THANKSGIVING RECESS
The Thanksgiving recess will begin Wednesday, November 29, at 4 p.m. The visiting preachers will give service in the Chapel at 5 o'clock on Sunday, December 3. Students are asked not to attend these services on the other main Chapel classes on Wednesday, November 29. The number of classes which will be held during the recess will count double. The next issue of the Tripod will not be published until December 12 because of this Thanksgiving recess.

CUB QUINTET SHOWS SPEED IN WORKOUTS
Three Former School Coaches Provide Erickson With Nucleus for Team

Although it is too early to make any predictions, the prospects for the coming freshman basketball season appear to be very bright. Twenty men, among whom were many prep and high school stars, answered Coach Erickson's call for the first practice session last Tuesday. Thus far, practice sessions have been devoted to a study of the game, special training, and weeding out those men who have not the necessary qualifications to make them eligible candidates for the team. Six more practices are scheduled before Thanksgiving recess. Erickson will leave for a Thanksgiving vacation at some time, and the work for the next few days will be a more even break to a better trained team. Twenty-five practices are scheduled before Christmas recess. The West Haven team will have ten practices. No games are scheduled for other similar reasons.

On the academic side, the students have been elected to fill that position.

In the work for the first time, there are now, three only-letter men—Smith, Worrely, and Tabbah. However, under the new regulations, an anagram of other alphabetical order in publications of these three, to lend artistic verissimilitude to the work.

The sale of advertising space in an amount of such proportions that it is selling for every month than ever before, and it is believed that a twelve-page program will be possible, containing fuller and more elaborate programs, if arranged for the cast, the production, and the play, than has been possible in previous Jesters programs.

An added impetus was given to the sale of advertising space, when Joseph S. Brown, of the musical accompaniment. Joseph S. Brown, of the Boston Symphony Society, has agreed to give the piano and violin and piano added greatly to the work.

This was the feeling of the Trinity students as stated in the "Try" of that year:

"There may be a time for fellowship and learning once again. But only Heaven knows when that will be."

Out in the dark battalions of strong-minded, fighting men, there is the place appointed unto me:

I will go forth to the conflict with courage at my heart.
And my gun set hard against a great bole;
Not boastfully, or hoping to play a part;
But to battle for the honor of my land.

The annual dinner of the Association of Alumni of Trinity College in New York will be held Thursday evening, December 7, at the Town Hall Club. Professor Humphrey will be the speaker of the evening, and reports on the state of the College will be read by Dr. W. C. Jaquith, and Mr. Jessen. Mr. Wadlow will show recent photograph pictures.

Every year, on December 19, the dormitory is apt to be almost in place at the top of the Chapel steps. The dormitory rooms are engaged in the building of the Chapel most in the 5 o'clock to inspect the work of the dormitories, and to note all the additions to the beauty of the Chapel. At 6 o'clock they go down into the Cloisters to have a service with President Ogilby, as they did regularly every day when building the Chapel. The names of all those of their fellowship who have died since the work started are read and prayers offered for their souls. These names also have been sealed in the cloister. After the services, the group adjourns to the Dining Hall for what the men call the "Annual Meeting of the Trinity College Chapel Builders' Alumni Association." After meal planned to tax the capacity to the utmost, speeches are made, and a happy time is had by all.

A partial list of Dr. Ogilby's engagements follows:

Sunday, December 19, Dr. Ogilby preached at St. James Church, West Hartford, in the morning, and in attendance was he spoke to the Young People's Fellowship at Christ Church. The following day he spoke at the Mothers' Club, South Park Methodist Church, on "Flying," Sunday, December 26, President Ogilby represented the Mayor of Hartford at the presentation of the velvet coverings for the Main Street. He received the keys of the regal carriages, and turned them over to the President of the Board of Education with appropriate remarks.

On Sunday, November 26, Dr. Ogilby spoke at the Ethel Walker School in Simsbury. On Monday morning he was present at the Annual meeting of the Association of College Presidents in Chicago.

On Tuesday, December 1, he will address the students of the Hartford Seminary Foundation. On Sunday, December 27, he will journey to Brooklyn, N.Y., where he will speak at St. Paul's Church in the morning, and the chapel of the Morning. The following Thursday he will conduct a service in the chapel of the College. He will be present at a dinner to be held in New York City at the Waldnebruck Hotel, for the students of the Hartford Seminary Foundation. On Sunday, December 17, he will speak at a dinner to be held in New York City at the Waldnebruck Hotel, for the students of the Hartford Seminary Foundation. On Sunday, December 17, he will speak at a dinner to be held in New York City at the Waldnebruck Hotel, for the students of the Hartford Seminary Foundation.

The speaker at the Morning Chapel breakfast on Christmas will be President Ogilby, who has chosen for his subject, "A College Christmas."

ARNOLD QUINTET TO BE OPENER FOR TRINITY FIVE

Thomsen round out the starting team of ’39. Both of these men are sophomores. Walsh showed high and sound on all-around basis last year from his guard position. Thomsen at center led the team in scoring. Both of these men are expected to be much improved due to last year’s added experience. Other returnees from last year’s squad who are expected to see plenty of service are Deed Harris, Ted Kreuz, Sid Mills, and Jim Collins.

The freshman team of last year lost some of their standout performers by way of scholastic inaptitude and failure to return to College because of various other reasons. The sophomores are represented in Bud Adams, and Frank Fast.

The schedule this year includes several new teams. Yale, Swarthmore, and Massachusetts State have been added. The Yale game will be played at New Haven, and, if the team lives up to all expectations, Yale will have its hands full. On February 16 the Trinity team travels to Swarthmore to play a Swarthmore College team that has won 21 out of the last 22 games. The schedule this season will be more difficult than that of last year, for not only does Trinity play the previous teams mentioned, but it also plays the University of Vermont away. Last year they beat Vermont by one point at the Hartford gym.

Tonight Trinity will hold its first intercollegiate scrimmage when the team plays Springfield in a practice encounter. This practice game will not be open to the public.

FRESHMAN SWIMMERS ANSWER SQUAD CALL

Coach Joe Clarke’s call to the fresh­man swimmers a week ago mustered an unusually large array of thirty former high and prep school water boys. The lads have been tuning up in the Trinity pool for the past five days as Coach Clarke is looking over the squad for talent. Though there are some promising prospects and much remains to be seen along the line of ability, a strong aggregation of backstroke, breaststroke, and divers will have to be developed from now until January 9, the date of the first freshman sea-battle against Hartford P. H. S.

Among the freshman prominent who reported to the squad, Coach Clarke mentioned Dave Tyler first. Tyler, who starred for the freshman cross-country runners this fall while strengthening lung and leg power, is a former Hartford Public High School standout and last year’s captain of the Merriher Academy touchers. In addition, he holds several national interscholastic titles.

Another promising sea-dog, John Benez, is also of Hartford Public High school, where he was one of the mainstays of last year’s championship squad, and served well in the free­style and breaststroke divisions. Also mentioned was Jim McClure, of New Haven, Conn., who finds himself at home in the backstroke. Two more freshmen whose talent–may mean much to the squad are Randolph Sharp, of Boston, Mass., and Richard Gager of Orange, Conn.

A thriller to witness will be the first contest with Hartford Public High swimmers, who have won the state championship crown five con­secutive years, running up a string of forty-seven victories, being stopped only by the remarkable Yale Frosh. Tyler hit the water limelight while a member of those teams, and now he has two younger brothers there taking up the battle. Furthermore, it was Tyler’s brothers who sunk the Trinity Frosh in last year’s clash.

The older of the high school Tyrers skinned over the 100 freestyle speed­way in 54.7 seconds, two seconds short of Dave Tyler’s 1936 record; the younger one a former Hartford Public High School student.

The outstanding man on the team is Edward Conway, ’41, holder of the College and Pool records in the 150-yard backstroke. Conway, undefeated as a freshman and as a sophomore, tasted defeat only once last year. This was in the Eastern Intercollegiates in which he swam third to Al Vande Weghe of Princeton, who holds several national intercollegiate titles. It is all probability Conway is slated for backstroke duty in both 150-yard and medley events.

Don Smith, captain, like all other swimming captains, had no experience before his entrance into college. Last year he showed enough to win some valuable points in the sprints and as a member of the relay quartet. Along with Orfitelli he will handle the 50 and 150-yard dash events. Orfitelli, a freshman last year, is a swimmer of proven ability. Possessing a powerful physique, he is easily capable of swimming in any assigned freestyle event, and should be the big point winner along with Conway.

To replace Aksomitas, Joe Clarke is faced with a difficult problem, but might be able to develop two or more competent men to make up the loss. Frank Neill and Don Day, who are already in school, are definitely promised and will not be out of the money in any of the forthcoming engagements. In addition to these two, Coach Clarke has more material in Gallagher and Anderson, a sophomore.

The general utility man will probably be Roger Morehardt, a lanky sophomore who swam the 150-yard backstroke in the neighborhood of 1:47 as a freshman. This is good enough to place in any of Trinity’s meets and in a majority of cases fast enough to win. Besides skill in the dorsal event, Morehardt possesses speed in the freestyle, and in view of that will be slated for action in the 220-yard race.

The distance event will be handled by Tibbits, veteran swimmer, and Earle, a capable freshman point man of last year. In recent years Trinity has not been too strong in the diving events. Coming out of the starting blocks is Starkie Taylor, who shows great improvement, and Bob Neil, ’41, who has had a year of experience on the varsity squad. Both of these men bear watching, as they will place in a valuable way according to who some of them have won this drill over the last fall. For the relay, Joe Clarke is not quite sure whom he will use. This event, as it comes last on the program, varies in respect to the participants. In all probability Feldman, a junior, Wardley and Conley will set off the action here. Can not be said as to the relative strength of Trinity’s opponents.

No meets have gone off as yet. The opening encounter is with the University, whose only loss was in the star diver, Fairchild. Trim managed to win all events in the double, but since Blue and Gold is a little weaker this year, the meet appears to be a toss-up.

Four terms of eleven weeks are given each year. The first term is 1940-41, the second term 1941-42, the third term 1942-43, and the fourth term 1943-44. The students are required to have a year of college work before entering the medical college, and three years of college work, including the junior and senior years. Colleges and applications forms may be obtained from the Administration Committee.
