a large part of the play's budget for advertising purposes. It was an ambitious program and well done. Radio broadcasts, press releases, and radio spots were inserted in the daily papers; in fact, the town and Saturday night the receipts were slightly less.

If you missed Dr. Hutt's annual lecture, be sure you get in on it next year. It's astounding the number of people who saw Prexy's car with its high vaulted ceiling and the plain background, and who really didn't know a crack or a survey.

BLUE AND GOLD NETMEN TAKE THREE VICTORIES

Trin Players Trounce Vermont, Springfield, and Tech Tennis Men

The Blue and Gold netmen reaped three decided victories last week by trouncing Springfield by a 20-0 score, Worcester Tech, 5-1, and the University of Vermont, 8-1. Ralph Greene, senior Springfield player, who played in the recent New England Inter-collegiate tournament held at Trinity, put up a good fight in the singles but was forced to surrender to Harris, 2-6, 9-7, 10-6. The other results of the game, which was held in Springfield, May 17, were as follows: Bates, Trinity, defeated Man, 6-2, 11-1, 6-3; Bohowski, Trinity, defeated Lee, 6-1, 6-3; Dodge, Trinity, defeated Bal, 6-2, 6-3; Condon, Springfield, defeated Mountford, 6-1, 6-2; Donnehue, Trinity, defeated Lobane, 6-1, 6-3.

(Continued from page 1) conning action with a barrage of jirdes against the hapless movie operator. A "tenner" as she explained it, is a short length of film that precedes her act at a theater, "showing little, and making you want to see more."

WITNESSING this little act was distressing to the extremes, seeing up the lady of the fans and the hub- bles, the girl who turns a breeze into a tornado also as a keen business woman, totally foreign to the glamorousymph-type film, that fitted so enticingly about the stage a few minutes later.

By asking questions between spams of rolling and unrailing "trices" on the part of Miss Rand, her box receipt checker and a couple of ushers, the following information was gained: that Rand was "very nice" and behaved well when Miss Rand spoke to them last week by having Springfield player, who played Vermont, defeated Lee, 6-1, 6-3; Springfield player, who played Massachusetts, defeated DePauw player, who played Miss Rand was inspired to become a dancer at the age of six when Rohowsky, Trinity, defeated Lee, 6-1, 6-3; Morris, p., 3

The Vermonters came right back in their half of the eighth to hit the game up again, and after holding the Hilltoppers scoreless in the first of the ninth, bluehounds Ed Morris when they came to bat. Again burry the batters by picking one of Morris's curve for a double into deep left. Nicholson then laid down a perfect bunt and bent it out for a hit. The Catamounts' shortstop, Benenichi, then completed the rally by slugging a single to right, scoring Berry with the winning run.

FROST NINE DEFEATS
VESLEYAN YEARLINGS

Hurler Strang Fans Eleven as His Matea Poured Out Easy Fifth Straight Win

Monday, May 16—The Wesleyan freshman baseball team continued in the losing column as it went down today before Ralph Erickson's powerful frost nine which chalked up its fifth straight victory. The Blue and Gold boys were in trouble at only one point, in the first inning, but came back strong and coasted to a rather easy 9-4 triumph.

The Wesleyan nine opened with a barrage of four runs in the last half of the first after a shaky start by the friar frosh. Ted Strang quickly recovered, however, and as the game grew older he continued to hold the opposition scoreless. It appears that a real contest might develop when Trinity scored one in the second and four more in the sixth to make the outcome doubtful until the last. Finale and Mountford, Trinity, defeated Coombs and Whitcomb, 6-2, 6-1; and Simpson and Hecht, Vermont, defeated Duennebier and Taylor, 6-2, 6-4.
