BASKETBALL ELECTION

At a meeting of the lettermen of the varsity basketball squad, Ed
Kohn of the University of Georgia, was chosen to captain the local Gymnasium basketball team. Kohn, who has held down a regular guard position for two years, is a well-known local athlete.
He was on the varsity football team in 1938 and is a member of Alpha Phi Chi.

TRINITY TRACKSTERS IN HARD PRE SEASON DRILL

With spring definitely in the air, there is evidence of great concern around the track as the elements, the carrots, and the Oostengs get outside for a bit of real practice for the oncoming track season which opens of f with the Worchester Tech meet on April 27.

The loss by graduation of two-three year spoon men and the last year's Captain Pauleau—has really taken its toll from the track team as replacements from the enormous have not proven adequate.
Bert Pankous, McLaughlin, and Stevens, are still the leaders in the holders in their respective events, the 1,000-yard dash, the 440, the 880, and the javelin, will probably form the "Big Four" upon whose winning those is my. Ryan and Captain Pankous again
vy against the one-mile, while Riley, Charles, and Smillie will stand ready for the two-event meet. In the discus and show track, the trio of Son, and John

will be contending for the honors.

With Spring in the Air Student's Thoughts Turn to Approaching Dance

It is rumored that a Senior Ball will take place April 17, with the University at afternoon, May 17 or 18, probably at the Harvard Club. By far the great-dance event of the year in the past, Senior Ball week-end has always been characterized by the large number of students enthusiastically taking part in it.

The week-end begins with the colorful arrival of "the girls" on Friday afternoon. There is some talk that the fraternity houses will hold dances in the afternoon. Friday evening, the Psi Jesters are said to be presenting a play, "Twenty-Minute Athlete," at the West Middle School. The Harvard Yard is likely to be a lively spot outside of the city.

On Saturday afternoon, the Senior Ball will be given separately by the different houses and the members of the student body present will be entertained with food and drink and various games of the usual type. The evening entertainment is said to be organized and planned by the various socials, led by Ernie Health, parade the new spring styles.

When with the approach of the end of the compulsory year, which marked the end of the sports seasons, it is interesting to note that the men of Trinity are still around athletes which exists at the present here at Trinity College. De­spite their considerable record in intercollegiate athletics, there are still a number of athletic director. In the case of several intercollegiate and Olym­pion champions proved a little too much men of Trinity to compete effectively against the more experienced athletes of the nation. The latter was the reason why we do not mention the names of the individual athletes and teams of Trinity which competed in national meets.

On the other hand, the women of Trinity were still in the top ten in most of the women's sports. In the case of the women's track team, they placed second in the nation, and in the case of the women's basketball team, they placed third in the nation. The women's tennis team also placed second in the nation, and the women's swimming team placed third in the nation.

The men's track team placed seventh in the nation, and the men's basketball team placed tenth in the nation. The men's swimming team also placed seventh in the nation.

OFFICE NEWS

On Monday, April 1, a pew end in the college chapel was dedicated in memory of John Chandler Melville of the class of '94. Melville was college organist and also a member of the first graduating class of Lenox School. In 1901, he organized the orchestra which played so often and near the Lenox School pen. In the afternoon a pair of doors at the northwest entrance of the chapel was blessed in memory of P. Henry Woodford, trustee of Trinity College. Mr. Woodford, made a tour of the chapel and was a favorite of his father.

On Wednesday evening the faculty of Trinity College was entertained at Hartford High School by the men's students, and moving pictures of various addresses by members of the faculty were shown. On April 1st, the traditional Trinity Tailor, the Connecticut Committee for the Protection of the Poles, was invited to a showing of motion pictures of the destruction of Warsaw photo-records of the Poles.

Alpha Delta Phi held an Alumni Smoker on April 4 at the local chapter house. Many of the local alumni attended.

Edward Donald Walsh, '41, of Waterbury, Conn., has been elected president of the local chapter of Alpha Chi Rho, succeeding Ralph Sheldon. Other officers of the chapter include Richard Z. Blaesiold, Walter J. Pedicord, Jr., Walter L. Flanders, Jr., Mark Rainesford, and Allen Flanagan. The chapter also announces the pledging of Edward Joseph Conway, '41, of Hartford.

Plans are being made for the annual formal dance to be held April 27.

Training under Way for Track Men

Wallace and Lindsey will lack Rainesford up in the javelin. Bob Neill is the outstanding candidate in the broad jump event, and Cunningham in the pole vault. In the hurdles Riley looks promising, and in the high jump Lou Ford will be flanked by Wile.

This year's squad is the smallest in a number of years and is, therefore, lacking in space power. That is, the number of candidates for the various events is comparatively small. Because of the inadequate facilities for track practice here at Trinity, the Hilltoppers are fighting against great odds in view of the fact that most of the opposition colleges have field houses and thus have already had the necessary practice in the form of indoor track meets.

In the opening meet with the Worchester Techmen, the Hilltoppers are out to avenge the defeat handed them last year to the tune of 65% to 60%. It will probably be a close contest this year, in spite of the fact that Trinity's track team is not blooming up in the javelin. Last year the McCloudheads defeated the Swarthmore team, but lacking former stars, and considering certain events that the Swarthmore network are more experienced, have been able to practice longer, and that the match will be played on their courts, they are favored in what ought to be a hard battle.

The freshman outlook from a tennis point of view, however, is definitely brighter. Judging from the results of the first week's practice, Chet Ward, Dick Weisenfuhl, and Bill Bolton seem certain of regular berths, while, like the varsity, the last three positions are open. Among those who have attracted Coach McCloud's attention are Ross Collins, George Dickinson, Jarvis Brown, John Hobbs, Gren McVielcar, Charley Richards, Dick Tullser, and Tom Sone. With such an array of talent the yearlings are looking forward to a banner season.

LARGE SQUAD ANSWERS CALL FOR TENNIS MEN

Captain Mills, Cleveland, and Herb Fisher Only Players Certain of Positions

When Coach Walt McCloud posted his notice announcing the first outdoor practices of the tennis team last Wednesday, he found that forty-six potential competitors had answered his call. The usual second day drop in attendance failed to cut the squad desperately, and the end of a week of stiffness and strain still found the same large squad. According to Mr. McCloud, the group is too large to work with, and he will be forced to eliminate those who fail to show sufficient promise.

Working with a team weakened by the loss of last season's best performers, Coach McCloud was somewhat pessimistic in his opinion of the current crop of racquet wielders, rating it as only fair and not to be compared with the crack '39 outfit. Captain Bill Mills, veteran performer, Bill Cleveland, winner of the fall tournament, and Herb Fisher, who performed well for last year's freshman team, are the only candidates fairly certain of their positions. The next three places on the varsity squad are wide open. Among the most likely candidates for the remaining positions are Don Day, Otto Dreesmeier, John Carpenter, Al Taylor, Andy Weeks, and Dick Bostor. Otto Storhr, Joe Cusano, Max Hagedorn, and Joe Wannerly—all of last year's freshman team, have shown much promise and any one of them may break into the top six before the season closes.

The council buy a site on which they have long been desiring to take up a plan for model homes for the people. A new course, Education 29, is to be offered at Trinity College next year. This course will be listed in the bulletin, but the time of the class meeting will not be set at that time. The course is to be in each of which two-thirds of the work of the first semester will consist of observation and practice teaching in neighboring high schools. Consequently it will be necessary to arrange the schedule of other courses that this practice teaching can be done either early in the morning or after lunch. It might be well for anyone who is considering registering in this course to go over his schedule with me before making a tentative decision in regard to other courses.

Practice teaching is now required for certification purposes in Connecticut, and in other states. It is hoped that the introduction of this course at Trinity will bring an increased opportunity for Trinity College graduates to secure teaching positions in secondary schools either in Connecticut or other parts of the country.

Wrighton concluded the meeting, expressing his admiration for Trinity and the hope that he would again have the opportunity of visiting it.

Herz Interview

In his work as a translator Dr. Herz called into play his knowledge of five languages, German, French, English, Italian, and Dutch. Periodically, he returned to Germany to see his family and to gather material for his work, the study of the political theories of National Socialism. Each time he found it harder to get out of Germany again. In his attempt to get his library over the border, the German Government agents confiscated the portion of it which included the works of Spinoza, disregarding the fact that the copies of the works could be purchased from the border in Switzerland. In 1937 Dr. Herz published a book on National Socialism under the name of Eduard Breslau; for if he were known to be the author, undeniably reproducible works would have been taken against his family which was still in Germany. The book was officially banned by the Nazi propaganda ministry. He said this act was typical of the strict censorship exercised by the Nazis over the press and every aspect of German life. Explaining further, Dr. Herz said that all teaching and study was subordinated to one dogma—National Socialism. There have been official German versions of physics, chemistry, and the other sciences and cultures. In 1938, after traveling in Italy and France, Drs. Herz came to America. The feeling of liberation and escape was incomparable to anything he had ever experienced, and he is deeply appreciative of America for what it has been to him. From that time, up to this moment, his work as an instructor at Trinity College, Dr. Herz studied at the Institute of Advanced Study in Princeton. He specialized in American Diplomacy and later became interested in the question of Maximin oil confiscations. In America, he has been especially impressed by the widespread use of the American people to contract for Germany where independent study is limited and exclusive. He said that institutions such as the "Town Meeting of the Air" was a typical American one and could exist only in America. When questioned about Hartford, Dr. Herz replied the impression he received was very favorable indeed and that it was a very stimulating city to the newcomer. Dr. Herz was introduced to Hartford political societies recently when he was invited to be an interrogator at a meeting of the Foreign Policy Association. Again he was impressed by the widespread interest in political affairs and by the informed state of the American public.

Dr. Herz refused to make any predictions as to the outcome of the important political issues before the American public, but he did venture to say that much depended on the impending elections. The friendly family of Dr. Herz is safe in America now, and he is thankful for the kindness which they all have received.
