Fascinating New Course Demonstrates New Techniques to Appling Crowds

Before a wildly applauding crowd of undergraduates estimated conservatively at 1,100, Mr. Buzis, the Captain of the Flying Squadron, launched the most extraordinary show ever seen on the campus.

"We have set the new trend," said Mr. Buzis, "and it is destined to revolutionize the flying industry."
Ford Portrays Welsh Spirit in 'How Green Was My Valley'

PIDGEON STARS

Unusual Picture Captures Theme of National Dying in New York City, February 12.

By Morgan Gleaner

Only too seldom does Hollywood succeed in transferring the underlying meaning of a novel to the screen. "Rebecca," "The Cita del," and "The Grapes of Wrath" proved the point. "How Green Was My Valley," a book whose recollections of the recollections of the writer have been made of the picture as a whole, and it is due to no one's fault exedly a series of quite unattractive performances. The colorful Welsh atmosphere of the novel has been faithfully recreated in the film and the acting is charming. The hardships and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the most distinguished character of the whole picture is Roddy MacDowell, the perfect embodiment of the boy who is lost in the war. He has succeeded admirably in retaining the delicate strain of winsome sweetness. The photograph is so deftly characterized the book.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.

In the screen adaptation of "How Green Was My Valley," the personal and spiritual strength of these people, together with their affectations and the atmosphere, is expressed with

The Informer"

itself is symbolic of the story's theme: the boy, his in

lives of these Welsh people. It becomes evident that the story is told in the present tense and at any time. Their emotion is real and their tribulations are not

universal.

The cast was chosen with the utmost care. The parts are played to the

trayed with distinction and finesse. Donald Crisp as "Hew's" grim yet loving father, and Lucile Watson as the idealistic minister, Maureen O'Hara as the child heroine, and Barbara Stanwyck as the central figure, - all in all too small a role as the beer-guzzling fighter-promoter-each stands out most prominently, if that indeed universal.
Troxell Indefinite as to the Future of February 3, 1942 THE TRINITY lower end of the campus into a sand, that he was planning to turn the kaolin, sand, and a potassium for growing ' things; might be used as the people who may well be called wonderful idea, don't you? I plan to American farmers have been farming for one reason only. I want to find ing that we can say will help them raise parsnips, or did I tell you that est we might add, to the farmer's

War Brings Many Problems to Farmers
Of the Country and Their Daughters Farmed persons who realize that despite its tremendous manufacturing, the United States is still primarily an agricultural nation, have realized that this is not a time for drought, nor for their fireside and loved ones.

American folk lore has linked inseparably the traveling salesman and a hostelry. This is a glowing tribute to the universal hospitality of the American people, and a tradition that should be looked upon with deep respect. Indeed, many instances of hospitalities have been recorded.

The dismissal of Von Brauchitsch and the subsequent taking over of the War Ministry by Jodl may be the prelude to the final act of Naziism. There is an extremely strong possibility that this may happen.

This Groundhog Day is becoming the most exciting one ever. The others have been duller than usual. The Sun's glance is a vast area of land which can be a soothing–white space around with carelessness and with a great deal of fun. Our Groundhog Day is no core by a moonless, starless sky, only slightly crescented by his obvious lack of interest.

We browsed around Monday hoping we might meet a few Groundhogs, but the ground was frozen solid and nowhere could we find a sign of ground beneath the snow. We found one basking in the Sun at Longfellow Hall, and dashing up to him we almost threw our arms around him in a fit of affection. We found that he was afraid of the sun and his shadow.

Mr. Pike, Alas, the Shadow slowly gave up his following finger. There it was! That terrible shadow was moving as though we had sworn it was laughing at us.

"Oh, but of course you're not going back to the Sun," we said, "you have shaved, washed, and are looking sharply and well-groomed." He sputtered, glanced at his bow tie and mustache, and said, "You're too old and grey for that,"

Trinity Formulates
Air Raid Procedure
In addition to the risks that are attendant with the German and its blackout plans.

What To Do?
So what would you do if you were in the position of Tyler lonely female?

World you sit around and take it with a stale certainty of knowing what was coming, like a Smith girl at An heer bing? No, you wouldn't. You would try to find your own fun even when you knew exactly what was coming, particularly if that something was the end of all that you could possibly enjoy. And with considerable interest in her daughter. This modern edition of the mill-kept keeps in mind several fac­

Natosat at Full Strength
To Meet Coast Guard Team
Coach Clarke Predicts a Close Contest If Opponents Have Their Usually Fine Squad

(Continued from page l.)
so little that he could not be informed of it. He said, "It will be a close meet. We came through mid-year exams all right and will win.

He continued, "I sense in France. That's why we think that war is now.

"But Professor Troxell, have you any further plans about the garden?" Terry turned bluntly to me and asked, "What garden?"

HARFORD MARKET
HEADQUARTERS
FOR FINE FOODS

TRIMHELL STREET
HARFORD

Printing & Bookbinding
The Case, Woodland & Brainard Co.

Trumbull Street, Hartford

Quality Book and Publication Printers Since 1905

3-Hour Dry Cleaning Service
Pressing While You Wait

PETER TEREY--JARVIS St.
College Cleaners
1301 Broad Street, Hartford

Just Received New Shipments of College Stationery
Now in Two Styles

50c

at

TRINITY DRUG CO.
1284 BROAD STREET

Try Our
HOMOGENIZED MILK
It's different

The BRYANT AND
CHAPMAN COMPANY
Since 1896

HARFORD, CONN.
Telephone 2-0584

THE BOLDT PRESS, INC.
94 ALLYN STREET, HARTFORD, CONN.
Telephone 2-8501

Sun Scares Several Silly
Sahabites Back to Burrows

GrOGRODS GROGGY

Reporters Fail to Prevent Six Week山庄
in Famous Race by a Tail

This Groundhog Day is becoming quite a problem. Every year it between the races. Prof. Troxell took a long pull at the head of his team, and said, "Let's begin and take this, and this year it's more than a little blue Monday.

If you were to ask me, I should say that the chief reason for this is that the hedgehog is a little afraid of the groundhog. I have never known a nerveless or nervous hedgehog, and yet there he is, always looking around for the Groundhog Day, or almost,

TRINITY MEN FAVOR
THE HOTEL BOND BARBER SHOP

WHERE TRINITY BOYS BUY THEIR CLOTHES

PRESS MEN'S SHOP
Bond Hotel, Hartford
Main Street, Middletown

February 3, 1942
THE TRINITY TRIPUD

Page Three

"History has shown," the speaker continued, "that it is the fate of every revolution to fall and to be succeeded by a new one. In Germany today indicate that the fall of the Nazi leadership is inevitable. The death of Von Brauchitsch and the subsequent taking over of the War Ministry by Jodl may be the prelude to the final act of Naziism. There is an extremely strong possibility that this may happen.

In Germany will be succeeded by an army rule.

Trinity Formulates Air Raid Procedure
In addition to the risks that are attendant with the German and its blackout plans.

What To Do?
So what would you do if you were in the position of Tyler lonely female?

World you sit around and take it with a stale certainty of knowing what was coming, like a Smith girl at An heer bing? No, you wouldn't. You
would try to find your own fun even when you knew exactly what was coming,
particularly if that something was the end of all that you could possibly enjoy. And with considerable interest in her daughter. This modern edition of the mill-kept keeps in mind several fac­
Athletic Convention Stresses Importance Of Physical Fitness During Present Crisis

Physical Education Program to Begin at Trinity is Recommended (Continued from page 1)

Education and training of the body are described as a four-year physical education program.

Consequently, it is recommended that all students, regardless of whether or not they have passed the Physical Education requirement, should try to do everything possible to keep physically fit. Additional classes are planned as outlined in the program. There should be good opportunities for every student to participate. The emphasis in all groups will be placed on body building sports and exercises.

The College Director and members of the Physical Education Department have made plans in accordance with the recommendations of the committee on physical fitness during the current crisis.

The First Aid Civilian Defense courses will be held on April, a sufficient number to make it worthwhile to continue this sport.

The varsity baseball team has six managers. The following is the complete line of the Spring Sports.

Four Visit Third Court Win In Tilt With Westminster

Blanchfield Is Star Performer in First Three Meets; Should Repeat Tomorrow

Next Saturday the freshman basketball team will meet Westminster on the opperators' court. This will be the third meeting to date of a fairly successful season, there being two victories and one defeat already on the record.

Worchester and Suffield both went down before the previous opponents, and only last Friday was the Blue and Gold defeated at the hands of Trinity Church team of New Haven.

The game started out with the fresh filling a 10-2 first-quarter lead. But after this, the church club, paced by Williams, shot to a 25-15 half-time lead. The freshmen seemed to be bothered by their opponents' 3-2 zone defense, and by the smallness of the court.

The church team, starting the third quarter, raised its total to 31 before the freshmen could score again. Theretofore the game was pretty even, but it was thereafter that the church team started to come around.

Williams with 17 points and Robinson with 14 were the stars for the parish "B." Turner led the freshmen, scoring 13 points.

This game was reported that the college boys got off to a whirlwind start but failed to maintain their momentum.

Probable Lineup

The probable lineup for the following: Brennan and Blanchfield, forwards; Kerger at center; Muckel and Thomas, guards. Turner and Pierre both give promise of being able to give adequate substitute support.

Thus far, Blanchfield has shown the type of player that one can count on in all three performances. It is no doubt true that Kermer also has real ability. Also worthy of mention are the two first-string guards, Muckel and Thompson, who have shown first-rate effort and ability.

Coach Walter McIver is confident in the progression shown by his team, but cautions that wofing the ball and falling to pass and cut have not been enough to pass the game so far this season.

Class Learns to Tie Ingenious Dressing

(Continued from page 1)

extraneous clothing and other wearing apparel such as those used in cases of fallen victims, regardless of gender, was well received by the audience.

As a fitting climax to a thoroughly enjoyable evening, a session of handcrafts, such as those shown by several ingenious surgical dressings, such as those used in cases of fallen victims, was well received by the audience.

A favorite, the "flower sack," or "Ku Klux Klan" bandage, was shown at this time, but it is almost certain that this type will appear some time in the future.

It is a fortunate thing that the privileged members of the Freshmen Society are out of college for the summer, for it is not possible for them to follow the glorious and healthful in all three performances. It is no doubt true that Kermer also has real ability. Also worthy of mention are the two first-string guards, Muckel and Thompson, who have shown first-rate effort and ability.

Coach Walter McIver is confident in the progression shown by his team, but cautions that wofing the ball and falling to pass and cut have not been enough to pass the game so far this season. The students are doing fine in selected activities. The purpose is to obtain enough graduates to form a large group of students as possible in a vigorous body-building program.

College Work a Specialty

The teaching of timely and vital sources of popular entertainment.

SUFFIELD, Conn.—The American Philosophical Society has as its cardinal goals the promotion of scholarship and the development of research in the physical, the biological, and the social sciences. Its programs of instruction are of the highest order. All work is invited to apply for further information.

The Dean of the School of Dentistry University of Pennsylvania 6958 and Sprague Rd. Philadelphia, Pa.

Weisenfluth Boosts Hopes of Racquelets in Next Meet

(Continued from page 1)

Although the team is strengthened by the return of Weisenfluth, it has lost No. 4 man Hobbs since the last meet. Total strength adds up the following line-up slated to defeat Weisenfluth: Siems, Counihan, Fisher, and Puffer.

With this, Weisenfluth, although it has been the only Triple-team, has already earned the only aggregation met so far this season. Trinity came very close to winning against a combination team made up of the best players from the easiest Levee Social Insurance Company and the Hartford Golf Club.

Interest-boosting to any one following the rivalry between the Weisenfluth and Weisenfluth. The former has never before played squash and his natural ability and rapid improvement have placed him among the first five in the last five games.

It is reported that during the Christmas vacation Weisenfluth met the present team that represented the champion in a New York tournament.

The Princetonian is credited with winning against the Weisenfluth, but unless most of our opponents follow this inimitable course, have disregarded mandate, and now flock to their own work in the last five years has been a continuation of the present national intercollegiate work Professor Bissonnette has been the holder of many grants from the United States Department of Education and has been the leader in many national projects.

It is a fortunate thing that the privileged members of the Freshmen Society are out of college for the summer, for it is not possible for them to follow the glorious and healthful in all three performances. It is no doubt true that Kermer also has real ability. Also worthy of mention are the two first-string guards, Muckel and Thompson, who have shown first-rate effort and ability.

Coach Walter McIver is confident in the progression shown by his team, but cautions that wofing the ball and falling to pass and cut have not been enough to pass the game so far this season. The students are doing fine in selected activities. The purpose is to obtain enough graduates to form a large group of students as possible in a vigorous body-building program.

Sylvester's Texaco Services

Serves the Flavor Lasts.

How to Win Friends in one easy lesson

Treat yourself and others to wholesome, delicious, Wrigley's Spearmint Gum. Swell to chew. Helps keep breath sweet, teeth bright. The Flavor Lasts.

Whittier Foresees Religion In International Settlement

Ten Broadcasts Complete First Half of Forum's Program; Glee Club Soon (Continued from page 1)

with a plea for religion in national life and relations. Mr. Whittier consulted the unfortified border between the United States and Canada with the general distrust shown in other international relationships.

This was the tenth broadcast of the current series and brought the program to the halfway mark. All but two programs have originated on campus, but with the single exception of the Wesleyan football rally the attendance has been slight. Of course some programs came at inconvenient times, but on the whole the students haven't been as interested in attending the broadcasts as the work put into them warrants.

There will be no Trinity College program on this Friday, as a network presentation will be on the air at that time. However, next Friday, February 18, the Glee Club will present a concert from the Auditorium. Other programs in the coming month will include the Jewels, another forum, and possibly a debate.

DENTISTRY

The Philip University invites all college students to consider dentistry an attractive, if not the most attractive, profession. The high standards of professional service with absolute ethical conduct and the social responsibility it demands for the good of humanity makes dentistry the profession of the future.

Those who are considering professions of importance for their time should enter dentistry. The course of instruction is of the highest order. All work is invited to apply for further information.

The Dean of the School of Dentistry University of Pennsylvania 6958 and Sprague Rd. Philadelphia, Pa.

STERLING PRESS

284 Asylum Street

DISTRIBUTED PRINTING

College Work a Specialty

MUTSCHLER'S PIPE SHOP

191 Trumbull Street, Hartford

THE FINEST PIPES AND SMOKING ACCESSORIES

HUNTER PRESS

Phone 5-7016

232 Asylum Street, West Haven, Conn.

SLOSSBERG'S INC.

CAMPUS SHOP

1317 Broad Street, Cor. Vernon

CLOTHIERS TAILORS

HABERDASHERS

See our Agent on the Campus: J. C. CUPPLA, JR.

SPEAR & McManUS FLORISTS

Joseph McManus, Jr., and Louise McManus Ottenberg, Managers

Established 1888

COMPLETE SOCIAL

COMMERCIAL PRINTING SERVICE

242 Asylum Street, Phone 2-4197

WINNERS OF ALL COMPETITIONS

HUNTER PRESS

Phone 5-7016

232 Asylum Street, West Haven, Conn.