March of Month, Harbinger of Spring. Is Eventful Period in World's History

A lot has been said of March, such as its being like a lamb, and leading a lion, or vice versa. Those of you who are Shakespearean will remember the idea of March. This year the lamb-and-lion legend will have a very appropriately time-significance in the fortunes, or rather misfortunes, of the War (which will be discussed later). The origin of the word March has a pertinent and ironic relationship to the activities of the students of Trinity while with this hectic month. According to Webster, March derives its significance in the fortunes, or rather misfortunes, of the War. It is said that in planning to break the world's speed record next month.

TRINITY SWIMMING TEAM TO FACE RED AND BLACK

Powerful Freshman Aggregation Will Endeavor to Complete Unbeaten Season Successfully

The current swimming season will come to a close this Thursday night when the varsity and freshman teams arrive at the pool. The prospects for the varsity are not too bright, but the freshmen, who will be swimming at the pool, are not to be underestimated.

According to the records, the Blue and Gold swimmers would appear to be the stronger aggregation, as Wesleyan has won only one meet this season while Trinity has been victorious in three out of seven starts. Unfortunately, however, Wesleyan's poor record has been in no small measure due to starting difficulties. The men will have to be ready to swim at the same time, should complete their undefeated season successfully.

Tuesday, February 27—A capacity audience was present in the Engineering Club and Trinity College students filled the Chemistry Auditorium tonight to hear Miss Jacqueline Cochran, outstanding aviator, and Lucien Elert, former commander of the salvage ship Falcon, speak on their respective vocations.

Miss Cochran, slight, attractive blond-haired woman, who is probably the world's outstanding woman flier today, gave a brief and interesting speech on the subject, "How Racing Speed is Influencing Air Line Transportation." She pointed out the fact that in 1937 there were only 500 people employed in air transportation, whereas now there are 15,000. She attributed this increase to the advances in speed which the airliners are making. This is partly true, and about, she asserted, only through the work of the racing fliers who have experimented with new types of engines and planes, finding their weaknesses and using the advantages.

Miss Cochran, in answering questions from the audience, told of her experiences in the Red's transcontinental race of 1938 of which she was the winner—picking up $125,000 prize money and setting a new world's coast-to-coast record of 10 hours, 7 minutes and 50.8 seconds. She stated that she is planning to break the world's speed record next month.

TRIQUAT SOUSA QUAD CROSSE POOR SEASON

The Trinity College Sousa Squad completed its 1939-40 season last Saturday afternoon when it suffered a defeat at the hands of the Ambrose rascappers. Although the season was on the whole very poor, the fact that the band was fairly well rehearsed and the prominent players by graduation has not caused any improvement in the part of Coach Jensen.

The Hilltoppers defeated the Acton United by a score of two to one, in the final game to all the members of the little three: Amherst, Williams, and Wesleyan. They also bested the Little Three and the Dartmouth Indians. At the No. 1 position was Waznik, a Freshman, for whom the coaches prophesy.

Mr. President

Class elections at Trinity College have become somewhat of a joke. Although not particularly harsh words, not nearly as harsh as might be expected, there is no more or less concern about a particular position or person. A responsible man should hold office, and direct his class activities in a responsible manner.

But how can an office be considered an honor to any man, if he is elected either by a political machine or by a group of disinterested voters who have attended the elections only to partake of the refreshments that are to be had after the meeting is over? And why elect a responsible man when there are no responsibilities to assume? What class activities are there to direct even though there is a person in office capable of directing them?

Political lobbying before an election has diminished somewhat in the last two years. The political situation consisted in lining up two or three Fraternity factions against two or three other Fraternities, each side putting its own men up for office. This often resulted in a good field of candidates for election between the various Fraternities. Although politics have been gradually decreasing, it has been well supplanted by an even greater evil, lack of interest. Politics produce an interest of a sort, but there is no interest of any sort. An assemblage of thirty men is considered a large turnout for an election. The principal reason most of those present have attendance is to get whatever they can of the aforementioned refreshments.

A solution to this problem must be obtained, or the elections may as well be dispensed with. Let us turn ourselves into Platonists or Ser Thomas Mores and set up our own fanciful plan. In the first place, in order to run things right, there should be something in the treasury and be able to be collected to be within the capabilities of everybody's pocketbook. This money could be used for the refreshments. However, this money would be saved, but only to those who have paid their dues. This would help the members of the class to become more closely acquainted, and would also reduce the number of homogenous mass.

The class activities could include athletic contests between the four classes. This could be run much on the order of the intramural program now in effect. The scholastic averages of the classes could be compared. This might result in higher averages. Awards could be made at the end of the year for the winners of the various competitions.

Now instead of calling this idea down between yourselves, why not let us know how you feel about it, either by letter or by communication? Perhaps something really worthwhile could be done.

BASKETBALLERS BOW TO WESLEYAN IN FIVE LAST GAME TO CLOSE SEASON

Late Rally Led By Crockett And Clarke Forces Exits Winner 48-37

Friday, March 1—Staving off a last-minute rally of a hard-fighting Trinity basketball team, the visiting Wesleyan University led by Kay, and Havighurst, pulled off a 48-37 victory at the conclusion of their second game last evening.

The score at half time stood 22-22, but the visiting team was able to pull ahead by five points, 27-22, with 10 minutes to play when Jimmy Hogan, the Cook, broke through for two set-up shots.

When the second half opened, Havighurst, high scorer of the evening, broke for two points to give Wesleyan a 1-point lead. But the Blue and Gold proved too strong and went on with a few of the latest song hits.

Each morning, afternoon and evening a tall, stately and well-dressed Trinity man is seen passing hastily by one of the many bridges over the river. He is none other than the young man who approaches the Smith concert; Dan Jeuse, unable to sit down after a recent squash match with Luhen; Hassmiller having a evening session with Strauss waltzes; a rousing, speedy sound from the champagne gun; and Albert, sitting on the lawn with a few of the latest song hits.

At the Trinity-Westley Freeman Wrestling Match—left ian the mat, a confused bunch of weary passers-by, and well-executed too; hands; McKinney knocked his 40 pounds on hands and knees praying for eight fall and he escaped while his opponent walked towards trying to find a chance to get out. The only problem was this automobile trying to squeeze low enough to get a picture of the match.

Society—The Twenty-one Club of "Cook" which picked selecties of many before the Smith concert announced today that a call for a picture on a patent has been filed at Washington, and a booklet listing the members will be published shortly.

Chester Ward, Trinity's white hope, met his Waterloo in the political world with almost fanatic zeal. His most recent political action was the calling of a special moratorium.

The Trinity threat came late in the first period as Captain Dick Lindsey tallied from the charity line, and Don Walsh, sparking his teammates in the shooting department, knocked in a few floor shots in a row after a flashy exhibition of dribbling through the defense of the Florida team. A large crowd standing on its feet at the basket, when Walsh's drive was stopped in the last second of play, but Wesleyan seized the ball and froze it until the final whistle.

The Blue and Gold won by a narrow margin, 48-37, in the final analysis of the game. Oddly enough, the win was outstanding for the Crowns, cracking up the usual little bit. The game was favored by the handling of the Alpha Chi Rho's, Charlie Froehle, second highest scorer in the American League.

In the semi-finals the two top teams in the American League were pitted against each other. The Neutral Blues, who scored the highest number of points, 177, in the intramural season, represented the American League, and the Neutral Blues, who scored the highest number of points, 150, in the intramural season, represented the American League.

This contest was won by the Blues after a sharply fought duel, 35-33. Trinitians held a slim lead throughout the game, but the Blues proved too strong and went on with a few of the latest song hits.

The Blue and Gold took 48-37. The game was notably exciting for the Blues, with a dramatic finish. The narrowest margin in the whole season was outstanding for the Blues, having won every game by a larger margin. The final score was 48-37.

The Blue and Gold, represented by the American League, won with a few of the latest song hits, 177-150, the highest number of points in the intramural season. The neutral team was represented by the American League, and the neutral team was represented by the American League.

In the matter of individual brilliancy there were, in addition to their already mentioned, several who distinguished themselves by skillful play. R. C. Carpenter, of the Delta Alpha, scored 48 points; H. G. Smith of the Phi Delta, scored 46; and W. S. Taylor of the Phi Delta, scored 38. In the National American League, a second place honors was received by the Phi Delta Fraternity, the Greek's of the Phi Delta Fraternity, and the Phi Delta Fraternity. The Phi Delta Fraternity, the Greek's of the Phi Delta Fraternity, and the Phi Delta Fraternity.

In the preliminary game a handsome crowd witnessed a hard-fought battle by the Blue and Gold which was deflected by the smooth handling of the Blue and Gold's графика and the Blue and Gold's графика. On the 25th, the Blue and Gold's графика, the Blue and Gold's графика, and the Blue and Gold's графика, which included a gallant final spark in vain.

For example, there are jobs available in Juvenile Delinquency as related to Law, and one could manage such a position as related to Medicine.

The Conference will begin on Fri day, April 12, at 8 p.m., with lectures on the place of government and private agencies in Community Planning. Saturday's rounds-and-ta table discussions will be held in the presence of men from Washington and New York. The purpose of these discussions is to offer specific information concerning the various occupations, the nature of the work, salary, and possible future employment.

Among the jobs to be discussed are government positions in T. V. A., Federal Housing, State and Municipal Relief Work, etc.; state and municipal agencies in the Social, Civil Service, and other executive positions. All students of Trinity College, particularly Seniors and those interested in the fields of Social Service, who would be interested in attending this important Conference, should see Professor Humphrey or Richard K. Morris, '40, who will take charge of the student delegation from Trinity for more detailed information. All names must be in by April 5.

From the above roster it is easy to see why the athletic department feels that Trinity has the most prominent position among Eastern squash outfits. There are either freshmen or second-year men and throughout the season they have been coming in againstooking situations which are composed mainly of Seniors. Although they may not hit their peak next week because of the two years the Blue and Gold will be in a position to take on the Trinity schedule.
