January 10—Trinity's basketball forces opened their 1941 campaign by rolling over the Marvins, with 88 to 35. In the two previous games the Marvins had been leading throughout, and it was evident that the Marvins were prepared for the game. The Trinity forces opened the scoring with a fast break, and a lay-up, and were able to keep the Marvins scoreless for the first 2 minutes. At the end of the first quarter the Trinity lead was 14 points.

The second period saw both teams striving valiantly for a commanding lead, and scoring all the way. The crowd saw Trinity's aggressive defense achieve a point blank, and Thomsen again and again breaking up the Marvins' attack with brilliant interception. Both teams proved invaluable, as they both played off the board. With 2 minutes remaining in the quarter, the Trinity lead was 6 points.

The third quarter saw both teams playing with determination, and the Trinity forces were able to maintain their lead throughout the period. The crowd saw Trinity's aggressive defense achieve a point blank, and Thomsen again and again breaking up the Marvins' attack with brilliant interception. Both teams proved invaluable, as they both played off the board. With 2 minutes remaining in the quarter, the Trinity lead was 6 points.

VIGNETTES DE DADOURIAN

Professor Dadourian says that suc cessful applicants for admission to Trinity College possess qualities which he judges to be right away so that those who really want to do well do not have to worry about the line ofu of those who only want the sheepskin.

Professor Dadourian said there are two types of books written: (1) Those which agree with him, and (2) th e rest. Both are required to read. Books in the second category he considers to be dangerous. THE OLD ORDER CHANGETH

This issue is the last for which the present editors of the Tripod will be responsible. Our regime has been an interesting one to say the least. We have had our share of trouble, but all in all it has been educational and enlightening experience. We have found that it is impossible to please everyone, but we also feel that our editorial policy in the main has been the opinion of the majority.

At all times we have tried to maintain high standards of collegiality. This is not a matter of students to students and alumni has been our aim. The physical appearance has also received our cautious attention. We have striven for balance in headlines and neatness in make-up. If in any way we have been successful in our aim, then our work has not been in vain.

Our main endeavor has been to unify the students of Trinity College into an organized group. We have often complained about the lack of spirit shown at college functions. This lack of spirit, we are happy to say, is rapidly disappearing. Such events as the rally before the Amherst football game, and the number of students attending and cheering at the football and basketball games is an excellent start toward unification. We are sorry to report, however, that at times there appears to be a lack of good sportsmanship among the student spectators. The conduct of the crowd at the Wesleyan basketball game was despicable. Such conduct reflects upon our college, not upon individuals. We feel that our editorial policy in the main has been the opinion of the majority.

Allies against both teams were plentiful. With two minutes of the second period remaining, the score stood 18 to 16 all. Tullar sank a field goal from a difficult angle, bringing the lead to 10. Tullar forced the play throughout. Tullar netted two lay-ups in quick succession, followed by a lone three-pointer by Walsh. Swarthmore kept up the pace by scoring a basket near mid-court. At this point in the game, the visitors’ defense also became stronger. With the game in mind, Knurck for Beidler, Trinity’s attack began to move again. Knurck dropped a shot, and his assist for O’Malley of Trinity brought both teams back into the scoring. Dietz of Swarthmore split the hoop again. Bornstein, Walsh and Beidler forced five, composed of Thomsen, Crockett, and Davis. The threes, however, were of no use to the Swarthmore press. The teams played an exciting game. Swarthmore kept up the pressure and the Trinity squad suddenly broke away. With the stands in a bedlam, the game ended. With the timer’s pistol in the air, O’Malley announced that a two-year agreement with Swarthmore had been reached with the first game to be played in 1942.

TRINITY SQUASH TEAM DOWNED BY WILLIAMS

Williamstown, Mass., January 11—A determined and hard-fighting Trinity squash team lost their first inter-collegiate match of the season by a score of 3-2, to a strong Williams College team.

Cleveland, Trinity’s top man, won a spectacular match from Joe Hendriks, Williams ace squash player. Cleveland won the first two games by scores of 18-17 and 18-16. Hendriks then made a magnificent comeback and won the third game 14-5, but Cleveland’s strength was too much for him and Cleveland took the fourth and last game by a score of 18 to 16. In this match all three of the games that Cleveland won were tied up and extra points had to be played. WInsorville proved to be too much for H. Nichols, the Williams number two man.

The scores of the match were 15-6, 15-10, and 15-6. Cunningham, who played in the third position for Trinity, lost to J. Hemphil, of Williams. Hemphil won the first two games 15-12, and 15-15. Cunningham came back to win the third game 15-13, and then lost the final game 15-11. This match was notable for the fine playing on the part of both men. The Trinity’s second win was in the match between Toland of Trinity and W. Collins. Collins won by scores of 15-10, 15-12, and 15-11. The final match was between Cook, of Trinity, and H. F. Wiff of Williams. Trinity suffered another loss when Wiff won the match 15-10, 15-6, and 15-6.

Vastly Improved Trinity Team Will Oppose Coast Guard Without Don Walsh

Today, the unpredictable Trinity basketball team will travel to New London to play Coast Guard Academy on the latter’s home court. It is rather difficult to make any predictions as to the outcome of the contest because not a great deal is known about the strength of the opposition. The sailors have only played one game thus far and they dropped that by a one-sided margin to the University of Connecticut. However, that does not mean that they are as weak as it might seem, since Connecticut has an exceptionally strong team this year, and the contest was fairly close until the superior reserve strength of Connecticut began to take its toll.

The true strength of the Blue and Gold quintet is almost as baffling a problem to one who has seen them in most of their games. On some occasions they have looked like all-conquering outfilt, while on other occasions they have shown little in the way of a consistent attack. Last Friday’s game against Swarthmore was encouraging and if Trin is able to maintain the level of play attained in that game, they should close the season very successfully. However, the team has suffered one unfortunate blow in the last game in the loss of Captain Don Walsh who is leaving college for the army. Walsh has been an important cog in the team throughout the season and closed his varsity career against Swarthmore by scoring twelve points. Just how serious his absence will prove to be will depend on how well the man who supplants him is able to carry on.

Judging from his last performance, Ray Thomsen will probably be the fifth man in the starting lineup. This quintet composed of Crockett, O’Malley, Knurck, and Beidler, in that order is an excellent one. However, that does not mean that Trinity is as weak as it might seem.

The true strength of Williamstown.

The true strength of the Vastly Improved Trinity Team is the unit of six men that make up the Tripod. The team is stronger in the back to back to win the third game 15-13, and then lost the final game 15-11. This match was notable for the fine playing on the part of both men. The Trinity’s second win was in the match between Toland of Trinity and W. Collins. Collins won by scores of 15-10, 15-12, and 15-11. The final match was between Cook, of Trinity, and H. F. Wiff of Williams. Trinity suffered another loss when Wiff won the match 15-10, 15-6, and 15-6.

They justly earned this support from their own men.

Last Wednesday the Jesters held a meeting to award credits and to elect a new slate of officers for the Jestership. As a result of their participation in the recent production of the play, the following numbers were made junior Jesters: Ollie Colton, Kent Stoddard, Thomas Monroy, John Spanger, Joseph Ross, and Francis Bachmann. Another meeting will be held this evening to elect officers for the next semester.

TRIN SWIMMERS OPEN WITH DOUBLE VICTORY

A sure sure success. The 200-yard dash proved to be a runaway for Dave Tyler, with Jim McClure, another sophomore, edging Howard of M.I.T. for second place. The two outstanding Tech stars, Denhardt and Bimson, then placed first and second, respectively, in the 50-yard dash. Sixteen won the dive, with Bob Morhardt and Taylor of Trinity third and fourth. Tyler forthwith clipped off a fast 2:49.8 in the breast stroke, leading Dud Emerson of B.U. and Sharp of Trinity. The divers formed Bob Nell in winning form. He edged out Dawson, who was followed by Taylor of Trinity. Dud Emerson, apparently the Terrirers' one outstanding performer, took the 100-yard dash from Trinity's Sharp and Moor for Boston's only first of the day. In another easily won event, Conway and McClure again drifted in for the first two positions in the dorsal event. Morhardt, continuing his new specialty, kept his slate clean by nosing out Wheeler of Boston in 4:48.8. Perhaps the most spectacular race of the day was the 440, in which Boston's Heymonn and Trinity's Frank Jones matched stroke for stroke after the first fifty yards and ended in a dead-lock, neither able to edge the other. Cuppia, a promising sophomore distance man, took third. A make-shift relay team composed of Earl, Orfi­tell, Knowles and Sharp easily won the 400-yard relay in 4:08.8.

Summary:
220-yard freestyle—Won by Tyler (T); second, McClure (T); third, Heymonn (BU). Time, 2:30.4.

ripples of laughter ran through his audience, and, bowing to Dr. Ogilvy, Professor Rand said, "I am quite sure that I would not have received such a spontaneous response as that on the banks of the River Charles."

Continuing his talk, Dr. Rand described the system of communicative signs used by the monks who, under the Rule of St. Benedict, were allowed only a small amount of conversation per day.

Following the lecture, slides were shown of medieval monasteries, ancient book illuminations and fur­nishings of monastic libraries.
