MCUR Launches Drive For New Field House in Wednesday Chapel

President of Trinity Student Body Lashes Out at Lack Of Spirit Exhibited

SETS GOAL AT $500

Hopes This Amount Will Be Raised By June Through Proceeds

By Joseph V. H. Rice

Wednesday, March 22—Robert M. Muir, President of the Student Body, spoke on this morning about the subject of activities in a most trenchant and cogent manner. The President Ogilvy with a reading from Blaise Perry's book "And The Race Is

"The field house, almost a far-off dream that we have been hearing about, we are afraid that it will never be realized. A field house—something we have been hearing about, cared about, written about. In the last few years it has been referred to as Trinity's greatest need. If, then, this dream should come true because of student enthusiasm, spirit, push, it will be a great gain for the institution as well as for the students."

The service included two of Bishop Bunt's favorite hymns and all the prayers used were of his composition. The student body, under the regime of the new management said that it would continue to grieve about the loss of Bishop Bunting students are in and it has. But along with the grief are men in a lethargic state.

"But what's the good of talking about it? Instead of producing possible

It has made everybody more conscious of the fact that outside activities are not being supported. Consequently, it has built up a nega­tive and morose climate, which is ridiculous."

Muir went on to say that the lack of enthusiasm for the club is analogous to a good doctor's treatment of a patient. The physician does not understand these things. If these things do not interest him, then he will not participate in a play, and act on the stage, it gives a man a vast amount of pulse, of confidence, and of easy articulation.

Robert Sherriff's "Journey's End" Was Produced Only With Help of G. B. Shaw

"Journey's End", the play selected by the Jesters for their spring pro­duction, has become known to the world only through an accident. Written by an unknown playwright, it was not accepted by any producer until nine months after it was sent to the author's agent, and then only because of the lukewarm praise of George Bernard Shaw.

Robert Cedric Sherriff, the author of "Journey's End", was born in Eng­land in 1899. After graduation from the Kingston Grammar School, in 1915, he went into the insurance busi­ness, having, apparently, no urge to write at the time. When the war broke out he enlisted in the South-East Railway Regiment, in which he became a Second Lieutenant. In 1917 he was wounded at Ypres, near the River Somme, and marked cultural difference between Austria's cultural contributions to Europe are among the most important contributions of any German race. Dr. Hoer remarked that the present marked cultural distinction between the Germans and Austrians started to become noticeable towards the end of the Twelfth Century. The mixing of races in Austria, he said, made the Austrian more European than German in character.

Me Spencerian flair with which to

About the boys who loyally serve

Whence the proud and happy part

Or subjects with monial hours and pay.
But, sweet Barbat, I shall not ennem

Nor shall I reveal what trial they

HUMMELIN EMERGED IN HOPE'S LESSON ON AUSTRO-GERMAN TOPIC

AUSTRIAN SELF-EXILE

Claims Austria Will Not Die But Will Regain Independence in the Near Future

The world. The Germans in Austria, while claiming a bond of unity because of the names of these great men, have actually banished their names from usage in Germany.

In closing, Dr. Hoer said: "Austrian policy will be preserved heart and soul—and it will stand up against comprehension. Austria lives in her place in the world and the sun."

Following is a resume of some of the questions which came to the end of his lecture with answers to each:

Q. Do you think that Austria will be able to form another Austro-Hungarian Empire in the future? A. Yes.

Q. Do you believe that the Nazis would continue their same vigorous campaign if Hitler were to pass away? A. That depends upon future developments. The spirit of the National Socialist Revolution is very strong, and I think that the spirit of Hitler is not absolutely necessary.

Q. What were some of the Prussian contributions to European culture? A. They were not very great, for there were not many very great Prussians. Bismarck was not a Prussian, but a Saxon. There were a few important Prussians, but most of the really great Germans came from western Germany, or from Saxony.

end of the magazine have always been more than willing to help.

Then there is but one thing that can impede the growth of "The Trinity Review" and that is the failure of the student body to write articles for it. In view of the fact that seventy-two manuscripts were turned in for the first issue of "The Review" the members of the Board have every reason to believe that such a failure on the part of the students will never occur, especially now that the magazine has been published. The Board intends to increase the size of the magazine as the number and quality of the articles submitted increase, as a result there will never be a good issue left out due to lack of space.

The Board earnestly thanks all those who submitted articles for the first issue and who thus made the magazine such a success. It is hoped that these same men will write for the May issue, and the Board extends an invitation to all the other students of the College to use the pages of "The Review" for expressing themselves. Dead line for the second issue, April 15.

Sincerely yours,
The Board of the Trinity Review

quick-tint. Since then there have been various attempts to start a purely literary magazine under the old name of "The Tablet," but failure was always the result due to the lack of support from the students. Almost every time the movement was defeated before the magazine left the press. Yet in many cases failure was due to the fact that the students and alumni knew nothing of the magazine until it was published. This also resulted in a limited amount of material being submitted which added another impediment to the failure.

The "Review" has tried to avoid these mistakes. The student body is being reminded constantly that this is the magazine which the students and alumnis will always be gratefully received by the Board. To receive the manuscript with the new project there were recently mailed one hundred and fifty copies of the first issue of "The Review," and it is hoped to mail out even more complimentary copies of the next issue which will appear in May. The members of the faculty have been encouraged to help in helping the magazine to get under way, and these directly interested in the publishing

HUMANISM SUBJECT OF ERNST HOOK'S LECTURE

Q. Are most of the German people in sympathy with the Nazi movement or are they merely obeying a machine?
A. It is hard to tell, but the great majority of the people seem to be interested in the movement. It can be very dangerous.

Q. Do the German peoples in the Upper Tyrol want Hitler or Mussolini?
A. Hitler renounced propaganda in the Upper Tyrol when he pledged his friendship to Italy.

Q. Before 1938 was there any Austrian movement for union with Germany? A. Yes. Before Hitler came into power in Germany, the Austrian Social Democrats favored union—because of economic necessity not because of love of country. From 1933 to 1938 the Nazi party took over and dominated this movement.

Q. Has Austria proved a valuable prize for Germany? A. Yes. Germany has obtained from Austria wool, iron and the gold supply which belonged to the Bank of Austria.
